TEEN-AGERS CAPTURE 2 THEFT SUSPECTS

2 Arab Kings Divorce Their Queens

Lack Of Male Heirs Blamed For Split In Egypt And Iran

CAIRO, Nov. 19.—(AP).— The young rulers of Egypt and Iran have divorced the beautiful queens who bore no male heirs to the thrones.

This news came with stunning suddenness today in two communiques from Egypt's royal palace.

One communique proclaimed it "God's will" that the 10-year union of King Farouk and Queen Farida be dissolved.

Under Egyptian law, only male offspring of the king can inherit the throne.

The Shah took Fawzia for his bride in March, 1939, when she was 17 and he was heir to his throne. Farouk's sister, considered one of the world's most beautiful women, was proclaaimed Empress of Iran Sept. 17, 1941. The couple have one daughter, now seven. The Shah is 29. Fawzia just turned 27.

An official announcement in Tehran said the Shah and his Empress were formally separated and divorced because of the Empress' continued illness, which forced her to return to Egypt.

Both the Egyptian and the Iranian announcements said the divorce would have no effect upon the friendly relations of the two countries.

Twenty-eight-year old Farouk was married in January, 1938. The bride, then 17, was Sasi Naz Sulfikar, granddaughter of Mohammed Pasha Said, former prime minister of Egypt. Her father, Youssef Sulfikar Pasha, subsequently was named Egyptian ambassador in Teheran.

Three daughters were born to the royal couple. There was no male offspring of the marriage. According to the Egyptian constitution only males can inherit the throne.

Farouk changed his wife's name to Farida, meaning "peerless" and gave her a birthday cheque for $50,000. Farouk, who was educated in England, inherited $50,000,000 from his father, King Fuad. His annual income has been estimated at about $500,000.

AFTER THE CHASE in which two men were captured are the two city youths who drove at terrific speeds for eight miles along city streets, dirt roads and open highway. George Collins, 19 (Left) and Hank Russelle, 18 (Centre) are the two who brought about the arrest of the pair suspected of car theft. Allan Lewis (Right) first spotted one of the men in the car as wanted for questioning on a city theft, tipped-off the two young garage workers.

Chase Pair At 90 MPH To Chemong

Two Garage Workers Begin Pursuit After Quick Tip-Off

Cowed and silent after an eight-mile road chase at speeds close to 100 miles an hour, two men surrendered themselves to two Peterborough teen-agers Thursday afternoon and are in jail here today. The pair—Fred W. Axford, 26, no address and James Cuningham, 22, McMasterville, Que.—were turned over to Provincial Police here by their captors, 18-year-old Henry (Hank) Russelle and 19-year-old George (Bud) Collins.

In police court this morning, both men pleaded not guilty to vagrancy charges, and were remanded in custody for a week without bail, which was not requested. Police expect the supposed owner of the car, believed stolen in Montreal, will arrive in the city today to identify his property and give details of its loss.

Tip-off which started the wild race came shortly after three o'clock Thursday afternoon. Allan Lewis, of Nick's Camp, on No. 28 Highway, spotted the pair passing that camp. Recognizing Axford as wanted, he drove to the Russelle Service Station to put in a call to police.

"Go After Them"

While in the station making the call, he saw the car passing. He yelled to young Russelle to "stop them—go after them!" Russelle and Collins jumped into Lewis' car and gave chase.

Head For Chemong

The two cars speeded along Hilliard St. and out on the Chemong Road, over city streets, dirt road and highway.

"We were going at an awful clip there sometimes," recalled Russelle, adding that the speedometer during the chase registered 75-80-85-90 miles an hour and hit 95 several times.

About six or seven miles from the city limits, the pursued car got into difficulties. It shot into the ditch at a high speed, apparently damaging a tire, shot back on the road. Russelle, slowing down to about 60 miles an hour, followed partly into the ditch because of his speed. He did not go as far in as the first car.

"I guess the ditch visit finished them, because their tire was blown-out and they had to stop about a hundred feet farther down the road," said Russelle.

Gave Themselves Up

There was no fight or trouble with the two, he said.

"We just walked up to them and they gave themselves up.... I guess they were pretty scared. One was 6' 3".

The party of four drove to Provincial Police headquarters at Charlotte and Park Sts., where Russelle and Collins calmly presented their two catches to the officers on duty.

Although the police did not take part in the actual chase or capture, new evdience of the speed and efficiency of the provincial police radio communications system was given. Cars were on the way to the scene within 10 minutes of the time Axford was seen by Lewis. After the pair had been turned in to district headquarters, the radio began its speedy chain, checking rapidly at Welland, Ottawa and Toronto regarding the ownership of the allegedly stolen car. Through the radio, police at Ottawa notified the man whose identification was found in the car, asking details of its disappearance.

100 Drown On Ship

PATNA, India, Nov. 19 — (AP).—The divisional commissioner's office said today preliminary investigation showed that not more than 100 persons were drowned Thursday when a heavily-laden ship capsized near the jetty. First reports Thursday said 500 perished. The commissioner's office said about 300 to 400 persons were aboard when the accident occurred.

Bunche Thinks Jews Ready To Obey Orders

PARIS, Nov. 19 — (AP): — Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting Palestine mediator, said to-day he regarded Israel's reply to the UN order to withdraw from the Negev as indicating a willingness to comply with his order.

The Israeli reply, which was made public in Tel Aviv Thursday night, was received at UN Headquarters to-day.

The reply pointed out the November 4 order by the Security Council on the Negev Desert area asked withdrawal only of troops which had advanced after October 14.

The Jews offered to consult with the truce mission's chief of staff on withdrawing of Israeli troops from parts of the coastal area north-west of the Negev as requested by the mediator.

Bunche said he found the Israeli reply "gratifying." It indicated a willingness on the part of Israel to accept in principle the Security Council's resolution.

The anxiously awaited American statement on Palestine meanwhile was deferred, pending a new date for the next meeting of the political committee.

Some delegates said the full United States position on the Holy Land may not be known until after State Secretary Marshall confers with President Truman Monday in Washington.

The political committee session scheduled for today was postponed Thursday night. No date was set for the next session.

There was no indicaton of what stand the American delegation will take in regard to the Bernadotte report which was presented to the political committee in the form of a draft resolution by Britain Thursday.

A British spokesman said the United States delegation was consulted "at an official level" during the drafting of the resolution. The spokesman said the British delegates were hopeful that the Americans would support the proposal.

The Bernadotte report, which Britain presented Thursday, asked the U.N. to repartition Palestine and reduce the size of Israel by three-fifths. It would revise the original U.N. partition plan by giving the Negev to the Arabs and assigning Western Galilee to Israle.

Blames Windsor

WINDSOR, Nov 19 —(CP)— Senator A. O. Stanley, chairman of the American section of the International Joint Commission, today charged Windsor with violating pollution laws. The charge followed a report by J. Clark Keith, general manger of the Windsor Utilittes Commission, which stated that all sewage from the industrial centre is discharged into the Detroit river untreated.

Accept Western Resolution To Reduce Armaments; Reject Russian Arms Plan

Soviet Suggests One-Third Cut In Year And Ban On Atom Bomb; Vishinsky Won't Give Military Data

PARIS, Nov. 19—(AP).—The United Nations Assembly today rejected a Russian proposal for a one-third cut within a year in the armed forces of the Big Five Powers, but adopted a Western-backed resolution looking toward reduced world armaments. The Assembly also voted down Russia's demand for an immediate ban on the atom bomb. In so doing it ignored Russian protests that the United States and Britain are in "mad armaments race" aimed against the Soviet Union. The vote was 43 to six, with the Russian bloc voting no.

The Assembly then began a roll call vote, paragraph by paragraph, on Russia's demand for a one-third cut in the armed forces of the Five Great Powers within a year and for a ban on the atom bomb.

The vote against the section of the Soviet proposal calling for the one-third arms cut was 36 to six. The Russian bloc voted with the Soviet Union for the section and 10 countries abstained.

The vote against the atom bomb proposal was 37 to six, with nine abstentions and the eastern states, as usual, in a solid bloc.

Won't Answer Questions

Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, told the Assembly during earlier debate he would not answer questions in the political committee as to how many soldiers Russia has under arms, and would not answer them now.

Vishinsky said that information would be supplied in due time to the international control organ which was suggested in his resolution. The Soviet resolution already had been rejected by the 58-power political committee, which had approved the Western supported resolution.

Vishinsky declared the United States is building a western European system directed against Russia.

The Russian spoke after John Foster Dulles, acting chief of the United States delegation, attacked the Soviet proposal for a one-third arms cut as "almost irresponsible" and a "real deception."

Dulles, speaking at a full meeting of the Assembly, urged it to approve unanimously a majority proposal calling for further study of steps toward arms limitations

Say Salt Base In Anti-Freeze Is Dangerous

TORONTO, Nov. 19 —(CP)— Douglas Fletcher, secretary of the Ontario Gasoline Retailers' Association, said Thursday hundreds of Toronto automobiles have been ruined by anti-freeze solutions with a salt base. He said he had received from the National Research Council a list of 20 United States brands of anti-freeze—six of them sold in Ontario—which damage automobile engines.

Sale of one of these brands was forbidden in a number of United States cities and States but there was no Canadian law to prevent its sale. Canadian brands, most of which have an alcohol base, were generally safe, he said.

Mr. Fletcher warned motorists that tins containing the harmful anti-freeze do not indicate the harmful nature of their contents.

These solutions damage cooling and ignition systems, cylinder blocks, water pumps, radiators and especially all aluminum parts such as cylinder heads.

Oshawa Filing Hydro Complaint

OSHAWA, Nov. 19 — (CP).— The Oshawa Public Utilities Commissioners and Mayor Frank McCallum will file a formal complaint about the handling of the power conservation program before the Ontario Hydro Commission in Toronto Monday, it was announced here today.

George Shreve, Oshawa commissioner, said the Oshawa officials will ask that the city's power quota be raised if an announced raise for East Whitby, Darlington, North Oshawa and Pickering Townships is completed.

"These districts have had only one-hour-and-a-half power cut a day while we have had four one-hour cuts," said Mr. Shreve. "They have made no effort to conserve power and exceeded their quota by 30 per cent all last month. The city exceeded the quota by seven per cent."

Gets Jail Term Hits Constable

TORONTO, Nov. 19. (CP)—Immediately after being sentenced to two years in prison for attempted shopbreaking, red-haired Hugh MacGregor, 20, knocked down a police constable as he was being escorted from the dock.

The youth stood in the dock shaking his fist at the court and cursing.

Three policemen grabbed MacGregor and removed him from the court. Five minutes later MacGregor was brought into court in handcuffs and charged with assaulting an officer. He was remanded one week for hearing.

John Moore, 21, also was sentenced to two years for attempted shopbreaking.

Needed Cash For Girl So Killed Chinese

CALGARY, Nov. 19 —(CP)— Lack of funds to "take out" his girl friend led to the slaying of a Calgary chinese grocer, Stanley McLaren, 23, of Toronto and Calgary, said in a signed confession admitted as evidence in Supreme Court Thursday.

McLaren is charged with the Sept. 24, 1945, murder of Chinese grocer Lum Yum Wing. The grocer died shortly after he was brutally assaulted about the head. His assailant escaped with about $11 rifled from the store's cash register.

"I told the chinaman I wanted his money and he started to holler," the confession said. "I told him to shut up and then I hit him on the head several times with the butt of the revolver."

Refuse Indian Admission To Hospital

SOUTHAMPTON, Nov. 19 — (CP)—Dr. F. M. Williamson of Wiarton said today an Indian woman was refused admission to Saugeen Memorial Hospital here because of her race.

He said an ambulance taking Mrs. Marie Johnson, 31, from Owen Sound, where the hospital had no bed available, to Southampton, had to be stopped in Owen Sound after the Saugeen superintendent said the patient could not be accepted. The woman was admitted to Owen Sound Hospital for an X-ray and treatment for back injuries.

Ellis Millard, chairman of Saugeen Hospital board of directors, said the hospital did not accept Indian patients because the Indian Affairs Deparemtnt refused to pay the difference between their $3 a day rate and the hospital's $4.50 rate.

Police Take Ear To Hospital

HAMILTON, Nov. 19 (CP)— Half an ear left lying on a truck running board had police escort to hospital where it was sewn back on Edgar Patterson, 21-year-old youth who was cut about the face and neck in a traffic accident Thursday night.

Patterson and Marion Croft, 18, both of Barlonville, were injured when the truck they were riding in collided with an automobile here. The girl's arm was fractured.

After Patterson was taken to hospital, it was noticed that the tip of his right ear was missing. Police found it on the running board of the truck.

"We rushed to the hospital with it and it was sewn on right away," said a police constable. "It couldn't have been more than half an hour from the time it was torn off in the accident."

New Algoma Mining Rush Say New Uranium Strike

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Nov. 19—(CP).—The fever of a new mining rush hit Algoma district today with the report of a new strike of pitchblende, radioactive ore, containing the valuable atom power uranium, in the area at the mouth of the Agawa River, 106 miles north of here. The staking rush centering in a field about 16 miles northeast of the original Oct. 8 strike near Theano Point was said to be a continuation of the same rock formation.

Mining Recorder W. N. Miller said today that a total of 28 claims have already been registered in the Agawa River country.

A large number of prospecting parties left this morning on the northbound Algoma Central Railway train, some of them equipped with the essential Geiger counters. All ticket purchasers in the prospecting groups made the same demand to the ACR ticket clerk: "Mile 106, please."

No Statement

One local geologist, apparently governed by the federal order-in-council which controls atomic energy development, declined to authorize any statement concerning the possible new pitchblende discovery but offered the opinion that these early reports might substantiate the belief that the reported new strike was a continuation of the Alona Bay mineral formation.

The mining recorders office, the newspaper and several local mining offices were flooded overnight with telephone calls from several points in United States and eastern Ontario.

According to first reports the claims, just north of Frater, straddle the Algoma Central Railway.

Deny Gov't Overthrow

CARCAS, Venezuela, Nov. 19.—(AP).—President Romulo Gallegos denied in an interview today with the newspaper El Nacional that a group of army officers had overthrown his government. He said there was "an incident" with an army officer, but "it does not merit a government statement." The cabinet resigned Oct 21 but Gallegos refused to accept the resignation. Caracas seemed normal yesterday.

Fire On Police At UN Building

BEYROUTH, Lebanon, Nov. 19 —(AP).—Communist demonstrators fired on police today outside the meeting place of the United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization. Security officials said they believed the Communist idea was to break up the UNESCO meeting.

No one was injured by the bullets.

Julian Huxley, UNESCO secretary-general, was making a report when the disturbances broke out. Police arrested 10 of the demonstrators, one of them a woman, and began a hunt for the rest of the band of 30 or 40.

UNESCO's meeting went on. George V. Allen, United States Assistant Secretary of State, delivered an address obviously taunting Russia, which has refused to join UNESCO.

Huxley was introducing a long report on UNESCO activities when the Communist demonstration began. The Communists shouted protests against the arrest of 300 of their number by Lebanese government authorities in the Ballbeck area. The communists there were interned under a recent Lebanese government order banning Communism.

Brantford Judge Named Chairman

TORONTO, Nov. 19 — (CP).— Judge D. J. Cowan of Brantford to-day was appointed chairman of an Arbitration Board to settle a dispute between distributors and farmers on milk prices in Ontario.

Carl F. Rosebrugh is representative for the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association and Roy Lick is spokesman for the Milk Producers' League.

Unable to reach settlement on price producing during the last five days the two arbitrators agreed to appointment of Judge Cowan by the Ontario Milk Board.

Contract between producers and distributors expired October 31.

Secret Conference Held In Far East

SINGAPORE, Nov. 19—(AP)— Britain's senior armed force diplomatic and administrative representatives in the Far East today ended a two-day secret conference on Communist-threatened southeast Asia.

A terse official communique announced that similar meetings will be held periodically in the future.

"A complete exchange of information and views on the situation in southeast Asia" took place, said the official statement from Malcolm Macdonald, commissioner-general for the United Kingdom in southeast Asia, who was chairman of the proceedings.

Hang 15 More Nazi Criminals

MUNICH, Nov. 19 (AP)—Fifteen more German war criminals were hanged today.

The executions brought to 73 the number hanged in the last six weeks for wartimer murders of concentration camp prisoners and American soldiers.

Since Oct. 15 at least nine persons have gone to the gallows every Friday at Landsberg Prison, where Adolf Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf."

Spaak Cabinet Has Resigned

BRUSSELS, Nov. 19.—(AP). — Belgian premier Paul Spaak's Socialist-Catholic coalition cabinet resigned today.

The coalition had been threatened with collapse after the resignation of Justice Minister Paul Struye.

Struye resigned Thursday after a parliamentary debate on his policy of clemency toward former pro-German collaborators.

The debate occurred after Struye commuted the death sentence of two pro-Nazi Belgians charged with being responsible for the deaths of several patriots during the German occupation. No vote was taken

The cabinet already was split on the problem of subsidies to non-state (Catholic) schools.

It is believed Spaak, a Socialist, would refuse to head a new government and that Finance Minister Gaston Eyskens, a leader of the Catholic party, might be named premier.

Mrs. Pohl Inquest To Be Held Monday

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 19 (CP)— An inquest into the death of Mrs. Emma Pohl will be held here Monday night, it was announced Thursday.

The woman was found strangled in a thicket near Ayr, Oct. 27 after she was missing for six weeks. Approximately 20 witnesses are expected to testify and the inquest may last two days.

William Stuart, former boy friend of the slain woman, is expected to be one of the main witnesses. He was held for six weeks on a public mischief charge before being released on $4,000 bail.

News of Suchow Victory Soothes Jittery Chinese

NANKING, Nov. 19 —(AP)— Tension eased in central China today as the government's news of a complete victory in the battle of Suchow gave fresh hope to the unnerved capital.

The city obviously was impressed by the military spokesman's triumphant statement Thursday: "The battle for Suchow can be considered as concluded." People who had begun to talk of Chiang Kai-Shek's possible abdication looked up to the Generalissimo with new respect.

Few sources, however, expected the Communist commanders to take the reported setback without planning another fight to open the road to Nanking.

Clear days and moonlit nights favored government air strikes against Communist troops deployed without cover on the exposed plains.

For that reason, Communist losses likely were heavy. Maj.-Gen. Chang Liu-Shih, government military spokesman, estimated 130,000 Red casualties to 40,000 for the Suchow defenders.

The government halted the Red advance without the use of reinforcements and supplies stalled at Pengpu, midway between Suchow and Nanking. These presumably would be available in the next phase.

The entire length of the Pukow-Suchow rail line, with many miles of tracks destroyed, was reported in government hands, although some neutral sources doubted this.

The United States navy announced in Pearl Harbor meanwhile that its transport Bayfield will leave Guam for Tsingtao about Nov. 23 with 1,250 marines to bolster the marine force in that Shantung peninsula navy base.

Victoria Boxer Haddad Named Outstanding Athlete

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 19 —(CP) —Eddie Haddad, 21-year-old boxer, from Victoria B. C., today was awarded the Norton H. Crow memorial trophy as the outstanding male athlete in Canada this year.

Haddad has had only one loss —a highly disputed decision in the Olympic Games— in three years of amateur fighting.

The soft-spoken, black-haired, lightweight fighter, a supply assistant from H .M. C. S. Naden, Victoria, won in a poll of delegates attending the 55th annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada. Voting figures were not given, but it was announced that he won on a "clear majority" over three other nominees.

Other Nominees.

Other nominees for the award were:— Jack Parry, 26-year-old all-star back with the University of Western Ontario senior intercollegiate football team; Jack Hutchins, University of British Columbia middle distance runner in the summer games, and Harry Peace of Toronto captain of Canada's olympic wrestling team.

George Lynch, Toronto track star, won the Viscount Alexander trophy as the outstanding junior male athlete in 1948 Others nominated were: Lorne Main, Vancouver tennis player. Donald McFarlane, Burlington sprinter; Joe Biasucci, boxer from Niagara Falls, Ont., and Peter Mingie, Montreal swimmer.

To Present Brief

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Agriculture announced today it will present a brief to the royal commission on prices next month. It will deal with the price situation in the farming industry.

Predict Britain, Eire Begin Talks Next Year On Close Military Alliance

Negotiating To Begin Soon After Bill Passed Taking Country Out Of Commonwealth; Will Allow Time Gap After Law Passed

PARIS, Nov. 19—(CP).—Commonwealth leaders predicted today that Britain and Eire next year will begin negotiating a treaty for a close military and economic alliance. Responsible informants, here for the United Nations Assembly, said the talks are likely to begin soon after Prime Minister John A. Costello's bill to repeal Eire's External Relations Act becomes law. This bill will be the final step taking Eire out of the Commonwealth.

The Dail Eireann, first chamber of Eire's Parliament, Thursday voted Costello formal permission to introduce his bill. The measure would abolish a 1936 Act that allows the King to accredit Eire's envoys to foreign countries and to sign international agreements.

Costello has gone on record as favoring close association between his country and the Commonwealth.

Discussed Next Year

It is held likely that the question of Eire's entry into the five-power Brussels Alliance and, subsequently, into the planned North Atlantic defence system, will be discussed early next year.

At a conference Tuesday among Eire and Commonwealth officials, the informants said, it was decided that there will be a time gap between the date on which Costello's bill becomes law and its practical application.

This means, they said, that no immediate crisis will be involved in such matters as:

1. The status of Irish Nationals living in Commonwealth countries.

2. Finance and trade relations between Eire and her present Commonwealth partners.

3. Eire's position in the sterling area.

4. Eire's position in the Imperial preferential tariff system.

The duration of the time gap was not disclosed.

Western Oil Climb Ahead In Dull Trading

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—(CP)—Western oils climbed ahead in dull trading on the Stock Exchange here today. Industrials and base metals firmed after a weak early session and golds steadied in quiet action.

Western oils were in a one-way upward movement, Home Oil gained ¾ and Anglo-Canadian was ahead 20 cents. Calgary and Edmonton, Royallite and Pacific Petroleum also advanced.

Base metals recovered from the early downward trend to chalk up some good gains. Eureka Corp. traded heavily and was down 62 cents. Consolidated Smelters, Noranda and Hudson Bay were strong and Waite Amulet rose 30 cents on a dividend announcement.

A few papers and utilities brightened in a quiet industrial list. Refining oils were easier and Goodyear dipped a point.

Dome was down ⅛ in easy senior golds. Juniors also weakened with most changes held in a narrow range.

Bush Pilots Wonder If Job Is Worthwhile

SUNDRIDGE, Nov. 19.—Tommy Douglas of the Air Trials flying service sat in the lobby of the Bernard Hotel here Thursday night, glumly reflecting on the fact that a bush pilot's life is not always a happy one.

While attending the wedding of his partner, Leonard McMahon, near Huntsville Thursday afternoon he received an urgent emergency call from the provincial police at Sundridge asking for his aid in finding 18-year-old Clarence Woods of South River who had strayed away from his hunting party and was believed lost in the bush.

With Bruce Simmons of Huntsville Douglas hopped into his aircraft and set out for Sundridge to aid in the search. Fresh from the wedding and "dressed to kill," Douglas and Simmons flew over the area for some time Thursday afternoon until darkness forced them down.

Mooring their plane for the night, the pair went to the hotel for dinner and had hardly got past the soup course when a young man strode into the room and up to their table.

"Are you the guys who are flying the airplane that's looking for the lost man?" he inquired.

They said they were.

"Well, I'm him," said Woods.

He had managed to make his way back to the highway on his own. And Thursday night Douglas and Simmons were sitting in the hotel tugging at their fancy ties, wondering what was going on at the wedding reception.

All Association, Bazaar, Tea Held by St. John's Women

Bazaar tables lined two walls of the Parish Hall of St. John's Anglican Church Thursday afternoon and were attended by members of the various women's organizations. Quantities of hand-made novelties, knitted baby garments, aprons, socks, sweaters, mittens, stuffed toys and fancy work were offered. A new and very neat design for a knitted scarf had been noted by a member who copied and made it up in pastel shades of wool. A pert "golliwog" was the prize, one customer carried off after opening her bag many times to show him off. Long ears of a cotton print rabbit were lined with pink satin that made it a very desirable toy. Transparent plastic material in colors had been made up in bags to hold towels and such articles and would be specially useful to the traveller.

Patchwork quilts, the largest item on sale, represented many hours of close work that is well worth the prices asked.

A draw on a particularly lovely one was being conducted by Mrs. T. Groombridge of the Women's Friendly Bible Class, and the winner was Mrs. G. Hutchinson of 224 Perry St.

Business was rushing at the home cooking tables and they were almost cleared at an early hour. There was also a large supply of home-made candy and tasty tid-bits for salads and appetizers that looked so tempting. Saleswomen had a small scale on hand to be sure of giving the exact quantity.

Mrs. A. W. Turner was general convener of the bazaar and tea arrangements. Presidents of each association assisted and members in attendance were: Afternoon Branch of the WA, Mrs. W. J. Dyer, Mrs. R. L. Lawless, Mrs. J. G. Mills, Miss F. Gladman, Mrs G. S. Cameron, Mrs. G. R. Lambe, Miss F. Burnham, Mrs. H. Kelsey, Mrs. G. Groombridge, Mrs. P. Martin, Mrs. H. C. Southeran; Evening Branch of the WA, Mrs. W. E. Franks, Mrs. H. Burrows, Mrs. P. Morris, Mrs. F. Marshall; Women's Friendly Bible Class, Mrs. F. Biddle, Mrs. H. Bassett and Mrs. G. Walton; The Church Women's Association, Miss M. Rush, Mrs. H. Fitzgerald, Mrs. R. Ward, Mrs. J. Bertram, Mrs. J. D. Collins, Mrs. N. Courtney, Mrs. J. Johnson, Mrs. E. S. Martin, Mrs G. A. Wesley, Mrs. W. Howell and Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell.

Miss Cecelia Record of the AY PA was selling candied popcorn balls and home-made candy, assisted by John Biddle. The Girls' Auxiliary operated a "fish pond" where the catches were much better than on many fishing trips of the summer. Mrs. T. H. Floyd was in charge with Misses Sylvia Caldwell, Eleanor Biddle and June Kilborn assisting.

When a very prettily iced angel cake appeared among the donations, members thought it was just too nice to cut so a draw was conducted by Miss Mary Medd and the winner of this was Mrs. Douglas Lawrie. Sixty pounds of home-made Christmas cake scarcely touched the bazaar table for its widespread fame brought a line-up of customers at the opening hour. Miss Margaret English and Mrs. W. M. Cruthers made the cake and handled sales.

Mrs. Russell Morgan convened the afternoon tea served by the CWA with assistance of Miss Clara Morris and Mrs. O. C. Simmers. Using the Christmas theme in their decorations they had red candles and a centrepiece of glittery balls on the lace-covered tea table, and evergreen with touches of red at the windows. Tea pourers were Mrs. A. L. Killaly, Mrs. E. V. Morphet, Mrs. Fred Hills and Mrs. C. W. Balfour.

Tea room assistants were Mrs. G. Falkner, Mrs. C. G. Collins, Mrs. Blake Bell, Mrs. John Nornabel, Mrs. F. R. Nott, Mrs. G. B. Boucher, Mrs. Gordon Hill and Miss M. Medd.

Bachelor Succumbs

WINNIPEG, Nov. 19—(CP)—A combination of Leap Year and Sadie Hawkin's Day proved too powerful for Jesse Ray Davidson of Minneapolis, 89 years a bachelor. Sunday, Nov. 14—traditional date of Sadie Hawkin's Day—he eloped with 79-year-old Della Farrell, also of Minneapolis.

Allow Queuille To Request Confidence Vote

PARIS, Nov. 19—(AP)—The French Cabinet today gave Premier Henri Queuille permission to ask the National Assembly for a vote of confidence.

Queuille said he would go before the Parliament Tuesday to ask approval of the way his cabinet throttled the Communist-ordered strikes that cost France 9,000,000 tons of coal in seven weeks.

The cabinet meeting also approved a speech Queuille will make in winding up the Assembly debate on the issue of the strikes.

During the debate, Interior Minister Jules Moch said orders for France's 335,000 miners to quit had come from Moscow.

Gen. Charles De Gaulle told a press conference later that if Moch's assertions were true, the Government should dissolve the Communist party.

A possible trouble spot was Dunkerque, where 2,000 dock workers who jumped the gun on a general strike called for Monday, have barricaded themselves in the port area. An estimated 3,000 troops, many of them Moroccans, have been rushed there.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION SCHOOL

Open school and the regular meeting of the Immaculate Conception Home and School were held this week. A large crowd of parents and friends was welcomed by members of the executive and social committee and conducted to class rooms where they were received by the teachers. Much interest was shown in the children's work. Former pupils, Barbara McCormick, Patricia Crcally and Mary Garvey were in charge of registration.

Following a brief business meeting the guest speaker, Miss Ruth Aiken, school nurse, was introduced by the president, Miss Hazel Guerin. She gave an interesting talk on the health of the children, pointing out the health program carried out by the teachers, nurses and Department of Health, has as its chief aim prevention of disease and discovery of physical defects. The speaker said the health of children is much safer now due to higher standards of living and methods of disease prevention such as immunization.

"To promote good mental health," Miss Aiken said, "the home should be a happy one in which the child has a feeling of efficiency and emotional security."

The speaker was thanked by Mr. L. Davidson. A piano duet by Cecile Byrne and Mary Crilly was enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ray Bacon and her committee.

End All-Night Search

WELLAND, Nov. 19—(CP)—Two St. Catharines youths were arrested Thursday after an all-night police search for the men who attempted to rob Alfred E. Coon, 76-year-old storekeeper at North Pelham, six miles from here. Coon said he frightened them away when he threw a ginger-ale bottle. Roads were blocked after he telephoned an alarm to police.

SMILING at you here is 17-year-old Phyllis Hockaday, heiress of St. Petersburg, Fla., who ran away from all her riches and was found in a Columbus, Ohio, hotel after her uncle, William L. Hockaway, of Dayton, O., had sent out an alarm for her. Miss Hockaday, child of divorced parents, said that she had been given everything she wanted by her parents—except love. Money can't buy that, and she said: "I'm looking for that thing that everybody wants."

BALANCING TRICK

It happened Thursday afternoon on a Jackson Park bus. One of the ladies was headed for some church function. Her contribution—two freshly-made and delightfully steaming mincemeat pies — were on a large tray, covered (more or less) with brown paper. As the bus neared her stop, she skillfully edged her way to the side of the seat, negotiated the aisle in the swaying vehicle while other passengers held their breath. Holding the pole support with one hand, the tray in the other, it was precarious business as the bus rumbled to a stop. Lady and pies made the descent safely. The whole payload looked relieved.—R.B.

Won't Work Cunard Line Ever—Threat

Union Warns Company Of Ships Diverted Must Pay Penalty

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 — (CP). —President of the International Longshoremen's Association, Joseph P. Ryan, charges to-day that the Cunard-White Star Line is deliberately using the facilities of the port of Halifax and "the threat of Canadian laws" to break the United States East Coast waterfront strike.

He said that if the Cunard operators of the Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary continued to divert ships to Halifax and then attempted to receive benefits of an agreement, "then thy can keep their ships in Halifax after the strike is over."

Ryan said he had advised John V. Lyon, chairman of the New York Shipping Association, that Cunard would not be allowed to be a party to any agreement reached between the longshoremen and New York shippers, although the line belongs to the NYSA.

Asked what the ILA would do if Cunard sent ships to New York after the strike is settled, Ryan invited reporters to "come down to the piers and see."

While prospects for a quick end to the crippling walkout of AFL dock workers faded, Ryan was busy dispatching directions to the ILA's Halifax locals. He disclosed that he had directed the Halifax members not to violate Canadian law. But, he added, "we expect them not to act as strike-breakers and to do as their conscience dictates."

This morning the ILA president said, he called the Halifax locals. "We reminded them that we had refused to unload ships of the Cunard and Furness-Withy Lines to support their strike in 1937, and at that time, by so doing, we violated our own agreement, and expected that they now support us."

Mortgage Firm May Change Terms

COBOURG, Nov. 19—(ENS)—Possibility that the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation might next year change its war veterans' clause, was voiced by Mayor Joseph Smith yesterday in commenting on the refusal of the Central Mortgage Corporation to grant Cobourg's request for 27 new houses.

"The fact remains that we are short of housing in Cobourg. We have the CGE plant working at only part capacity and when it is going maximum it means that we will have to be able to supply more houses. Local builders are planning for a total of 60 houses within the next year," the Mayor said.

"At one time there were more veterans than others who were after houses but the proportion is now changing and I think it possible that Central Mortgage next year might work on a basis of meeting civilian needs. We need houses badly and I hope we are able to supply the demand," Mayor Smith added.

INTRODUCING SALLY — Miss Sally De Pencier (that's the dog) is shown here as she gets a greeting from Miss Jocelyn Carter of Montreal. Sally just crept under the wire, because a new regulation states that any dogs coming into the country in the future must arrive at a port of entry where quarantine facilities are available. Sally is from England, a three and a half year old Pembrokeshire Corgie who was brought to Montreal by E. A. E. De Cencier. Mr. De Pencier brought an identical Corgie dog across three weeks ago, and plans to start pedigree Corgie kennels.

Find Stolen Safe Lying In Picton Woods

PICTON, Nov. 19—An office safe, two acetylene tanks and a cutting torch lay in a woods on the Samuel Danford farm, a half-mile from Consecon, for more than three weeks before being identified.

Although visible from a nearby road, passers-by did not investigate, and Mr. Danford believed it to be a pile of junk some one had dumped on his property. A closer examination this week revealed its identity and County Constable Earl Marvin and Provincial onstable Harry Caldwell were notified. Police say the safe and other articles were stolen from William Conn's service station, Brighton, on Oct. 25. The safe's contents of $250 was missing.

Cobourg Reduces Hydro Volume

COBOURG, Aug. 19—(ENS)—Cobourg went only 80 kwh over its 28,000 daily quota yesterday and consequently there was no universalf half-hour blackout at 530 p.m. Utilities officials said they were very pleased with the response of the public and expressed the hope that it would be possible to continue the good work.

The only thing that bothers a public willing to cooperate, is the uncertainty in regard to whether the evening blackout will take place or not. Public Utilities Commissinoer John Delanty said that he would suggest to the commission that at 5:15 there be a flicker of the lights to warn the people that there would be a blackout.

When You Choose The New Councillors

When nominations are made and votes cast for the new Mayor and aldermen, the needs of Peterborough as well as the fitness of the men for office must be considered. One of the most urgent needs is for new industries and a Council, and Industrial Development Commission of the Council which will get them. Industries provide jobs, pay taxes, keep shops and market gardeners flourishing. Diversity of industry is a safeguard against slumps in any one industry.

* * *

The need is urgent yet since the war there has been little indication that it is being successfully met. We have had few new factories and stood by while places of similar size (like Chatham) have been going after them and getting them. The opportunity still remains. The industrial development division of the Department of Trade and Commerce estimated last Friday that between 70 and 105 new industries from Western Europe alone will be established in the Dominion during the next twelve months. American industries are still seeking sites for branch factories (between 30 and 45 new plants are expected to be established in Canada during the next year). Sixty per cent. of the new European industries will be British, but the rest will be from France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. All told about 150 new industries, representing a capital investment of more than a hundred million dollars will come to Canada in 1949. How many will come to Peterborough?

* * *

Very few, unless we stir our stumps. When you vote in the municipal elections, it would be well to keep in mind the need for an aggressive Industrial Commission. That Commission should be given special importance during 1949 and alert Commission can attract some of the most able businessmen on the new Council should be appointed to it. An alert Committee can attract some of these new industries to Peterborough. The city has such advantages that if they are properly presented and vigorously extolled, the factories will come.

Newfoundland Hesitates

It is clear that the inclusion of Newfoundland in the Dominion will be a costly proceeding for many years, yet Canada is willing to take the risk. A number of Newfoundlanders are less adventurous. Through their spokesman, Dr. Jackman, they want to know whether they will be able to secede from the Dominion if they should discover that their mineral wealth is great enough to support them independently; this discovery, of course, would be made during their period within the Confederation, and would no doubt be financed by the money of the country as a whole.

We must admire the coolness of this proposal. To reveal clearly that their only interest in joining Canada is to gain advantages which Canadian money could bring requires a good deal of courage and realism. For Canada to embrace a new province in which such opinions have wide acceptance demands courage and a considerable measure of idealism.

The inclusion of Newfoundland in the Dominion has been an ambition of several of our greatest statesmen since 1867. Among the carvings which decorate our Houses of Parliament there is a vacant space awaiting the arms of Newfoundland. We do not suppose that anyone has thought that those arms, once carved in that space, could be erased.

If Newfoundland is not sure that it wants to join the Confederation it might be well to wait for a few more years, hoping that time will bring the ancient colony to that decision. For Newfoundland to join us with the notion of future secession in the back of her mind would not do at all. Several of our provinces have talked of secession at one time or another — Nova Scotia was barely in the Confederation before she talked of leaving it—but no firm steps have ever been taken in that direction by any of them.

Newfoundland must be gently informed that if she joins our Confederation, she joins for keeps.

Regional Defence

Canada under the leadership of Mr. St. Laurent has vigorously sponsored an Atlantic security pact. It has done so not merely that western democracy may be secure against Communist Russian overlordship. Our reasons are selfish. If war comes Canada cannot be neutral. We therefore need strong friends and to be strong ourselves. We cannot depend on U.N., nor even on the Commonwealth, for the nations of the British Commonwealth are widely separated and some are at political odds with others. We need regional defence — security pacts with our neighbours on both sides of the Atlantic. It was encouraging to hear the new Prime Minister say last week that "we are now ready to begin the actual negotiation of such a (North Atlantic) treaty".

What will Canada's commitments be under such a treaty? We cannot be expected to provide large armies and air forces, for even if we had the manpower, to do so would be strategically unsound. If war comes it will first come to Europe, and the European nations attacked must bear the first blows. Ours must be a long-range part: supplies (including munitions, food and aeroplanes), limited military and naval forces which can be rapidly expanded, an air force strong enough to intercept enemy bombers which may come through our Arctic gate, and superior equipment and tactics.

Napoleon had good military reasons for trying to seize the granaries of Egypt, and Britain when it formed the Ministry of Economic Warfare. Canada's greatest share in a North Atlantic defensive union should be economic. A defensive agreement which left out of account economic co-operation and the matter of supplies would be a futile sort of pact. Mr. St. Laurent emphasized this in his address last week. "We must get clearly into our minds the fact that a security treaty will not be fully effective if it is nothing more than a military pact". His words may not silence those Canadians who now prate about the necessity for huge military forces, but others will recognize that sanity is on his side.

Birthrate And National Energy

Britain reports the highest birthrate in its history for 1947. There are people who, with good reason, consider the birthrate to be a true index to national energy—not merely the energy of procreation, but the energy of creation and effort of all kinds. If this is true it is a good augury for Britain, and the birth of a prince becomes symbolic of a national rejuvenation which Britain sorely needs.

Great periods of history have been periods of high birth-rate. Gloomy philosophers might point to a connection between high birthrates and big armies, but we think that the matter goes deeper. A high birthrate means more young people for work of all sorts; it means a change of the balance in favour of youth, and in our modern days, when we prolong life until our nations include a preponderance of the middle-aged and the old, that is very important. Youth is the time of daring and mighty physical effort; Britain has been a middle-aged nation for too long.

To go deeper, it is by no means fanciful to think that unusual procreative effort is an outward and visible sign of another stirring in the blood—another awakening to the richness and delight of life. Britain has given us virtually everything that we refer to as "modern comfort"; really comfortable furniture and really comfortable houses were first built in Britain, and most of the wonders of American civilization are extensions of what England began. But now Britain is stripped of comfort, and must start life again, like a family which has lost all its money and must restore its fortunes by the efforts of its sons.

Those who write Britain off as a spent force might do well to think for a few minutes about the British birthrate; it is a symbol and a portent.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A radio survey shows that soap operas are not so popular as they used to be. We never could figure out why those things were so popular with the Great Unwashed.

Research at Northwestern University reveals that the safest drivers of cars are, plodding, not over-bright people who can be trusted to keep their attention unremittingly upon the task in hand—in fact, high-grade morons. We are thankful for the words "high-grade", for we have had some horrible scares driving with low-grade morons.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: I read the other day that Mr. St. Laurent is the twelfth Prime Minister of Canada. Surely that is a mistake. Weren't there five or six different Prime Ministers in the decade of the nineties alone?

ANSWER: Yes, there were — six in six years (1891-96). Nevertheless, since Canada became a nation (1867) until today there have been only a dozen Prime Ministers. Here they are: (I am not counting the recurrence of names in the list)—Rt. Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald (1867-1873); Hon. Alexander Mackenzie (1873-78); Sir John A. again from 1878 to June 1891; Sir John J. Abbot (June 1891-December 1892); Sir John S. D. Thompson (1892-1894); Sir Mackenzie Bowell (1894-1896); Sir Charles Tupper, Bart, from May 1896 to July of the same year; Sir Wilfred Laurier (1896-1911); Sir Robert Borden from 1911 to 1917 at the head of a Conservative Government and again from 1917 to 1920 heading a Unionist government; The Right Honourable Arthur Meighen from July 1920 to December 1921; the Right Honourable Mackenzie King (1921-26); The Right Honourable Arthur Meighen again for three months (June 29, 1926 to September 24, 1926); The Right Honourable Mackenzie King again from 1926 to 1930; the Right Honourable R. B. Bennett (1930-1935); again Mr. King (from October 23rd, 1935, to November 15th, 1948); the Right Honourable Louis Stephen St. Laurent from November 15th, 1948 to —.

MORE about street names: Two weeks ago I had occasion to mention "Of Alley", one of five London streets each bearing as its name a word in the phrase "George Villiers, Duke of Buckingham". An Ottawa reader of this column has called my attention to a Kingston group of streets similarly named after one man. The Kingston worthy thus remembered was Archdeacon George Okill Stuart, an Anglican divine and a U.E.L. who lived prominently and spaciously in the first half of the last century in his home "Summerhill". This house with its grounds was bought by Queen's University in 1853 as its first permanent building. "Summerhill" is now the Principal's residence. There are five streets in the vicinity which bear the names Arch, Deacon, George, Okill and Stuart.

QUESTION: Asked by Alpha two weeks ago about the deaf-mute "Dummy" Shean has received several—

ANSWERS: Mr. R. J. Kidd recalls "Dummy" Shean's ducking in Jackson Park creek with considerable liveliness. Mr. E. S. Clarry of Toronto has obligingly written a full account. Both gentlemen are agreed on the main points, but Mr. Clarry dates the ducking incident later than I had guessed. He says:

"....It was in either 1901 or 1902 that Dummy Shean took his plunge in the swirling ice-jammed waters that surged down Jackson's Creek each spring. I was a reporter on The Examiner at the time and covered the story. Dummy was a good-natured likeable fellow, a hard working city employee being on the staff of the Works Department as a common labourer. It was necessary each spring for the Works Department to put men to work in an endeavour to break up the jammed ice and Dummy Shean was engaged in this operation one lovely spring morning. He was standing on a bridge, operating a heavy 14-foot two inch plank one end of which was under a huge cake of ice in the creek while Dummy was heaving with all his weight on the other end. But the surging waters were more than a match for him. The ice jam broke and to the amazement of his fellow workers Dummy did a semi-circle in the air while still holding on to the plank and landed in the raging water of the creek. In seconds he was carried under the bridge on which he had been working and the alarm was given by his fellow workmen as he went sailing down through the centre of the town holding on with grim determination to the 14-foot plank. The excitement along the banks of the creek became greater each minute and large crowds waited at the various bridges along Dummy Shean's route.

"On he travelled with cakes of ice giving him terrific punishment, under the old Phelan House, the English canoe factory, Charlotte Street, King and several other streets crossing the creek; under the C.P.R. tracks until he finally arrived at Little Lake where he was rescued with the aid of a punt. By the time Dummy reached the Lake the crowd had swelled to hundreds."

Mr. Clarry says that Dummy Shean quickly recovered from his chills, and bruises and became a nine-day hero. "Some persons who witnessed the affair claimed that Dummy Shean was really vocal....or, as they put it, they heard him squealing". I have also been told that (a) he was almost arrested for not whistling as he went under the C.P.R. tracks, (b) that the accident was so shocking that he never spoke a word again.

CORRECTION: There has been a flush of letters this week telling Alpha politely but firmly that he was light-headed when he said that helium was the lightest known substance. I accept the correction with no heavy head. Hydrogen is the lightest. Helium is the lightest of the inert gases. It is perhaps a good thing that the error was made because (1) it demonstrates Alpha's fallibility, (2) people who are seeking answers to radio quizzes will not depend on him, (3) Alpha will henceforth not depend solely on the word of even a university student of chemistry for information outside his usual boundaries.

ALPHA: In an editorial in your paper last Saturday I read that the Honourable George Black, the M.P. for the Yukon Territory, won his seat on a total of 915 votes. Were they the vote of Eskimos?

ANSWER: No. Eskimos do not have a vote. Canadians over the age of 21 who are denied the right to vote at federal elections are the following: 1. Judges appointed by the Governor-in-Council. 2. The returning officer for each electorial district. 3. Persons in prisons or jails. 4. Indians on a reservation who did not serve in either of the great wars. 5. Persons restrained of their liberty or the management of their property because of mental disease. 6. Eskimos. 7. Persons who are disqualified by reason of race from voting in Provincial elections, unless they are veterans of either of the two wars. 8. Doukhobors residing in B.C. 9. Persons disqualified under any law because of corrupt and illegal practices. 10. Inmates of government or municipal institutions for the poor, if they are disqualified from voting in the provincial elections of the province in which they are housed, unless they served in either war. 11. Every Japanese resident in B.C. unless he served in either of the two wars.

FOR THE RECORD: Tell it not here, it needs not saying, gentle readers may think, but it is a record: Mr. Mackenzie King ended his more than 21 years as Prime Minister (7,829 days, to be exact) last Monday, November 15th. Sir Robert Walpole previously held the Prime Ministerial record: 7,620 days. In viewing Mr. King's record Liberals say that a thousand years are like a day, and Conservatives that a day is as a thousand years.

Difficult To Plan For New Schools

By G. WILSON CRAW

Chairman of the Board of Education's Committee on Accommodation

WILL the Royal Commission on Education recommend the establishment of junior and senior public schools, or will there be junior high schools? If Boards of Education had the answer to these two very important questions (and educationists feel that the Commission will recommend one or the other) the problem of school accommodation in Peterborough could be very easily gone ahead with to meet our growing needs. But until these questions are answered I feel that Boards of Education are well advised to erect only the new buildings that are absolutely necessary.

However, every year, we see increases in our public school populations. By 1952 these increases will be moving into our secondary school, thus causing overcrowding there. To show how our public school population has grown, in 1943 we had 2,919 pupils enrolled in 78 classrooms; today, five years later, we have 3,796 pupils in 106 classrooms. During that period 29 class-rooms have been added to our public school system, 15 by annexation and 14 by new construction. So with the building of 14 rooms we have simply kept up with our increased attendance and have not been able to make plans for the great increase in birthrate during the intervening five years.

On the basis of information available we shall have a gradual, but continuous increase in school population for the next five years. The children who entered in 1947 were born in 1942, a year in which the number of births registered in Peterborough was 1,035. In 1946, it was 1,404, and in 1947 it reached 1,587. Not all of these children will enter the city public schools. Some parents are non-residents, others are Separate School supporters. It seems reasonable to assume, however, that the percentage that will come to the public schools remains fairly constant. If so the number of beginners registering in the fall of 1952 will be in excess of 700. This fall we had 500.

IT should be noted that for some years the increase will be cumulative. We are accustomed to think of the Public School population moving through the schools in a steady stream, those who pass on to the secondary school leaving room for the new group of beginners. When the number of beginners is increased the balance is upset. Judging by the present size of our intermediate classes we will be taking in more children than we graduate for the next five years.

But how would the establishment of junior and senior public schools affect these increases, you ask. In reality it would not. But if the seventh, eighth, ninth and possibly tenth grades are to be accommodated in separate schools, the Board's building policy would have to be quite different from what it must be if the public school unit is to remain as it is. Smaller junior schools then would be the answer to our building problem with the senior schools being centralized in the various sections of the city, where they serve the school population.

Then if there should be junior high schools, we would, in all probability, not need the present large PCVS, for more than half the attendance there is in the first two grades. It might be possible to turn the PCVS into a junior high school and build a smaller secondary school in some other section of the city, where there would be plenty of space, for the transportation problem would not be as great for pupils of that age.

Whatever plan is followed, Peterborough is bound to be in for a period of school construction.

The Stanfield Family

Robert L. Stanfield, the new Leader of the Progressive Conservative Party in Nova Scotia, is a member of a traditionally-Conservative family that for a generation and more has been prominent in public affairs in this province and Dominion.

His father, the late Frank Stanfield, served as a member of the Provincial Legislature and Government and in the closing years of his career as Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia.

His uncle, the late John Stanfield, will always be remembered as the Conservative who broke the "Solid 18" bloc of Liberals elected to the House of Commons from this province in 1904. John Stanfield carried Colchester in the memorable by-election of November, 1907, and was re-elected at the general elections of 1908 and 1911. He was Chief Government Whip in the early days of the Borden Government, and was elevated to the Senate in 1921.

The new Leader's brother, Frank T. Stanfield, is the present Federal member for Colchester-Hants.—Halifax Herald.

WORTH A SHILLING

"And so you are the noble fellow who rescued my wife at the risk of your life?" said Mr. Tightfist. "Take this shilling my brave fellow as an expression of my thankfulness."

"All right 'guv'nor, thank ye," and then he added softly: "You know better'n I do what your wife's worth."

How Time Flies

NOVEMBER 19

1918 Pte. Fred Panter is officially reported as having been wounded on Nov. 5th.

Five Peterborough men are fined $200 each for illegaly importing liquor from Montreal.

Capt. A. S. Morrison is elected president of the local branch of the G.W.V.A.

1928 The Men's Club of St. John's Church names C. Coleman as president.

At a public meeting here, the Old Home Week project is endorsed.

Fred Jopling's party returns from Bakesley with 18 deer, a 1,000-pound bull moose and a black bear.

1938 Judge L. V. O'Connor of Cobourg is elected president of the Diocesan Union of Holy Name Societies for the Peterborough diocese.

When a deer he was carrying out near Apsley came to life, Gene Hurtubise grappled with it and broke the animal's neck.

J. G. Gledhill and J. D. Huggins plan to open a radio store here shortly.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

As the heart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God ....Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted in me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him for the help of his countenance. (Ps. 42: 1, 5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ....For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God. For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day. (II Cor. 4: 6, 15, 16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Now he that hath wrought us for the self-same thing is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit.

Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord: (for we walk by faith, not by sight:) we are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord. (II Cor. 5: 5-8.)

9 Grand Champions Named From Royal Contestants

TORONTO, Nov. 19 —(CP)— With final judging in dairy cattle scheduled for today the Royal Winter Fair will complete the first half of its eight-day show in the Coliseum at Toronto's Exhibition Park.

No less than nine grand champions were proclaimed Thursday by judges hard at work picking winners from the Royal's long list of livestock entries — one of the biggest in the fair's history.

San Isidro, a bay stallion, was awarded the Ontario Jockey Club Challenge Trophy at Thursday night's horse show as grand champion thoroughbred stallion. The champ is owned by the Canadian Hunter, Saddle and Light Horse Improvement Society.

The James Cosgrove Challenge Trophy for grand champion thoroughbred mare was won by Maurice S. Trasler, of Scarboro Junction, with Watussi.

Thursday night's horse show, playing to a well-out crowd of 9,500 persons who filled the arena seats and jammed every inch of rail space, provided a colorful change from the routine of agricultural exhibits.

Third Victory

For the third successive evening the high-flying Olympic-champion Mexican horsemen defeated the French and Canadian military jumping teams.

Atop the seemingly unbeatable Hatuay and Aréte, Col. Humberto Mariles, Mexico's captain, and Capt. Ruben Uriza brought a surprise ending to the "touch and out" competition.

Vying against his team captain in the contest's third jump-off, Capt. Uriza leaped the first barrier and left the ring. Col. Mariles balked Arete in front of the jump, taking second place and leaving the honors to Capt. Uriza and Hatuay. From their faultless performances in the first two jump-offs, it was apparent the two could have carried the test into at least another jump-off.

The Lady Eaton Trophy for lady's hunter competition was won by Gold Lode, an entry of Vernon Cardy of Montreal and ridden by Miss Edith Ferguson of Montreal.

3 Near-Accidents

There were three near-accidents—but no injuries — in the colorful event. Two riders fell beneath their mounts' hooves on difficult jumps, and a third averted a fall by clinging to her horse's neck after losing her stirups.

Six of Thursday's grand championships were awarded to dairy cattle.

They were: Canadien bull—O. A. Fowler, Kingsbury, Que., Tixandre Ferme Centrale I-M; Canadien female—Albani Nichols, St. Hyacinthe, Que., Blandinette Des Etangs 2-Z; Guernsey bull—Curtis Candy Co., Cary, Ill., Curtiss Candy Levity Peer; Guernsey female—Curtiss Candy Co., Afton's Golden Marie; Jersey bull—James Bagg and Son, Edgely, Ont., Brampton - Medalion Basil; and Holstein female—Franlo Farms, Hopkins, Minn., Rosehill Fayne Wayne.

First grand championship for sheep in the fair to date was won by W. J. Brodie of Stouffville, Ont., with his winning market wether lamb.

J. J. E. McCague of Alliston, Jue., for years a leading Holstein breeder, won the premier breeder award in that class.

The Burns Trophy, awarded to young farmers under 21 years of age for the best display of showmanship and sportsmanship in exhibiting Guernsey cattle, was won for the second successive year by Alex Birley of Paris, Ont.

Bootleg Deer Ring Smashed In Manitoba

WINNIPEG, Nov. 19—(CP).—Provincial game wardens and RCMP were reported yesterday to be rounding up members of a ring operating a large-scale bootleg market in deer cascasses, extremely profitable because of high meat prices.

G. W. Malaher, director of the Provincial Games and Fisheries Department, said numerous arrests had been made in the area north of here. Radio-equipped patrol cars and a plane have been employed in the round-up.

Flying over the area where poachers were believed at work, the air observer spotted poachers' lights and directed the cars by radio.

Mr. Malaher said a central market has been set up in Winnipeg to distribute the meat. Carcasses sold at $25 to $30 and a dressed carcass yielded 80 to 100 pounds of meat. He said the carcasses were obtained from hunters shooting for sport, although out of season, and from an organized band using lights and working at night.

DREAMS OF NEW BRUNSWICK that some day the province would have a national park are now coming true in Albert County on the Bay of Fundy. The first year's work on the project, to be completed in 1952, has just finished. The park covers 80 square miles of one of the most beautiful areas of the province. Top photo shows the bathing beach on the Bay of Fundy. For less hardy souls heated sea water will be available in a 130-foot swimming pool. The bottom photo illustrates the scenic beauty of the place. This is one of the roads which wind to the bay.

Stage Demonstrations

VANCOUVER, Nov. 19—(CP) —Seventy University of British Columbia students Thursday staged demonstrations against the shipment of 30 Mosquito bombers and airplane parts for Nationalist forces in China. They were members of the university's campus Socialist CCF, Communist LPP and Student Christian Movement clubs.

Death Penalty Inquiry

LONDON, Nov. 19—(Reuters) —A royal commission will investigate whether there are practical means of limiting the death penalty in Britain, Home Secretary Jame Chuter Ede announced in parliament Thursday.

He's Well On Way

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19—(AP) —Less than an hour after he told his teacher he wants to be a chemist when he grows up, a 13-year-old boy blew off his pants and the cellar door of his home Young Larry Rose escaped with slight burns of his legs and arm in the explosion that resulted from his efforts to make a rocket.

CCF Candidate Says Drew Broke Faith

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 — (CP). — Eugene Forsey, CCF candidate in the Carleton Federal by-election, claimed Thursday night that George Drew still hasn't kept two pledges he made five years ago about an Ottawa Valley project.

He renewed the power attack on Mr. Drew, former Ontario Premier and Progressive Conservative candidate in the by-election, in a speech prepared for delivery to a supper meeting of his workers and supporters.

Mr. Forsey said that in July, 1943, at Renfrew Mr. Drew gave "two very definite pledges on the Des Joachims power development" of the Ontario Hydro Commission.

One was that he "pledged immediate cancellation of the agreement under which the development is now taking place"; the other was "prompt steps to develop Ottawa River power so 'that the people at whose very door it has been placed would benefit first from it'."

The agreement had never been cancelled. It still stood, Mr. Forsey said, although Mr. Drew at that time was quoted as describing it as "utterly illegal."

Mr. Drew, as Premier, also had not lived up to his second promise. For more than two years "Des Joachims was not given top priority by the Ontario Government."

Mr. Forsey said Mr. Drew's two years "of total inaction" on Des Joachims and two more years "of slow motion cannot be brushed aside as of no real importance, nor can they be excused on the plea of shortages of men and materials."

Brands Intemperance One Of Great Evils

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 — (CP) — Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, chancellor of the Nova Scotia University of Acadia, Thursday night in a report branded intemperance as "perhaps the greatest" of the "social polutions of our national life."

His report read before a meeting of the Council of the Baptist Federation of Canada charged that Canada's annual liquor bill of $500,000,000 has piled in its wake an immense toll "in lost lives and broken homes, in crime and insanity and disease."

Dr. Kirkconnell's report read in his absence by Dr. R. S. Longley, Acadia University professor, suggested the liquor traffic toll could be better guaged "if newspapers announced as alcoholic in origin all those daily griefs and horrors that intemperance contribute to the columns of the press."

Sorry to hear Jack Turner is leaving to live in North Bay, where he goes into business for himself. Jack pulls out tomorrow for the northern town, along with his family, and baseball circles here will miss him. President of the City Baseball League two years ago, he acted in various capacities on that executive—and did much of the purchasing for the minor setup. On top of that he was a real worker in coaching the kids, handling no less than three teams the past season. Managed the juvenile and junior Kinsmen clubs and took over the intermediate Petes late in the campaign. And still had time to serve on the OBA executive the past two years.

* * * * * *

Yes, it would be lax on our part if he left without a mention. Jack, who played senior here three years during the 20s, loved the game. He'd battle like nobody's business for what he felt were his rights—but a guy who won't isn't much good. The boys he managed liked Jack and respected his ability. He offered to resign a year ago from the OBA when that august body failed to back him up on a rule, but the OBA executive apologized to him and declined to accept the resignation. He has sent in his resignation again now as the north country has its own baseball association, and Jack says he'll probably be mixed up in the diamond game up there. We wish him luck.

PMHA To Re-organize

Dick Ouimet is calling an open meeting of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association for Monday night at 7.30 in the YMCA. Annual affair to elect officers, take entries and so forth. He urges all managers, coaches and sponsors—including service clubs—to be on hand or represented so that a strong executive may be elected. This big setup for the minor puckists should pay its way this year with a covered rink in the city, as it'll have Monday and Thursday nights there all winter, three games a night. There were 15 teams in bantam, midget and juvenile last year, and at least as many are expected back. It's affiliated with the OMHA.

On the basketball front, two girls' games are billed for the YWCA tonight, starting at 8.15. Nurses play Electrics, and they're followed by Lock Co. against Bond's, formerly Kawarthas. Plenty of keen cage action is anticipated, and the hoop double-header should draw a goodly gallery. No man's action here yet, but a week from tomorrow sees Marines' "A" basketeers start off with an exhibition tilt with Queen's University. Meantime, both "A" and "B" clubs keep practicing, and the Lakeshore Loop will close entries early in December. The "Y" house loop is re-organizing, too.

Ports Playing PCVS

Grid fans, don't forget the big football fray at the Oval tomorrow aft at two betwixt Port Colborne and PCVS juniors. It's a sudden-death COSSA final, so they're playing for keeps. And the same squads tangled in the final a year ago, with the Ports emerging as champs. This may well be the year for the junior PCI-ers of Coach Londry. It's for sure that the play will be wide-open as both are high-scoring young squads with speed to burn and a lot of rugby savvy. Good coaching, in other words. Same goes for the senior PCVS team which heads for Burlington and a COSSA final—third for the Garnet and Gray in as many years. Great stuff.

Cobourg and Port Hope scribes wax eloquent in their praise of the Galloping Ghosts of Cobourg and their 6-0 triumph over Orillia Bombers here the other day. And why not? 'Twas a worthy achievement and puts the Rapid Wraiths into ORFU intermediate finals against London Falcons—they'll settle it tomorrow in Cobourg. We hear they settled the question of the gridiron over the phone before the Orillia-Ghosts' game, with a guy in London doing the tossing. And the coin fell right for the Ghosts. While it's true that penalties hurt Orillia's chances here, they're part of the game and, no doubt, were earned. The officiating by Toronto men was okay. Coach Bob Cooper was the main difference in that duel, we think.

Rules Made To Break

Comes a card from some Burleigh Falls' wrestling fans: "Sir—This card is from a group of fellows who for the past while have been following the bouts in Peterborough. We would like to know if Morgan received a square deal last time. Can a referee change his decision after raising another man's arm as winner? We all feel that Morgan won the bout." We rather agree with that thought. While Morgan was illegally using the ropes for leverage in his "Boston crab" hold, the referee didn't see it—and we don't think he should take anyone else's word. A referee should call them as he sees them. But it is not forbidden to change a decision, and that's been done in various sports for years. Finally, pro wrestling rules are made to be broken, it appears.

Elmhurst Horse Places Second

TORONTO, Nov. 19—Peter K. Lee, owned by Thomas McCool, Pembroke, and driven by Lew James of London, romped home first in straight heats in the featured 16-class pace at Dufferin Park yesterday.

James registered another double-heat victory in the three-year-old and 26 ace when he piloted Pine Ridge Louis, owned by the Pine Ridge Farms of London. Redstone, owned by H. Elmhurst of Peterborough and driven by Lutman was second in both heats.

In the 26 Pace, purse $200, Burton Lee, owned by Hugh J. Davis of Peterborough and driven by Lutman, placed seventh.

In the 26 Pace, purse $300, for three-year-olds the results were:

Pine Ridge Louie (James)	1	1
Redstone (Lutman)	2	2
Jimmy H (Harvey)	3	4
Williamsburg (Champion)	4	3
Mollie B. (J. Chapman)	5	5
Donnalda Lee (Habkirk)	6	6

US Imports Take Most Places On All-Star Team

By JACK MITCHELL

TORONTO, Nov. 19. (CP) — United States dominaiton of the Canadian football scene was underscore today when announcement of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union's annual all-star team showed US imports captured seven of the 12 positions.

Football writers and coaches in the league's four cities, who selected for the team for the Canadian Press, chose seven players from the Big Four champion Ottawa Rough Riders. Montreal Alouettes took four berths while Joe (Mr. Football) Krol won the lone position for the league's fallen champions, Toronto Argonauts.

The selectors didn't even give a nod to Hamilton Wildcats, who chalked up only one victory and a tie in their first Big Four season. The voting was weighted to provide equal voting strength for each of the four cities represented in the league.

The all-stars:

Flying Wing — Tony Golab, Rough Riders.

Half—Virgin Wagner, Alouettes.

Half—Joe Krol, Argonauts.

Half (secondary defence) — Howei Turner, Rough Riders.

Quarter—Bob Paffrath, Rough Riders.

Snap — Don Loney, Rough Riders.

Inside—Eddie Michaels, Rough Riders.

Inside—Lloyd (Bronco) Reese, Alouettes.

Middle—John Wagoner, Rough Riders.

Middle—Herb Trawick, Alouettes.

Outside—Ralph Toohey, Alouettes.

Outside—Bert Haigh, Rough Riders.

The seven US imports selected were out of a total of 20 who performed in the league this season. The Americans captured three of the five backfield positions and four of the seven wingline posts.

A notable absentee from the team is Royal Copleand, the blonde Argo half who gained few votes because a foot injury sidelined him most of the season. He had made the league's last three all-star teams.

Pla-Mors Triumph Over St. Paul 8-4

By The Associtaed Press

Bert Olmstead didn't miss a game last year as Kansas City Pla-Mors wound up in first place in the United States Hockey League's northeren division.

For Olmstad this season is starting better than last. Right now he's the northen division's leading scorer. He popped in two goals Thursday night while the Pla-Mors were winning 8-4 at St. Paul, and now has a total of 26 point—11 goals and 15 assists.

Larry Silvestri helped Olmstead with a goal and three assists. Harry Groves also scored twice for the winners.

Houston won its second game in a row over Fort Worth with Leonard (Doc) Haldorson having a part in all of the winners' scores. He scored three of the goals and got an assist on another as Houston won 4-3.

Brundage Says COA 30 Years Behind U.S.A.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 19 (CP).—The Canadian Olympic Association, set up as a committee of the Amateur Athletic Union, is 30 years behind the United States.

That was the word passed today by Avery Brundage, US Olympic committee chairman, in an interview shortly before his scheduled departure to Chicago after a one-day "all-expense-paid" visit here at the invitation of City Council.

"About 30 years ago a separate Olympic Committee was set up in the United States, taking in every organization that had anything to do with amateur sport," he said. "The committee has charge of trials, selecting teams, managers and coaches.

"Those interested in each individual Olympic sport have full control in picking our team. Every organization has a voice in its own particular sport and everybody is happy about it."

Brundage's remarks were especially timely in view of the present squabble between the Canadian Olympic Association and AAU. The question of the COA divorcing itself from the AAU is down for debate at closing session of the union's three-day annual meeting and a lively discusion is expected.

A resolution was approved declaring that athletes who compete with or against professionals in sports not under AAU jurisdiction would "suffer no penalty." Previously, athletes were liable to suspension for intermingling with the pros.

Remember When...

By The Canadian Press

The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, meeting in Winnipeg 15 years ago today, refused professional and amateur athletes permission to mingle, but granted reinstatement to professionals who had been out of competition for three years.

Varsity Gunning For First Title In 12 Years

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—(CP). — The biggest build-up of the season ends tonight and the football squads take over for tomorrow's senior intercollegiate championship battle between the surprising University of Toronto Blues and the mighty Mustangs from the University of Western Ontario.

Western will be seeking revenge as well as its fourth straight title when the Mustangs appear before a sell-out crowd. For Varsity, it could mean its first intercollegiate title since 1936.

Western students — dazed by Varsity's 23-8 upset victory last week — have been waging a "trample Toronto" campaign all week in reply to the "beat Western" ballyhoo that preceded Varsity's victory.

The game has been previewed, too, by one the wildest football scrambles in Toronto history. The few tickets that hadn't been allocated to students, alumni or subscribers disappeared almost as soon as they went on sale.

The playoff was forced by Varsity's victory last week, the first game Western has lost in 28 games since 1939.

Displays Papers

Rumors out of London say that all week long coach Johnny Metras has prominently displayed in the Western dressing room copies of the Varsity, the University of Toronto's daily newspaper, which after the last game headlined "In Memoriam to J. P. Metras, Esq., and his Western Mustangs—may they rest in pieces."

Campaign Misfires

Thursday the "Trample Toronto" campaign misfired slightly when Al Campbell, former Canadian Army paratrooper, planned a parachute jump into the middle of a Western pep rally. He landed nearly two miles away in the middle of downtown London.

But Western spirit got a boost when the University president, Dr. E. G. Hall, a Varsity graduate to boot, paid $5 instead of the regulation 25 cents for his "Trample Toronto" pin.

Varsity will go into the game with only one injury. Captain Ian Clark's injured shoulder received further damage last week and he may miss the game.

Western still is crippled by injuries to six men—including star halfback Bob McFarlane. Five more men, including flashy Jack Parry, injured last week should be back in action.

IN A BASKETBALL GAME at New York's Madison Square Garden, John Palme. of the New York Professional Knickerbockers, hits the boards as Don Calso (15), a Minneapolis Lakers guard, starts after the loose ball. The Lakers took the game with a score of 77 to 68.

Sudbury Wolves, guided by Max Silverman, president of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, will represent Canada in the world hockey championships at Stockholm next February. Silverman was authorized at the last annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to form a team to take to the championship games.

Guelph Memorial Gardens, a $425,000 hockey arena and recreation centre, will be officially opened Friday night by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar. It has already been dedicated as a memorial to Guelph's war dead.

The Canadian badminton championship may be played at Montreal next spring, officials of the Montreal Badminton and squash club said Thursday night. The title matches were held in Toronto last year.

Final Thomas cup trials to select a Canadian badminton team to meet the touring team from India here next month get under way at Toronto today. At Saint John, N.B., Thursday night, a dazzling display of speed and control was given by India's crack badminton team, in Canada for the matches. They gave local fans an exhibition of the net game seldom seen here before. The Indian stars, seven strong, stroked their way to victory in each of the eight matches against the New Brunswick team of local and provincial players.

A team representing the United States Amateur Hockey Association will sail Dec. 28 at the same time as a Canadian entry to take part in the world hockey championship at Stockholm Feb. 6-13, it was announced at New York Thursday.

(In Stockholm, the Swedish Ice Hockey Association said the championships would run from Feb. 12 through 20 in place of the dates announced in New York.)

Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson and Middleweight Steve Belloise signed new contracts at New York Thursday for their over-the-weight fight at Jersey City Dec. 9. The scrap between the two New Yorkers was postponed after being set originally for Dec. 2.

After giving away 12½ pounds and almost that many years, rough Ralph Zanelli of Providence, RI, gained a technical knockout verdict over middleweight title contender Anton Raadik of Chicago, in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round feature boxing bout Thursday night at the Boston Garden.

Zanelli weighed 147½ to Raadik's 160.

Raadik, who boasts that he floored middleweight champion Marcel Cerdan three times in Chicago a few months ago, took four nine-counts.

Sports Columnist Jimmy Powers of the Daily News today says that the controversial Feller-to-Boudreau pickoff play at second base in the first game of the world series will not appear in the official movies of the series. Ford Frick, president of the National League, said he didn't know whether or not movies of the play had been made or included in the official film.

Indian Land, winner of the $50,000 Golden West pace at Arcadia, Calif., last May, was sold Thursday for $20,000 to William W. Erving of Haledon, NJ. The pacer, by Scotland out of Pocahontas, was considered by Castleton Farm of Lexington, Ky.

Riders Hold Final Practice

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.— (CP).— Big Four champions, Ottawa Rough Riders, will drive forward today in their final training session before the crucial match of strength against the Hamilton Tigers begins.

They are showing no signs of nervousness, says Manager Jimmy McCaffrey, but they know they'll need plenty of punch to crush the big aerial attack expected from the Ontario rugby football champions tomorrow.

The Riders — who opened the training week in easy stages — completed a sharp full-dress rehearsal Thursday of what they believe will take place in tomorrow's push for the eastern Canadian championship.

McCaffrey says the boys are striving for perfection in their own aerial ofensive with the hope of more than matching the big show expected from playing-coach Frank Filchock.

A final session at passing will be completed today before the Tigers take possession of the field for a brief workout.

To Attend Dinner

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent left Ottawa Thursday for a brief trip to Kentville, N.S., where he will attend a testimonial dinner to Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, former justice minister.

Lay Ship's Keel

QUEBEC, Nov. 19 — (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier presided Thursday the laying of the keel of a modern Arctic vessel to be built at the Davie Shipbuilding and Repairing Company Ltd. at a cost of $2,273,230. In a speech the transport minister recalled the history of shipbuilding on the St. Lawrence south shore.

Boston Bruins Get Chance At Leadership

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins are in second place by a shadow in the National Hockey League Race but this week-end, at least, they're in the driver's seat.

With two week-end games scheduled with last-place clubs, they have their big chance to unseat Detroit Red Wings for the League leadership. Detroit, one point ahead of Bruins, is at home to Montreal Sunday night in the only week-end game for both Red Wings and Canadiens.

When it's all over Monday morning, Boston still will have a game in hand. And if they beat both Toronto and New York they will be one, possibly three, points ahead of Detroit.

Bruins go to Toronto tomorrow night where the Maple Leafs will be out to avenge the 2-1 victory the Bruins won at home Wednesday. Sunday New York will invade Boston where Bruins have won five straight this year.

Veteran Johnny Quilty left the Boston camp this week where he hadn't dressed for a game this year. The 27-year-old centre left for his Ottawa home where he would seek a job outside of hockey.

Quilty, who broke into the NHL with Montreal in 1940 and went to Boston in 1947, broke a leg last spring. The leg was slow in mending and he went to fall training camp this year with Hershey Bears. It was reported he received living expenses this year but no salary and was discouraged with the game. At his own request he went on the inactive list.

KNOWLTON, Que., Nov. 19—(CP)—Graduates of Knowlton high school were advised Thursday night by John Bassett, president and managing director of the Montreal Gazette, to develop the pioneer spirit and "live somewhat dangerously."

"If I had advice to give tonight to young people facing the world," Mr. Bassett said at commencement exercises, "I would say, 'Do not always be chasing security.' I would say 'Do some adventuring, gamble a little with your future, live somewhat dangerously, or in other words, take a chance...'

"Too many people today are thinking more of their persons in the years ahead than of the tasks of the present, which demand to be done."

Bowling Race Is Tighter In City Loop

Ostranders and Fashion Craft both improved their positions in the City Five-Pin League last night as they blanked Esquire Clothes and Cavanaghs. Rileys took four points from Sunocos, Shockeys four from Charlotte Credit Jewellers, McCannan's Electric four from Russelles, Empress Old Timers four from Marino's Lunch, King George four from Bond Clothes and De-Laval four from Clappers.

The individual prizes were well divided. Ostranders had high pinnage witm 3629 and McCannans high single game 1343. Joe Denault had high thre of 881 and Eric Martin high single of 345.

Other good triple totals were Eric Martin 839, George Gimblett 823 and Doug Abraham 819.

Eric Martin had 300 along with his top score followed by Bill Stanbury 386, Bud Weese 335, Doug Abraham 331, Joe Denault 319-300, Tic Caccavella 319, Walter Firth 317, Holly Mowry 317, George Dodson 311, Art Pilling 308, Mel Anthony 307 and Bill Lewis 306.

Peck Gets Chance At Free-Lancing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19 (AP).—Gregory Peck, filmdom's most "cut-up" star, will be free from studio commitments sooner than he expected.

Ever since his start as a film actor, the La Jolla (Calif.) lad's services have been frozen by contracts to several studios. Now he expects to do a picture apiece for MGM and 20th-Fox in the first part of 1949. That will make him a free agent, except for a three-picture obligation to Selznick.

"I'll try free-lancing — unless my following starts to drop," he remarked. "In which case, I'll grab for a seven-year deal with a studio." (I would not worry about that happening.)

Bits and Stuff

Broadway will have to wait for for Betty Garrett. She will join Gene Kelly and Frank Sinatra in "On the Town." After a slow start, her film career is making headway....

Van Johnson will likely join Esther Williams in "The Duchess of Idaho." He is now doing his first costume picture, "The Good Old Summertime." It's the good old "Shop Around the Corner," changed from contemporary Vienna to Chicago in the 1900s....

Max Baer deserted his Sacramento ranch to appear with Abbott and Costello in "Africa Screams." Asked who will be the next champ, he replied, "I don't follow the game any more."

Professor Explains Why City Selected

Speaking of "Social Problems," Professor C. Hendry of the faculty of the University of Toronto, addressed the Kiwanis Club in the Empress Hotel Thursday afternoon. He and 13 other staff members are visiting the city to make a survey of social conditions throughout the season only the faculty chose the trip. There is an average of 180 students from each province in Canada attending the University of Toronto, and if these students are to teach social works in large and small towns across the Dominion, they should understand the social conditions of a middle-size city.

Because of the heavy schedule the faculty did not meet often, and this trip was planned so all could be in "a common experience." He said: "We hope our teaching will become more vital. Peterborough was chosen because it is handy, is a good sized community, because of its composition, industrial arrangements and good people."

The group will not give any report to officials of the city regarding their observations "because it would be like going to Russia for a week, and then trying to write a book about the whole area of Russia." James Dutton had high praise for the men and women of the community, and assured the club that the experiment would be a success.

Ted Pridham welcomed the visitors and Vince McCabe thanked the guest speaker on behalf of the club.

The guests from the staff of the University of Toronto are: John Blow, Miss Opal Boynton, E. C. Cross, Miss Doris Grotewohl, Miss Emily Hatch, Dr. Hatcher, Charles Hendry, Miss Eda Horwink, Stuart Jaffary, Alan Klein, Miss Leona Massoth, John Morgan, Miss C. Rhinewine and Albert Rose.

1,200 Fans Go To Ottawa Game

HAMILTON, Nov. 19 (CP).—More than 1,200 rabid football fans packed Ottawa-bound trains from Hamilton to-day. They were following their Tigers to Ottawa for the Eastern Canada football final against Ottawa's Rough Riders.

Tigers left early today, and due to arrive in the Capital in time for a final workout to-night at Lansdowne Park.

It is the first Eastern championship final for the Bengals since 1935 when they beat Sarnia Imperials for Eastern honors and lost the Dominion title to Winnipeg.

Nearly 50 faithful watched the Tigers finish a week of Hamilton training Thursday night, including former Tiger Joey Pal who played this year with Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four.

Club officials said there were no injuries and the whole squad was in top physical condition.

Recreation Commission Wants Function Clarified

Members of the Recreation Commission are marking time as they wait for some word from the City Council describing their function in the community.

Earlier this fall, the Council on the recommendation of the Parks Committee requested the Commission to take over the complete maintenance and supervision of the outdoor hockey and skating rinks. After considering the matter carefully, the Commission wrote back saying that its estimates did not provide for the additional expenditures involved and that it did not have sufficient staff.

A subsequent letter from the city clerk informed the Commission that the Parks Committee will now take over the maintenance and supervision of the rinks this year.

This now leaves the Recreation Commission completely out of the picture, members of that body feel.

Jack Dane, Recreation director, said that members of the Commission "understood that the program and supervision of the rinks would come under their jurisdiction while the maintenance and equipment would be the responsibility of the Parks Committee—similar to last year."

W. B. Gordon, chairman of the Commission said he thought the arrangement last year was satisfactory to all parties. "I heard of no complaints as to that agreement," he said, "and I gather it was quite satisfactory."

In view of that fact he said he saw no reason for change.

Mr. Gordon stated that the Parks Committee and the Recreation Commission had agreed in October to hold a meeting on Nov. 3 to discuss plans for outdoor hockey and pleasure rinks. Dr. Herbert Young, Parks Committee, was present at the time, he said.

Before that November meeting could be held, said Mr. Gordon, the Parks Committee had made its recommendations to the city council asking the Recreation Commission to assume sole charge of the rinks.

In the letter claiming inability to take this responsibility, the Commission said: "Our estimates do not provide for the obvious additional expenditures which we assume have been provided for in the Park's estimates this year."

And it stated further: "We are unable at this late date to arrange for supervisory and administrative staffs that will necessarily be required."

Mr. Gordon stated that at the moment the Commission has only three employees—Mr. Dane, a stenographer and a part-time man at Dixon House.

Earlier this week Commission members at a regular meeting agreed that a letter be sent to the City Council asking for direction in matters of policy regarding the Recreation Commission.

A committee consisting of Mr. Gordon, Robert J. Bolton and A. E. Borland, was formed to outline the policy of the Commission at some future meeting of the City Council.

"We would like the City Council to determine our function in the community as the Recreation authority," said Mr. Dane.

Drew Urges Culture Stressed In Schools

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 — (CP) — George Drew, national Progressive Conservative leader, Thursday warned that mere instruction in Canadian schools was not nough. There must be more emphasis on ethics and culture.

And, he added, "we can't start too soon to give our children a good start in learning to run the business we call 'self-government.'

The former Ontario premier, in the first public appearance in the riding he will contest Dec. 20 for a seat in the Commons, made these remarks in brief addresses at the opening of additions to two schools in suburban Westboro.

"We have seen in Germany and Italy what instruction without culture or ethics can do," he said.

Eisenhower's first choice as commander of British forces in the campaign in Western Europe. The story is told in Gen Eisenhower's book on the war, "Crusade in Europe," being published next Monday.

The year was 1912....

Two soccer players crashed together as they both leaped to 'head' the ball. One fell to the ground, where he writhed in pain. From the crowd of spectators at London, Ontario, stepped forth William Loveday—and he quickly applied first aid that possibly saved a life.

He was the first St. John Ambulance Brigade member to apply his training in Canada. And now, at every major sporting event, at every place where crowds gather—wherever the need is greatest—you will find members of the St. John Ambulance, ready to give freely of their time and skill.

They are living symbols of the spirit of co-operation which has made Canada a great democratic nation—because they choose of their own free will to serve—secure in the knowledge that their right of choice is protected by their right to vote.

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

Canada Reviewing Eire Bill Effects

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (CP) — The Canadian government is studying the Republic of Eire Bill to determine its effect upon trade and tariff relationships between this country and Eire, it was learned today. Informed sources said a copy of the Bill, aimed at snapping Eire's last link with the Commonwealth, has been received in Ottawa and is being checked.

Old Stars Break Box Office Records In London

BY NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Nov. 19 —(CP)— Seven stars of gas-lit London—two of them more than 70—are breaking box office records all over Britain this year in a nostalgic vaudeville show called "Thanks for The Memory."

All attribute their long-sustained popularity to learning stagecraft "the hard way."

Since last February they have played twice nightly—with only two weeks off—to more than 1,000,000 persons, culminating in a command performance before the King and Queen this month. Their entertaining miscellany of old songs and new jokes is booked up till the end of 1949 after which they hope to make a tour of Canada.

If they do, countless Canadians who have emigrated from Britain during the last 20 or 30 years will remember these stars of yesterday who have proved themselves stars of today.

There is Nelle Wallace, the mother-eve of all comic charladies in her elastic-sided boots, a bedraggled feather in her hat, doing the lively song and dance act she did 50 years ago.

Likes Canada

There is Talbot O'Farrell — Boer War Veteran and former policeman — in smart grey topper, check trousers and white spats singing of "Paddy McCarthy's Ball" and the "Old-fashioned Lady With Old-Fashioned Ways" in the silvery tenor Victorians knew.

O'Farrell boasts of being 73 and tells lively tales of his tour of Canada in 1942. "I was overwhelmed by Canadian hospitality—almost submerged by it in fact. . ."

G. H. Elliot of the flashing smile and rolling eyes was known in the early days of the century as "the original chocolate-colored coon." And today, as vigorous as ever, he still brings the house down with "Lily of Laguna" which he has sung so long it is almost his personal property.

Gertie Gitana, still dark and vivacious, sings the songs that made her famous with men on leave luring the first world war —"Nellie Dean," "My Silver Bell," and other tuneful ditties.

Ella Shields, suave and sophisticated in "man-about-town" clothes sings "Burlington Bertie" and "If You Knew Susie" as effectively as ever.

Oil Stock Sales Bring Jail Terms

WINDSOR, Nov. 19 — (CP) — W. F. Bowman and W. H. Thibaudeau Thursday were sentenced to six months in prison for illegal sale of Shunda Oil Limited stocks.

It was brought out in evidence that an estimated 3,000 people purchased 2,000,000 shares, paying $446,578. Part of the money was paid after three drilling attempts failed and the Alberta oil wells were plugged with cement.

The men, partners in the W. H. Thibaudeau Company, of Windsor, pleaded guilty to three infractions of the Securities Act.

Bowman is president of Shunda Oils, and Thibaudeau is vice-president.

Vatican Editor Calls Press Still Childish

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 19 (AP) —The director of L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican newspaper, wrote Thursday that the press "is still young, if not downright childish."

Giuseppe Della Torre added that the press after centuries "still walks with its reins in the hands of other powers."

He explained that his comments were not intended as judgment or criticism, but as underlining the situation of the press "at a most grave hour which should have found it much more advanced if not actually at its goal."

In moments such as these, he wrote, "a press truly beyond conflicts, a dispassionate observer, judge and counsellor—with its soul free of every preconception —would be an insuperable guarantee for common benefit."

But, he said, social reform which would release the press, despite all appearance, still is distant. He said costs tie in to financial alliances, with which other factors do not create conditions for independence.

Names Mrs. R. Brown President Of WA

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 18 (ENS) —Group B was in charge of the Women's Association meeting of Lakefield United Church at Mrs. Roy Brown's home on Tuesday.

Mrs. Frank Darling, president, welcomed the guests.

Mrs. F. L. Erskine read the Scripture. Mrs. Roy Jackman sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. E. Roth. Mrs. Roth gave the lesson thoughts.

Mrs. Stan. Richardson conducted the meeting. An estimate on the purchase of a new chesterfield, for the parsonage, or recovering of the present one was submitted by the Missionary and Service Club parsonage committee. After discussion, the WA decided that whatever the Service Club decided to do would be agreeable, and they would cooperate.

The Association decided to send Christmas boxes to the sick and shut-ins as in former years.

Mrs. Jackman announced the Missionary and Service bazaar on Dec. 3 in the church.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George Spence on Dec. 14.

The nominating committee, Mrs. A. Higgins and Mrs. W. J. Charlton presented the slate of officers for the ensuing year as follows:

President, Mrs. Roy Brown; 1st vice-president, Mrs. John Murphy; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Clare Chittick— treasurer, Mrs. Herb Brown; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gordon Dunford; recording secretary, Mrs. J. R. Hull; pianist, Mrs. George Kelly.

Tea was served by Mrs. S. Richardson, Mrs. E. Roth and Mrs. W. Frankish.

Drew And CBC Disagree On Radio Time

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—(CP). — George Drew and the CBC disagreed Thursday on whether he should be allowed to buy provincial network radio time to discuss Ontario's power shortage.

The CBC said in a statement that its "white paper" prevented it from selling network time for discussion of "controversial and political matters." It added that Mr. Drew could speak next Monday evening on the CBC free-time broadcast set aside for political discussions.

The Progressive Conservative leader replied in Ottawa with a charge that the CBC statement was "simply another example of the serious restrictions on free speech which now exist in this country."

He said he will avail himself "of other channels which still are open for the purpose of conveying to the people of Ontario the information to which they are entitled."

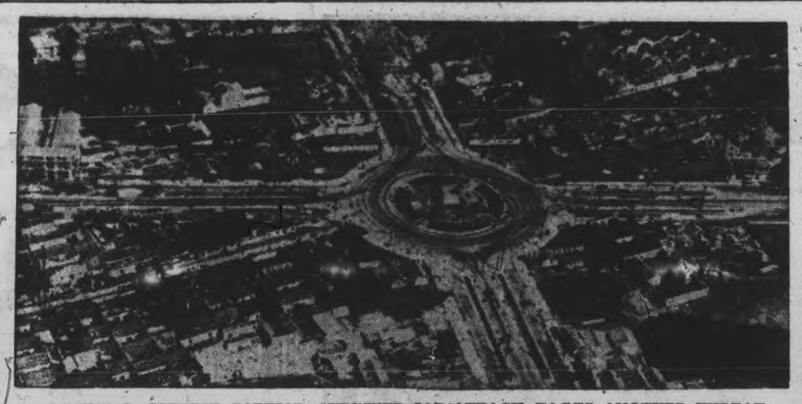
Makes Request

His request for broadcast time, made Wednesday night, arose from a statement last week-end by Trade Minister Howe that Mr. Drew, as former premier of Ontario, is to blame for the power shortage.

Replying to the CBC, Mr. Drew made this statement:

"I am well aware of the contents of the 'white paper,' under which arrangements could have been made for the type of broadcast for which I applied, and for which I was prepared to pay. I believe that the Canadian Broadcasting Corportion are aware that I am no longer premier of Ontario and, consequently, the free time on a provincial network next Monday is not available to me for this purpose.

"I might add that the subject is hardly controversial in the sense implied in the telegram I have received, as Mr. Howe's inaccurate statements last Saturday are flatly contradicted by an official publication dealing with the same subject and issued by his own authority."



NANKING, CHINESE CAPITAL, SURVIVED JAP ATTACK, FACES ANOTHER THREAT

AN ESTIMATED 1,000,000 Nationalist and Communist soldiers are locked in the bloody struggle for North China, with greatest pressure bearing east of the Suchow-Pengpu area (see map), north of Nanking, Chiang Kai-Shek's capital. Pitted against each other in mass fight are: Gen. Lin Piao, conqueror of Manchuria, and Gen. Fu Tso-yi, with the former believed holding a slight numerical superiority. Nanking is the prize for which the battle is being fought. China's high command, asserting Communists have already lost 90,000 men, have sent fresh troops into the battle of Suchow. On the other hand, the Communist radio reported nine government divisions were wiped out—which could mean 90,000 men.

Four Stillbirths Listed In October

"Despite everything which can be done, there are bound to be a certain amount of stillborn children because of congenital conditions," said Dr. A. G. Howson to the Board of the Civic Hospital Thursday night. He was commenting on the report of the medical staff which listed four stillbirths in October. He made the explanation because he said he "noted an intake of breath at the figure."

"It should also be remembered that we in Peterborough serve as a clearing point for a much larger population than just the city," added Dr. G. S. Cameron, "and these cases have to be borne on our statistical records."

Backwoods Farm Found Ideal For Potato Crop

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—(CP)—A 50-acre backwoods farm 90 miles northwest of Kingston came into the news this week when Arthur Budarick won the potato crown at the Royal Winter Fair.

His champion Katahdin entry was grown on only a few acres of the farm, cleared out of the bush by Budarick after he arrived from eastern Europe about 20 years ago.

The potato king, like barley king Louis Robbins, of Laura, Sask., and oat king John Boulton, of Abee, Alta., stayed on his farm near Palmer Rapids, content to wait at home for the results of the judging.

When the Polish-German immigrant came to Canada he found his hillside farm watered by underground springs which provide ideally cool conditions for potato growing. The sandy loam soil is slightly acid, helping to keep his crops free from disease.

Attention of the Ontario Agriculture Department was drawn to the farm by Emerson Budarick, the winner's son, when it found his potatoes, exhibited at school fairs, were nearly perfect.

The Department encouraged Budarick to grow potatoes, and he how produces Warba and Green Mountain varieties, as well as Katahdins. His entry of Warbas also won first prize in their division this year. Each year he plants from five to 10 acres of potatoes and harvests upwards of 500 bushels to the acre.

Find Cats Kidnapped In Hamilton Area

HAMILTON, Nov. 18 (CP). — Three or four daily complaints to police indicate that Hamilton district "dognappers" have added "catnappers" to their operations, officials of the Hamilton branch of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said to-day.

Society officials charged that one blue and another red panel truck were in operation in other parts of the province. They said pets were kidnapped and taken to a laboratory "probably in Toronto" for vivisection.

The officials reported that a black panel truck used in the capture of scores of Hamilton dogs and cats was an old hearse. The hearse made its appearance in nearby Westdale during the summer and turned up recently in Eastern sections of Hamilton.

Ranchers Hope For Revival Of Fur Business

By IRVING C. WHYNOT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX, Nov. 5.—(CP). — Since 1938, when fur farming in Nova Scotia hit its peak, ranchers have been holding on to prime breeding animals and hoping for a revival of the once-flourishing business.

Now it seems just possible they may be rewarded for their efforts. The number of animals kept on fur farms showed a slight increase last year, and officials of the department of lands and forests here predict that the business may be in for at least a mild revival.

Fox ranching alone in Nova Scotia once employed thousands of persons, but it rode the crest of a buying splurge for two years and then died out almost as rapidly as it began.

Probably no other industry depends on supply and demand to as great an extent as fur ranching. When fur is scarce, demand is great and prices are high, but as soon as the fur becomes plentiful, demand almost disappears entirely.

Markets Disappeared

When a pair of silver foxes, once considered freaks, were caught for breeding purposes, many businesses opened and in 1930 more than 1,000 silver fox ranches were operated in the province. Then the bottom fell out of the market and in one year the number of ranchers dropped to 200.

Last year there was a slight upward surge. There were 368 permit holders for ranching silver foxes, an increase of 38 over 1946. The average number of foxes per ranch—13.8—was up compared to the previous year.

Mink ranchers totalled 153, a drop of two, but the average number of minks on each ranch was up to 39.7 from 29.3.

Red fox, cross fox, platinum fox, muskrat, raccoon, marten, fisher, fitch, and rabbits were also ranched.

A total of 176,560 furs went to markets outside the province. Most of these were silver fox, mink, muskrat, weasel and squirrel.

Value of animals in captivity was $352,187 and the value of lands and buildings on ranches was $205,143.

White House In Bad Shape Plan Complete Overhaul

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (CP) — Latest word on the White House — from a man who should know—is that the second floor is staying up "purely from habit."

Buildings Commissioner W. E. Reynolds says the building itself, home of President Truman, wouldn't pass the fire-code requirements of "any responsible city in America."

People have been saying for years that something would have to be done about the structural weaknesses of that second storey. The job is now under way.

Moving Day

Historic White House furnishings are going into storage this winter: the Lincoln bed, a specially-built concert grand piano, crystal chandeliers, French period furniture dating back 100 years, and other treasures.

The president and his family, on return from a post-election holiday in Key West, Fla., will live in Blair House, near the White House, while extensive repairs are made in the executive mansion.

Not since the White House was remodelled at the turn of the century has it been cleared of furniture as will be done during the next few weeks. Changes have been made since the expansion and remodelling of 1901, but none has been on as grand a scale.

Poorly Reinforced

At that time, steel construction was something new in architecture, so the White House has little or no steel reinforcing. This winter's job will add steel girders and beams.

An estimated 1,000,000 persons visit the White House each year and the sightseers have contributed to the stress and strain, Reynolds says.

Reynolds says servants on the third floor have no way of getting out quickly in an emergency. The president and his family presumably would have to run out on the balcony and use a canvas chute, originally installed for the late President Roosevelt.

STRIKE IS FELT—Repercussions of the strike of longshoremen which closed all east coast United States ports are being felt by Windsor, Ont., postal officials. Mail from Europe for the western states is now being routed from Halifax where the ships are docking to Windsor where it is shipped across the border to Detroit. Here Arthur C. Larcharite, left, of the Windsor post office is assisting a US postal worker to load part of a large shipment.

Find Livestock Market Slow

TORONTO, Nov. 19 — (CP).—The Livestock Market this week moved at a painfully slow rate as a heavy run of 8,560 poor quality cattle found few buyers. The cattle prices started steady, but generally weakened toward the end of the week. Calves were strong, gaining $1 in spots and hogs and shep were unchanged, while lambs gained 50 cents.

Officials at the Dominion Marketing Service said trade wes about the slowest and quality was about the lowest for the year. United States orders accounted for about 1,400 head of cattle, but local demand was poor and there was a heavy carryover on Thursday night. Top price for weighty steers was $24.50 for one lot. Other weighty steers were $18-$23.50.

Butcher steers were mostly $17-$20, with tops of $22. Boning steers and heifers sold at $13-$15.50. Butcher heifers were $16.50-$20, with a few tops of $21. Fed yearlings sold at $19-$25, with a few choice up to $30. Butcher cows were $13-$17, with caners and cutters downward to $8. Good bulls were $19-$21and light bolognas sold downward to $14.

About 1,600 head of stockers were offered with several hundred left unsold. Good feeding steers were in demand and brought from $19-$21. Ordinary quality stockers were mostly $16-$18.50. Plain to medium quality milkers and springers were $135-$175 each.

Calves totalled 2,750 head. Choice vealers were steady at $28-$29, with a few tops at $30. Plain to medium lights and heavies, were from $16-$25. Grass calves sold for slaughter at $14-$15.50.

There was a light run of only 2,370 head. Grade A sold steady at $30.75 and Grade B1 were $30.35. Sows were unchanged at $25 dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled 3,290 head. Prices were up 50 cents on good ewe and wether lambs, these grades selling at $23.50. Thursday a few sold at $23.75. Bucks were at the usual $1 discount and cull lambs sold at $14-$16. Sheep were firm at $5-$10 acocrding to quality.

Accountants To Hear Quaker Officials

S. E. Nicholson, C. A., R. L. A., of Sheldons Ltd., Galt, president of Ontario Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants will visit Peterborough on Monday, accompanied by Mr. J. N. Allan, R. I. A., the Secretary Manager of the Society, to meet the members of the Peterborough Chapter at a dinner meeting in the Empress hotel.

Talks will be given by J. Blake Bell and Arthur Pitchford of the Quaker Oats Company outlining some of the problems that arise in the milling business and explaining how the general accounting and cost accounting routines provide control of these problems.

CIO Cool To Plan For Merger With AFL

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 19—(AP)—High CIO officials Thursday threw cool water on the AFL's annual proposal for a merger of the two organizations:

The position of CIO leaders seems to be this:

They probably will accept a suitable invitation to meet with AFL leaders and talk the thing over. If an agreement can be reached on such questions as union jurisdiction and craft unionism, perhaps a merger can be worked out.

But the CIO leaders think there is practically no chance of reaching an agreement on such questions. Above all, they will not convent to any arrangement under which the CIO would be "absorbed" by the larger organization.

More Jet News

TORONTO, Nov. 19 — (CP) — The general manager of the A. V. Roe Company, manufacturers of Canada's "hush-hush" jet plane, said Thursday that by 1951 jet airline flights from Toronto to Montreal would be comfortable one-hour trips. "We are approaching the age when almost all aircraft in the high power, high-duty class will be jet-powered," Walter N. Fisher told the Empire Club.

EFFICIENT CHAIRMAN—One of the most efficient committees of the entire United Nations organization is Committee No. 6, the budget committee. Members of the committee and UN officials in general have been loud in their praise of its Canadian chairman, Dana Wilgress, ambassador to Switzerland. Largely due to his efforts, the committee is held as an example for others to follow in speed and accomplishments. Ambassador Wilgress, left, is shown here talking to Clyntho Machado, of Brazil, committee secretary.

VOL. XCVII, No. 116 — FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1948

A VETERAN WAS HONORED this week when Ian McRae, works manager of the CGE Co., presented Rollie Craig with an engraved gold watch to mark completion of 50 years' service with the company. Mr. Craig worked for years in the commutator department under the late Frank Derrick, and in later years in the machine shop.

CGE Honors Rollie Craig Completes 50 Years Service

CGE family paid an affectionate tribute to Roland J. Craig, 155 Aylmer St. North, of the machine shop in his recent retirement on the 50th anniversary of the day he began his continuous service of half a century with the company.

On that day he qualified for the Half Century Club, and was welcomed by its precedent members: Robert Cottrell, Joseph Reynolds, Percy Fuller and Matthew T. Breckenridge.

The president of the company, Mr. H. M. Turner, Toronto, came to Peterborough for the dinner at the Empress Hotel at which Mr. and Mrs. Craig were the guests. It was also attended by representatives of various organizations within the local works.

Sixteen were active employees of 40 or more years' service and 12 pensioners of the same employment brackets prior to their retirement. At the head table were: Alf Day, representing the Employees Mutual Benefit Society; John Donaldson president of the Foremen's Association; Miss Maud Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Craig, H. M. Turner, J. E. Cleven, I. F. McRae, Tom Glover, president of the Quarter Century Club, Mr. Cottrell, Alex Kirkcaldy, historian of the QCC; and Wm. C. Bennett, wice-president of the Social and Athletic Association.

Mr. Craig was presented with an inscribed gold watch by Mr. McRae, representing the company, and a Half Century Club membership plaque from Mr. Cottrell.

"It is typical of the General Electric family that the friends of our work-a-day life are with us to share our joys and stick with us in time of trouble and tribulation," Mr. Turner said, in part. "I am deeply grateful that I should be extended the privilege of joining with you to honor Rollie Craig and to commemorate his golden anniversary of employment with the company . . ."

Mr. Turner recalled that in Hebrew history the jubilee was celebrated at the end of each 50-year period following their entrance into Canaan.

"To have sustained a long period of employment is the equivalent of creating a symbol to younger men and women in Canadian G.E." Mr. Turner said. "A symbol of loyalty of purpose; an unwavering determination to face the coming day and to surmount its problems; a symbol of courage to those who may be prone to drift and vacillate, and above all a symbol of comradeship and friendship with his fellow man—lasting and satisfying.

To you sir, my unqualified respect and esteem: to a man devoted to his duty and capable in its fulfillment."

Mr. Glover presented Mrs. Craig with a bouquet of roses. Appreciation of the support Mr. Craig had given the shop societies from the time of their establishment was gratefully expressed by their representatives.

"The years that have brought me to this occasion have passed quickly," Mr. Craig said in his reply. "After working for 50 years, the sudden leisure may seem a bit strange at first, but I think Mrs. Craig and I can stand it. I am particularly grateful for the many friends I have made, and thankful to know that I leave no enemies behind."

Fellow employees of the machine shop gave Mr. Craig a purse at their dinner at Club Aragon in his honor. On that occasion Mr. H. G. McKenzie, general foreman, said: "This is both a sad and happy day for us. It is sad in that we are losing a man whose experience and skill will not easily be replaced; and happy in that Rollie has good health which will enable him to enjoy the leisure that is now his."

Rising Costs Upset Hospital Budget

Like all individuals and other institutions, hospitals are hard-hit by the increasing costs of nearly every item. This was shown Thursday night in the financial report to the Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital. For the first 10 months of 1948, excess of expenditures over revenue has amounted to $18,591.65, which is $13,168.01 more than the budgetted allowance for expenditures for that period.

But, unlike other institutions, hospitals deal in factors which "cannot be reduced to dollars and cents," said Dr. A. G. Howson, member of the Board and president of the Medical Staff. He was one of several of the members which stressed this during discussion of the mounting costs of operation as reflected in the hospital's statements.

Thomas T. Rodgers, chairman of the finance committee, went over the figures, pointing out the items which had thrown the actual expenditures out of line with the budgetted amounts.

"We are faced with rising costs which simply cannot be foreseen by anyone, which accounts for the heavy spending in many of these departments."

Some of the items listed, with actual expenditures for the first 10 months and budgetted amount for that period in brackets, are: salaries, $171,711.68 ($170,166.67); employee's hospitalization, $5,204.76 ($4,166.67); dietary and food supplies, $44,466.05 ($42,400); fuel, $12,770.96 ($11,000); laundry and bedding, $6,748.81 ($4,916.67); drugs, $24,715.68 ($18,000); cost of procedures by outside agencies, $1,058.38 ($100).

Dollars No Yardstick

"One cannot break down the question of health into cold dollars and cents. It canpot be used as a yardstick in these matters," said Dr. Howson. He pointed out that medical advances had greatly improved in recent generations, that the average life expectancy was higher and that higher costs were natural.

Mr. Rodgers, agreeing with this point of view, said that, in its work, the hospital must not count the cost when human interests are involved. He mentioned cases in which heavy expenses had been met by the hospital in trying to save lives.

"Many of these costs are irrecoverable, but they must not be halted for that reason," he said.

J. R. Marshall, chairman of the Board, said that it was mainly a matter of showing the public "why these deficits cannot be avoided."

Dr. G. S. Cameron, another board member, also spoke of "that incalculable quantity in dealing with the sick."

In these cases, he said: "We give the best we have—we've got to save a life. That sort of thing can't be budgetted."

"The bigger the hospital becomes, and the bigger the city grows, so these costs will increase. They cannot be helped."

The statement of revenue and expenditure showed total revenue to the end of October as $315,829.35, about $5,000 lower than estimated in the budget. Expenditures for that period amounted to $334,421, against an estimate of $321,252.99.

Municipal elections in the village of Lakefield will be held on Monday, Dec. 20 this year.

Kiwanis Has 27th Birthday T. Rodger Gets 25-Year Pin

"South Africa by Air" was the topic used by Mrs. Marie Taylor, wife of the past president of East York Kiwanis Club, as she addressed members and guests of the Kiwanis Club on Thursday night. It was the 27th anniversary of the presentation of the club's charter.

The guest speaker gave facts about people's of the world, at times humorously, but giving valuable information to the audience. Describing her trip from Toronto to England to South Africa, she told of the different countries visited, of the food, habits, the beauty of seas, desert sands, hills and mountains.

The vastness of the Nile, the heat of the tropics, the noisiest city — "Johannesburgh, where a person never stops talking," the beauty of Alps and Appenines in Italy as well as the dress and living conditions of the black race were described.

"If the standard of living was raised the black people would not steal so much, and the food would not have to be locked behind bars," she said.

Jack Lewis introduced the speaker, with Richard Raine voicing the thanks and presenting a bouquet of red roses to the visitor.

Tom Rodger, former treasurer of the club, was honored by the Kiwanis Club. He received a certificate and a button marking his 25th anniversary with the club.

Past presidents of the club were responsible for the party, and most of the members with their wives or friends turned out for the occasion. Prizes were won by many of the members' wives.

JAMES B. LILLICO, a recent graduate of Osgoode Hall Law School, received the post-graduate degree of Bachelor of Laws from the University of Toronto at the fall convocation last Friday evening. Mr. Lillico studied for this degree while attending Osgoode Hall.

Safety Group Tours Plant To Spot Hazards

Seventy-five members of the metal machine group of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association met at the CGE Thursday evening. There were representations from six Peterborough plants, De Laval, Western Clock, CGE, Outboard Marine, Peterborough-Brinton Carget and Canada Packers.

During a two-hour inspection of the CGE, members pointed out 35 working hazards that existed and recommended improvements that could be made to eliminate them. Chairman Edward Foley of CGE conducted the meeting and superintendent George A. Macdonald of the De Laval Company and J. E. Girven, assistant works manager, CGE, were present and said a few words to the group.

Harry Baptie, Western Clock Company and chairman of the Peterborough-Lindsay executive told members that they were the backbone of accident prevention and that the district has the lowest accident rate in the Province. He pointed out that their section was the only active group that made plant tours. Throughout the winter, woodworking, punch press and textile sections will tour member plants in the interest of safety prevention. Lunch was served in the CGE cafeteria toward the end of the meeting.

Note Of Eternity

A note of eternity—or at least, a long, long time—crept into discussion Thursday night of the coming cornerstone-laying ceremony of the new Civic Hospital. The Governor-General will officiate at the ceremony. In the meeting, the Board of Governors of the hospital were shown the stainless steel casket which will sit in the core of the cornerstone.

I. F. McRae displayed the article to the Board. Formed with electric welding at the CGE plant here, it was neat and heavy and gleaming. When certain papers commemorating the event have been placed in it, its open end will be sealed off, making it air-tight, water-tight, light-tight and rust-proof.

"It will last 1,000 years," Mr. McRae advised the Board.

30-Year Old Harcourt Man Found Today

BANCROFT, Nov 19 (Staff)—After two nights spent in the woods alone north of Bancroft, Archibald Kehoe has been located safely this morning. He had been missing in the area of Benoir's Lake north-west of Bancroft since Wednesday morning. Police, forestry officers and fellow employees of the lost man had taken part in the 36-hour search.

About 36 years of age, Kehoe is single, lives at Bancroft and is a laborer at the chemical plant at Harcourt. His whereabouts were last noted early Wednesday morning when he told friends that he was going out into the woods for a couple of days hunting.

He crossed Benoir's Lake at that time and did not return Wednesday night. The canoe was found beached on the north shore of the lake by a party of plant employees, who hunted through the vicinity all day Thursday. When they were unable to find him, they called in Provincial Police and officers of the Department of Lands and Forests.

Provincial Constable Douglas Ketcheson and Forestry Rangers Henry Taylor and Daniel Poff, all of Bancroft, took part in the later search.

Candidate Need Not Be Property Owner

The municipal electors of Peterborough manage to select property owners for their administration although the law does not impose restrictions against the tenant candidate.

The three members of the Utilities Commission are property owners; and likewise nine of the ten aldermen. All the members of the Board of Education are owners, or in position of virtual ownership.

Of the elected members of those three groups only one is an occupying tenant.

All that is required on a candidate is that the taxes are paid on the property he occupies. If he is the owner, of course he has to pay the taxes. If he is a tenant, the taxes have to be paid by his landlord. If no minus quantity is shown in his record at the tax collector's office, then there is no property defect against him.

Collect Once a Week

Peterborough has bi-weekly collection of garbage and takes it as a matter of course. Collection in Ottawa is once a week, except during the summer months. The Capital people apparently get by on that plan. Neither have they an incinerator. That raises the question what do they do with their money. Their police station is an affront to down town Elgin St. and for years they have been talking of building a city hall.

INADVERTENT OMISSION.

The names of the Hon. H. R. Scott and Mrs. Scott were inadvertently omitted from the published list of citizens who will be the reception committee at the C.P.R. station on the arrival next Thursday of the Governor-General and Lady Alexander.

PERCY MARTYN, Insurance office employee, who was defeated in his first try for the City Council last year has announced he will be a candidate again this year. He is a veteran of World War 1.

Percy A. Martyn To Seek Seat On Council

Percy A. Martyn, 582 Waterford St., secretary of the local branch of North American Life Insurance Co., told The Examiner today that he had decided to accept nomination for the council a week from tonight.

"I am really interested in the progress of Peterborough and its financial soundness," Mr. Martyn said. "That' why I was a candidate last year. Probably I am more widely known now than I was then. At any rate, you don't let a little thing like a defeat hold you back when you would like to have the opportunity of public service."

Mr. Martyn was transferred to Peterborough from London, Ont. 18 years ago, is a home owner, has three children attending Collegiate Institute and one in Public School. He has been active in St. John's Church for more than five years.

"If I was elected I would want to keep up our community services, but I would certainly be much concerned about our tax rate. That is important to ourselves and to our future as an industrial city. I would be prepared to give to the city work all the time required. Of course, the decision rests with the ratepayers."

Mr. Martyn is a veteran of the First World War.

Remand Given Policeman At Port Hope

PORT HOPE, Nov. 19—(ENS)—Albert Warren, dismissed police sergeant of Port Hope police department, this morning appeared on a remand for theft and at the request of the Crown was remanded for another week. Bail of $1,000 has been renewed. Warren was dismissed on November 11 and next day was arrested by Chief W. Graham on a charge of theft of gasoline. The gasoline, it is alleged, was stolen from a local taxi company between Aug. 1 and November 11 of this year in the amount of approximately 30 gallons. Inspector Alex McLeod of the CIB, Provincial Police, Toronto, was called in by Crown Attorney Harry Deyman to handle the investigation.

Defence counsel H. R. S. Ryan told the court this morning he was withdrawing from the case because of his position as town solicitor and that Arthur Greer of Oshawa had been retained.

"I understand further charges might be laid and if so, Mr. Greer would like them laid as soon as possible so that he will know what they are. We don't want the matter running into perpetuity. Mr. Warren is being convicted by rumour of everything that has happened here since he came here. Somebody, I don't know who it is, is spreading these rumours," Mr. Ryan said.

"We are working as quickly as we can. Inspector McLeod is on the case and we will dispose of everything at once. As for the rumours they didn't come from me," commented Chief Graham.

"It is pretty hard to stop rumours, but as far as the courts are concerned a man is innocent until he is proved guilty," observed Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

MORE VANDALISM

If residents along Burnham St. catch up with the chalk-wielding children who are marking brick and frame walls of homes along the street it will be just too bad. There has been a wave of this scribbling, and the offenders have marked verandahs, houses, sidewalks and fences. Chief Constable Thompson has received several complaints and police will patrol the area several times in the hopes of catching the children responsible.

Present Educational Plan Thoroughly Analysed By Professor C. Hendry

A thorough analysis of the present educational system in Canada was presented on Thursday night to an audience of teachers and others innterested in education by Professor Charles E. Hendry, of the School of Social Work, Toronto.

"Canada is beginning to really go places," he said, explaining why he returned to the Dominion after spending 20 years in various United States universities.

During the war, he said, the people of the United States realized that the industrial revolution had really arrived in this country, and they were impressed with the Canadian contribution on both the battle and peace fronts.

He agreed with the late John Buchan's observation that Canadians are great self-critics. And he also felt there was much truth in the contention of the two modern Canadian writers, Hugh McLennan and Bruce Hutchinson, that Canadians are too modest..

Throughout his lecture ran the constant theme of the necessity for "vital education."

He posed three tests to see if this description obtained. The first was relevance. The key question to this, he said, was, "is the educational experience relevant to the needs of the individual at each stage in the process of his development?" The second is the test of reality. Does the student, first of all, assume the major responsibility for his education? He told the audience that once he had placed for the study of his class in a United States' university four daily newspaper stories on the controversial Tennessee Valley Authority.

Accounts All Varied

The accounts varied so greatly, he said, that the class and himself decided the best thing to do was go and make a comprehensive investigation themselves. This first-hand study with its many social ramifications was better than dealing with the subject of an abstract basis, he contended.

Finally there was the test of relationship. Students need to see the whole sweep of their subjects as an integrated study, he said, not as a highly departmentalized list of subjects.

Professor Hendry stated that when he returned to Canada in 1946 he read several reports on the state of education in the country. One that impressed him particularly was a pamphlet published by the Canadian Youth Commission entitled, "Youth Challenges the Educator."

Following this trend of thought, he asked his first class of 65 postgraduate students to answer briefly the simple question: "What gripes you most about your recent educational experience?" This criticism was to apply to education gained not only in civilian life but also in the military.

Later he asked the same body of students to answer the affirmative side of the problem: "What impressed you most favorably about your recent educational experiences?"

After analysing their statements, he summarized them to 12 major propositions. The first four he said might be included under the title of How Education Is Conceived, or The Philosophy of Education; the next four, How Education Is Orangized And Administered, and the final four, How Education Is Conducted In The Classroom.

The propositions were:

"The students here involved consider that the dominant emphasis in Canadian education is preparation for academic advancement and not preparation for living. Too much attention, they feel, is devoted to academic verbalism and not enough to actual performance. Education, in their opinion, tends therefore to be non-functional, irrelevant and unrealistic."

Emotions Neglected

"The school places too much stress on the intellect, not enough stress on the emotions. Education, these students felt, must deal with the whole person.

"A number of the students claimed that values and value considerations are largely ignored or side-stepped in a deliberate and distorted devotion to scientific or pedagogical objectivity (neutrality).

"Fundamental misgivings arise out of a critical examination of the examination system. Students feel the really basic objectives and outcomes in education escape examination.

"The criticism of the lack of vocational guidance runs almost as a theme throughout the student responses.

"Concern is expressed that more adequate provision be made to assist able students requiring financial aid to get secondary and appropriate advanced education. Differentials between educational standards in different parts of the Dominion are cited also as a problem."

"Competitive practices and the examination system in particular, come in for severe criticism.

"The students would replace what they regard to be an insulated, compartmentalized curriculum with an integrated, coordinated curriculum.

"Out of class 'bull-sessions' in some instances rate higher than the classroom as a constructive educational experience. Failure to recognize, gear in and utilize student experience is criticized.

"'Lecture system' some dubbed it. Great resentment is expressed toward authoritative, arbitrary and paternalistic tendencies. Being forced to parrot, to act the hypocrite, to refrain from criticism; being slapped down and intimidated; being barred from giving expression to one's own ideas —these practices are sharply denounced.

"The competence of teachers is pointedly considered But the impressive point here is that student concern centres not primarily on intellectual competence, but on the emotional maturity and moral adequacy of the teacher."

And last—"Too much detail—too little variety—not enough sweep —do not see the forest for trees."

This analysis Prof. Hendry stated is made from the answers of graduate students ranging in age from 19 to 42 with a median age of 28. They come from every province and from 10 different Canadian colleges and universities. Forty-seven per cent. served in the armed forces; forty per cent. are men and 60 per cent. women.

This lecture was arranged through the joint sponsorship of the Peterborough Teachers' Council and the Service Clubs Council. The speaker, specially chosen for Education Week, was introduced by R. J. Bolton and thanked by Simpson Gledhill. Miss Beryl Hart was in the chair.

Musical entertainment was provided by Jack Telford, who sang two solos, and by the PCVS Concert Band, under the direction of Bandmaster Croasdale.

PETERBOROUGH AIRPORT

will be a new industry for our city—Locally owned and operated . . . the need for an Airport is becoming greater daily.

$10.00 will buy two shares of Skyboro Stock (1 preferred and 1 common). Every shareholder is a voting shareholder.

Thousands of Airports in Canada and the United States are privately owned and operated. Last year over 200 new airports were built and operated by private investors. The following are just a few of the many reasons why Peterborough should have an airport:

- The Airport is a sound financial investment.
- An industry drawing other industries.
- It will give young men and women an opportunity to learn to fly.
- It will open the Kawartha District to increasing numbers of "flying" tourists.
- The Airport will provide an air service for the city of Peterborough.

The beards will be removed at that time and the hair woven into ties for the winners. This photo shows some of the early growth by contestants.

Hastings Council Discharges Claim

HASTINGS, Nov. 19—(ENS).—Mr. J. M. Baker, clerk of the village of Hastings, called a special meeting in the council chambers, with Reeve A. Orr in the chair and Councillors J. Mulholland, W. E. Edwards and J. Calberry present. The main purpose of the meeting was to discuss the claim against the C. B. Plant Co. and a by-law for a $3,000 loan.

Moved by W. E. Edwards, seconded by J. Mulholland, that the council instruct the solicitor to have discharged any claim whatsoever against the property situated on the island, known as the W. P. Plant Foundry, the same to be signed by the Reeve and Clerks-Treasurer.

It was moved by W. E. Edwards, seconded by J. Mulholland, that a by-law be prepared for an additional $3,000 to be applied on Hastings Recreational Memorial Centre.

Moved by W. E. Edwards, seconded by J. Calberry, that the clerk be authorized to place a notice in the local paper that the last instalment of taxes for the year 1948 are due and payable Dec. 1st, 1948.

Council adjourned on motion of Mulholland and Calberry.

3 Miles Sewers Laid This Year Report Reveals

Board of works department will have laid this year three miles of sewers.

More than 15,000 feet have already been completed, City Enginer E. A. Chalmers remarked today.

Part of the detail pertains to computing cost of work against the frontage property on those streets. That is an additional responsibility of Mr. Chalmers. Corner properties also pay the flankage cost. The city assumes the sewer outlay at street intersections.

Property owners petition for sewers. Suppose it is a request from residents on Rose Ave. City Clerk Outram is required to examine each name on the list, the description of the property credited to that owner, and also verify his address, as shown on the petition, by reference to the assessment roll. This is a procedure confirming the validity of the petition.

The statute requires that at least two-thirds of property owners on that St. must be signatories of the petition, and their combined properties must represent at least 50 per cent of the assessed value of all the properties on the street and thereby affected by the work proposed in the petition.

City council obtains an estimate of the work from City Engineer Chalmers, and finally passes a by-law authorizing it to be done. Eventually board of works employees lay the sewer. Cost sheets are kept by the Engineer. Then, it becomes his duty to determine and distribute the cost of that Rose Ave. sewer among all the owners of property on that street, including any persons who might have declined to sign the petition.

This is the general procedure with local improvement jobs. Mr. Chalmers this year has to compute the charge against each of the properties on the three miles of strets. The cost is charged on the basis of footage. The average is the 40-foot lot. Payment of sewers is spread over 15 years. It is the Chalmers duty to determine the annual charge against each property. The charge is collected through the tax bills.

Flankage Charge

Cost of sewers, as noted above, is entirely paid by owners of the of the benefitting property, with the exceptions of street intersections and any lane frontage on a street. A flankage charge is also borne by the owner of a corner lot.

Another fact that may be mentioned is that when a sidewalk is built only 60 per cent of the cost is charged against the fronting property. The 40 per cent is charged against the city as representing all the other citizens, who have access to the street and frequently use it.

So, the Rose Ave. people get their sewer, connections are laid, and in the long run the cost appears on their tax bills, an annual amount for 15 years.

Finally, there is the municipality's method of paying for the work. Board of Works men who laid the sewer collect their wages. Their cheques are drawn on the Bank of Montreal. It is only a detail that the council provides for any borrowing that is required to meet progressing work.

The last step is the Engineer's computing of the cost of the Rose Ave. job, and the council authorizes the bollowing of the amount required, by issuing debentures, which are usually for 15 years.

At any rate, the Rose Ave. owners pay for their sewer convenience in annual amounts over 15 years, and the city pays the annual charges incurred by the debentures until they are retired.

ERIK GUNNAR SJOEBERG, 59-year-old milk route foreman, is shown (wearing fedora) receiving congratulations from fellow employees after it was learned that he had inherited $600,000 from Mrs. Hevy Hansen, an aunt, who died in Copenhagen, Denmark. Sjoeberg has been known in Chicago by his Americanized name of Gunnard Eric Seaberg. He is married, the father of two children, a grandfather, and looks upon the inheritance as a "fairy tale". He says legal formalities concerning the inheritance have been completed by a Stockholm lawyer he has retained and that he expects to go to Copenhagen after December 1.

Poetry In Bible Not Rhyme But Shows Beauty of Phrase

Scripture—I Samuel 2:1-10; II Samuel 1:19-27; Psalms 23-24; 103; 136:1-9; Lamentations 3:19-39; Habakkuk 3:17-19; Luke 1:46-55.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Poetry is defined in the dictionary as "a metrical composition produced or embellished by creative imagination," or, as someone has said, "verbal composition, imaginative and concrete in matter, and emotional and rhythmic in form."

Poets are inspired by feelings of beauty, by love, grief or a desire to praise, or even humor, as in the beloved, diverting lines of Lewis Carroll. Poems are often set to music, and we sing them when we are happy, when, in church or Sunday School, we want to praise the Lord, the Creator.

The poetry of the Bible is not expressed in rhyme, and modern poetry is often written in like manner—in beauty of phrase and thought, but not necessarily in what we call rhyme.

There is what is called philosophical poetry in our Bible, as in the Book of Job; lyrical poetry that expresses emotions and experiences, as in the Psalms; songs of praise to Jehovah for His goodness, as in the rejoicing of the two mothers, Hannah and Mary, mothers of Samuel and Jesus, which are part of our lesson today. There are also songs of despair as well as of hope, in the writings of the prophets.

You will recall Jehovah's promise of a son to Hannah, wife of Elkanah, who prayed for a child, and her promise to give him to the Lord. True to her word, when her child Samuel was born, Hannah took him to Eli, prophet of God, and then she fell on her knees, praising God, for His goodness.

After the Angel Gabriel had visited Mary, a humble maiden, and announced that she would be the mother of Christ, Mary too sang praises to God for selecting her above all women for this infinite honor. Her exquisite song of praise is caled the Magnificat, from which our word magnificent comes. It is an enlargement of the song Hannah sung to Jehovah hundreds of years before Mary's time. Mary thanked the Lord for remembering those of low degree, the hungry, the humble, and for scattering the proud, the mighty and the rich.

David's lamentation over Saul and Jonathan who were slain in battle with the Philistines, is beautiful poetry—"The beauty of Israel is slain upon Thy high places: how are the mighty fallen!"

David forgot or forgave Saul for the years when his enemy sought his life, and remembered only that at one time Saul was his friend. Of his friend Jonathan, who had stood by him in all his troubles, David's cry was: "I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan: very pleasant hast thou been unto me: thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women."

The 23rd, 24th and 136th Psalms are songs of recognition of the care the Lord gives His people, and the comfort that knowledge gives.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures;
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul:
He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for Thou art with me;
Thy rod and Thy staff, they comfort me...
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life;
And I shall live in the house of the Lord forever.

The 24th Psalm begins:
The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof;
The world, and they that dwell therein.
For He hath founded it upon the seas,
And established it upon the floods.

The 136th Psalm is a pure song of thanksgiving:
O give thanks unto the Lord; for He is good;
For His mercy endureth forever.

It recites the release of the Israelites from bondage in Egypt, and all the blessings enjoyed by them thereafter, with the refrain, For His mercy endureth forever.

Even in adversity, the prophets called upon their God in poetical language, recounting the miseries of His people, as in the Book of Lamentations, or praise in the midst of trouble, as in Habakkuk.

Plan New Hospital

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 — (CP) — Funds to start building a new veterans hospital in Quebec City will be provided for in the 1949 Federal estimates, Veterans Minister Gregg said Thursday.

HE'S TOPS—Sidney John Allsop of Red Deer, Alta., didn't know for 12 hours he was the newly crowned world wheat champion. Awarded the 1948 crown at the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto, the 34-year-old bachelor was told of his good luck during a chance conversation next day. Reward wheat grown on the farm of his parents gave him the title. He has won titles two previous years at the International Exposition at Chicago but this was his first trip to eastern Canada.

DOROTHY DIX

When Wife Lacking in Wisdom

DEAR MISS DIX: My son is an intelligent man of refined taste and habits. He is successful in business and provides his wife with a lovely home and all the comforts of life. She is a good woman and loves my son very much, but she has no regard for the niceties of life. She keeps a filthy home and is very untidy about her person. She doesn't even bother to comb her hair and put on a clean dress to greet her husband when he comes home from work. The meals that she puts before him are not fit to eat and and the table linen is always soiled.

Dorothy Dix

My son is becoming disgusted with his wife and is ceasing to care for her. He stays away from home as much as he can, and I fear he is falling in love with a friend of his wife's who is trim and tidy and a good housekeeper.

What can I do to try to preserve my son's happiness and his home?

A MOTHER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your son's wife needs a jolt that will jar her wisdom teeth loose; and it seems to me that you are the one who will have to administer it, which is a pity, as mothers-in-law are not so popular that they can afford to be bearers of bad news.

Truth Must Be Told

However, it is not so much being persona grata with your son's wife as saving him and his home that concerns you; and while it may offend your daughter-in-law to be told a few plain truths, the time will come when she will thank you and realize that you have been her best friend.

Tell her that if she wants to hold her husband and keep out of the divorce courts, she has to be up and doing and on her job every minute. Certainly no married woman can call it a day and knock off work when she gets married. As a matter of fact, her labor just begins because it is a million times more difficult to keep a husband interested and satisfied or give her husband good food, or turn out a workmanlike job of her housekeeping is bound to lose her husband. Maybe if you tell your daughter-in-law that she is about to lose out to a better woman, she will wake up and get busy on her job.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What would you suggest for breaking off an undesirable engagement? My daughter, who is 20, is engaged to a man of 40. I think he is too and in an admiring attitude than it was a sweetheart.

The lazy, slouchy wife who is too indolent to keep herself clean, old for her, but she is very stubborn and I can't talk her out of anything.

WORRIED

ANSWER: If the man is of good character and able to support a wife, there is no reason why the engagement should be broken off, for while the difference in age really is too great, itis not an insuperable objection. A great deal depends upon the temperament of the two parties. Often a girl of 20 is as settled in her character and disposition as most woman of 30, while many men of 40 are still mere boys at heart.

The best way to break off an engagement is to present a counter-attraction. Send your daughter off ona visit where she will meet boys or her own age, and perhaps she will forget her 40-year-old suitor. Ridicule is another good weapon. Girls can forgive a man most anything else, but they can't bear for him to look ridiculous. The one argumet that your daughter will not be able to combat is to have her sweetheart called "grandpa."

DEAR DORTHY DIX: I have been married five years and I don't know my husband any better today than the day we were marired. We can't understand each other, can't agree on anything, can't please each other, have nothing in common. We are always quarreling? What would you advise us to do?

MR AND MRS.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Try to get acquainted. When we say we can't understand people, nine times out of ten we mean that we can't force them to our way and conform to our taste. If you and your husband will try to get each other's point of view, you will understand each other easily enough; and if you will try to agree with each other, it will stop your quarrels.

For Saturday, Novembr 20

There are signs of keen inclination to move about, to make changes, to travel, consider new deals and renewed contracts. While all such are under propitious rule for success and happiness, yet it would be more than likely that some form of intrigue, treachery or craftiness could result in regrettable entanglements, sordid affiliations or sinister practices. Suspicion, jealousy, underhand methods might involve to the extent of frustration and failure.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are urged to take every precaution against involvement in irregular deals or practices, in which hidden enmity, jealousy, suspicion and craftiness are at work to undermine sound efforts. Under promising rule are travel, change, new arrangements or contracts in which lively and happy issues could be anticipated. But a watchful and astute preparation for such subtle designs and complications could find cherished objectives thriving and pleasant. The interest of youth and of students are especially favored.

A child born on this day may be well equipped for a successful and lively career, being adaptable and versatile. There are signs of complications and regrets in connection with jealousy, intrigue and hypocrisy.

Local Council Gives $50 To Civic Arena

Members of the Local Council of Women made decisions on a number of business matters at their final meeting of the year Thursday afternoon in the YWCA. It was unanimously decided to give a donation of $50 to the Civic Arena fund. The president, Mrs W. Addyman, was appointed to present the Council gift of $15 to the head girl at PCVS during graduation exercises.

In connection with the visit of the Governor-General of Canada and Viscountess Alexander to this city on November 25, members were asked through a letter from the Chamber of Commerce to decorate their homes with flags for the occasion. Mrs. A. A. McIntyre, vice-president, was appointed to attend the laying of the corner stone at the new Civic Hospital site on that day. The president will attend the civic dinner and reception and Council members are giving her a corsage for the occasion which will be chosen by Mrs. McIntyre.

A sum of money collected toward overseas food parcels is to be user for a parcelt to Peterborough, England.

Mrs. George Fletcher of Bailieboro, was present and received words of tribute and praise for her work in having street lights installed in that village.

For the annual meeting of the Ontario Provincial Council on November 25 to 27, the president was given an instructed vote on the five vice-presidents, with Mrs. W. H. Addyman of Peterborough one of eight in the running. She was also advised to support a resolution to allow the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine in Canada, and another for standardization of size in garments, regardless of price. A third on the matter of government help in financing the Children's Aid Societies, she will be guided by her own and other opinions given at the meeting. Five delegates from the Council may attend this meeting in Toronto.

The National Council has expressed the wish to hold their sub-executive meeting in Peterborough during January and a time and place is to be arranged.

In honor of the baby prince born to Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip this week, tea and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. A year ago the members celebrated the royal wedding in this fashion.

Mrs. F. M. Somerville was pianist for singing of "O Canada" after observance of Remembrance Day by standing for a two minute silence.

Enjoy Evening Guests at St. Paul's

Choir members of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church entertained the choir of Murray St. Baptist Church with whom they had been united for several months this year, at supper Thursday evening. The president, Mr. Wm. Saunders, with Mrs. Saunders, and the Rev. C. G. Boyd and Mrs. Boyd received the guests. About 80 were present, including the Rev. Ivan Morgan and Mrs. Morgan, and were served by members of the Ladies' Aid.

Tables were lovely with bronze mums in the centre and bronze and green tapers in beautiful silver candlebra and weer decorated with fresh fruit. This was the work of Mrs. L. R. Mitchell and Miss Verna Johnson.

A very merry country fair got under way afterward with booths and games, causing a riot of fun. Mr. George Coleman Jr. was in charge and had appointed Mr. Christopher Gledhill to operate the dart game, Mr. Wm. Saunders to supervise dropping of clothes pegs in a milk bottle, and Mr. Stu. Lockington in charge of "hitting the bucket."

Weight guessers were Mr. John Anderson and Mr. Don Flett. Mr. Jim McBride operated a shooting gallery and Messrs. Charlie Clark and Jim Davidson had a fishpond.

Prizes ranged from soup and pickles to rulers, pencils and cereals.

Presents Study In Drama Form

MILLBROOK, Nov. 19—(ENS).—Dramatically presented, the first chapter of the new Mission Circle study book featured the November meeting of the Golden Links Circle. Those impersonating the characters were Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, Mrs. R. Larmer, Mrs. B. E. Ingham, Miss Jean Burnham, Jessie Lunn, Mrs. H. Ouellette, Mrs. K. Pennington, Mrs. E. J. Powell and Miss Betty Lunn. Mrs. Ingham introduced the characters.

The meeting was at the home of Mrs. W. E. Ball.

Mrs. D. L. Lunn conducted the quiz at the close of the play.

The fall thankoffering was received.

Mrs. E. J. Powell gave the stewardship message, and Mrs. Lunn had charge of the worship service, with Jessie Lunn reading the Scripture. Mrs. R. Larmer thanked the Circle for the shower of gifts after the October meeting.

The president, Mrs. Hobbs, read a letter from Miss Margaret Smith, circle member now taking training for active service in Toronto. A number of the members will write.

Miss Betty Lunn, secretary, reported $4.30 offering at the October meeting, and a parcel sent to Miss Jean Stewart in China. The Christmas meeting will be on Dec. 28, at Mrs. Hobbs' home. Miss Jean Burnham will have the worship service. Supper hostesses will be Mrs. Gordon Powell, Mrs. R. Ridge and Miss Edith Thorne. Those serving on Wednesday evening were Miss Mary Widdis, Mrs. G. C. R. McQuade, and Mrs. Lavergne Gibson.

Evening of Entertainment Marks Lodge Anniversary

75th anniversary of the founding of Peterborough Lodge No. 111 was celebrated in elaborate style Thursday evening at the Empress Hotel. Joining the officers, members and guests for the dinner and entertainment were members of Golden Link Rebekah Lodge, Order of the Eastern Star, Otonabee Lodge No. 13 and their guests. Each lady received a rose corsage as she arrived and handsome prizes were given out later.

Mr. Gordon Myles who was presiding officer during the 75th year, was chairman. He spoke of the "very healthy state" of the organization which now has a membership of 310. On May 6, 1873, the Peterborough Lodge No. 111 was instituted with seven charter members who many may recall: Samuel White, Wm. H. Scott, George L. Mitchell, Edgerton R. Walton, Robert Elger, Thomas S. Quincy and George W. Wright.

Speaker was the Rev. A. M. Partridge who addressed his fellow members of Oddfellowship in lighter vein for a few minutes. In seriousness, he pointed out the need for "learning to keep our balance in the physical, moral and spiritual process of life." To solve the problems of the nation we need to have leaders who have learned the secret of mastery of living—keeping their balance.

"In daily life, belonging to a Lodge such as this gives us balance," he said. "I believe in having a good time at play and sport but we can't run off on a tangent and work or play all the time. The man is lost who does not have a sense of indebtedness which leads him to increase in wisdom and apply the knowledge by growing up socially, morally and religiously—gaining his balance."

Entertainment by magician Edward Bradshaw stole the show as he mystified the crowd with a hand that was "quicker than the eye," and a very glibe tongue that does a lot to confuse the mental processes of his audience.

Miss Margaret Hooper entertained delightfully with two solos, "Where My Caravan Has Rested" and "Morning". Community singing was led by Mr. G. H. Cutmore. Mrs. W. J. Gordon was the pianist.

Games of euchre were organized by Mr. J. Lancashire and about 18 tables were filled. Winners of the ladies' prizes were Mrs. Wm. Petrie, Mrs. J. Lancashire and Mrs. H. Lemmings. Honors for the men went to Mr C. Garside, Mr. E. Hocking and Mrs. R. Wellman. Other guests enjoyed dancing to music by Frank Hamon and his orchestra and prizes were given for lucky spots and novelties.

Among those present were: Mr and Mrs. W. J. Townsley, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Sisson, Mr. and Mrs Art Northcott, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Greig, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beatty Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Curry, Mr and Mrs. Mel. Reid-Stapely

BONARLAW, Nov. 19 (ENS)—A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Stapely, Stirling, on Saturday, when their daughter Hilda Eileen, was united in marriage to Thomas Robert Reid of RR 1, Bonarlaw, son of Mrs. Reid and the late Mr. Thomas Reid.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Hind of Hamilton, assisted by the Rev. Simon Bronson of Trenton. Mrs. Harold Stapely, sister of the groom, played the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of azure blue with metallic trimming, a shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Blanche Reid, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, was in powder blue and carried a nosegay of chrysanthemums and roses.

Mr. Samuel Stapely was the groomsman.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, her mother receiving in a dress of brown crepe with beige trimming, assisted by the groom's mother in black crepe.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls and on return they will live in Seymour.

Oyster Season At Its Best, How To Make Oyster Soup

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19. (CP)—This is the season when oysters are at their besst and amateurs have that job of "oyster-shucking" cut out for them.

Experts at the Fisheries Department have a few directions for the person who would eat his oyster with a minimum of effort.

One method for getting at this delicious seafood is by opening through the side, wherever an opening may present itself, but preferably just opposite the muscle located about one-quarter to one-third of the length from the broad end. Cut the muscle on the flat upper shell.

A second method is to insert a short knife between the shells at the hinge and break the hinge by prying the two shells apart at this point. The upper shell can then be lifted up and the muscle taken out.

OYSTER SOUP: Open oysters and empty in a fine strainer placed over a bowl. When all the oysters are opened let them drain for a while longer and sprinkle with a few tablespoons of cold water. Strain the liquid from the oysters through cotton to remove sand and heat, then add oysters which have been washed. Cook until the edges curl and add milk which has been heated. Add a piece of butter or thick cream, and salt and pepper. Serve hot. Paprika may be sprinkle on each plate as desired.

Inexpensive and plentiful this year, potatoes are an excellent tonic for an ailing budget.

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, claims as "unjust" the old criticism that potatoes are "fattening." Cooked in its jacket, the lowly potato provides food elements for which many homemakers pay dearly in other foods.

POTATOE BISCUITS.—Ingredients: two cups hot riced potatoes; two tablespoons grated cheese; one teaspoon chopped parsley, two eggs; one cup sifted all-purpose flour (or one cup and two tablespoons sifted pastry flour); two teaspoons baking powder; one teaspoon salt. To the potatoes add grated cheese, chopped parsley, and well-beaten eggs. Mix and sift flour; baking powder and salt. Blend thoroughly with first mixture. Shape into rounds like a biscuit and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees Fahrenheit) for 15 to 20 minutes. These biscuits are good served with jam or jelly and require NO butter. Yield: 18 two-inch biscuits.

Sweet potatoes are a welcome dish at any dinner-tables, particularly when a little care is taken in their preparation.

MARSHWALLOW SWEET POTATOES — Ingredients: large sweet potatoes; three tablespoons sugar; marshmallows. Boil four or five potatoes in the skins until they are soft; peel them and mash with a fork. Put in a baking-dish and pour over them syrup made by melting three tablespoons butter and three tablespoons sugar. Bake in a medium oven until syrup is well cooked into the potatoes. Cover the mixture with marshmallows and place in oven again until marshmallows are browned on top. Serve with main course.

Faculty Members Go To School To Study City

Professor Charles Hendry, the Faculty of the School of Social Work, University of Toronto, and other interested observers, are going to school in Peterborough for three days. The object of their studies is the city itself—its problems and how they are met.

On Thursday afternoon the scholarly guests met at the Normal School to lay the basis for their intensive study of the city. From local resisdents such as James Dutton, Sr., chairman; Magistrate W. R. Philp, Wilson Gemmell and James Fraser of the Chamber of Commerce, Arthur G. Metheral, relief administrator; the Rev. P. P. Butler of St. Peter's Cathedral; Frederick DelaFosse, and Miss Rachael Young, Children's Aid Society, they learned much of the city's history and other basic data necessary for their study.

A battery of searching questions was fired at the hosts. They included queries on early settlement in the district, national composition of the settlers, causes of the city's growth, reason for its location, topographical features of the city, popular and unpopular residential areas, number of railway crossings, main traffic arteries, the main industries, division of employees among these industries, per capita wage in the city.

One of the interrogators temporarily stymied the hastily-assembled brains trust when he asked? "Who is the real power here in Peterborough?" The consensus was that there is no behind-the-scenes pressure group exerting decisive influence.

In the evening the social workers convened again. First, they attended a session which was given over to a description of the basic services in the community — responsibilities, program, personnel and financing. For example the control of land use and the burden of the social service on municipal finance.

Then they split into five groups. City Clerk A. E. Outram was chairman of the discussion which included representatives of industry, Board of Trade, Trade Unions, Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Governments and City Planning Board.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, headed the group inquiring into health services. It included such subjects as public and private health; Board of Health, Public Health Nurses, industrial hygiene, hospitals, clinics and mental health services. A panel of local physicians was present.

Education and Education Services were reviewed by K. S. Wightman. Members of the Public School Board, Separate School Board were present as well as teachers from Normal School, Guidance classes, special classes, and attendance officers and school nurses.

Many Subjects

Magistrate Philp was chairman of the group studying services for families and children. Discussed were family allowance, city welfare department, Children's Aid Society, St. Vincent de Paul Society, family court, and mothers' allowances.

Recreation and adult education was presided over by W. B. Gordon. An account was given of the work done by the recreation commission, parks and playgrounds, service clubs, YMCA, YWCA, community centers, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and the CYO.

Peterborough was chosen because it was of smaller size than Toronto and has not yet been influenced by that city's "metropolitan spread."

The faculty decided that Peterborough's development "reflects the transition of Ontario from an agricultural to an industrial area. Good information is available about its historical background and its current problems."

Mr. James Dutton, chairman of the city planning board, has promised all possible assistance to aid the researchers.

In the Spring the faculty hopes to send up a class of students from the school of social work to study the workings of a municipality at first hand.

Claims Staked In Hastings

KIRKLAND LAKE, Nov. 19.—(CP)—A one-time partner of the late Sir Harry Oakes, veteran prospector T. B. Tough said on Thursday he is awaiting reports from the National Research Council at Ottawa on samples of radioactive ore from two mining properties he has staked in Ontario.

Mr. Tough, who was in partnership with the millionaire gold mining magnate in the Tough Oakes mine in 1912, said he had staked claims covering some 500 acres in Hastings county in eastern Ontario and is negotiating for an option on the other property in the Parry Sound district. He and his partner Jim Staples, a blind war veteran from nearby Larder Lake, expect a report on their find in about a month.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

OPTIMISTS MEETING

The regular semi-annual meeting of the Peterborough Optimist Club will be held on Monday, Nov. 22, at which their prospective membership drive will be reviewed and plans laid to intensify the campaign. The Opti-Mrs. Club report a profit of $45 from their cooking and handicraft sale at the Market Hall on Nov. 6.

VLA BOARD TO SIT

A. R. Macnab, regional supervisor of Veterans Land Act will hold a sitting to interview veterans about their housing problems at the DVA offices, Barrie Bldg., on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 24. Candidates who wish to discuss their affairs are requested to make advance requests to A. B. Burrows, district manager, DVA.

NOT IN CHINA

Concern for the safety of Father Lawrence McAuliffe of this city has been expressed by several of his school chums who thought he was stationed near Hankow. He spent nine years in China, and was at one time in the area now being threatened by the Communist armies, but was given the Canadian post about a year ago.

FIRE ALARM PROVES FALSE

Residents south of No. 7 Highway, southeast of the city noticed the glow of fire in the sky on Thursday night and many thought it was a serious blaze. Some people raced to the scene by car but found when they got there that it was only stubble being burned on a field of Charles Elmhirst, RR 1, Keene.

BUY 300 LANTERNS

City Clerk Nelson Ogilvie of Ottawa is buying 300 lanterns for election night, Dec. 6. Board of works can rustle up another 300. Stan Caniff, Hydro manager there, refused to consider changing blackout time for the accommodation of the voters. That is the kind of answer necessity gets when it goes begging.

CHANGING COUNCIL

Lakefield's voters will vote for a deputy-reeve at the annual election. The village has grown to the size where the Municipal Act permits this office. With this new officer, the council will include a reeve and three councillors. Lakefield next year will then have two seats on the county council.

Obituaries

MISS MARY MUMBY

BONARLAW, Nov. 19—(ENS).—The death occurred on Saturday at her home, the 12th Concession of Rawdon township, of Miss Mary Elizabeth Mumby, after a brief illness.

Born in Rawdon township, Miss Mumby was 85 years old, and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Mumby. She spent her entire life in the township where she was born. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Margaret Spry of Madoc.

The funeral was held on Tuesday.

Burial was in Madoc Cemetery.

MRS. EMMA LOUISE DOWNING

Mrs. Emma Louise Downing, 71, of Apsley, died on Thursday in a Peterborough hospital following a lingering illness. She was born in Apsley, daughter of the late Dr. Sidney William Clegg and Mary Jane Cassidy, and had lived there a lifetime. Her husband, the late Archibald W. Downing, predeceased her four years ago.

She leaves one sister, Mrs. Thomas Welch of Peterborough. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Funeral service will be held at the family residence in Apsley on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. The Rev. M. Robb of Apsley United Church will officiate and burial will be at Apsley Cemetery.

MARGARET GRACE MOORE

Infant, Margaret Grace Moore, age one month, died in a Toronto hospital on Thursday. She was the daughter of Ralph Moore and Barbara Little of RR 2, Indian River. Besides her parents she leaves one brother, Gary, age 18 months. Mr. and Mrs. Moore are members of Norwood United Church.

Funeral service will be on Saturday morning from the Tedford Funeral Home to the residence of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Moore of Indian River. The Rev. E. E. Pugsley will officiate and burial will be at St. Mark's Cemetery, Warsaw.

Car Recovered From Trent River

HASTINGS, Nov. 19—(ENS).—After three hours discouraging work Thursday afternoon, the submerged car of Fred Ford, RR 3, Hastings, was lifted from the bottom of the Trent River. It had ended there early Wednesday morning, when Ford and a companion had narrowly escaped from the vehicle before it slithered into the deep waters.

Men went out in a boat over the sunken car and managed to hook the two chains of a truck to it. The work began as the efforts to lift the heavy, water-soaked car met three losses, as it broke the chain, slipping back into the icy water. It was three hours before the car was finally "beached."

ANSWER TWO FIRE ALARMS

A chimney fire shortly after 11 a.m., on Thursday brought firemen to 129 Sutherland St., the residence of W. Trotter. Shortly before 7 a.m. today they went to 658 Aylmer St. where overheated pipes were reported at the home of E. MacPhail.

Bill For Relief In October Up Over $3,000

Expenditure by the welfare department to the end of October was $34,084.01. Of that amount the province pays $12,395.28. The balance payable by the city is $21,688.73.

Appropriation for the year is $27,000. Subtract the sum paid out of the city treasury, and the remainder is $5,311.27 to cover the welfare costs for November and December.

"I think we'll finish the year with a small surplus," Ald. Dick Raine, chairman, said at the meeting of the welfare committee Thursday afternoon.

The relief bill for October was $2,640.66 as compared with $2,314.94 for the tenth month last year.

The number of persons on the welfare list was 155 as against 163 a year ago. Heads of families declined from 33 to 29; their dependents from 83 to 63. Single men were u pfrom 7 to 12 and single women up from 40 to 51.

Per capita relief allowance in October was $17.03 as compared with $14.20 in Oct. last year.

Nine new recipients of relief were listed last month. They have fourteen dependent children. Two are women deserted by their husbands. One man will be chargeable to Toronto; another has applied for a blind pension.

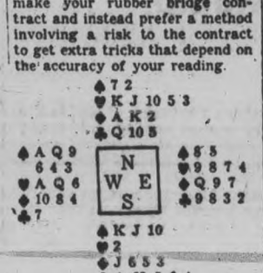
SALLY'S SALLIES

"Mind if I try out this perfume in your department?"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

YOU MAY BE WRONG

EVERY WRITER about bridge receives letters that accuse him of overestimating the value of card-reading in the reported hands. A goodly share of them point out the damage that might have been done if the reading happened to be wrong. Against that indictment, the only honest plea is "guilty" at times. There are situations in which depending on your card-reading is completely unsound. This is definitely true if you have a sure-thing way to make your rubber bridge contract and instead prefer a method involving a risk to the contract to get extra tricks that depend on the accuracy of your reading.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	2 ♠	3 ♥	Pass
3 NT

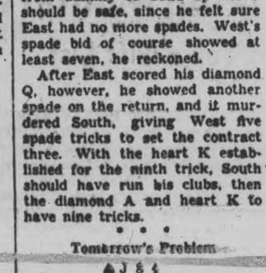
That bid of 2-Spades by West was quite unorthodox with his kind of hand. But it happened to win a fine result for his side in an utterly unexpected manner. His purpose was twofold, to crowd the opponents if they had the main strength and help get his side into a game if East had anything of value. Little did he think that the bid's influence on the play would prove more important, after his opponents reached a game contract anyway.

The opening lead was the spade 6, which the J took. With a trick in, the declarer counted seven more—five in clubs and two in diamonds—to make eight. Only one more was needed, and the best chance for it seemed to be in hearts. So he led the 2 of that suit. West, counting on a probable heart singleton so that the finesse could not be taken against his Q, won and returned the diamond 4. Now South saw a fine chance for an extra trick. Even if East had the Q, playing low from dummy to build up the J should be safe, since he felt sure East had no more spades. West's spade bid of course showed at least seven, he reckoned.

After East scored his diamond Q, however, he showed another spade on the return, and it murdered South, giving West five spade tricks to set the contract three. With the heart K established for the ninth trick, South should have run his clubs, then the diamond A and heart K to have nine tricks.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

If East had bid spades and diamonds as high as four, wins the spade lead and returns the diamond K, how should South seek his 5-Hearts?

U.S. OPPOSES TAKING NEGEV FROM JEWS

Britain, U.S. Block Plan Weaken Ruhr

Queuille Government As Allies Conflict May Lose Office

PARIS, Nov. 20—(AP).— Britain and the United States were reported today to have turned down French pleas against rebuilding Germany's industrial power.

Observers said the 10-week-old government of Premier Henri Queuille may not survive mounting parliamentary opposition to the British - American policy which conflicts with the French people's traditional desire to keep Germany weak.

The French government is expected to submit a memorandum this week-end registering their objections to:

1. The projected return of property rights in the Ruhr steel and coal industries to the Germans.

2. The British-American refusal to extend the period of international control of the Ruhr beyond the period of occupation.

3. The British-American decision to revise again the twice-reduced program for dismantling Germany's heavy industries This decision would cut down German reparations deliveries to France and revive French fears of a reconstructed German war potential.

The government clearly considers Communism a greater menace to French security than a revived Germany.

But this view is not shared by the French people at large. On the one hand the Communists represent one-third of the population and make up the country's strongest single party. On the other hand there is Gen. Charles de Gaulle's intensely Nationalist Rightist party which also represents about one third of the population.

It is generally accepted here that the government will fall over the Ruhr issue if the Communists unite with the De Gaullists in asking complete rejection of the British-American attitude.

WHEN NEWS of Communist armies' advance on Suchow became known thousands of Chinese refugees left Shanghai and pictured above is a scene on the Shanghai bund as authorities use fire hose to hold back mobs attempting to gain safety aboard a small vessel already overloaded with passengers. A complete government victory was proclaimed in the battle of Suchow and masses of Chinese Communists were reported surrendering or retreating after suffering 130,000 casualties.

Cut Pay Demand As Dock Strike Continues Tie-up

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—(AP)—New rounds of talks in the American east-coast waterfront tie-up today centred on a reported cut in the strikers' pay demands.

A source close to the negotiators said the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) has offered to settle the wage issue for a 25-cent hourly increase in regular day-work pay.

This is only half the original demand for a 50-cent hourly boost But there were scant indications the employers would accept the new figure.

Previously, the New York Shipping Association, representing the employers, fixed a 10-cent hourly increase as their utmost "concession."

It was the dock workers' rejection of this offer that 11 days ago touched off the strike that has paralyzed every major Atlantic port in the United States and tied up 217 foreign and American-flag vessels.

The longshoremen's straight-time pay under the old contract was $1.75 hourly.

With vast stores of import-and-export goods tied up in holds of strikebound ships and on waterfront piers, appeals continued to be made form ovement of commodities in special categories.

So far the union has remained adamant in its policy of not handling any shipments except those for the army.

Power Short in Maritimes Workers Lose Half Week

KIRKLAND LAKE, Nov. 20 (CP).—The shortage of Hydro-Electric power is not a condition peculiar to the Province of Ontario. Restrictions here are much lighter than in other parts of Canada and in certain areas of the United States, Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, told a joint meeting of the Hydro Club and the Junior Board of Trade here Friday night.

Mr. Saunders said that, while Southern Ontario experiences three minor cutoffs per day, employees of the Cosmos-Imperial Textiles of Yarmouth, NS, are working an average of three and a half days per week, 500 of its employees drawing half a week's pay on the staggered shift system. He said this could happen in Ontario, but only if consumers fail to understand the necessity for conservation.

The Hydro chairman revealed that Rouyn and Noranda in the Province of Quebec have been cut 10 per cent.; Sherbrooke, 20 per cent.; New York State, 15 per cent. on load and five on voltage; and Duluth, 20 per cent.

Speaking of plans for the future Mr. Saunders said, "It is the hope of the Hydro Commission to link Southern Ontario to the northern section with a network which may serve the north with power over the week-ends, since northern industries operate on a seven-day week. Piping Southern Ontario power over the week-ends into the north would be a simple matter since most of the industry in the south lies idle between Saturday and Monday."

Plan Conference On West Security

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (CP)—Top-rank spokesmen for seven Western democracies may meet here within 10 days to complete the groundwork for a full-dress Atlantic security conference.

Washington speculation is that the Ambassadors of Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands will confer soon with Robert Lovett, United States Under Secretary of State.

The proposed Atlantic mutual defence pact, outgrowth of a similar agreement among Britain, France, and the Benelux countries, is being drawn up as a regional alliance in accordance with provisions of the United Nations Charter.

The trans-Atlantic arrangement, a blunt answer to Russian aggression in Europe, seems assured. Only the blueprint and the timing remain secret.

Court Hears 'Dream Witness'

MARTINEZ, Calif., Nov. 20 — (AP)—A "dream" witness Friday entered the strange "truth serum" trial of a former United States air force sergeant charged with murdering his wife last June.

The witness was William Peck, 24, a Richmond, Calif., factory worker. Peck came here to take the stand in the trial of Kenneth Long, 26, accused of the fatal stabbing of his wife, Barbara Jean.

Long, while under the influence of sodium pentothal — so-called "truth" drug—dramatically named Peck as the killer. Previously, he had said he was unable to remember any events surrounding the killing.

As a result of his "dream testimony"—entered in evidence by the defence through a recording of Long's statement while under the influence of the drug — the court ordered Peck be brought into court.

Queen Goes Home

CAIRO, Nov. 20 — (AP). — Former Queen Farida of Egypt drove from the palace in a royal automobile to her father's house after her divorce from King Farouk, the newspaper Akhbar El Yom said to-day.

Beginning to-day she will be called Safinaz Zulfikar, her name before the royal marriage, the paper added. The ex-Queen's youngest daughter Princess Fadia accompanied her, Akhbar El Yom said. The two elder daughters; Ferial and Fawzia, remained with their father.

Face Badly Burned

Herbert T. York, of RR 10, Peterborough, was badly burned on the face and chest about 9:30 this morning. An employee of the Peterborough Lock Company, he was standing in front of a furnace at the plant when it blew open and flames shot into his face. He was taken to hospital for treatment. Extent of the injuries is not yet known. Some concern is felt that he may lose his sight because of the accident.

'Slave Boy' Back In Hospital

TORONTO, Nov. 20 (CP)—Although no longer in official custody, Gordon Kelley, 19-year-old "slave boy" found half starved begging for food a month ago, decided Friday to go back to the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital for another week of treatment.

After telling police a story of imprisonment for a year in a closet, a starvation diet of bread and water and cruel beatings, he was placed in hospital four week ago for mental examination.

In juvenile court Friday, he was declared sane by Judge D. Webster, but when it was suggested he go back to the hospital for an additional week of rest and treatment, he readily agreed.

In the meantime Crown Attorney A. O. Davis of Peel County will consult with police on any further legal action concerning the boy who since infancy has been in the custody of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smith of suburban Summerville.

Million U.S. Cars Year's Tourist Crop

TORONTO, Nov. 20 — (CP) — More than 1,000,000 United States tourist automobiles entered Ontario between last Jan. 1 and the end of October—an increase over the traffic for the entire 12 months of 1947.

If the 50,000 expected during November and December come into the province, in addition to the 1,062,00 cars which entered the first 10 months, the total will surpass the 1947 volume by about 10 per cent.

'Cyclone' Near Picton

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 20 (CP)—Winds of cyclonic force ripped across the end of Prince Edward County, near Point Traverse, 22 miles southwest of Picton, early this morning, tearing off parts of roofs of farm buildings, bowling over small buildings and fences and twisting limbs of trees.

Suchow Battle Continues Government Claims Victory

NANKING, Nov. 20 (AP). — Although government dispatches claim that the battle of Suchow is considered closed and a "complete victory" for the Nationalist forces, it is evident that fighting is still in progress.

Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, National Defence Minister, reporting to the executive Yuan (Legislature) said stiff fighting still is continuing in th vicinity of Nienchuang, 33 miles east of Suchow, where a major Red force recently was set back. He said government troops south of Suchow, on the line to Nanking, will be reinforced.

A report on the Kiangsu situation to the Nanking Evening Post said four Communist columns under the direction of Gen. Chen Yi had attacked government positions along the Payichi-Nienchuang line, where troops under Gen. Huang Po-Tao formerly were trapped in a Red pincers movement. The Nationalist air arm again was effective in upsetting the assault, the report said.

At Suhsien, rail station midway between Pengpu and Suchow, a Communist attempt to cut off the southern rail communication was foiled by government circles which closed in from the north and south and completely encircled the combined forces of Communist Generals Chen Yi and Liu Po-Cheng, the report said.

Evacuate Legation

TOKYO, Nov. 20 — (CP). — Wives and children of members of the Canadian Legation at Nanking will be evacuated in view of the Chinese Civil War situation, it was learned to-day.

A Douglas transport plane, supplied by Commonwealth occupation forces in Japan, will fly the Canadian women and children to Tokyo.

Diplomatic sources here said the Legation staff will remain at their posts in Nanking.

Reuther Hints Union Will Ask 4th Increase

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 20 — (AP). — A CIO drive for a fourth round of post-war wage raises in 1949 started rumbling here Friday. Walter Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, told a group of Portland business men the UAW is "talking already about a fourth-round increase."

"If you haven't heard it," he said, "you will hear about it next week."

He was talking about the CIO convention which starts Monday. His words seemed to indicate the whole CIO, not just the UAW, may go on record for higher wages.

Have Israel's Full Consent Before Move

American Decision Generally In Accord With Bernadotte Plan

PARIS, Nov. 20 —(AP)— The United States told the United Nations today the Negev Desert area of Southern Palestine should not be taken from Israel without full consent of the Jews.

The United States, in a long-awaited statement on Palestine, also told the 58-power political committee it looks forward to admission of Israel to the United Nations.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, the American deputy, said his government generally is in accord with the conclusions of the assassinated mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte, with the exception of certain principles concerning boundaries.

Bernadotte proposed that the Negev be turned over to the Arabs and that the Jews take western Galilee in exchange. The Israelis, now in control of the Negev through a successful military offensive against the Egyptians, reject this. The Negev was allotted to them under the original UN partition plan.

The political committee scheduled this special session on the Bernadotte plan after having intended originally to adjourn for the week-end.

Britain already had asked the United Nations to seek a solution in Palestine along the lines of Bernadotte's proposals. The Jews object because loss of the Negev would reduce Israeli territory by three-fifths. The Arabs reject it because it would imply recognition of Israeli as a state.

While Jessup said the United States supported Israel's claim to boundaries outlined in the original partition plan, he added:

"If Israel desires additions, it would be necessary for Israel to offer an appropriate exchange through negotiations."

This was taken by observers as an invitation to Israel to renounce Western Galilee, which its forces now hold, or to offer some part of the Negev in exchange for it.

Jessup, whose speech still was described as a "preliminary" statement, said of final Holy Land boundaries:

"Our general view is that we must seek further agreement between the parties rather than attempt at this time to draw specific boundary lines."

Speaking of some 500,000 Arab refugees in Palestine, Jessup said:

"We believe that they should be permitted to return to their homes and that adequate compensation should be arranged for the property of those who choose not to return."

The assembly yesterday voted to advance $5,000,000 for relief of Arab refugees.

The United States is understood to be responsible for the decision to resume the discussion, which petered out earlier in the week for lack of speakers.

Love's Labor Lost

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Nov. 20—(CP).—Zero temperatures, heavy rains and snow, and even a gentle word of advice, from the officials so far have failed to dissuade local swains from continuing their love endeavors in the city's large Bellevue Park after closing hours. But a ruling from the Sault Parks Board may do the trick. Col. S. L. Pensorwood, chairman of the Parks Board, felt that restrictive measures should be taken. In mentioning the mysterious disappearance of the park's two pet beaver, he did not connect swains' efforts to get their girls fur coats.

Western States Buried By Snow In First Storm

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20—(AP)—Parties in three western States today were cutting through deep snowdrifts to rescue stranded travellers and livestock.

Winter's first swoop across Eastern Colorado, Southwestern Nebraska and Western Kansas ridged the land with drifts from three to 20 feet deep. Trains, buses and motor cars were stalled. Telephone and power lines were down, and many communities isolated.

One death was reported. A 15-year-old girl died at Hutchinson, Kans., of diabetes when drifts blocked efforts to get her to a hospital.

Lack of severe cold lessened the hardship.

Train on the Santa Fe, Union Pacific, and Rocky Island railroads were moving slowly today as snowplows rammed the tracks clear. Some trains were delayed as much as 20 hours Friday.

Soldiers in Kansas, using military vehicles, were hauling stranded motorists to shelter.

Two airline pilots, flying separate routes from Kansas City to Denver late Friday, reported seeing more than 200 automobiles stalled near the Kansas-Colorado border. They saw no distress signals, however.

Farmers still were having difficulty reaching outlying flocks of sheep and herds of cattle. Sheep losses were expected to be heavy.

Power companies had the job of restoring electric service. Telephone linemen were plugging at the task of repairing more than 200 long-distance circuits across Kansas, besides the countless breaks in short lines.

The storm tapered off to lighter snowfall and rain as it moved southeastward into Missouri today.

Noisy Congregation

TORONTO, Nov. 20 — (CP).—Magistrate J. L. Prentice Friday ordered 54-year-old Andrew Wowchuk to stay away from the church — for Wowchuk's own good. Wowchuk was charged with disturbing a religious meeting last November 6 at a Seventh Day Adventist Church in mid-town Toronto. "He persisted in asking loud, unnecessary questions which had no place in the church," said Rev. W. H. Pilberch.

St. Laurent Blames Drew For Hydro Shortage, Backs Howe's Charges

Prime Minister Enters Power Controversy, Accuses Ontario, Quebec Did Nothing When Development Possible Five Years Ago

OTTAWA, Nov. 20—(CP).—Two Federal Ministers—one the Prime Minister — today are on record charging George Drew, National Progressive Conservative leader, with responsibility for Ontario's current power shortage. Prime Minister St. Laurent, new in his role as Government leader, stepped into the Hydro battle Friday night, six days after Trade Minister Howe had stamped the shortage a "man-made calamity" and that Mr. Drew was responsible.

Mr. St. Laurent suggested in Halifax Friday night Hydro development could have been possible five years ago, but the provinces — Ontario and Quebec — did nothing about it.

Charge Quebec Holdup

Mr. Drew, preparing to campaign for the Federal by-election in Carleton, countered Mr. St. Laurent's remarks with a veiled charge that the Quebec Liberal regime was responsible for holding up the Ottawa River project for a year.

Nothing happened, said Mr. Drew, "until the change in government in Quebec the following year." That was the year Maurice Duplessis took over the reins of government. Plans then "proceeded without delay for the development of the Upper Ottawa."

A week has elapsed since Trade Minister Howe in a London, Ont., speech branded the shortage as "man-made calamity." The man responsible "is the present leader of the Progressive Conservative party at Ottawa, Mr. George Drew."

Mr. Drew termed Mr. Howe's charge "a low and unprincipled attempt to play dirty politics with a situation which affects every worker, every home and every producer in Ontario."

He challenged Mr. Howe to meet him on "the public platform" and debate Ontario's Hydro shortage.

The trade minister replied he would take on Mr. Drew in a debate on the floor of the House of Commons.

B.C. Hospital Burns 300 Reach Safety

SARDIS, B.C., Nov. 20—(CP)—Smouldering rains were all that remained today of the historic $500,000 Coqualeetza Indian tubercular hospital following a fire that forced 300 persons to evacuate the premises Friday.

The blaze, believed to have started in a wing that had new electrical fixtures installed earlier in the day, spread rapidly through the three-storey, brick building after its start at 5.30 p.m.

One hundred and eighty patients were among those forced to flee the flames, with at least a dozn babies carried out by nurses in an orderly retreat.

Federal Surplus Of Half Billion In Seven Months

OTTAWA, Nov. 20—(CP)— A surplus of $533,600,000 has been built up by the federal government in the first seven months of the current fiscal year.

Finance Minister Abbott announced Friday night that in the April 1 to Oct. 31 period, revenues amounted to $1,530,000,000 and expenditures to $996,700,000. The surplus compared with one of $540,700,000 in the corresponding period of last year.

Mr. Abbott, heading for his third successive surplus, warned that it would be wrong to assume that the government's budgetary surplus will continue to increase during the last five months at the same rate as it has during the first seven months of the year.

For instance, if the Canadian National Railways and Trans-Canada Air Lines incur deficits this year, the loss will be covered with money from the government's surplus.

No Hint On Taxes

Mr. Abbott, who forecast a surplus of $489,000,000 in his last budget speech, gave no hint as to whether he will reduce taxes if a large surplus is realized. In 1947-48 the surplus was $670,000,000. The previous year the surplus — first in 17 years — amounted to $352,000,000. Most of the money was applied against the national debt which stands at about $17,000,000,000.

The minister said the surplus was a "budgetary one" and not a cash surplus. It excluded for example, all receipts which represent repayments of loans and advances, and it also excluded all receipts which represent accumulations on annuity, pension and insurance.

Heavy Freighter Blown Aground

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 20 (AP)—The 11,900-ton Great Lakes freighter Robert Hobson, carrying a crew of 33, was blown aground Friday night at the entry to the Duluth-Superior harbor.

The Coast Guard station in Duluth reported the iron ore carrier was whipped out of control at the height of a northeaster lashing Lake Superior. The wind was blowing at 68 miles an hour.

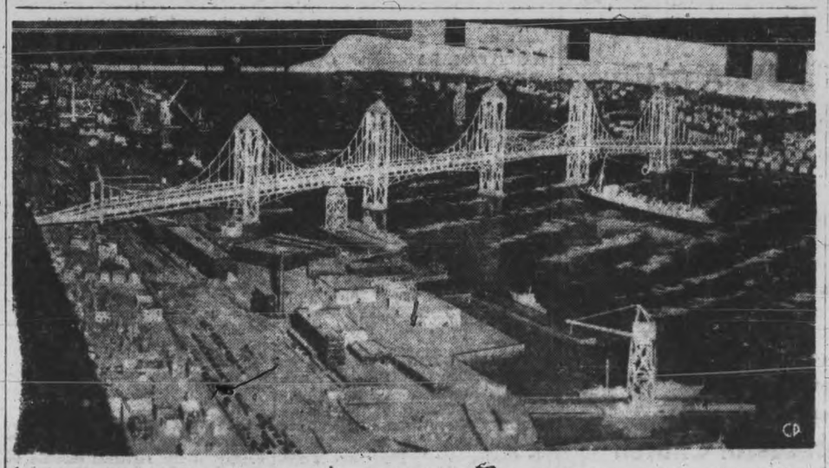
The Hobson, inbound, struck the concrete breakwater, then went aground in shallows off a sandy beach. Seacocks were opened to keep her firmly on the bottom. The 580-foot vessel partly blocked the entry.

A Coast Guard lifeboat went to the scene but, finding the vessel in no great danger, permitted the crew to remain aboard.

First Anniversary For Royal Parents

LONDON, Nov. 20 (CP) — days after the birth of their f child, Princess Elizabeth and t Duke of Edinburgh are spendi a quiet day together at Buckin ham Palace observing their fir wedding anniversary.

Just a year ago Princess Elizabeth and the Duke stood side by side before the massive candle-lit altar of Westminster Abbey, central figures in a ceremony that was superb yet simple, essentially English in its contrasts and compromises.



HARBOR DREAM — Spectators attending the Port of Halifax Club's marine exhibition blinked their eyes when they took a second look at this model of the port's harbor. The bridge across the harbor to neighboring Dartmouth is something they have been advocating for years. This model shows how it would appear with a miniature of the liner Aquitania passing underneath headed for Bedford Basin.

City Assessment Ranks High In Group of Ontario Cities

By G. W. CRAW

While the making of comparisons often cause trouble and are not fair, some very interesting facts can be discovered in a study of the annual report of municipal statistics for 1947. This report issued by the Department of Municipal Affairs gives a complete financial survey of every municipality in Ontario. Cities are grouped according to population; towns are separated and townships are all listed.

Peterborough is classed as a group C city along with Kitchener, Brantford, St. Catharines, Kingston, Oshawa, Guelph and Sarnia. Toronto is alone in group A and Hamilton, Ottawa, Windsor and London are in group B.

Population

According to the 1947 census the populations were:

Kitchener	39,772
Brantford	35,815
St. Catharines	35,436
Peterborough	33,796
Kingston	31,596
Oshawa	27,924
Guelph	25,077
Sarnia	22,842

Peterborough in this list stands fourth in the group of eight cities. Population figures are not available from all for 1948 Peterborough's has 35,065 and Brantford 36,522 a difference of 1,457 while the difference a year ago was 2,019.

Assessments

In this group St. Catharines leads with the highest assessment of $32,604,808, Kitchener is second and Peterborough third with a total assessment of $30,739,264. The total assessment for public schools is $27,507,443 in Peterborough, Oshawa $23,132,914, St. Catharines $29,009,517 and Brantford $28,437,295. For separate school purposes Kitchener has an assessment of $6,824,887, St. Catharines $3,592,291. Peterborough $3,231,821 and Brantford $1,637,960.

Of this group of cities Oshawa had the lowest mill rate in 1947 with Peterborough next while Guelph had the lowest per capita tax. How they compared is shown with per capita tax in the first column, public school rate in the second and separate school rate in the third.

Kitchener	$38.12	42.50	42.50
Brantford	38.99	44.00	48.00
St. Catharines	39.53	41.75	41.75

Money Raised

The amount of money raised for municipal purposes amount to $952,811 and $449,480 for schools in Kitchener, $950,960 and $329,501 in Brantford, $893,237 and $472,880 in St Catharines, $662,675 and $440,432 in Peterborough. With the exception of Guelph, Peterborough property exempted from taxation, was the lowest on the list, it being valued at $3,448,960 while Kingston with its large government and educational buildings topped the list with a total exemption of $10,117,245. Also Kingston headed the list with a total business and industrial exemption of $1,903,290. Guelph and St. Catharines have no business and industrial property exempted from taxation while Peterborough has $182,750. Kitchener $321,296; Brantford $413,175; Oshawa $26,770 and Sarnia $912,167.

Milk Arbitrator Not Named Yet

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Representatives of the milk producers and distributors have until Monday to agree on a chairman for the arbitration board which is to determine the price to be paid farmers shipping to the Toronto market. If they don't, the chairman will be appointed by the Ontario Milk Control Board and most likely will be a county judge.

The representatives are Roy Lick, secretary-treasurer of the Whole Milk Producers' League, and Jack Houck, secretary of the Toronto Milk Distributors' Association.

Farmers now receive $4.05 a hundredweight for whole milk and $2.90 for secondary. Whole milk is that which is bottled and sells retail for 18 cents a quart. Secondary milk is used for making butter and other by-products.

The farmers, while not pressing for an increase in the whole milk price, had asked that all the milk they shipped be paid for at the rate of $4.05, with the exception of that going into ice cream. It is understood that larger dairies were agreeable but not so the smaller ones.

Tobin In Labor Post To Prepare New Bill

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 20—(AP)—President Truman Friday was reported to be shaping up legislation to restore the labor department to major cabinet status and give Secretary Maurice Tobin top authority in U.S. labor-management relations.

Authoritative White House sources said presidential assistant John R. Steelman and Tobin will prepare a new bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

Meanwhile, Sam Rayburn (Dem.-Tex.), predicted after a talk with the President, a more effective co-operation between the White House and congressional leadership in the next Congress.

Two Die In Fire

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—(CP).—Mrs. Ferdinand Leduc, 70, and her one-year-old grandson, Pierre Henri, died from burns suffered when a flash fire damaged their three-storey frame house on St. De Lane in industrial St. Henri ward Friday. Fire broke out following the explosion of a container of tar being heated on a stove in the bottom flat.

POWER SHORTAGE? WHAT'S THAT, asks Hilliard Clements of Warsaw. He built his own hydro power plant 16 years ago to supply 15 stores and homes. In 1935, he sold out his one-man system and retained the plant, which now supplies light and power to three homes, his shop and the Warsaw Presbyterian Church. The photo-montage above shows a close-up of Mr. Clements with his hand on the plant voltmeter superimposed on a view of his power house and dam on the Indian River in the village of Warsaw.

Father Whips Boy Friend Of Daughter, Sent to Jail

MAIDSTONE, Kent, England, Nov. 20 (Reuters).—Horace Isaac Caro, wealthy 50-year-old city councillor and company director, Friday was sentenced to three days' imprisonment and ordered to pay £50 ($200) costs for horse-whipping his movie actress daughter's lover.

Caro was found guilty of causing grievous bodily harm to 24-year-old Kenneth Coates, a banking student, who admitted intercourse with 21-year-old Jacqueline Caro, who is expecting a baby next February.

The prosecution charged that Caro, returning from abroad and finding his daughter pregnant, took Coates in his car to a country lane where he challenged him to fight, lashed him with a horse-whip and produced a pistol.

Caro told the court he himself introduced Coates to his daughter at a cocktail party last April.

His counsel submitted that Caro gave Coates "a reasonable chastisement — a jolly nice whipping for a lad who thoroughly deserved it."

The judge told the jury in his summation:

"I have to warn you to be careful lest you yield and return a verdict which may be truly in accordance with your feelings, but not necessarily in accordance with the evidence. You are not trying this young man for a breach of morals."

When the jury returned a verdict of guilty the judge told Caro:

"I think you had very great provocation. It was a pity you took the law into your own hands, incensed as you were entitled to be."

News .... In Brief ..

By The Canadian Press

OTTAWA.—The External Affairs Department announced Canada and Finland have agreed to extend most favored nation tariff treatment to each other on a reciprocal basis. Under the terms of the agreement, covered by an exchange of notes, Canadian products imported into Finland will not be subject to duties or charges higher than those levied on the products of the United Kingdom.

WASHINGTON. — The Economic Co-operation Administration announced Britain will receive $72,000,000 for purchase of Canadian wheat. Britain received $162,862,760 of the $276,163,608 approved today to bring the total granted to Britain in the last 48 hours to more than 250,000,000.

OTTAWA. — As a so-called "salesman" of nails and building materials in short supply, Joseph Mederic Lacroix, 56, of no stated address, was arraigned today on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences. He was remanded a week without plea. Police charge Lacroix with obtaining $72 in July, 1947, from a district man, but they said the man has admitted he is wanted in Trenton, Haileybury, Fort William and other Ontario cities on similar charges.

NEW YORK — Roger Lumontier, 38-year-old selfstyled Toronto physician, who abandoned his young bride on their honeymoon to evade police, was arrested after being sought by police in dozens of United States communities on forgery charges. Meanwhile the 21-year-old Mrs. Dumontier, who said she knew nothing of the forgeries, was held on bail at Mineola, NY.

GUATEMALA — The Guatemalan Government rejected a British note offering to submit the dispute over Belize, now a part of Honduras, to the International Court of Justice on a purely legal basis.

BUDAPEST — The Hungarian Interior Ministry announced the arrest of Dr. Andras Zakar, Secretary to Cardinal Josef Mindszenty, Roman Catholic Urimate of Hungary. A ministry communique said Zakar had been taken into custody on suspicion of anti-national activities.

WASHINGTON — Dr. G. S. H. Barton, Canadian Deputy Agriculture Minister, said the 5,000,000-a-year budget of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, will prove "entirely inadequate." That sum is not enough to carry out the work of which FAO is capable and which the world needs, he told the Financial and Administrative Commission of FAO's fourth annual conference.

mediator Ralph Bunche said indicated a willingness to comply with the Security Council's order, was a factor in calling the meeting.

A British proposal to adopt the Bernadotte plan would reduce Israel's territory, as allotted by last November's assembly partition plan, by about three-fifths. It would give the Negev to the Arabs and western Galilee to the Jews.

Informed sources predicted that American delegate Dr. Philip C. Jessup today would follow the policy laid down by President Truman Oct. 24. The president said then any modifications in the original UN partition plan should be satisfactory to Israel.

The Jews oppose the plans because it would shrink their territory. The Arabs oppose it because it would mean recognition that a Jewish State is in existence.

The Assembly voted unanimously Friday to advance $5,000,000 for relief of Arab refugees. The Assembly at the same time called on the world to contribute $32,000,000 to this work and asked the U.N. secretary-general to appoint a director for Palestine refugee relief.

Refugee Play Cast Good, But Story Poor

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (CP). — "Bravo!" had all the necessary talent for a hit play.

Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman, a notable stage team, were the authors. Kaufman directed and Oscar Homolka was the star.

"Bravo!" now at the Lyceum Theatre, is a sympathetic and warm exposition of the difficulties refugees face. But unfortunately the authors have wrapped it in a plot that falters and fumbles all the way.

Homolka plays a brilliant but bewildered Hungarian playwright with dash and color and conviction. Lily Darvas does nicely by the part of a Hungarian actress. But they are tripped most of the time by the story. The complication, a question of illegal entry into the United States, is resolved by the introduction of elder statesman Bernard Baruch (as a voice over the telephone) to save the day.

Irrepressible Bobby

It's quite a sight to see Bobby Clark romping roughshod through a plot. The impish comedian with the leer and the painted-on spectacles is at it again in a lavish Michael Todd production, "As The Girls Go."

The story of this musical has to do with the first woman President of the United States. Irene Rich plays the part in which she has little to do but stand around and look beautiful. Clark is her husband. But the plot does little to hamper his exuberance and he romps around the stage with his customary zest, puffing at a cigar and ogling the stunningly handsome chorus girls.

Hanging Judge

Raymond Massey, Toronto-born actor who also has had some experience as a producer, has commissioned Romney Brent to dramatize "Hanging Judge," a Bruce Hamilton murder novel. He plans to produce it next spring in association with Victor Samrock and William Fields.

Stars In Their Courses

Adrianne Allen this week takes over the role played by Peggy Ashcroft in "Edward, My Son." Previously Meg Munday had been lined up for the part but she decided against entering the play . . . A play written for Zasu Pitts is about ready for George Abbott who plans to launch it in Boston Dec. 27. It is called "Mother Was a Lady" and was written by Anita Loos and Frances Marion. Miss Pitts, who will star in the production, was last seen on Broadway four years ago in "Ramshackle Inn."

Remand Woodcox Again

LINDSAY, Nov. 20 — (CP). — Herman G. Woodcox, 33, charged with the shotgun murder of Arnold Gill, 20, at Tory Hill on Hallowe'en, will be remanded for the fourth time Monday November 22, Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan announced to-day. The preliminary hearing will proceed November 29.

Wife Sentenced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. — (CP). — Toronto-born Mrs. Jean Lincoln, 26-year-old war bride from Sussex, England, Friday was sentenced to court to serve from one to three years in prison for aiding her husband in a hotel robbery last August. The husband, Edward A. Lincoln, of Fort Collins, Colo., was killed in a holdup attempt at another hotel several nights later.

Contract Expiry Complicates Dock Situation

HALIFAX, Nov. 20 — (CP).— Halifax longshoremen to-day were reported seeking new contract negotiations and at the same time continud to work ships divrted here by the United States port strike.

J. J. Campbell, president of the Halifax Longshoremen's Association (AFL) announced Friday night union proposals were submitted to shipping companies but no reply had been received.

Present contract—with a basic rate of 1.20 an hour—expires on November 30. The 2,000 union members were said to be asking increases "in the vicinity of 25 cents an hour."

Meanwhile, question of whether dock workers would continue to handle ships diverted here by the US tie-up went unanswered.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association disclosed Thursday he had directed Halifax members not to violate Canadian law, but added "we expect them not to act as strikebreakers, and to do as their conscience dictates."

When he heard of the return to full-scale waterfront operations here he claimed Halifax workers had "reneged."

If Campbell orders his men not to work diverted ships—without first going through government conciliation proceedings—he will be liable for a personal fine of $100 for every day the men are idle and $1,000 a day for the union.

On the other hand, Ryan said Thursday: "I expected that they (Halifax workers) would live up to the agreement they made on Sunday night." (The agreement was the temporary slow-down—later rescinded by Campbell.)

Sympathy Strike Delays Giant Liner

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Nov. 20—(AP)—About 300 crew members of the Queen Elizabeth walked off the ship today in sympathy with striking United States dock workers, delaying the giant liner's departure.

The men walked off an hour before the ship was due to sail with 2,100 passengers on board. The ship already had been delayed three days because of the American Longshoremen's strike and had been rerouted to Halifax.

Character Acting Good Business Morgan Believes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20 (AP).—Tired young stars can take a lesson from Frank Morgan, he is celebrating his 35th years as a film actor by working in two pictures at once.

Reviewing his service before the cameras, the actor glowed:

"It has been a long and profitable engagement."

Now playing a gambling oldster in "The Great Sinner" and a not-so-old baseball trainer (sans moustache) in "The Stratton Story," Morgan disclosed that he has always toyed with his age.

"I started out as a character actor," he said, "because I didn't like to run. When I began acting in my 20s, the juvenile never walked on stage. He had to run in with a tennis racket in his hand and he went off the same way, running and waving.

"Well, I wanted to walk, so I greyed my hair and became a character actor."

When he came to Hollywood in 1932 (he had made Eastern films in the early days), Morgan almost lost his resolve to remain a character actor.

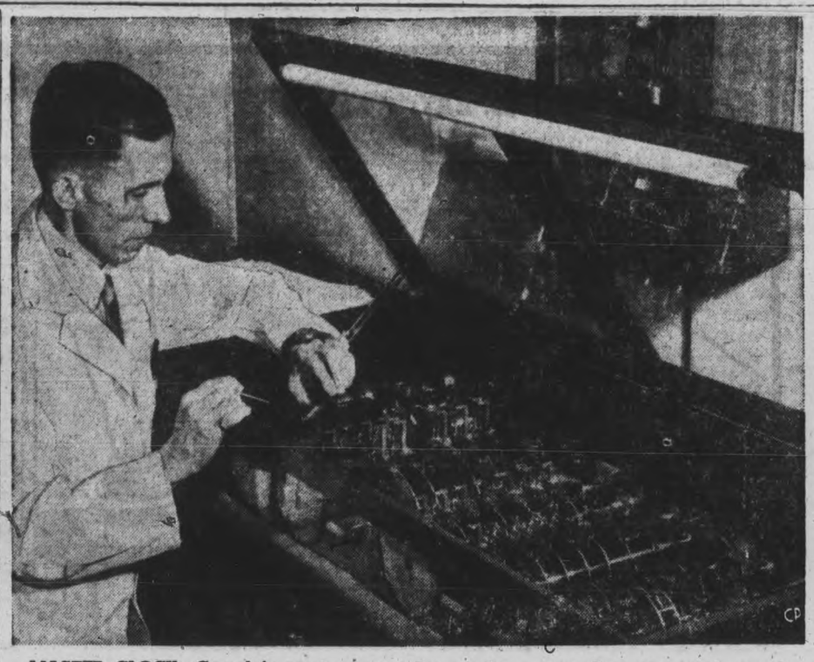
"I came out to star in 'Topaz.' It's a long story, but I finally didn't do the part; John Barrymore did. It might have changed my career and brought me to the attention of the public as more of a leading man type. Then I would have had to face the problem of transition from lover to character man.

"That is a hard thing to do. It generally takes 10 years of idleness to make the jump. It's not that a leading man can't do character parts; the public just can't visualize him in them.

"Take Clark Gable. It will be hard for him to make the transition, because women think of him as a lover and wouldn't accept him in a beard.

Five Hurt In Crash

GUELPH, Nov. 20 — (CP). — A head-on collision between a bus and an ice-cream truck on Friday sent five persons to hospital and blocked highway traffic for several hours. In hospital here are Mrs. E. Flint, Oshawa, suffering from shock, possible fractured jaw and leg and rib injuries; Theresa Moore, 19, Rothsay, lacerations to face and nose injury; Bob Roach, Toronto, back and nose injuries; J. Cody, Toronto, broken wrist and multiple lacerations and a student nurse, identified only as a Miss Wilson of Guelph, who suffered a mouth injury.



MASTER CLOCK—Canada's most accurate clock is buried deep in a vault on a bit of wooded farmland near Ottawa, without face, hands or mainspring. A mass of wheels, kept dustproof under a glass case, form the master clock at the Dominion Observatory. From it flows an endless stream of second, minute and hour signals to start trains on time and generally keep Canada up to the minute. Shown here is D. E. (Ted) Hollinsworth, electrical engineer, checking the delicate equipment.

Outspoken Play Wins Praise From Critics

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Nov. 20. (CP)—To the surprise of critics and theatrical producers an outspoken play concerning artificial insemination "Breach in Marriage," has been passed by the Lord Chamberlain's office and will be staged in the West End soon.

After describing it as "the best new play of 1946," Canadian-born Beverley Baxter, MP, theatre critic of the Evening Standard, said: "No doubt it will be banned from the commercial theatre by our ridiculous censorship which demands flippancy and bars sincerity in dealing with sexual relations."

Baxter was wrong so far as the censorship was concerned. Whether the public upholds his verdict on the play remains to be seen. Its author, Dan Sutherland, he describes as "a dramatist of significance whose impact on the theatre may prove important."

Sutherland, a broad-shouldered man of 42, wrote "Breach of Marriage" in five days after Actor Peter Madren had told him he could not find a virtuoso part.

Gripping Story

Madren now is cast as a former naval officer, crippled in the war, who cannot have children. The story hinges on the method used by a doctor friend to enable the cripple and his wife to have the child they want so badly.

Baxter, who attended a private showing before the play was passed for public performance, described the writing as "human and tense," the acting as "almost flawless."

"The final scene between the cripple and his wife is both cruel and moving. And if the end is inevitable and, therefore, anticipated (the cripple kills himself by going over the rocky cliff), the same might be said of the last majestic major chord in Tristan and Isolde. Great tragedy must have the climax of inevitability."

CANADA'S TIMEKEEPER—Keeping Canada on time is the job of W. S. McClenahan, chief of Time Service. Nestled in a clump of trees on the grounds of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Ottawa is the Dominion Observatory from which come Canada's official second, minute and hour time signals. No bells ring to indicate the hours, but a delicate electrical instrument known as the master clock sends out electrical impulses. The accuracy of the clock is judged by the stars, and Mr. McClenahan is shown here checking them to calculate true time to within 1/100 of a second.

November Bride Receives Purse

BETHANY, Nov. 19 —(ENS)— On Monday evening more than 100 neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Francis Galloway to honor and extend best wishes to her daughter Mary whose marriage to Mr. Samuel Endicott of Lindsay took place on November 17. With Mr. Allan Beer acting as chairman a brief program was presented. Musical selections were given by Mrs. Ruth Jennings and Mrs. Lionel Monk of Peterborough, also by Mr. Percy Mantle and daughter Evelyn. Humorous reading by Miss Cora Bailey of Peterborough and vocal solos by Ralph Preston.

One of the highlights of the evening came when the "would-be groom" Mr. Ednicott of Lindsay was introduced to the large gathering. He spoke in his usual jovial manner to the delight of all present.

Mary was then given a seat of honor, and an address read by Mrs. Walter Rowan while the presentation of a purse of money was made by Mrs. Ona Thorndyke after which Mary voiced her appreciation to her many friends.

A hearty lunch was served by the committee in charge and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Cavan News

Mrs. Mervin Smith, father and mother Mr. and Mrs. D. Miller, Stonewall, Manitoba and her brother, Mr. George Miller and Mrs. Miller and their son Ivan, Argyle, Manitoba, who have been visiting her for the past two weeks returned home on Thursday.

Mrs. T. Douglas and Miss Hope Douglas spent a few days in Toronto recently.

Gordon Fallis and Ronald Argue were visitors to the Royal Winter Fair on Thursday.

Plight Of Blind Described At Meeting

Plight of the 400,000 blind in Europe who have had their schools and equipment destroyed by the war was outlined on Wednesday night in a letter to the local branch of the Louis Braille Society. The letter was written by the National Executive of the CNIB, asking members of the Society and other interested persons to lend what assistance they could.

This group of the blind is composed of people who were born sightless, not those who were blinded during the war.

Before 1939 care for people who had lost their sight was well advanced in Europe. Local societies had their own braille printing sets, special handicraft workshops as well as skilled teachers.

The war destroyed most of this valuable equipment and most of the teachers were either killed or dispersed. As a result of this the blind people are having a hard time getting by in that war-ravaged continent, and they are asking Canadians for any assistance which could be extended.

Guest speaker for the evening was the Rev. E. C. Moore, of St. George's Anglican Church. Mr. Moore gave an informal address that included, among other things some comments on the value of laughter, the value of books and the joys of reading.

Miss Margaret Baxter entertained with a vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. Walter Simmons. "Scotty" Keith of the Peterborough Pipe Band added a Scottish touch by playing several Scotch songs on the bagpipes.

A general sing-song followed with everybody joining in. Lunch was served by the XI-IOTA Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

Guests included Alderman and Mrs. Hurrell Dodds, W. E. Bannon, Board of Education, and Thomas E. Pritchard.

Complain Power Quotas Too Low

TORONTO, Nov. 20 (CP) — Hamilton and Toronto were feuding again today. This time it was over power, and Oshawa got into the act, too.

Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto and his brother Frank, who is Mayor of Oshawa, Friday demanded re-examination of power quotas for municipalities by the Ontario Hydro Commission.

The Toronto mayor said the per capita quota for power consumers in Hamilton was 12.6 kilowatt hours per day, or nearly twice Toronto's 6.4 kilowatt hours.

The quotas were set because of power shortages throughout Ontario.

The Oshawa mayor complained that the biggest industry in St. Catharines, employing only half as many persons as the main Oshawa industry, "is getting more than twice as much power."

While Toronto has three power cut-offs daily—morning, afternoon and evening—Hamilton has escaped the blackouts so far. And Hamilton residents make a point of letting Torontonians know about it.

ANNIVERSARY SPEAKER on Sunday at Knox United Church will be the Rev. J. V. McNeely of Oshawa.

38th Anniversary Of Knox Church

The Rev. J. V. McNeely, MA. BD, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church will be the special preacher at the 38th anniversary of Knox United Church on Sunday. Mr. McNeely is minister of King Street United Church in Oshawa.

Knox Church was organized as a Sunday School more than 60 years ago and for many years operated under St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Thirty-nine years ago with the growth of the city south Knox became a separate congregation and the new church was opened in 1910.

Sportsmen Asked To Back Fish Sanctuary

MARMORA, Nov 19.—(ENS).—President Alex Fraser conducted the business session of the Marmora District Chamber of Commerce meeting

A letter from J. C. Weir, district forester, regarding the proposed fish sanctuary to be established between McGarvey's Landing and Otter Creek, brought on a varied discussion.

John Bonter suggested that dams without stop logs might be constructed on old sites. Reeve V. Lynch of Marmora Village asked who would patrol the sanctuary.

It was the general opinion that, while that should come under the supervision of the game warden, it was too much to expect all of the work to fall upon his shoulders. Fishermen of the district who would honor the idea of the fish conservation should be ready to give their co-operation at this point, it was felt.

Reeve C. H. Buskard of Deloro gave the report of the tourist development commitee. He said his committee recognized the benefits accruing from the establishment of a fish sanctuary and endorsed the project They also concured with the establishment of a local water authority. A suggestion with merit had been also drawn to the attention of the committee. I was that concurrent jurisdiction of game wardens be allowed in Crowe Lake where the boundaries of Hastings and Peterborough Counties crossed.

Another request had been made to the committee that a pointer for Crowe Lake be erected at the turn from No. 7 Highway.

The chairman called for a vote to support the idea of the fish sanctuary, which was unanimously carried.

Dealing with the question of a water authority, the chamber decided to appoint a committee to confer with the Councils of Marmora Village and Marmora and Lake Township with the view to asking the minister to call a meeting for the setting up of a water authority.

It was decided to apply to the Department of Highways for the desired road pointer.

R. E. Neal will be chairman of the Santa Claus parade on Dec. 18.

The question of applying to the Government for a yearly appropriation for maintenance of the century-old road leading to the north through Marmora Township was raised by Ritchie Wells.

As the matter of the construction of a provincial highway to Coe Hill and beyond has been left in abeyance, it was felt that this road leading to timber lands, fishing waters and hunting grounds yielding revenue to the Government, should be put in a better state of maintenance with governmental aid. It was decided to apply for assistance with a brief worded to cover the many valid reasons why the Government should consider an appropriation towards the cost of repair.

A Fine Howe-de-Drew!

The Ontario power shortage is rapidly rising from the status of a provincial nuisance to that of a question of national interest. This alteration is chiefly owing to the altered status of Mr. Drew, who is no doubt realizing the truth of the bitter old saying that "Wherever you may travel, you take yourself with you". Mr. Drew has risen from the lowly estate of a provincial premier to the lordly caste of national party leaders, but the power shortage, like the faithful black cat in the song, insists upon following him and will not be shooed away. This must be a source of irritation to him, for a man likes to start a new job with a clean slate; unfortunately, no politician's slate is ever clean.

* * *

Mr. Howe has declared that the power shortage is of Mr. Drew's own making, and Mr. Drew has hotly denied the allegation. Mr. Drew has challenged Mr. Howe to debate the matter, and Mr. Howe has said that he will gladly debate it in the House of Commons. This has goaded the Conservative press into a frenzy remarkable even for that easily-frenzied body, and one paper has said that Mr. Howe, who is an engineer, ought to know better than to suggest such wicked things. The fact that Mr. Howe is an engineer of note seems to us to suggest that he may know what he is talking about when he discusses Hydro, but we realize that we are in a minority in holding such an opinion.

* * *

A few newspapers, however, seem ready to approach the problem in a reasonable spirit. The Ottawa Citizen, for instance, wants to know how Mr. Drew can explain away the inactivity at Des Joachims between 1943 and 1946, and his own statement that "less power will be needed soon", which he made in February, 1943, in the Ontario Legislature, and which he acted upon when he came to power later in that same year.

* * *

Mr. Eugene Forsey, the C.C.F. candidate in the Carleton by-election, is determined also that Mr. Drew should give an accounting for the power shortage, and what Mr. Drew will say will be of the greatest contemporary importance, and perhaps even of historic interest. Indeed, we can even imagine that in two or three hundred years, when the Golden Age of Canadian Drama dawns, that some one of our playwrights (borrowing rather heavily from Shakespeare's Richard II) will embody it in a great historical play, thus:

DREW: What more remains?
HOWE: (Offering a paper) No more, but that you read
These accusations and these grievous crimes
Committed by your person and your followers
Against the state and profit of this land.
DREW: Must I do so? and must I ravel out
My weav'd-up follies? Gentle Howe and Forsey,
If thy offences were upon record
Would it not shame thee in so fair a troop
To read a lecture of them?
FORSEY: Come, George, dispatch; read o'er these articles.
(Offers him a copy of The Ottawa Citizen).
DREW: Mine eyes are full of tears, I cannot see.
HOWE: Weep in the Hydro, man, and raise the level.

Who says that Canadian history offers no good themes to the dramatist?

The Blond Beast And The Hairy Ainu

The Honourable E. H. Louw, a member of Dr. Malan's South African Cabinet, addressed a meeting in London recently and said: "Perhaps I should first of all deal with the question 'What is happening in South Africa?' Nothing startling or alarming is happening there". In the same speech Mr. Louw discussed the new South African Government's racial policy and said "We ask people in other countries where such problems do not exist to refrain from armchair criticism". Let us examine, in the light of this reassurance and this warning to critics, what the National Government in South Africa is doing.

We shall not discuss its anti-British policy, its closing the country to immigrants (British and continental), its granting of indemnities (as much as £20,000 per head) to persons who were interned during the war and convicted of high treason. We shall not discuss the encouragement to the Ossewa-Brandwag, a frankly Fascist organization, nor the fact that fifty Nationalist members of the South African parliament and a majority of the Malan Cabinet are members of the formerly pro-Nazi, formerly secret Broederbond. We shall refrain now from commenting on the Transvaal Congress of the Nationalist Party at which a few days ago delegates shouted against the greatest living citizen of South Africa, the former Premier Jan Smuts: "Hang him". It was at this meeting that Dr. Malan's Minister of Lands said: "Smuts is no longer a son of South Africa".

The most backward step the new South African government has taken has been in blowing up nationalistic feeling—"South Africa first"; in exalting the "Europeans" by which is meant the Boers who speak Africaans and apologize for being able to speak English; and in condemning the natives to segregation and peonage. Dr. Malan is going to introduce "racial registration". He said on Tuesday, when speaking to the Transvaal Congress:

"If a person has black blood as near as one grandparent then he will have to be classed as a non-European. On each person's identity card will have to be indicated the race to which he belongs and he will have to remain a member of that race. Otherwise, how could mixed marriages be prevented?"

The natives will be domiciled on reserves and kept there. Indians, and we expect, Englishmen, will be relegated to the status of second-class citizens.

This is the old Aryan doctrine of racial superiority which the Germans preached for their own purposes, and which the Boers are copying. The theory of the blond Nordic, of racial purity and racial superiority is bunk. That is conclusively shown by the great historian Toynbee. Fair hair and blue eyes do not make men superior to people of swarthy skin and dark hair. The hairy Ainu of Japan are not inferior to the Japanese (who are remarkably free from body hair) because they are hirsute. If colour of skin and amount of hair were criteria of superiority, the Boers would lose out on both counts, for they are less Nordic than Germans, more hairy than Japanese or even the eight million Bantus in South Africa. Racial policy based on such theories is barbarous.

Mr. Louw who was South Africa's representative at the recent conference of Prime Ministers gave as an excuse for his government's racial policy that "the Union of South Africa is an outpost of European civilization at the end of the African continent". What a civilized outpost of Europe it is becoming! He also said that "Britain needs friends" and suggested that the other Dominions benefitted from South Africa's participation in the Commonwealth. Are we sure that we want such friends and Commonwealth partners? South Africa's present policies are alien to the spirit of the British Commonwealth. Perhaps it would be less embarrassing if South Africa decided to leave our association of nations.

Clean Up Those Nursery Rhymes!

The Education Welfare Society of Manchester, England, is asking the Minister of Education in that country to clean up the old Mother Goose rhymes. The Society's spokesman, Arthur Thompson, says: "The traditional nursery rhymes are deadly dangerous; from them children get their first knowledge of cruelty and crime". As an example of a cleaned-up rhyme, the Society offers this:

Ding, dong bell,
Treat your pussy well.
Who'll give her milk?
Little Johnny Silk.

We approve warmly of this move, and to show our goodwill we offer the Society, gratis, this rhyme which we have just de-loused:

Sing a song of sixpence
A pocket full of grain;
Four and twenty blackbirds
Travelled in a train.
When 'twas in a station
The birds sang Gospel hymns
And all wore linen pantalettes
To hide their lower limbs.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Says the Guelph Mercury: "The chief need of Canada is population". In our opinion that should read "better population". In a small country we cannot indulge in the luxury of a large percentage of dopes. Scotland, Sweden and Holland have shown us the advantages of being small, but smart.

Diary Of A Lost Soul

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Apparently there are those among my readers who assume that, as I never mention it in my Diary, I never go to church; indeed, one reverend gentleman has confessed from his pulpit that this omission on my part tortures him so unbearably that he is unable to read beyond the first entry in this weekly journal. He could, of course, start with the Saturday entry and read backwards, avoiding the record of my Sabbath misdemeanours. But as my Jewish readers make no complaint about what I say on Saturday, and as my large Mohammedan public endures in silence what I write on Friday I fear that there is nothing I can do except pursue my present seemingly godless course, knowing that I shall probably fry in Hell for all eternity, while my clerical critic sits on a cool celestial verandah, sipping iced tea and smiling indulgently at my agonized screams. As he will obviously laugh last, and best, what is he groaning about?

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: Sat down this evening with my feet in a tub of hot water and with a cold towel around my head to make out my Christmas list. The whole trouble with Christmas gifts is that people expect to be surprised by what they get; if this element of surprise could be dispensed with the whole matter might be settled by a friendly exchange of cheques. Admittedly there is nothing surprising about a cheque (unless it is returned with N.S.F. on it) but all too often the surprise which lingers in a Christmas package is more in the nature of a nasty shock. For years I have tried to do all my Christmas shopping in a single store. There was my Hardware Christmas, when I gave everybody hardware, and my Baby Christmas, when I gave everyone stuff I bought in a baby shop which had had a fire and was offering bargains in slightly soiled diapers, and my Let Bygones Be Bygones Christmas, when I gave pocket diaries for the year which was ending. Tonight I ponder and ponder, but no inspiration comes. If I were rich I would gladly make this a Yacht Christmas, but poverty demands that I search for some cheap and preferably bulky expression of my goodwill.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: Dreamed last night that I was hanging over a windy abyss upon a swaying rope ladder; far below me I could see the roofs of a town. Let no possessor of a 49 cent Dream Book or student of a dollar volume on psychiatry attempt to interpret my dream until I reveal that when I woke I found that I had kicked off my bedclothes and was lying in a fresh breeze....I see by the paper that a Toronto burlesque house offers a striking novelty—a dance of chorus girls who are shackled together in pretty imitation of a chain-gang. If I am not mistaken the first appearance of this delicious new idea was in "The Beggar's Opera" in 1728, which includes a Hornpipe of Prisoners In Chains. Inch by inch, Toronto is creeping up on modernity... Saw a poster today, depicting a bear, wearing blue pants and kneeling with its eyes shut, praying that careless people will not start forest fires; some deer and rabbits are watching it in amaze, as well they might. Now my theological studies assure me that animals have no souls—at least not Grade A, pasteurized and homogenized souls, like humans—so may I enquire what this Prayerful Bear thinks it is doing? Here is a problem for the clergy to wrestle with, and I glady hand it over to them.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Still crowded by Christmas, I set out today to buy a few greeting cards. It seems that neither English nor American cards will be offered this year, and so I had a long, long look at the products of our Canadian artists. There were the usual scenes of blue and pink snow with trees sticking out of it, and the obligatory picture of a big tree being dragged through the woods by six horses; there were the customary uproarious efforts in which Santa's beard is represented by a real feather, ingeniously glued to the card; in fact, all the standard designs which we remember from childhood were there. But there were also some French Canadian cards, in which people with blue and green faces were chopping up wood, or turkeys, or singing carols. I am, I freely admit, an ignoramus in all matters relating to pictorial art; this fact is punched into me by my artistic friends whenever I meet them. But I cannot feel that a green-faced man on a card creates a very Christmassy effect; if anything it suggests Boxing-Day nausea. If I am wrong, let my biographers excuse it as best they may.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: Remembrance Day today, and during the two minutes silence I stood by my window and looked down into the street. A few men and women stood uneasily, caught in mid-stride and plainly mortified; others hurried on, doubtless thinking that the arrested motion of the minority was due to sudden lumbago, or perhaps to the breaking of elastic in the waist of the drawers. No motorists stopped, and this led me to reflect that a motorist probably feels that he is in a private place when he is in his car, and is not obliged to conform to ordinary customs; like the snail, he carries his home about him. Has the law ever determined to what extent a motorist's car is his castle?

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: Undid a parcel today, carefully unknotting and saving the string. I have been a string-saver from infancy. In my schooldays I had to read a story in French by de Maupassant about a Norman peasant who stooped to pick up a piece of string and ricked his back, or was kicked by a mule, or was in some other way spectacularly rebuked for his stinginess, but even that did not stop me. The string which I save I roll up into balls, just as my grandmother used to do, and when I want a piece of string I always have one. Unfortunately, owing to the rising tide of scotch tape, paper clips, rubber bands and the like, and the fact that I confide all my parcel-wrapping to defter hands, I never really need a piece of string, and my hoarding is what theologians call a work of supererogation. Psychologists call it something much nastier.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Invented the Marchbanks Dental Wurlitzer today. It is a set of dentures in which each tooth has been hollowed out and fitted with a miniature organ pipe. It has been my observation that most false teeth whistle, but mournfully and unmusically. The Dental Wurlitzer will ensure that if the teeth whistle at all they will whistle in a pleasing and tuneful manner. Clever wearers will learn to play tunes upon their dentures, thus giving amusement to their grandchildren, and perhaps acquiring a talent which will make them favourites in fashionable drawing rooms. My invention should add something new to choral singing, as well. At present choir singers who have grown elderly, and whose whistling is thought offensive, are asked to resign, or to devote themselves to arranging the chairs in the concert hall. But a small body of elderly singers (say five in a choir of thirty) equipped with my Dental Wurlitzer, would be able to provide a rich supplementary tone to the whole, and would be especially effective in the rendering of bird-calls, echo effects and the distant carolling of angelic choirs.

Dramatics In The Schools

By R. L. HALE

NICHOLAS Udall began the fashion in 1541 with the writing and producing of Ralph Roister Doister at Eton College. The fashion took, and even old Polonius, who, according to the play had been a little of everything in his day, must tell us that he played Julius Caesar at university in his youth. School dramatics have a long history behind them, and not an inglorious one, for Ralph Roister Doister marked the beginning of the Golden Age of English drama, which reached its zenith in Shakespeare.

Today dramatics has a recognized place among the activities of most Canadian secondary schools, and in some sections of the country, notably in Alberta, receives special attention on the curriculum. However, it usually finds a niche among the extra-curricular activities. Here it has the advantage of attracting enthusiasts who find their fun in treading the boards or fussing about backstage at one or other of dozens of jobs as essential to a good production as the work of the actors in the limelight. Handled in this way school dramatics is amateur in the best sense of that word, a hobby undertaken for love and thoroughly enjoyed. As such it has special virtues distinct from the practical benefits to be derived from regular school work. The smell of grease paint and powder is a powerful charm calling the amateur player back perenially to his avocation. Many a boy and girl has found through school plays a door opening on the pleasant hills and valleys of a new world—the world of make-believe. This world is well worth exploring, for in its unreality may be found the permanence of dreams that brighten life with the image of an ideal too easily dimmed by the dust of every day.

The actor in his part on the stage is employing his whole personality. Memory, intelligence, imagination, and their physical expression through voice, gesture, and movement, are all called into play. The action of these is heightened by the stimulation of the audience in a remarkable way, and the actor finds himself on the stretch, using all his faculties at a pitch rarely achieved in more mundane pursuits. The result is that he discovers more inside himself than he ever dreamed he possessed. When he has finished he realizes more completely what the range of his capability is, for by a fine effort of concentration he has attained an exacting climax and passed it. Such an experience is a practical lesson in self-knowledge, which is likely to be very stimulating and of especial value to the secondary school student, who is in the process of finding himself.

IT is an immensely valuable thing to attempt to hold within one's mind the whole personality of another human being, to encompass at one time the intelligence, the emotions, the physical frame, and the aims, ideals and ambitions, even the weaknesses, which go to make up the complex life processes of another. This the actor must do if he is to give the illusion of reality to the character he plays on the stage. The result is a tremendous increase in the power to understand and sympathize with other people. Of this power there cannot be too much in the world. It is the specific for bigotry.

Sometimes the directors of school dramatics are criticized for attempting to produce classic plays that are far beyond the capabilities of their actors. The answer to this is, that, if students are to spend valuable time memorizing lines, they ought to be good lines, and, if they are to be asked to project themselves inside the lives of characters, they ought to be great characters. Anything less is a waste of time, no matter how it may swell the box-office receipts. However ill-equipped a teen-aged girl may be to play Lady Macbeth, something of the power and pathos of a great tragic character will become the permanent possession of the girl who attempts the part. And the experience will live among those treasured memories which are the better part of life itself.

Hunting Best Conservation Measure Yet Provided For Protection of Deer

By FRANCIS LOVE, Haliburton

So you didn't get your deer? What's your excuse this time? Didn't see any, the dogs put them in the water, the dogs were no good, the dogs were always chasing rabbits, you wounded one but he got away? The weather was too hot or too cold The season was too early or too late?. Whatever your excuse is don't try to tell me that the deer were scarce. They have never been so plentiful.

One excuse you will never hear is: "I can't shoot worth a damn". Yet, it is true that, roughly, fifty per cent of the deer brought out are shot by guides. Yet, the poor guide in spite of having to set the watches and start the dogs still has to shoot most of the deer and under the most difficult conditions, too.

I know of one guide, who with his 16-year-old son, has been providing a deer for each of his party for years. I know of a city man who hunted each year for six years before he shot a deer but he always brought one home with him.

The truth of the matter is that the hunters themselves are the best conservation measure yet provided for the protection of deer. It wouldn't be a bad idea for the government to subsidize a number of amateur hunters for the purpose of increasing the herds.

Here is how it would work. The deer browze around all summer where the feed is good and seldom leave their own little valley which is usually comprised of an area not exceeding 25 square miles. In fact I know of a bull moose who is seen regularly all summer in an area covering not more than a couple of hundred acres, and is never seen off this range.

The sum total of it all is that during the summer the deer get fat and lazy and when the deep snows come they fall an easy prey to the wolves. Every year I find a half dozen skeletons of wolf-killed deer within two or three miles of my cabin. The solution to this problem is two-fold; either kill off the wolves or provide more amateur hunters.

The average hunting party seldom exceeds a dozen men and usually less. This small party usually has to cover about 25 watches which gives the odds to the deer. Which ones do you think the deer will use for their getaway?

The average hunter takes up his watch then lights his pipe or cigarette or a small fire to let the deer know where he is. In addition he usually stands in an open glade where the deer—if they have a cold and can't smell—can see him from at least two hundred yards away.

Remember, boys, the deer live in the bush the year around and if you can spot them two hundred yards away you can figure that they can spot you at twice that distance.

In addition the deer are dressed. The hunters are usually dressed to match their environment. in boisterous red. Who do you think sees who first in most cases. And to all this the fact that the average hunter gets little practice at shooting deer as well as buck fever and you will see what I mean.

Besides many hunters need something to steady their nerves in the morning or to ward off the chills. This does not improve their shooting aside from the fact that their fellow hunters can smell them as far as the next watch and the deer from a mile away.

No — being a deer is not as dangerous as you think.

On the other hand what benefit do the deer get from all this. I repeat—during a good summer the deer become fat and lazy. Along come the hunters and their dogs and they start to run the deer back and forth. The dogs run them through the open watches into someone else's territory. Another set of dogs pick up the scent and run them back again and the deer go around and around. This goes on for two weeks. The deer who have been used to grazing quietly now cover from 25 to a hundred miles a day.

By the end of the season the deer have run off the surplus fat and their legs are in first class shape. Then comes the snow and the wolves. But the wolves have not got a chance. The re-conditioning deer can now out-run the wolves as easily as they did the dogs. The only ones that fall prey to the wolves are the fat and lazy ones that have not been hunted. And so I say let us have more hunters of the non-professional type.

But don't give me that old line about the deer being scarce. In Whispering Valley, where I live, I keep a fox terrier for the sole purpose of keeping the deer out of my garden, the barbed wire fence being practically useless.

In driving in and out of the valley I have to remove the muffler from my car to warn the deer to get off the road. Even then I often have to slow down for a doe or a fawn.

In fact, the deer have become so plentiful and friendly that my wife had to quit wearing flowers on her hat and if I want to eat an apple in peace I have to go inside the cabin and lock the door.

In this valley, which is five miles long and three miles wide, three parties hunt. If they got one deer for every ten shots fired there would be no deer left. Sometimes in the morning when I am awakened by their fusilade it sounds like machine gun fire.

Yet each party gets only two or three deer during the season. This doesn't even take care of the natural increase. If something isn't done about it I am going to have to ask the government to come in and thin out the deer. Let me give you an exampple.

One small party of seven has to cover about 30 watches which leaves all the odds in favor of the deer. In spite of this that same party has seen as many as 18 deer in one day and never got any of them. It doesn't take a mathematician to figure out how many deer got through their lines on that day without being seen.

And this little valley is no exception. The same conditions exist all over the Haliburton area. Some guides attribute it to the bush fires further north, saying that the fires have driven the deer south. In my opinion the hunters themselves should be given the credit for this plentitude.

Up near Highland Grove there lives a short-sighted farmer who milked a herd of deer all summer. When the hunting season opened he was in a frenzy. He thought everybody was shooting at his cows.

No brother, don't try to tell me the deer were scarce. I know better.

Control Heat By Dampers Not By Fuel, Experts Advise

An international fuel research foundation have proved beyond doubt that Mr. Average Citizen who wield the coal shovel costs himself more than is necessary because he does not bank his furnace properly at night, nor in mild weather.

To speed up your car motor you feed it more gas and to speed up your fire, give it more air, is their illustration. They urge home owners to drive their furnaces slowly with the following rules for banking the fire.

Whether weather is mild or cold keep the fuel bed piled to the level of the firing door; coal burns too quickly on a shallow fuel bed. In mild weather leave more ash on the grates.

Heat should be controlled entirely by dampers and not by the amount of fuel put on the fire. Quick starts and sudden stops waste coal just as gasoline is wasted in a motor for the same reason. An even steady fire is economical.

Shake grates gently with long full strokes and, in cold weather, only until the first red glow shows in the ash pit. In mild weather and in banking the fire, shake enough to make room for needed coal. Even temperatures are maintained by leaving ashes on the grates which act in slowing the draft.

Outdoors

With PETE McGILLEN

OIL AND BILGE WATER pumped from fog-bound freighters at Lake St. Peter, 65 miles east of Montreal on the St. Lawrence river killed 7,000 migrating wild ducks. There was a great to-do about it. Federal officials hurried down and tried to save the ducks by washing them in special solutions, but the experiment failed. It was a fine gesture on the part of officials to try and save the ducks, but why wasn't something done about the condition that caused their deaths. It wasn't an act of God. These 7,000 ducks died because of man-made water pollution. Seven thousand ducks represent the two-day possession limit of 14 ducks each for 500 hunters, but instead of being killed by legitimate hunting, they survived the trip only to perish on oil-scummed waters of the St. Lawrence river. It happens regularly along the Detroit river, in Lake Erie, in some parts of Lake Ontario.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

WHY IS THIS CONDITION allowed to persist? What's the use of checking hunters, maintaining an aeroplane patrol, setting bag limits and seasons if some boat captain can wipe out 7,000 ducks in one sweep and not get even a slap on the wrist? To me, the whole picture is screwy. Haven't we any Federal law that makes water pollution a serious offence? If people can go on killing ducks wholesale, what's the use of honest sportsmen policing areas and insisting on law observance. Why I'll wager there wasn't 7,000 ducks shot in the open season between North Bay and Lake Ontario in a straight line 100 miles wide. We complain about Mexico commercializing duck hunting, well, at least they eat the ducks. Isn't it high time we started to take a serious view of water pollution in Canada? At least let's try and keep the oil out of the streams and lakes that are frequented by ducks. I don't know anything about a ship captain's problems, but I would like to know whether the men responsible for this pollution had to pump the bilge scum out when they did.

A MOOSE WAS SHOT north of Buckhorn last week. It was an accident the hunter said. So the carcass was seized and distributed among the institutions in Peterborough. Why wasn't the hunter fined? He had no license to shoot a moose, and the moose was killed in an area where moose hunting is not allowed. That bull moose with horns, mind you, was one of a herd of seven known to be in the Crown Game Preserve for the last two years. The herd was increasing and the natives were protecting them. The people up Apsley way could have wiped out the herd any time they wished, without anyone knowing about it. Instead, the moose were left alone in the hope they would increase to the point where an open season would be permitted. I don't know who the hunter was who bagged this monarch, but I chuckle at this accident alibi. That moose was a big fellow, two or three years old. He was black, not the brownish red of a deer. He had moose antlers and long moose head, and long legs. He was much larger than a deer.

TOO MANY WOLVES, that's the story told by deer hunters in the northern part of Peterborough county. They say the deer are not as plentiful as they were a year ago, but one hunter who shot with a party of ten claims the hunters saw 18 deer in one day, and only brought out two after a week's hunting. Tsk, task, what's the answer? For the past week, cars have been zooming through the city with deer carcasses tied to the fenders, but most of the big bucks came from the North Hastings section. Very few local hunting groups got their quota, and most of these are veteran hunters too, so it's difficult to assess the situation in its proper light. Perhaps a few letters from the guides and natives of the Apsley area would enlighten us. At any rate there is not a resident of the northern townships who can't get a deer any time he wants it, and that's no fairy story. I got a picture of a deer crossing highway 28 during the hunt, and this animal would have been a sure catch for a man with a rifle.

HODGE-PODGE: "Are we going to have a severe winter?" the city Joe asked of the Indian. "Ugh heap cold winter sure, white man putting up big pile of snow fence"....Here's a gem from Tick Talk: "It is said that horse sense is what keeps a horse from betting on humans. It is true that there was a time when a runaway horse was the chief danger to highway travel but—No one ever heard of a horse running into a 40-car freight train nine cars ahead of the caboose....I'd like to hear some of those wives when their husbands come home minus a deer, when the hubbies used the high price of meat as an alibi to get away with the boys....Who was the city businessman who sat behind a stump all afternoon on a deer run, and fired two shots every 15 minutes to keep the rest of the gang on the alert?....Heard in the barber shop: Customer—"Did you get a deer?" Barber Milt—"No, I saw one, but missed. I shot about 20 feet behind him". Customer—"Hmmm, maybe you shot the dog". Barber—"By golly, that could be, the dog hasn't come home yet".

DEER HUNTING ends in this district on Tuesday, Nov. 23. After that hunters have four days to get their trophies out of the woods. Already the hunters, particularly the veterans, are singing the praises of the box-car seal introduced this year by Dept. of Lands and Forests. The seal must be attached to a deer carcass as soon as the hunter leaves the hunting camp or district with his deer. Once placed on a carcass, the tag cannot be removed without destroying it. Of course the value of the tag is contingent on an air-tight road patrol. Otherwise a hunter could use his tag on a deer shot in Peterborough county, then go back to same area and bring a deer out without a tag, or to any other district and obtain an illegal deer, unless there was a road check.

PRESIDENT BOB McCABE and Fish and Game Association members are a bit incensed at an article which appeared in the Examiner dealing with the new dam at Kosh lake. When an appeal for assistance reached the club, a motion of moral support was passed along with a request that the sponsors of the new project see to it that access for the public to the lake was assured. At that time, because a county grant had not been obtained, the Association was not in a position to grant financial assistance to the group. The request came late in the year, in short, about three months before the present executive terminate office. They were completely sympathetic toward the project, but could not donate money they did not have, nor could they legislate for the incoming officers. The reference to the road, was a reminder to the Kosh lake group that shore land on most lakes is now owned privately and a fisherman has difficulty getting to the shore. It was not dictation by any means. This dam will help the property owners, a great deal more than it will help the fish and game members, and it seems to me if a group has the sympathy of the fish and game association, the caustic remarkz were uncalled for. I introduced the subject to the Association long before any appeal was made, and at that time we didn't know how the building of a dam could be financed.

PETERBOROUGH NATURE CLUB has undertaken an educational campaign to teach school children of the county, the value of the song birds. They circulated a small folder, which sets forth the sections of the law governing the use of air rifles and small calibre rifles. These two, it was felt are used most extensively by youngsters who kill song birds mostly without knowing the harm being done. The folder also lists the birds that are not protected. In recent years starlings have been responsible for the deaths of many bluebirds, and boys with rifles patrolling railway tracks have also shot many of these songsters. The bluebird, an insect eater is one hundred per cent. beneficial. Any teacher wanting a supply of these folders should get in touch with Morley Powell, president of the Peterborough Nature Club.

Sir George Arthur Laid Corner Stone Of Court House At 7:30 In Morning

By NICK NICKELS

Peterborough's city council has about completed plans for the official visit of our Governor-General, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, on Nov. 25. the highlight of the vice regal visit will be the laying of the cornerstone of the new Civic Hospital. City fathers are in a much better position today than the County Council 110 years ago.

At that time the County Council was making plans for the building of the Court House. The grounds of Victoria Park and the Court House to-day were then three tree-covered lots totalling seven acres. The exact site for the building had been decided on in August, 1838, when sudden news reached the council that His Excellency, Sir George Arthur, Lieut. Governor of Upper Canada, was about to visit Peterborough.

The Council thought it would be very auspicious to have the corner stone of the Court House laid by this distinguished visitor and a hurried resolution was passed that "about six feet of ground should be opened up immediately and a load of stone placed on the spot." The chairman of the building committee was instructed to ask the favour of laying the corner stone through His Excellency's secretary upon their arrival. Sir Arthur agreed cheerfully.

The committee met at 6:30 in the morning and waited upon the Governor at 7 a.m. At exactly 7.30 His Excellency and party, accompanied by the Building committee, proceeded to the hole in the ground and in the presence of many spectators, even at this early hour, the stone was officially laid. It is presumed that it would fit into its proper place at a much later date when the construction of the walls got under way.

If at some future time the corner stone was examined, one would find a metal box containing the following articles; a parchment scroll executed by Ivan O'Beirne and telling of the occasion with a list of names of the Building Committee thereon; a British shilling, sixpence, penny and half-penny struck in the reigns of George IV and William IV.

Building continued for three years, with many construction difficulties, similar to shortages that occur in the city even to this day. In December 1841 the Building Committee was relieved of its long task when a meeting of magistrates examined the accounts, found them in order and thanked the committee for its work

Barbershop Quartets Form Organization

By GLEN HANCOCK.

Among the numerous international organizations which have been developed in America during the past decade, there is one group that seems to have caught on particularly well. It has little to do directly with world peace difficulties, but it is heading in that direction and is spreading continually through towns and cities all over Canada, particularly in Ontario.

It's called the "SPEBQSA," but to the uninitiated it has the picturesque, old fashioned name of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America.

The program consists of doing what the members like best — singing the old songs in the four-part harmony style which is akin to the days of handlebar moustaches, celluloid collars, Gibson girls, multiple skirts and community clambakes. The creed is: "We shall by our stimulus to good music and vocal harmony endeavor to spread the spirit of harmony throughout the world."

In every community where a barbershop quartet chapter has been organized, the melodious trains of familiar songs, sung by the town's best tonsorial tunesters, supported on occasion by enthusiasts lacking somewhat in vocal versaltility, have been heard wherever good music is appreciated. In hospitals and at charities and community projects, the barbershoppers have an atmosphere of enchantment about them which suggests that there may be something to the personal harmony idea as a groundwork for world peace.

There are over 400 chapters of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America in the United States and Canada, and even as far away as India. Wherever these high tenors and low basses unite in tonsorial agreement there has been a revival in community singing. They have elevated the quartet from the bar room and the street corner into the drawing room, out of the alleyway on to the concert stage, and a genuine interest has been awakened in voice culture for men of all professions and trades. Even barbers have joined the quartet wagon, whether they can sing or not, and the society is immeasureable in wealth of fellowship.

The society is both famous and unique. It is the world's largest singing fraternity, and is fast becoming one of the largest service clubs.

In Ontario towns like Hamilton, Sudbury, Brantford, Toronto, Sarnia, Paris, London, Guelph, Windsor, Wallaceburg, Amherstburg, Stratford and Chatham, the society has established choruses made up of foursomes like "The Four Blends," "The Odds and Ends," "The Four Aces," and "The Four Chorders." The Peterborough district is now showing an interest in the revival of the gay days of "Sweet Adeline" and "Who Put the Overalls in Mrs. Murphy's Crowder."

Owen C. Cash started the society 10 years ago. As the son of a Baptist minister in Missouri, he always had the desire to be some sort of an executive in some sort of a club. His idea was immediately popular. It interested plumbers and bankers, grocery clerks and retired railroaders, singers and would-be singers, and almost everyone, in fact, who had been awakened at some time or another by close harmony from late revelers in a hotel corridor. President Truman joined up, and Fred Waring is an active member.

Owen Cash has achieved his ambition. He is "permanent assistant to the 3rd temporary vice-chairman."

The society's program includes state and provincial contests of singing the barbershop way. The friendly atmosphere created by spontaneous bursts of melody is a magnetic attraction for connoisseurs of Bowery songs and four-chord arrangements of "The Whiffenpoof Song."

Mustangs Ready Defend Crown From Varsity

TORONTO, Nov, 20 (CP) — Toronto battened down its stom hatches today and waited for things to start happening.

And just about anything could happen in the struggle between University of Toronto and University fo Western Ontario for the intercollegiate grid championship.

The battle has been raging all week long between rival student bodies. That battle will keep on during the game and possibly attract almost as much attention as the two football clubs.

A heavy rain soaked Varsity Stadium during the night.

The game has been a complete sell-out ever since it became certain last Saturday that there would be a playoff for the title Western has won annually since 1939 and Varsity hasn't won since 1936.

Johnny Metras' Mustangs got a loud and long sendoff when they left Friday to avenge Varsity's 23-8 upset victory of last week. A huge crowd saw the Mustangs off a tthe station and heard Mayor George Wenige of London urge the Mustangs to bring the title back with them.

Both student bodies have been holding monster rallies all week to build up spirit for the clash—Western with a "trample Toronto" campaign and Varsity replying with its traditional shout of "Beat Western."

PAUL EDWIN HINRICHS, seminary student from St. Louis, Mo., is all smiles as the New York Yankees announce they have signed him and that he will report to Kansas City next season. Hinrichs, whose contract with Detroit was recently voided by Commissioner Chandler, is reported to have received a $60,000 bonus from the Yankees for affixing his name to a contract. He is also the first bonus player signed in Yankee history. Although the amount of his bonus was not disclosed by New York, Hinrichs, a righthand pitcher, sought by 12 major league and two minor league clubs, rejected a $60,000 bonus offer by the Chicago White Sox, whose secretary, Charles Comiskey, said no one topped his team's offer.

Nurses and Lock Co. Take Wins in Lasses' Cage Loop

Nurses nudged out a 22-17 decision over Electrics, and Lock Co. pulled out a 20-16 verdict over Bond's, in two keen Girls' Basketball League games at the YWCA last evening. The tilts were as close and hard-fought throughout as the scores indicated, and the fans saw plenty of good cage action. There will be another double-header in this loop next Friday night.

In the first fray last evening, the teams were well-matched and the result much in doubt till the final whistle. Bev. Pringle, Anita Davis and Joan Plunkett stood out for the winners, while Marg. Kennedy, Irene Stewart and Marg. Perrin were best over the route for the losers. The half-time score was 8-7 for the Nurses.

The teams:

CGE: M. Kennedy 5, I. Stewart 9, B. Stewart 1, B. Luther, I. Scotcher, B. Barry, M. Batley, M. Perrin 2, T. DeCarlo.

Nurses—B. Pringle 6, J. Smith 2, A. Davis 8, M. Collins 2, B. Deyell, J. Plunkett 4, J. Metcalfe, S. Wilkinson, S. Curtis, E. Taylor.

Second Game

Again in the second fixture, the teams looked well-matched from start to finish, and both sides hustled. Lock Co. gained the win with a late drive to score two baskets in the final two minutes of play. Bond's held a 9-5 lead at the half and made it a battle right down to the stretch drive. Joan Paterson, June Johnston and Y. Harvey were the pick of the victors, as Ruth Henderson, M. Sullivan and M. McKee stood out for the other side. The teams:

Lock Co.—J. McIntyre 2, B. McIlwaine 2, J. Wilson, M. Knox, J. Paterson 4, B. Holmes 3, J. Johnston 7, L. Crowley, D. Jackson, Y. Harvey 2.

Bond's—M. McKee 5, R. Henderson 7, L. McIntosh, D. McNeeley, E. McIlhagga, J. O'Brien, A. Metheral, M. Sullivan 4, B. Larmer, M. Beggs, M. Honour.

Referees, D. Plunkett and H. Smith; timer, A. Neiman.

City Carpetball

There is a slight change in the setup of the league with the dropping of All Saints from the schedule. Only one game also has been reported so far when the Fighting Parsons met up with the Treasurers' gang and started to make claims to the league funds before they were placed on ice. The first game was just an onslaught when the Parsons knocked a hole in the treasury by 12-4. In the second encounters the Keepers of the Purse fought valiantly and well, leading by 10-8 in the last frame only to meet a haymaker and going down 11-10.

This brings the balance of the first week's schedule to be played before any other games:

LOL No. 3 vs LOL No. 4; BESL No. 5 vs BESL No. 6; Hasty P's No. 7 vs Bonnerworth No. 8; Glengarrys No. 9 vs Navy No. 10; Red Patch No. 11, bye.

Schedule for coming week:

Treasurers No. 1 vs Bonnerworth No. 8; LOL No. 3 vs SOE No. 2; Glengarrys No. 9 vs BESL No. 5; Hasty P's vs BESL No. 6; Red Patch No. 11 vs Navy Club No. 10; BESL No. 4, bye.

Schedule for week of November 29: Glengarrys No. 9 vs Treasurer No. 1; SOE No. 2 vs Bonnerworth No. 8; BESL No. 6 vs LOL No. 3; LOL No. 4 vs BESL No. 5; Hasty P's No. 7 vs Red Patch No. 11. The Navy will be in dry dock for this week.

For the information of those who do not know, the skips are as follows:

No. 1 Treasurers, G. Gimblett, phone 5432; No. 2 SOE, F. Parsons 4876; No. 3 LOL, H. Lundy, 3366; No. 4 LOL, F. Bell, 5685; No 5 BESL, W. Gracie, 9842; No. 6 BESL, O. Varty, contact at Legion; No. 7 Hasty P's, uncertain, contact G. Foster through the Legion; No. 8, Bonnerworth, J. Cridland, 9278; No. 9, Glengarrys, J. Douglas 3767; No. 10 Navy Club, no named, contact through Legion; No. 10 Red Patch, not named, contact Maurice McCarthy through the Legion.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Work is progressing rapidly by parks workmen on fixing up Riverside. The old main grandstand is torn down and a new board fence runs down the west side by the river to right field. A fence may yet encircle the whole outfield. The ground is getting a manicure with topsoil, and plans for next spring are to swing the whole diamond around. Placing home plate over in the north-east corner of the park, not far from the main gate. Batters will be hitting toward where the west stand used to be, and mighty few balls will be lost in the river. The city's open-air bleachers will fit in horse-shoe fashion around the infield. Maybe another year will see enough parks' money available to build a good covered stand there.

* * * * * *

At a recent meeting of the Inter-County Baseball League, figures showed that senior "A" teams there played to 63,549 fans chipping in $29,649 in 15 playoff games. Three London-at-Kitchener playoff tilts drew 10,921 for a gross gate of $4,900. When they went to London for three, the take from 19,872 customers was $9,598. Waterloo also drew well. Unofficially, we hear that the London Majors—who reaped a harvest with the international amateur sandlot series—sliced up a season's melon worth more than a thousand smackers each! Secretary Bill Snyder of the OBA says in future senior clubs must start and finish all playoffs in September. He also advocates dividing the province into two parts for miners to miss long expensive trips.

* * * * * *

Gleams Of Light, Eh?

Quinte columnist remarks: "Little gleams of light are beginning to push their way through the hitherto dark clouds that have cast a pall over the senior 'B' hockey situation in these parts. 'Tis no secret that Peterborough will have the Petes back with brand new sweaters in honor of a sports-minded gentleman of their fair hamlet who has opened the personal purse and poured some much-needed dinero into the lean exchequer of the club; and the Legionnaires, the Nicholls, et al, of last year's championship team."

* * * * * *

He continues: "Now, from a very authoritative source in Kingston comes word that the Limestone lads will shove a brace of squads into the senior 'B' pot, to wit the Canadian Corps, and the Navy Combines, the latter master-minded by none other than our old hockey friend, Maxie Jackson. With these cheering words and the persistence of the rumor that out of the intermediate squads of the Belleville District League there will emerge a senior 'B' team, the fans hereabouts are feeling considerably perked up." And he hopes Lindsay Meteors (of Toronto players) might be induced in, too.

* * * * * *

Maybe Six Clubs In

It might be that the Meteors will not be permitted by the Toronto association, and the OHA, to play in a group down this way—as they're Toronto players. But it would be a nifty six-club setup in OHA senior "B" play, huh? Two Kingston clubs, one in Belleville, two here—Petes and Legion—and the Meteors in Lindsay. Couple of real long hauls to Kingston, yes, and a fairly hefty jaunt to Bella Villa, but then a short jump to Lindsay and several Petes-Legion games right in Peterborough. For a change we'd be close to the centre of the setup, but Kingston clubs (and maybe the Meteors) might not care for the long trips. Still, all games would draw well.

* * * * * *

As mentioned before, but it'll bear repeating, both PCVS grid squads are in Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association finals today. Senior PCI-ers pulled out early this morning for Burlington, where they go at 2.30, while Port Colborne and PCVS juniors clash at two in the Oval here this aft. Both are sudden-death finals for the COSSA championships. The Ports presently hold the junior title, while PCVS has held the senior crown for the past two years. And down Cobourg way this afternoon, London Falcons mix it with the Galloping Ghosts at two for the ORFU intermediate title. Tigers, of course, are in Ottawa for the Eastern Canada crown.

Keen Cage Contests

Couple of close contests run off last p.m. in the YW gym as the Girls' Basketball League came up with a double-header. In the opener, Nurses took the decision over Electrics 22-17 in a fine fixture. Bev Pringle, Anita Davis and Joan Plunkett stood out for the winners. And Marg Kennedy, Irene Stewart and Marg Perrin were the pick of the CGE-ers. Another good scrap in the nightcap, going to Lock Co. colleens by a 20-16 count over Bond's. Two baskets in the final few minutes settled the issue after a speedy struggle. Joan Paterson, June Johnson and Yvonne Harvey shone for the victors, with Ruth Henderson, Mamie Sullivan and Marion McKee best for Bond's. Lots of hoop action for the spectators, with two more jousts billed for next Friday there.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

The other night when N. Hamley made a beautiful shot, with his last stone, on an extra end, playing against O. Steer we thought it was a pippin—and it was too, but we believe the one that V. Selkirk pulled off last night against M. Wells—and also an extra end—on ice No. 6, was one that could only come from "the hand of a master."

It was the last stone of the game—M. Wells was lying two or three and mighty well guarded up. After the George St. merchant and his vice studied the situation, they decided on the shot to play, and if Truman was a 15 to 1 shot, this one that Selkirk was going to try was a 100 to 1 bet. It was a shot that very few would attempt yet Mr. Selkirk did, and came through to win the game. He played his stone up the ice, with a narrow in-turn; his stone just squeezed through a post, inches wider than his stone, and then went on to land squarely on the tee. It was a real shot. We're not sure about this, but we understand it is to be open house at the Selkirks' all next week.

SIX STILL MISSING

Officials of "Mercure," a private flying concern at Paris, still were without news today of one of their planes which has been missing since Nov. 8 with six members of the Czechoslovak hockey team, bound for London.

Commenting on widespread rumors that the plane changed its course and flew south to Spain or Portugal. Officials said the plane had only enough fuel to fly to "some Spanish airport near the border but not to Madrid."

AFTER THIS LITTLE ACT before the Boston Bruins' goal, the score read as follows: Pucks in cage, 0; Players in cage, 6, all of which adds up to the fact that this furious assault failed and the Bruins defeated the Canadiens 3-2 in a recent game played at Boston, Mass.

Rain, Mud Threatens Grey Cup Game

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP). — Old man weather—as unpredictable as a woman, and just as persistent—today entered as one of the big factors in the crucial test of strength between Ottawa Rough Riders and Hamilton Tigers.

Big Four champions and crowned lords of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, respectively, they meet on a muddy field today for Eastern Canada football honors and a chance to hit the football jackpot—the Grey Cup classic.

But for 24 hours now, old man weather has swept that field with rain—a continual downpour that meterologists say is the greatest Ottawa has seen this fall.

Dutchmen Down Hamilton 4-3 Take Over Lead In Senior OHA

By The Canadian Press

Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen forged to the front in the Senior Ontario Hockey Association last night—the first team to overtake the Hamilton Tigers who broke on top from the start of the season.

Riding on six wins, five losses and two ties, the Dutchmen went one point ahead of Hamilton by defeating them 4-3 in overtime Friday night. In another senior game, the upsurging Toronto Marlboros downed Owen Sound Mercurys 6-4.

In the junior loop, Guelph Biltmores took a 2-1 overtime decision over the cellarite Toronto Marlboros, Stratford Kroehlers bested Galt Rockets 5-2, Barrie Flyers defeated Oshawa Generals 5-2 and Windsor Spitfires downed St. Catharines Teepees 7-2.

Tigers grabbed a one-goal lead early in the first period when Ab Conick scored at the mid-way mark. Fleet Don Bauer notched two goals within a minute to put the Dutchmen ahead.

A goal by Dick Behling on a solo rush put Kitchener two up early in the second frame, but Bobby Laurent cut the margin near the end of the period on a three-way play with Tom Smelie and Ab Conick.

A goal by Laurent mid-way through the third stanza tied the game up. At the six-minute mark of the overtime period, Doug Verity counted to give Kitchener the decision.

Expect 4,000 To See Junior Football Tilt

HAMILTON, Nov. 20—(CP)—More than 4,000 fans are expected to ignore a forecast of light rain today to watch the first officials Junior Canadian Football championship game since 1933.

Saskatoon Hilltops and Hamilton Wildcats will square off in muddy Civic Stadium, soaked by more than 24 hours of rain. The weatherman predicted no letup from the intermittent rain which began Friday.

Local football fans had been saying that Hilltops, with an impressive record of 12 wins and one loss behind them this year, were a team that liked the mud.

But Coach Bob Arn scotched the rumor Friday night when he put his charges through a brief workout.

Remember When . . .

Golden-toed Annis Stukus of Toronto Argonauts quit football three years ago today. The hefty backfielder, now a Toronto sports writer, starred in organized rugby for 20 years. An outstanding placement kicker, he started and ended his senior career with Argos but also played for Toronto Indians and Balmy Beach.

AUSTRALIAN CHAMP TO MEET MORGAN—Fred Atkins, Australian heavyweight wrestling champion, will meet Big Ben Morgan (above) in the main event next Wednesday at the Brock Arena. It will be Atkins first appearance in the local ring, but fans here are well acquainted with his ability. He has been teaming up with Whipper Watson in the team matches at Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto. Atkins is not only powerfully built but is one of the best wrestlers in the game today. The remainder of the card will be announced Monday.

Leafs, Bruins Tangle Tonight

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs, ailing champions of the hockey world, open a nine-games-in-15 days grind tonight against Dit Clapper's bruising Boston Bruins.

It's the only game scheduled for tonight but all six clubs in the league see action Sunday.

Leafs, sunk in a three-way cellar tie after two years of winning the Stanley Cup, haven't won a game on the road this year. They have five away games during the next two weeks.

Bruins can move into first place by beating Leafs tonight and can dig in at the top by licking New York Rangers tomorrow.

Boston now is in second place, a scant point behind the leading Detroit Red Wings who are at home Sunday to Montreal Canadiens.

Following a foot injury to utility forward Joe Klukay, Leafs last night ordered rookie right winger Fleming Mackell to Pittsburgh Hornets to replace forward Harry Taylor, who came up from the farm last week.

New York Rangers, still stricken with injuries, have another go at the Boston Garden jinx Sunday night. Rangers haven't won a game there since the middle of the 1946-47 season.

Third-place Montreal Canadiens are at Detroit in the other Sunday game.

A.A.U. Gets Face-Lifting Plan Amateur Hall of Fame

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 20.—(CP).—A revitalized Amateur Athletic Union of Canada appeared to be on the Cards today.

In one of the most business-like sessions of recent years, union delegates buckled down to what some termed "house-cleaning measures" and in less than five hours decided on:

1. A Dominion-wide fund-raising campaign with a minimum objective of $5,000. The A.A.U. dangled a lure to would-be subscribers: honorary life memberships in the Union to all who send in $50 or more.

2. An early start on British Empire games plans with notice of an "all-out" drive for funds to send a team to New Zealand in 1950 and appointment of Past President George C. Macum of Montreal as chairman of a general committee in charge of games preparations.

3. Creation of a central school for coaches in efforts to make coaching methods conform across the country in an effort to raise the standards of track and field athletes and an annual school for officials in each branch of the Union.

4. Appointment of an honorary president and 15 honorary vice-presidents composed of leading figures in Canada's business life who, it is expected, will lend active support to promotion of amateur sports in Canada. Announcement of personnel is expected today.

Delegates set up an amateur athletic hall of fame designed to perpetuate the names of great Canadian amateur athletes. It is expected it will take the form of a "golden book" with pictures and resume of their athletic achievements.

COOKE REMANDED

FORT ERIE.—Garth (Dusty) Miller, 46, charged with armed robbery in connection with the noon hour robbery of the Imperial Bank at Ridgeway last Sept. 2, was remanded until Nov. 25, when he appeared in Ridgeway Court before Police Magistrate John B. Hopkins. No plea was taken, and he was returned to Welland Jail.

Winnipeg Ballet Makes Debut In Ontario

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 20—(CP)—The Winnipeg Ballet, Geneth Lloyd's talented company of dancers, made its Eastern Canada debut at the Grand Theatre here Friday night.

The ballet, born only a decade ago and now on its first full-size tour of Eastern Canada, gave a bright sample of its wares.

It is not great ballet in the traditional style but is fresh, light and spirited, and enchantingly presented.

First number on the short and comely program was Miss Lloyd's own choreography in the traditional mode danced in full skirted flower-decked ballet. It introduced the chief ballerina, pretty Jean McKenzie, and Arnold Spohr, chief male dancer whose solo and duet work was excellent.

The spirit and ability of the whole company came to life in the intergretive "concerto" to Rachmanioff music. It gave emphasis to fresh youthful skill of the dancers and to the imaginative training they have received.

Frank McCormick, veteran first-sacker with the pennant-winning Boston Braves of the National League last season, Friday signed a contract to manage Quebec Alouettes in the Canadian-American League next year, it was announced at Quebec Friday. Amount of salary was not revealed.

The new manager replaces Tony Ravish of Hudson, N.Y., who was fired after the Alouettes finished in last place for a second year in a row.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Leo Durocher, who now manages New York Giants, is going to have to explain to Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler how he signed Freddie Fitzsimmons as coach.

A source close to the commissioner, who suspended Durocher for the 1947 season on the grounds that his conduct was detrimental to baseball, said Friday at Cincinnati Chandler wants to know why Fitzsimmons' appointment as a coach was announced when he was still under contract to Boston Braves.

Durocher, Fitzsimmons, and officials of the Giants will be invited to tell the story to Chandler at the meeting of baseball heads in Chicago next month.

As far as the Commissioner's official announcements are concerned, they still do not have Fitzsimmons released by the Braves.

Palmer Wright, secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club, said Friday at Toronto that nominations already were heavy for the 1950 running of the King's Plate and he would not be surprised if a record number of horses were entered. Nominations for the $10,000 added classic close Nov. 28.

Friday's harness meet at Dufferin Park was washed out by rain and a heavy track and race-track gossip centred on today's free-for-all trot.

With 18 horses entered in the $1,500 race, the championship event will be run in two eliminations of nine horses each. The first four horses of each will meet in the final heat.

The first division includes Projectile, which took a two-year-old record of 2:04 while owned in the United States. Ontario trotting champ Billy Stout, owned by Frank Plaunt of Brantford, is among the starters in the second division.

Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis took his exhibition tour home to Detroit Friday night and even with bulky 14-ounce gloves, dumped curly-haired Vern Mitchell of Detroit on the canvas twice in a no-decision six-round exhibition.

Louis weighed 220, Mitchell 194½.

Joe toyed with Mitchell, didn't even bother to sit down in his corner between the two-minute rounds and even took time to smile at his friends around the ringside while he waited for the bell.

Only twice did the 34-year-old Louis open up with any sign of a vicious attack and both times he put Mitchell down.

The Argentine Soccer Football Association Friday cancelled the contracts of 538 striking players.

The players, who claim the Association hasn't lived up to the contracts, voted to continue their strike.

All Sunday games were discontinued for several weeks because of the strike. However, they were resumed last Sunday with teams filled mostly with amateur players.

The Association said the winter schedule would be completed with amateurs.

Melio Bettina, veteran Beacon, NY, southpaw, who once held the light heavyweight title, took a unanimous decision over Enrique Felpi of Argentina Friday night at St. Nicholas Arena, New York. Bettina weighed 192½ to 209½ for the South American.

Many of the 2,247 fans who paid $6,306 booed the decision for the aggressive Argentine had caught their eye with his right hand punches. However, Bettina, a stocky left hander was much more experienced than Felpi whose long range blows often landed on Melio's arms and shoulders.

The western contingent swung into action Friday night in final playdowns for Canada's Thomas Cup badminton team. The team, to be announced Monday, plays a team from India here Dec. 3-4.

Jack Muir of Toronto defeated Al Williams of Calgary 11-15, 17-14, 15-9. Muir was down 2-12 in the second set when he rallied with an amazing comeback.

Daryl Thompson of Vancouver turned back Ted Pollock of Toronto 15-18, 18-15, 15-10. Thompson went on to beat Ken Forsythe of Winnipeg 15-12, 15-9.

Pollock and Roy Smith of Toronto, the Canadian Doubles champions trimmed Williams and Thompson 15-9, 15-7.

Your Dairy . . .

OPPOSES AN INCREASE IN THE PRICE OF MILK

HERE IS WHY

The farmers through the Ontario Milk Producers League have made demands for a general increase in the price of milk. Their first demands, if accepted, would have resulted in an increased price to the consumer of from 2c to 3c per quart. Your dairy is opposed to any increase on the grounds that every cent in the price of milk imposes hardship, chiefly on the children of families least able to afford higher prices. It further decreases the sale of milk to the detriment of both farmer and distributor.

In those markets where negotiations have reached the present stage, the association representing the dairies made a counter proposal to the farmers. This proposal offered to maintain the present price being paid to farmers for milk for standard use, but offered more generous terms on the purchase of surplus milk to be used for secondary purposes. This would increase price of buttermilk, chocolate milk, skim milk and cream.

This proposal was made to meet the farmers' two main criticisms of the present contract—namely, that some farmers are receiving payment for too large a proportion of their milk at the secondary price and that the secondary price is too low.

Complete details of the above offer were contained in a letter dated October 28, to the farmer organization. The offer was rejected and further negotiations were refused. The matter has now been referred to arbitration on the demands of the farmers.

Since 1939 the retail price of a quart of milk has risen about six cents. Of this increase, five cents has been paid to the farmer.

BE A BOOSTER AND A SUPPORTER

OF THE

Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association

On Tuesday you will receive a letter from the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association. It will ask your aid, in the work of the Association, by purchasing the Christmas Seals which are enclosed in the letter. The work of the Association is important to Peterborough County and to you . . . because it will finance a complete chest survey of the County and City of Peterborough. This survey will be the means of detecting and stamping out of tuberculosis in our district . . . it will uncover this disease in its early stages . . . even before one feels ill with it. To be a Booster . . . just use the seals on all your letters and parcels. To be a Supporter . . . just send a donation to the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association, care of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Peterborough, Ontario. Please do not place the seals you receive in a drawer and forget them . . . use them on letters . . . it will remind others of the necessity of supporting with donations, The Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association.

Reading Chest X-Ray Films

By means of X-ray films doctors can follow the course of tuberculosis and determine progress made in the treatment of the disease. The X-ray is also an invaluable aid in the original diagnosis of tuberculosis. Christmas Seal funds help finance X-ray surveys sponsored by the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association.

Chest X-Rays To Check On TB

An insidious aspect of tuberculosis is that it has no symptoms in its early stage, when it is easiest to cure. It can be detected, however, even in the early stage by means of a chest X-ray. These people are taking no chance with TB by getting their chests X-rayed. The Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association provides X-ray services from Christmas Seal Funds.

Christmas Seals and Mass Chest X-Ray

Next Spring, Citizens of Peterborough and the Suburban Rural Area will have the opportunity to be Chest-X-Rayed, Free of Charge. Subscriptions to the Christmas Seal Campaign will make this possible.

WHY A CHEST X-RAY

It is the ONE SURE METHOD of detecting Active Tuberculosis in the lungs, especially in its early stages, before one feels ill with it.

VILLAGES COMPLETED

The mass Chest X-Ray started with the villages. They were completed this year. The City and surrounding Rural Areas will be completed in 1949. The remaining parts of the County will be done at the earliest possible date.

SUPPORT THE CAMPAIGN

$12,000.00 is required for the 1949 program. Make your donation as generous as possible. Send donation c/o Canadian Bank of Commerce, Peterborough.

ONE UNSUSPECTED CASE

An unsuspected case of Tuberculosis can effect you, the members of your family, and others in contact. Help us uncover all unsuspected cases.

Poetry in the Bible Exalts God

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—I Samuel 2:1-10; 11 Samuel 1:19-27; Psalms 23-24; 103; 136:1-9; Lamentations 3:19-39; Habakkuk 3:17-19; Luke 1:46-55.

Hannah, wife of Elkanak, took the son she had prayed for, Samuel, and took him to the priest Eli, to minister to him, and then Hannah prayed, thanking the Lord for granting her prayer. I Samuel 2

King Saul and his son Jonathan, were slain in battle with the Philistines, and when word was brought, to David, he mourned greatly, saying, "The beauty of Israel is slain." II Samuel 1.

"The Lord is my shepherd: I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul," Psalms 23:1.

After the angel Gabriel had announced to Mary that she was to be the mother of the Christ, Mary praised the Lord for his goodness to her.
MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 23:1.

TWO LITTLE LAMBS—Small animals and children are naturally attracted to each other. When Carol Eliabeth Reddick, four-year-old Toronto youngster, toured the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto nothing appealed to her more than the 10-day-old Dorset Hornet lamb, owned by W. K. Kettle of Bracebridge. Here she shows how she would hug it if she could take it home.

What Prayer Does for Man

By REV. E. R. JAMES

As Jesus prayed the fashion of his countenance was altered. —St. Luke 9:28.

The man who translated this Scripture was a master of the English tongue and a man of imagination. The words stick in your mind which is the supreme purpose of Holy Scripture. That is why you will find a short portion of Holy Scripture at the beginning and end of this article with the hope that some word will grip your mind, for Holy Scripture is full of vitality.

"As Jesus prayed the fashion of his countenance was altered". The man Jesus had consciously placed Himself in the presence of the Divine Father. With His inward eye He beheld His Glory. His human soul was absorbed in the contemplation of the Father. "As a man thinketh in his heart so he is." The mysterious change over His face followed naturally. His face reflected His mind.

A week earlier St. Peter had made the great confession: "Thou art Christ." The Master was deeply moved and immediately told them the deeper truth; that He must suffer many things, be crucified, die and rise again. The Apostles were horror struck. St. Peter, as their spokeman, cries: "Be it far from Thee, Lord; this shall not be unto Thee". Simon represents Satan, he is speaking for him, the evil one. So the Christ utters the bitterest rebuke: "Get thee behind Me, Satan; for thou savourest none of the things of God but of man."

To help them to believe in this awful horror He takes Peter, James and John, members of the inner circle, into the Mount and was transfigured before them that their minds may be strengthened in the inner man. They have discovered His secret that He is the Christ. They have to be taught that He is the Lamb of God, both Priest and Victim. Through His willing obedience He is to offer Himself "as a full, perfect and sufficient sacrifice, oblation and satisfaction for the sins of the whole world."

With Him they saw Moses, the law giver, and Elijah, the prophet. They spake to Him of His death, which He must accomplish at Jerusalem. The Apostles hear the voice of the Father: "This is My beloved Son, in Whom I am well pleased. Hear ye Him."

"As Jesus prayed the fashion of His countenance was altered." All the days of His ministry He has been looking into the face of the Father. "I am come to do the will of Him that sent Me" is His constant claim. Perhaps there came into His mind the words of the psalmist "Unto thee will I lift up mine eyes, O thou that dwellest in the highest." As He prayed His soul was satisfied with the likeness of the Father and His heart was uplifted with the Father's approval.

The Apostles saw the change in His body and this experience helped them to believe in His resurrection. On the resurrection morning Peter and John ran to the sepulchre. "They saw and believed" and "the disciples departed to their homes."

"As Jesus prayed the fashion of His countenance was altered." Have you read His words and tried to see His portrait in the four Gospels. Then slowly the change will be seen in you. You will not be conscious.

Jenny Lind, the singer, went to look upon the face of her dead friend. She gazed and exclaimed: "Here is a woman who has seen the Christ." "When Christ shall appear we shall be like Him."

BE YE TRANSFORMED BY THE RENEWING OR YOUR MIND. LET THIS MIND BE IN YOU WHICH WAS ALSO IN CHRIST JESUS OUR LORD.

VOL. XCVII, No. 117 — SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1948

DUMMER TOWNSHIP POWER PROBLEMS fall into three classes. One, the large group of rural users that must abide by periodic cut-offs; two, settlers on the Ninth Line who have no power at all, and therefore no problem, and, three, the one-man power baron, Hilliard Clements in the village of Warsaw. Mr. Clements harnessed the water flow of the Indian River 16 years ago and developed power for himself, his shop and more than 15 other stores and homes. It still supplies three homes, his shop and the Warsaw Presbyterian Church. Top photo, Left, shows the main street of the settlement of Centre Dummer that has neither power, telephone, nor post office. Top Right, Sharron Gray, Campbellford, visiting granddaughter of the Clements, plays the family radio during a power cut-off. Lower Left, Hilliard Clements kneels beside his water-driven generator that he built from a scrapped unit and has been running for 16 years. Lower Right, storekeeper William Matthews tends shop by lamplight as he has been doing in Centre Dummer settlement for the past 38 years.

Power Shortage No Worry To Warsaw Man

By NICK NICKELS

Can you imagine a person in Southern Ontario these days who is not interested in the power situation? We found Hilliard Clements at his home in the village of Warsaw the other day. It was dinner time and the rural lines were having their mid-day cut off. It was very dull and a cold driving rain made it more dismal this usual.

Everything was bright and cosy in the Clements home. Lights were all on, the radio was playing and good things were cooking on the electric range. There was even an electric heater glowing cosily. Mr. Clements has made his own water-driven power house. He took us across the village street, down a path on the north bank of the Indian River beside his machine shop to a small building next a six-foot dam.

Along one side of the powerhouse, two water-driven turbines were coupled to a horizontal shaft that operated a line belt. This belt in turn drove an electric generator. Beside it on an upright panel a voltmeter showed a steady generation of 110 volts. Power lines were strung from here to his shop, across the street to his home, west again to the Warsaw Presbyterian Church, to Dr. Donald Munro's home and south to Mr. Clements old family residence.

We assured him it was quite amazing, but, it was commonplace to him and had been for the past 16 years. At that time he secured permission to build a dam across Indian River and since it was not a navigable stream, it was granted to him. He and his father went ahead with the construction of the dam and built the power house. During the winter he rebuilt and rewound a generator that a Peterborough firm had thrown on the scrap pile as junk. By spring it was working and has been working steadily ever since.

The village of Warsaw was without power in those days and Mr. Clements undertook to wire 15 houses and stores and the small plant supplied them all. In 1936 Hydro was put into the district and supplied all of the Clements Power Company clients except for the lines going to the church, two homes and his shop. Until four years ago he charged as many as 20 wet storage batteries in his shop at one time but ill-health forced him to give up this business.

Mr. Clements has been for 18 years rural Hydro electrican in various parts of the county and had it not been raining at the time of our visit, would have been working near Cottesloe.

Numerous electric appliance are in his home two of which are a hot water heating arrangement and an electric pumping unit. Together with these he estimates that more than 60 drop lights, plugs and outlets are in use from his private power plant. Small flow of the Indian River in midwinter is overcome by placing 32-volt lamps in sockets instead of the standard 110 volt bulbs. Some of the appliances are used less frequently.

No Power Lines

Being a hydro man with intimate knowledge of every foot of power lines in the district for miles around we asked him if there were any communities without power. He advised us to go to the settlement of Centre Dummer, a part of the township ringed with lines that had no installation.

We drove east to the Ninth Line and north to the settlement and stopped at the store of William Matthews. As a lead to conversation we asked Mr. Matthews about power, or the lack of it.

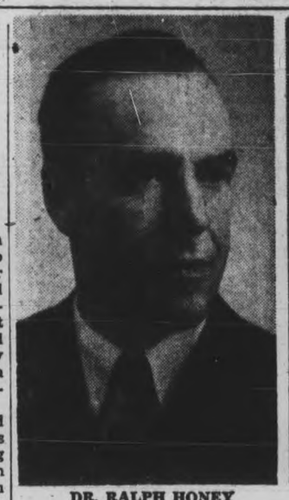
"There is no power, post office, doctor or telephone in the settlement," he said and added, somewhat bitterly, "and no chance of getting any of them. It is too bad because there is a lot of heavy traffic on this road the year 'round."

Through the winter trucks haul logs from Stony lake to Norwood down the Ninth Line and during the rest of the year strawberry, raspberry, and huckleberry pickers, campers and hunters make heavy traffic. Only that morning Mr. Matthews told us he had to walk three miles to the nearest telephone to order gasoline for his pumps. He claims that lack of any modern conveniences has forced families to move away from the area.

As a parting shot he asked us if we had noticed a large swamp on the north side of the road. We said we had. "We call that Rotten lake," he said, "and when some fellows tried raising muskrats in it a few years ago, the lake bottom was so ornery that even the rats left." We felt that a wink was as good as a nod to a blind horse and left too, feeling that Mr. Matthews could shed very little light on the power situation in Centre Dummer.

BELOW QUOTA

Peterborough was 1,700 kwh's under its quota of 229,700 on Friday on possibly one of the darkest days of the fall.



DR. RALPH HONEY

WALTER BANNON

Dr. R. Honey, Walter Bannon Will Seek Re-Election

Two of the four members of the Board of Education whose terms on that body are up this year, have signified their intentions of re-running for office. They are Walter E. Bannon and Dr. Ralph C. Honey. W. B. Gordon, at the last meeting of the Board, definitely stated that he would not stand for re-election because of the press of business. Frank H. Jobbitt, when queried by the Examiner, said he was not sure if he could carry on his work on the Board now that he has started his new hardware business on Park St. S.

"I still haven't made up my mind," said Mr. Jobbitt, "but I'll probably let you know at the beginning of next week."

Mr. Bannon, a foreman at the Outboard Marine Co., said "I'm pretty sure that I will; I'm anxious to see the best possible education for children."

He has been on the Board for four years. In that time he has been chairman of the Advisory Vocational Committee for three years, and chairman of the Appointments Committee for the past year.

A resident of the annexed area he has been active in public school work for many years. For six years he was a member of the North Monaghan School Area Board, half of that time has was chairman.

Son of Robert J. Bannon and the late Agnes J. Bannon, he was educated at Pontypool and Peterborough. After graduating from school he served an apprenticeship as pattern maker at CGE. For the past 20 years he has worked at the Outboard Marine Co., and is now foreman of the carpentry and pattern department.

"I'll let my name stand if nominated," said Dr. Ralph C. Honey. Without being specific, he said there were a couple of projects he would like to see completed.

Completed 2 Years

Dr. Honey has just completed his first term of two years on the Board. He was appointed chairman of the Supervision Committee.

He was born in Mitchell, Ontario and was raised at Port Perry. In 1929 he graduated from the Faculty of Dentistry at the University of Toronto, and came to Peterborough in the Fall of that year.

With the exception of four years in the Infantry Corps he has lived in Peterborough since. He joined up with the Prince of Wales Rangers and went overseas in 1943. Later that year he returned to Canada and took a company of Canadian Fusiliers overseas in 1944.

Dr. Honey was discharged in 1945 and was elected to the Board when he ran for office in 1946. He is 45 years of age.

There are nine members of the Board, four of whom retire one year, and five the next.

It is not yet known who will step in to fill Mr. Gordon's vacancy. No other candidate has publicly announced his intention of running.

Two Break-ins Produce No Loot

Two break-ins failed to produce any loot for intruders during the night, and police believe both jobs were the work of the same person.

Shortly after 3 o'clock this morning, Doc McCallum, taxi-driver for Capitol taxi was passing Campbell's Dairy when he spotted a man peeking around the corner of the building. He turned his lights on the figure, and the man ran down a lane and disappeared. McCallum notified his office by car radio, and circled the block trying to keep the man within the area. In the meantime the taxi dispatcher phoned city police and Police Sgt. John Naples was at the dairy within five minutes. A diligent search failed to locate the man. The door of the dairy had been forced, but nothing was touched, and apparently the intruder was interrupted in his work.

At Frizzelle's service station on the corner of Burnham and Hunter streets, the other break-in took place. It was discovered by Keith Inness when he opened the station shortly before 7 o'clock. A glass in the front door had been broken and this permitted the intruder to reach in and spring the night lock. Two panes of glass in rear windows were also broken and the window catches thrown but the windows which had swelled with the rain culd not be raised. Nothing was taken and Inness believes the visitor was after money.

Woman Struck On George St. Leg Fractured

Four accidents took place during the heavy rain on Friday afternoon and night, and three persons were injured. Mrs. Ann Lindsay, Sherbrooke St. West suffered a fractured leg when she was struck by a car at the Charlotte-George intersection a few minutes after five o'clock. The other injured persons are Earl Caddigan and L. Casselman, both of whom suffered facial cuts in a car accident on Rubidge St.

According to the police investigation, Mrs. Lindsay was crossing George St. when she was struck by a car driven by Lawrence J. Blanchard, 528 Weller St. The driver claims the woman was crossing against the traffic lights. City Traffic Officer Mesley investigated and the woman was covered with a raincoat awaiting the doctor, because it was feared her back was broken. She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in ambulance and her condition is fair.

Elzear Caddigan, 282 Edinburgh St., was driving his car south on Rubidge St. at 12 midnight when he drove into the rear of a parked car owned by Percy Killingbeck, 405 Wolfe St. The Killingbeck car was driven 40 feet and on the sidewalk. Damage to both cars was extensive. In the car with the driver were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Caddigan, 282 Edinburgh St., and Mr. and Mrs. L. Casselman, 359 Hamilton St. Earl Caddigan sustained a cut on the forehead and Casselman had three stitches put in a cut on his nose. The driver was arrested by City Constable George Shaw and locked up.

At 1.30 this morning, a taxi driven by Clifford McInroy, 24 Cricket Place, and a car driven by Howard Lawrence, 564 Arnden St., collided at the Sherbrooke-Park junction.

W. Green, 178 River Rd., reported to police at 5.35 Friday afternoon that he was driving south on Queen St., when a truck backing down the ramp behind a garage crashed into the side of his car. Before Green could get stopped and out of his car, the truck had disappeared. He investigated and discovered the man lived in Lindsay, so he drove to Lindsay, conducted his own investigation and discovered the owner and driver of the truck was Sam F. Brant, 50 George St., Lindsay. Mr. Brant had reported the accident to the Lindsay police.

In all four accidents visibility was poor because of the heavy rainstorm.

A BIG DAY

Terry Miller, an employee of the Raybestos Company was top marksman in a party of 10 that hunted east of Apsley. Up to last Friday they had only two deer, and on Saturday Miller knocked off four. That was the total bag of six deer.

Court Docket Has 12 Cases

More cases for the Court of General Sessions than have been listed for several years are expected when the Court opens on Dec. 6. His Honor Judge Sheldon L. Smoke will preside.

Twelve cases are expected to be heard during this session. The list of those who are committed for trial and their alleged offences are: Rex vs. Thos. Cook, theft of drugs from Dr. Holdcroft, Havelock; Rex vs. Ernest McFadden, arson; Rex vs. David Bowen and Frank Bowen, robbery with violence; Rex vs. Harry Ketchum, indecent assault on a female; Rex vs. Herbert B. Condon, gross indecency; Rex vs. Gordon Scriver, stealing; Rex vs. Wm. Buckley, breaking, entering; Rex vs. John Cupoli, dangerous driving involving death of a girl on Lansdowne St.; Rex vs. Cecile Taylor, stealing; Rex vs. Mary Outwater, stealing.

The two other cases are entered on the plea of Chief of Police, John Thompson. They are: Chief Thompson vs. Stewart Hardy (appeal), and Chief Thompson vs. John Russelle, by-law.

CHILDREN'S AID HOLDS PARTY

Annual Christmas party for the children at the Children's Aid Shelter will be held on Dec. 20 at 7 p.m. Details of the party will be anounced later.

Main Street Topics

A TOUCH OF SPRING

From his age and the cut of his clothes he was a collegiate student or else from one of the secondary school colleges in the district. He was sauntering up Charlotte St. in the rain on Friday afternoon, and set at a jaunty angle on his head was a sailor hat—made of straw.

BAGGED THREE DEER

Six Peterborough men hunting north of Havelock brought back three deer, two bucks and a doe early this week. The party included Rolly Dore, Garnet Graham, Bob Groombridge, Bun Cuthbert, Colin Althouse and his son Lionel. Bob Groombridge who is president of Club Chicoutimi, a young people's group got one of the bucks, which incidentally was the first deer he had ever bagged. Lionel Althouse got the other buck.

FEW TICKETS TO BE HAD

The annual rush is on for football tickets to the Dominion senior championship game in Toronto next Saturday. Local fans keep dropping into sports' stores and to The Examiner asking what are the chances of a couple of ducats. Whether it's Ottawa Roughriders or Hamilton Tigers against Calgary Stampeders at Varsity Stadium next week-end, they want to see it. Chances of tickets are not too bright.

NOVEL EDUCATIONAL IDEA

School children in Sweden attend school six days a week and then have a month's holidays during the skiing season. This interesting fact was given in a report by Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society on a lecture she attended recently in Ottawa. She informed members of the Board that Child Welfare Services in Sweden are entirely financed by the state, and emphasis is placed on the preventative side in eliminating social ills.

TRANSFER SWITCHBOARD

This week the new telephone switchboard at Hastings village was put in use, and the old board is being shipped to Bruce Mines where a disastrous fire almost wiped out the business section last week, including the telephone office.

TO ADDRESS ROTARY

Tim Daly, trainer of the Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey Club, will give a chat on a subject of his own choosing at the Rotary luncheon Monday. Club members are invited to bring any guests that might be interested in sport. Pres. Bill Hamilton reports the attendance in September was only 72.44%, placing Peterborough Club in twenty-fifth place in the district. Twenty members were out to practice for the Glee Club this week.

IAPA MEETING

Plant managers, executives and members of the Peterborough-Lindsay area of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association will meet in the basement of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Lindsay, 7 p.m., Nov. 25. Guest speaker will be C. G. Cameron, for 30 years medical aid officer with the Workmen's Compensation Board, Toronto. His subject will be "What would you do if—?"

SCOUTS COLLECT PAPER

Boy Scouts will scour the city on Wednesday, Nov. 24, to collect scrap paper. The lads will start on the stroke of 6.30 p.m. and it is hoped that every house in Peterborough will be covered. Householders are requested to bundle up their spare papers and magazines and place them on verandahs so they can be picked up without the necessity of knocking and waiting at each door. Half of the funds derived from this source will go to the Scout Packs and the other half will go into a fund being built up to cover the cost of a future headquarters.

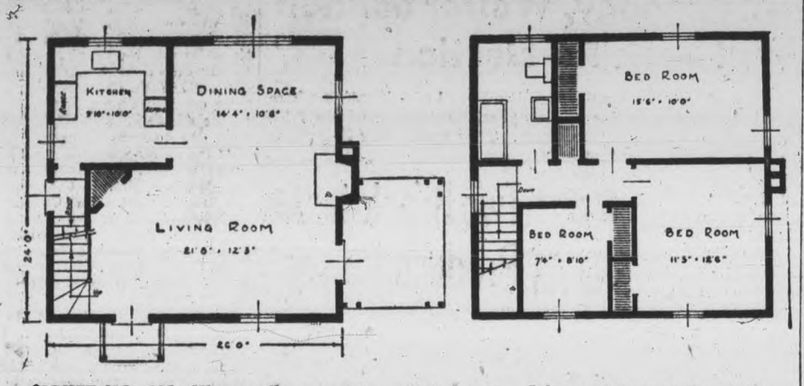
PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT



HOUSE NO. 205—We usually associate "open planning" with modern architecture, yet here is an example with the delicate touch of traditional refinement. Its openness will appeal to many. The whole plan is extremely simple, and refreshingly different. Notice how the fireplace serves as a point of attraction for both the living room and the dining room. A large picture window in the latter room is a feature, since it brings a grand vista of woodland. Naturally the housewife will be quick to appreciate the efficiency of the U-shaped kitchen with its big windows over the sink. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Built-In Bookcases Make Room Look Much Larger

Built-in bookcases housing attractively bound volumes are found with growing frequency in the modern home. As a decorative feature, books are unbeatable for added life and colour.

Today's home decorator is increasingly aware of the effect of attractively bound books and their housing on the physical charm of a room. Not only do they lend a feeling of repose and contentment but their use in shelves of various sizes is an inexpensive means of enlarging the apparent size of developing the tone of any room in the house. Books will be found with growing frequency on a hanging shelf in the kitchen, a built-in space in the basement playroom or in the nursery as well as in their usual places in the library-den, the living room and the bedrooms.

Their possibilities in decoration are unlimited. Book nooks look especially well near a fireplace. Firelight and reading....somehow, each complement the other. A nook near the fireplace makes books ask to be read.

A tall, narrow shelf may be placed at either side of a window with a comfortable window seat between them.

At Home In Any Room

Built-in book nooks are as beautiful as they are simple. They can be placed almost anywhere in the house. Of course, one must use discretion, but odd corners or small spaces extending into the room can be converted into shelves inexpensively. Rounding the upper part of a recessed shelf gives a picturesque, neat effect.

Book nooks are a convenient way of introducing colour. For example, a playroom shelf lacquered in orange on a tan wall, or a living room nook in antique-white on a blue or gray panelling will go a long way in relieving an otherwise monotonous wall space.

Pointers On Design

When planning your house and your book space, figure ten books to the foot and do not allow too much depth. Seven or eight inches is usually adequate. Allow plenty of room for expansion, however, as you will naturally be adding to your library as time goes on. Do not have the shelves too high or too low. If you think the books will be hard to reach up near the ceiling plan to put a small vase or piece of statuary on the top shelf. If they are too low convert the bottom shelve into cupboard space for the children's toys or for storing magazines.

If at all possible, do not enclose books in glass. Books are to be read, not to be reserved.

Old books add flavour to the decorative scheme, but if too badly worn they should be rebound, either by your book-store or yourself. Which ever way you decide on, get a variety of bindings. Have some done in leather, some in buckram, some gaily patterned paper and in shades of red or blue or gold.

A comfortable chair and a lamp call for a book somewhere near them. Arrange as many of these little studies as possible. Try brightening an otherwise gloomy corner with a little coloured lamp, a table with a built-in book stall, a chintz-covered chair.

Paint Brush Economy

It isn't good economy to choose an inferior paint brush, any more than it is good economy to buy inferior paint. A good brush such as the recently developed nylon product lasts much longer, holds more paint, is less likely to leak or splatter, leaves a clean edge and gives a more uniform finish... ...and besides, the bristles don't fall out.

Take care of a good brush between painting sessions by suspending it in linseed oil...with care taken to make sure that the bristles are not bent by touching the bottom of the container.

If the brush is not to be used for a considerable time, it is well to wash it out with a solvent such as turpentine until it is fairly clean. Then give it a good washing with a mild soap solution and warm (not hot) water. Shake out excess water and wrap the bristles in paper so as to retain the original shape of the painting end of the brush.

THE LONGSHOREMEN'S STRIKE, which has paralyzed the port of New York and other ports along the Atlantic seaboard, entered a new phase with the arrival of William Margolis, of the federal mediation and conciliation service, to confer with union heads in New York. Margolis is shown here as he met with other conciliators at the offices of the conciliation service. Left to right are Margolis, Thomas Steutel, another federal peace maker, and Howard Durham, west coast director of the FCS. When the strike affecting 65,000 dock workers became effective a week ago, ships were diverted to Halifax, N.S. Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's association, charged that the Cunard White Star Line is deliberately using the facilities of the port of Halifax and the "threat of Canadian laws" to break the strike. Meanwhile Mr. Margolis predicted that the AFL walkout would continue at least another week.

Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon Speaks At Selwyn

SELWYN, Nov. 20 (ENS). — Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church, Peterborough, spoke to parents on the subject of Education at a meeting in S.S. No. 9 Smith School, on Wednesday. The teacher, Miss Sheila Wilson arranged this evening to have parents and others interested in the progress of the school children to see the display of work Grades 1 to 8 had done since the opening of school in September.

Dr. Gordon was introduced by Pauline Fitzgerald. He spoke on modern education, both in the school room and at home. He said the parents of today's children must realize that education now is a different thing than it was in the past. Guidance received in the home plays a big part in progress in later years.

"The home is the greatest institution in the world," said Dr. Gordon, "and let us do all we can to understand our children and the changing times and ways of living."

"Never before were there so many opportunities for young people to achieve success as there is today.

The speaker was thanked by Miss Wilson.

Rev. D. P. Morris led in community singing, and Grace Tully was chairman for a short program presented by the pupils.

Coe Hill Gets Hydro Power

COE HILL, Nov. 20.—(ENS).—"At least we've got the power for them to cut off," seems to be the attitude of residents of this Hastings Couny village. Villagers have just had their first experience with lighting by electricity—and with that thrill have shared the daily hydro blackouts with other parts of the province.

It's a matter of getting used to having it and not having it, all at the same time.

Clarke Rollins, reeve of Wollaston Township, has been one of the main advocates behind the move to install electrical power. He has been working for it since becoming reeve a year ago, and for some time previous to that.

Because Coe Hill is not an incorporated village, street lights have not been installed. A Council meeting will be necessary to make that decision.

Meanwhile residences and business premises are enjoying the benefits of electrical power—for all but two hours a day, that is.

Between 8-9 a.m. and again between 3-4 p.m., the switch is thrown.

Bernard Nevin Funeral Friday

Funeral of the late Bernard Nevin was held from the Anglesey Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral Friday morning for Solemn Requiem Mass. Rev. V. G. McFadden was celebrant assisted by Rev. Ray Garvey and Rev. G. Gaughan. Rev. P. P. Butler was in the sanctuary and said the graveside prayers.

Pall-bearers were Frank Hickey, Walter Lorenz, Thos. Pearson, James Dunn, Fred Overend, and J. R. Corkery. Burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Robber Gets 10 Years

HULL, Que., Nov. 20.—(CP).—Alide Normand, 25, of Hull, was sentenced to 10 years in penitentiary for armed robbery Friday by Mr. Justice Buranleau at the Hull assizes and to shorter, concurrent terms on several other charges including escaping from jail and firing at a peace officer.

Urge Mission Support

SELWYN, Nov. 20 (ENS). — Mrs. Reg. Bell was hostess to the W.A. of the United Church. Topic and scripture were given by Mrs. George McIlmoyl and Mrs. Melville Crapp.

Rev. D. P. Morris spoke on Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the church. He stressed helping mission. A quilting was held in the church hall, and a pot-luck dinner enjoyed. Mrs. Donald McConkey invited the ladies to her home for the December meeting.

Salary Increases $200 Given School Teachers

KITCHENER, Nov. 20 (CP). — Salary increases totalling $30,000 to the teaching staff and principals were approved on Thursday night at a meeting of the Kitchener Public School. The raises amount to $200 across the board to 131 teachers and principals, and bring the salary total to approximately $300,000.

A $200 increase also went to members of the maintenance and caretaking staffs of the school system.

Efforts of the board to have the penny bank system revived for pupils of the province have failed, so a "pupil banking system" for children of the Kitchener Public Schools was established last night. Arrangements to set up the thrift plan in the schools have been made with a Kitchener trust company.

Charge Police Aid

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20.—(CP). —James Thompson Friday charged RCMP with helping two Great Lakes shipping companies in a move to break the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) strike. The CSU vice-president said in an address at University of British Columbia that the RCMP led "scab seamen" through picket lines whenever the shipping companies needed crews.

Drew Visits Carleton County Council Meet

OTAWA, Nov. 20 — (CP). — George Drew, National Progressive Conservative Leader, Friday paid a brief visit to the Carleton County Council. It was the first time that a national political leader had visited the council chamber while the council was in session. He said in an informal talk that municipal bodies such as county councils were "the very cradles of democracy."

"I have long held a very firm belief in the importance of the county councils, for it is at the municipal level that we get the most direct and effective administration of public affairs."

Abortionists Jailed

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP).—Two doctors, one of them a Park Avenue specialist, were sentenced to prison terms Friday on manslaughter charges in the abortion death of Jane Ward, 22, young heiress to a baking fortune. Dr. Paul Singer, 43, of Jersey City, N.J., was sentenced to 2½ years to five years in prison. Dr. Alejandro Ovalle, 48-year-old Chilean, was sentenced to one year. A third doctor, Dr. Oswald Glasberg, 49, of New York, also convicted of manslaughter in the case, committed suicide in his prison cell last July.

Children Attend "Fair"

Twenty-seven members of the Nettie McKenzie Mission Band of Knox Church were guests at All Saints' Missionary Fair. The Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite welcomed the boys and girls and opened the meeting with prayer.

Moving pictures, one of the Eskimo and his daily life and the Children of Japan were presented

At booths displaying articles made by Eskimos, Japanese, Chinese and Indians, the boys and girls heard interesting stories of the customs in other lands as told by a missionary from Japan and others in charge of the booths. A Japanese post war edition of the New Testament in an attractively colored cover created much interest. Several versions of the Bible were on display.

The members were reminded of the Autumn thankoffering meeting to be held Sunday afternoon, Nov. 28, the offering to go to the School of Child Study in Chengtu, and to the Union Normal School, Canton, China.

Johnston-Woods

APSLEY, Nov. 20.—(ENS). — Quaint St. Stephens Anglican church at Chandos was the scene of a pretty wedding Tuesday when Donna Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Woods, became the bride of Stanley Llewellyn Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnston, all of Chandos.

The bride wore a white satin gown with long embroidered net veil. Her bouquet was of white 'mums with ribbon streamers. Mr. Woods gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. George Rayment (nee Joan Woods) was bridesmaid. She wore shell pink silk jersey with white shoulder length veil. Mr. Rayment was groomsman.

The Rev. C. A. G. Spence performed the ceremony and Mr. D. Hester played wedding music.

A reception was held at the bride's home after the ceremony.

Lowery-Mebaun

MARMORA, Nov. 20 (ENS)—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church manse, Marmora, when Della Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCann of Marmora township became the bride of John Arthur Lowery, son of Mrs. Annie Lowery of Marmora. The Rev. George D. Young officiated. The bride was attired in a gown of white slipper satin and lace trimmed with pearls. Her finger tip veil of tulle was caught to a headdress of orange blossoms. She carried red roses and bouvardia.

Miss Alice McCann, as bridesmaid, was frocked in blue brocaded satin with matching readdress and gloves. She carried a nosegay of baby mums and roses. Mr. Leslie Lowery, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowery will live in Marmora.

Zita O'Brien is Bride of Robert E. Crowley Today

Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church was the scene of a lovely wedding this morning as Zita Alice O'Brien became the bride of Robert Edward Crowley, with Rev. Gerard Sullivan, cousin of the bride, officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Audrey L. O'Brien and the late Michael James O'Brien, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Crowley of Otonabee.

Bouquets of pink and white 'mums were on the altar table and Mr. J. Armstrong played the wedding music. Mrs. D. Campanaro sang Rosewig's "Ave Maria" and several hymns during the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Roy O'Brien. Her gown was of embossed satin with self covered buttons fastening the bodice and long sleeves coming to points over the hands. The full skirt was caught up in front with tiny satin bows showing tiered lace flounce and extended in a slight train at the black. She wore a train of silk net with the train embroidered with wedding bells, caught to a breaded tiara and she carried Bettertime roses.

Attendants were the bride's sister, Mrs. M. Pellant as matron of honor, Miss Marie Kieran and Miss Beverly Hopcroft, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids. They wore frock of brocaded satin and net in turquoise, blue and orchid shades, styled with long torso bodice, full skirt and puff sleeves. Each wore a matching Queen Anne headdress with shoulder veil and white gloves. The matron of honor carried a bouquet of yellow roses and the bridesmaids had old-fashioned nosegays of roses tied with orchid and blue bows.

Mr. Patrick Farley was the groomsman and ushers were Vernon O'Brien and Richard Crowley, brother of the bride and groom.

At the reception held in Club Aragon the bride's mother was receiving gowned in loganberry crepe with black accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother who assisted was attired in grey with black accessories and corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowley left later on a motor trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls and on return will live on Romaine St. The bride travelled in a suit of mulberry gabardine with black accessories and topcoat and wore a corsage of red roses.

Art Association Hears of Berkshire Festival

Miss Fern Rahmel brought recorded music and a word picture of the annual Berkshire Musical Festival to the Women's Art Association meeting Friday afternoon. Held in the shed that has been built for the purpose on the beautiful Tanglewood estate, the Festival is attended throughout the season by 6,000 music lovers who find seats under cover and about 8,000 who are admitted to the grounds. The latter bring their own seats, or stand and lie on the grass, and sometimes bring bed rolls. Many of them bring a picnic lunch which may look like an elaborate dinner, when the darkie manservant has spread it out.

Serge Koussevitzkey conducts the Boston Symphony orchestra in a series of concerts given Thursday, Saturday and Sunday and there is an extra performance Tuesday evening. Miss Rahmel advised going to the Festival before the widely celebrated conductor gives up this work, as his performance is as wonderful as the music. Visitors are only allowed to the Saturday morning rehearsals but these can be just as enthralling as the actual concert, especially when one gets nearer the conductor and can hear him talking to the musicians.

The Berkshire festival arose from activities of women Mrs. Rahmel said and told of the first concert held in a horse show ring, and several succeeding in a tent where the Boston Symphony first played. A terrific storm one night completely disrupted the performance and Koussevitzkey said he would not play again unless a roof was provided. That very night $20,000 was raised for what is now known as the shed and the "Tanglewood" estate was given to the orchestra by its very wealthy owner, Mrs. Hepburn. Though open on three sides and shaped like a piece of pie, the shed is acoustically perfect from every point and the music is heard well within a radius of 500 feet outside. Three other buildings nearby are known as the barns. The name "Tanglewood" comes from "Tanglewood Tales" written by Nathaniel Hawthorne while living in a cottage on this estate.

Students commence studying under the direction of the famous conductor the first week in July each year and concerts by the advanced students may be attended by Koussevitzkey. "You have no idea what this means to the young musician or composer" Miss Rahmel said.

The countryside around Tanglewood and nearby Pittsfield, a town of more than 50,000 people, is geared to please the visitors from all parts of the world during the summer season. There are many attractions for those keen on music and the average visitor attends two musical events a day. In addition there are exhibits to view and among the widely known spots is "Jacob's Pillow," another barn, which offers a wonderful program of dancing.

From her album of recordings of the Festival music Miss Rahmel played several parts to illustrate her description of the concerts.

Pictures of the conductor and his orchstra, the shed, crowds on the grounds and scenes from the Tanglewood estate also helped to clarify members' idea of the Festival, to which Miss Rahmel has already made two trips.

Several announcements of interest to the members were made by Mrs. N. D. Seaton, president. The Christmas musical will be held on Monday, December 6 and each member may bring a guest. The program will be given by the Music Study Club and refreshments served by the Arts and Crafts group. Four large Christmas boxes were reported sent overseas by Mrs. L. Brooks and collections for this purpose will continue to be taken at each meeting. An exhibition by the Peterborough Group of painters will be in the public library commencing Sunday.

CGIT Doings

GEORGE ST. CHURCH GROUP

Theme of the worship "Father caring for growing things" was taken by Carol McKenzie, Shirley Head, Joyce Copp and Arlene Jarvis. Balance of the meeting was taken up with discussion of the rummage sale being held in the Sunday School hall this Saturday.

TRINITY CHURCH GROUP

The CGIT hymn opened the meeting. Intermediate girls enjoyed a box of fudge, a gift from Mrs. S. Johnston in appreciation for the cards made for the primary Sunday School class. Crafts were displayed and the girls decided to make brooches and belts. Miss Anna Edmondson led the study and worship under the topic "What is worship?" Plans were begun for the vesper service to be held December 12 in Trinity church. Games led by Joan White closed the meeting. Marie Woodgate reported.

Young Mother Requires Help From Her Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: Before our little daughter was born three months ago, my husband and I were very happy. Now I am very much peeved with him because I expected him to give me a hand with my work and he refuses to do it. I tell him it is a father's as well as a mother's job to rear the children, and I would like him to change the baby's diaper or heat the baby's bottle while I am busy doing other things. Also, I think he should help with the wash on Saturday mornings, but he just won't do it.

Dorothy Dix

He tells me he works harder in his five days than I do in all my seven. This may be true, but I am worn out keeping my house clean, doing the cooking and giving my baby all the necessary attention.

What do you think about it?

A YOUNG MOTHER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly nobody outside of the chain gang has to work so hard and so incessantly as the young mother, for hers is the labor that never is done. Unless she is able to hire servants—and good cooks and nurses are as scarce as hens' teeth these days—her job is a perpetual motion one in which she is always cooking and washing and baby-tending, night and day, and there is no rest for the weary.

Few Understanding Husbands

Such being the case, it would sem that a loving husband would help with the housework and the baby-tending and try to save his overworked wife a few million steps every day. But, alas, such is seldom the case. Only husbands who have embryonic angel wings sprouting on their shoulders realize what slaves mothers with young children are and how sorely they need help in rearing their youngsters.

Of course, when Friend Husband comes home from work he is tired too. He also has been on a nervous strain all day and he would like to slump down on the couch and take it easy until dinner is ready. More than that, he feels that he is being persecuted if he has to help with his wife's work as well as do his own.

All of which is true. The husband does need his rest, but whether he is entitled to it or not depends upon whether his wife is a big, strong, healthy woman or a frail little bundle of nerves. The able-bodied woman should shoulder her own part of the domestic load, but the husband of the delicate woman should love her enough to pinch-hit for her if necessary.

Before every girl marries she should go and spend a week with her married sister and see her wrestle with the cooking stove and the wash tub and the baby problem and keeping the house clean, and then she will know if she has the physical stamina to tackle the job. Or else she had better pick out for her husband a man who loves to cook and change the baby.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 29 years of age. Have been going steady for a year and a half with a boy who is five years my junior. He says that some day he will marry me, but he keeps putting it off with an excuse, and waiting for him is getting me down.

Should I break off with him and seek a new acquaintance.—RUTH.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly should You are wasting your time on this lad. The man who courts and courts but never pops the question has no serious intentions. He just enjoys being with a nice girl who is good company and whose mother is a crackerjack cook, and he lets matters drift until some day you will get an invitation to his wedding to another girl.

In this case the cards are all against you. Your dilatory Romeo is five years your junior and you are 29 years old with no time to waste. So my advice to you is to face the fact that there is no use in waiting for him any longer. Break off with him and seek a new boy friend who is older than you are and who is ready to marry and settle down.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a high school girl and I like a certain boy very much, but he and I look so much alike that we might be taken for brother and sister. We have the same colored hair and eyes. He is just a little taller than I am. We are in the same grade at school and are the same age. We like the same games and to go to the same places.

Do you think I could be right in believing that he is meant for me?—CURIOUS.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Fiddlesticks! There is no meaning to your chance resemblance except that you are two good-looking blonde kids. Nobody is destined to marry someone who has been earmarked for him or her. Propinquity and chance are the great matchmakers.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, November 21

Sunday's horoscope holds augury of particular success and pleasure in connection with advancement, expanding plans and aspirations, with promotion, recognition for honest work and sound ambitions; also tokens of appreciation and favor from those in influential positions. All such things move to high goals in a career, but even this could be negatived or withheld by social errors, mistaken judgment, or by suspicion and jealousy. Keep watchful of social, romantic and cultural moods and temperament.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are urged to keep alert to the social, romantic and personal angles of any ambitious plans or projects, since very ambitious developments in business, professional, financial or property interests could be complicated by some false gesture, social error or other blunder. The prospects are excellent for advancement, preferment and tokens of esteem, but suspicion, jealousy, arrogance could undermine fondest hopes.

A child born on this day is richly endowed with talents and ambition for reaching high goals and recognition, but a disposition toward suspicion, enmity, arrogance or false pride could nullify its position and personal happiness.

For Monday, November 22

Monday's astrological forecast encourages the honest and forthright approach to all ambitions projects and desires, where stakes are high and of major long-range significance. Honest efforts, practical techniques and routines could be enhanced by a proper show of diplomacy, tact and consideration of undercover values and contacts. A legitimate "pull-ing of strings" in the right places could beget most potent, reassuring and subtle satisfactions. Ideals and dreams might bring practical and enduring reality into business as well as personal affiliations.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are in line for recognition, advancement and preference from those in high place, providing such be based on honest effort, forthright and practical attempts to secure important position or honors. Tact, finesse, diplomacy, backed by sound purpose and high aspiration, could give exceptional pleasure and gratification of a subtle and possible mystical quality. Ideals and romantic dreams could "come true" under astute manipulation of high principles.

A child born on this day possesses a sensitive, refined and idealistic nature, in which finer forces and faculties may bring exceptional rewards and emoluments. Intuitions and deep insights may be safe guides even in workable dreams or aspirations.

Artists' Recital Presented By Trinity CGIT

Trinity CGIT Girls and their leaders, Miss Catherine Hodgens and Miss Anna Edmondson, presented Miss Mignon Mayneord, concert whistler, in recital Friday evening in the church hall. This talented Peterborough artist, has been widely mentioned after her brilliant guest performances. She has contributed greatly to the fact that whistling as an art ranks high in comparison with other musical arts, and she is a real challenge to the bird kingdom. Watchers are amazed that they can scarcely see her mouth move as she stands quietly on the stage with poise and dignity and produces her artistic rendition of classic songs. Her music is arranged with symbols for each bird figure defined above each bar of music, and Mrs. Mildred Hubbell accompanies her on the piano.

Mrs. Hubbell also performed as an artist in her own right before the audience that filled every available seat, and Miss Jean Fairbairn, elocutionist, introduced gaiety with her amusing readings. Miss Joan White, president of CGIT, introduced the artists and the delightful program ran from one number to the next without further announcement.

Miss Mayneord opened with clever demonstrations of some of the 40 bird calls and the five varieties of chirps which she knows. "Le Secrete" by Gautier and "The Bluebird" by Krumma were her first two solos followed during the evening by "Liebesfreud' by Fritz Kreisler, "Thine Alone" by Victor Herbert, "Sereneta" by Mouzkouski, "Chinese Lullaby" by Robert Hood Bower, and finally the haunting notes of "White Cliffs of Dover" as a fitting climax.

Skill on the piano was displayed by Mrs. Hubbell in three groups of selections. She began with the brilliant "Valse Chromatique" by Godard, a popular arrangement of the English Morris dance tune "Country Gardens" by Percy Grainger, a descriptive sketch 'On the Highway" by W. O. Forsyth, "Papillon" by Greig, the beautiful "Une Nuit Atoilee" by Sidney Smith, and in conclusion at fanciful little composition "Polly" by J. S. Zamecnik.

Miss Jean Fairbairn had everyone in gales of laughter with "Saunders McGlashan's Courtship" troubles, a talkative, tearful "Maisie at the Movies" and a most realistic performance of "Mrs. Temple (with the nerves) visits the dentist." She ended her second group with Edgar A. Guest's interpretation of "Friendship."

Eighteen CGIT girls, under direction of Mrs. D. Bruce Gordon with Miss Mildred McIntyre as accompanist, contributed three choruses. A two part arrangement of the Swiss "Walking Song," and of the gay sea shanty song "Away to Rio" were included and a three part arrangement by Gustar Klumm 'Lullaby of the Bells.'

First sopranos were Marion Eagleton, Anne Gordon, Carolyn Horton, Marie Woodgate, Barbara Huffman, Helen Lancaster and Beverley Hutton. Second sopranos, Joan White, Betty Krough, Joan Hastie, Marlenne Doxsee, Beth Davidson; contraltos, Joan Krough, Dorothy and Barbara Woodcock, Joan Watson, Margaret Smith and Joan Henry.

Miss Dorothy Robbins attended the door.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Paper Drive

Owing to circumstances beyond control, the organization was not able to secure the proposed printed matter for distribution by the Cubs on Monday. That part of the plan has been called off.

Drive Districts

As near as possible, all districts will be the same as last year. The drive will start at 6.30 sharp. Teams are asked to be out and not to keep the transport drivers waiting.

Truck Team

All teams have been requested to stay with their trucks, to help in the unloading at the station. Special men will be in the freight cars to receive the paper.

Be Tidy and Careful

With the Governor General in Peterborough on Thursday, it has been stressed that the good name of the city should be upheld.

Scouters Council

Where oh where are those nice leaders. Yes, we missed you all at the last Scouters Council but just ask that you do your best to put a large red ring around January 12 as a reminder of a date you have then.

Headquarters Dedicated

A pleasing ceremony was held on Dufferin Street during the past week when Commissioner E. J. Wolff oficially opened the All Saints Rover Den. Group Chaplain Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite dedicated the building to Rover Service; Peter LaBranche represented the Local Association and extended good wishes from that organization to the New Crew. Also present was Mr. Johnson Chairman of All Saints Group Committee. Following the ceremony refreshments were served.

Holy Eucharist Sunday morning all members of the All Saint's Rover Crew assembled at All Saint's Church to attend divine service after which a breakfast was held in the Parish Hall at which Scouter P. Dominik and G. Groombridge spoke to the boys on Rovering and MY Promise.

At St. John's we were happy to welcome a new Cub to the Pack in Peter Mulcahy of England. Mr. Mulcahy was also present for the evening speaking to the boys at the Red Flower.

St Paul's

Twenty-one members of the Pack met on the Jungle Trail last meeting bringing with them three New Chums in Donald Barry, Kenneth Sloan and Douglas Hemphill. The theme of the evening was Moving pictures of Educational Value from George St. United Church the Registration cards were distributed and new of the coming paper drive given out. Sixer Alex Eastwood went on record by thanking George Street Church for the entertainment.

Trinity

The Parade Circle was made up of some 30 members ready with their full attention as Bob Cowling and Peter Ballantyne were made full members of the World Wide Brotherhood of Scouts through the Investiture ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Ballantyne and Mrs. Cowling were present to witness their Sons promises. Mr. Frank Jobbitt and Mr. H. H. Dinsdale proudly presented their sons, Frank Jobbitt Jr. and Sidney Dinsdale with their First Stars, Mrs. Dinsdale being an interested spectator. Games and tests filled the balance of the program with Messrs. Lakefield Wants 3 Postal Boxes

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 19 (ENS).—The new president, C. J. Davis, presided for the Chamber of Commerce meeting held in the Council Chamber. Dan Hendren was appointed convener of publicity, and Miss Grace Yonge was named as convener of membership. J. McKerchar, chairman of the National Affairs Committee reported that all the maps and information regarding the planned pick-up postal service had been forwarded to Ottawa, and all that could be done now was to await Ottawa's decision. The Chamber of Commerce is working to have three pick-up post boxes in the village.

Bulletin editor Don Hendren reported the first bulletins had been printed. A. T. Buchanan, civic improvement chairman, said that the bulletin board had been put up in Harold Hamblin's store. This bulletin board is for the posting of all notices of public interest.

There was some discusion of the park question and the Chamber of Commerce recommended to Council that the park question be placed on the agenda for the forthcoming ratepayers' meeting.

The next general meeting, which will be a dinner meeting, will be held in January.

FREE LEGAL AID

LONDON, Eng.—The Government promised to give free or cheap legal service to Britons of modest means. Details of the scheme were disclosed with publication of a Legal Aid and Advice Bill. It is estimated the plan would cost the state about £2,-200,000 a year at present.

400 Attend Party Honoring Newlyweds

BONARLAW, Nov. 19 (ENS)..—On Monday more than 400 friends and relatives gathered in the Orange Hall, Springbrook, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tucker, who were married November 1. A splendid program was enjoyed with Frank Cosly as chairman. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker were called to the platform. A very appropriate address was read by Miss Lois Mason, who presented them with a breakfast suite. Mr. Tucker thanked all present for their kind hospitality and invited all to visit them in their new home in Stirling. Mrs. Tucker then thanked all present for arranging such a happy occasion. Lunch was served and dancing was enjoyed to music of an orchestra, with Harold Johnson as floor manager. Guests were present from Hoards Station, Havelock, English Line, Stirling, Campbellford, Marmora and Belleville.

Honor Memory Of Isaac Watts

Isaac Watts' bicentennial is being observed this month in many churches throughout the world especially those holding the Presbyterian form of government. Isaac Watts was a great hymn writer born in England in July 1674 and dying on November 25, 1748.

Matthew Arnold eminent English essayist and critic has called the hymn written by Watts, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" the greatest hymn in the English language. Since this year marks the bicentennial of Watts' death the Hymn Society of America have called it Watts' year.

Watts was a strong Calvinist and a great Free Church leader.

Psalms were only sung in the Presbyterian Churches until Watts created a change. But in his time he wrote more than 600 hymns on a wide variety of subjects from Christmas hymns to Easter Song and a wide selection on Christian life.

Watts early writings were hymns that were a paraphrase of Scripture and in these possibly the best known is "O God Our Help in Ages Past".

Sunday evening in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church a special Isaac Watts comemmoration service is being held.

Capt. P. Sargent Speaks At Marmora

MARMORA, Nov. 19—(ENS).—Capt. Philip Sargent of the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment at Peterborough, was guest speaker at Marmora District Chamber of Commerce.

Introduced by H. W. Sabine, the speaker dealt with radar, tracing its history.

He described the use of radar in the last war and the improved "beam radar" that is being used today, bringing out its physical characteristics and illustrating points with equipment which he had brought with him.

He referred to civilian uses to which radar is now put and touched upon its possibilities for the future. He was extended a vote of thanks by C. R. Whittemore of Deloro.

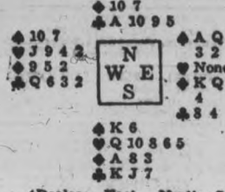
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WHO HAS THE LENGTH?

IN A QUESTION of finessing against one defender or the other, when able to essay either direction, your problem is often reduced to a simple fundamental. It is the matter of which defender is more likely to have length in the crucial suit. Part of the answer is indicated if one opponent had shown length in other suits than the one under consideration.



(Dealer: East. North - South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	Dbl
2 ♦	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥
4 ♠	5 ♥

Having lost the opening trick on the spade 10 lead to the A and having won the second when the diamond K came to his A, South saw that he was sure to drop a diamond trick. He therefore could not afford to lose any in clubs and hearts. What would be the best way to play those suits? Begin with trumps, of course. But what then is the best way to play the hearts?

South gave himself a ready answer. He had learned from a book that, if you have the three top honors, you should take the first trick in the hand which has two of the three. So he led the heart 5 to the A. When East discarded a diamond on that, he realized he was sunk. There was now no way to shut out the heart J.

In this situation, South's only risk of losing a heart rested in the chance that all four missing trumps were in one hand. East's single-handed bidding of two suits to the level of four had made it virtually certain East had eleven cards in them, so could not possibly hold four hearts. But West might. So South should have taken the first heart with the single honor in his own hand. When East showed out, the finesses against West would have been marked.

If South had followed trump success by playing clubs also to protect himself against West, he would have made his contract.

Any book that recommends formulae never to be varied in the light of special evidence is a pretty sorry publication.

1—Births

WARNE—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Warne Jr. (nee Jean Morrow) are happy to announce the birth of a daughter at Civic Hospital, November 18, 1948.

6—In Memoriams

BAIRD—In loving memory of our dear Billie who passed away six years ago today, November 19.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget,
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to fight it
And courage to bear the blow.
But what it meant to lose you, son,
No one will ever know.
—Sadly missed by Mother, Daddy, sisters and brothers.

CURTIS—In loving memory of our father, Arthur Curtis, who passed away a year ago today.
Gone is the face we love so dear,
Silent is the voice we love to hear,
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach;
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.
—Ever remembered by Daughter and Son-in-Law.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the Women's Association of Trinity United Church, Apsley, also the Women's Institute, Apsley, and all friends for books, letters, cards, etc. I received while a patient in Toronto General Hospital. Mrs. Jaseph Tucker, Apsley.

Support Drive To Get Out Vote

Full support of the Chamber of Commerce has been promised to the Junior Chamber in its coming Get-Out-The-Vote Campaign for the municipal election.

This was announced at the monthly meeting of the chamber's board of directors, held earlier this week. A financial grant to help in this effort was also passed.

James Fraser, secretary manager, reported that success of chamber's recent meeting to discuss deer preserve and Peterborough's game and fish matters in general was sufficiently encouraging to plan future meetings with Department of Game and Fish and Resort Operators for creation of breeding areas in local lakes.

Reporting on the deplorable condition of Wolfe St. adjacent to the CPR station, the manager said that on contacting the CPR he had been advised that a contractor had been arranged for and that the potholes would be filled up before the Governor-General's visit next week.

A report from the Governor-General's decoration committee stated that excellent progress had been made, and that the city's streets would be well decorated for the occasion. Letters had been sent to downtown merchants and to all householders on the official route asking them to augment the city's decorations. Personal calls will be made to all industries on the route asking them to decorate.

Wilson M. Gemmell, F. J. Overend and J. M. Fraser were delegated to represent the Chamber of Commerce at the various panels of the University of Toronto's School of Social Work sessions held this week.

The secretary was instructed to write to the Hon. Harold Scott, expressing the appreciation of the Chamber of Commerce for the excellent work done by the Provincial Government on the roadside parks on Highway 28 near Haultain and at Eel's Creek.

Married DP Couples Found 'Satisfactory'

OTTAWA, Nov. 20 — (CP) — For the last six months the Dominion Government has been bringing married couples to Canada from European displaced persons camps to work as domestic servants, a Labor Department official said Friday. "In most cases" these DPs have proved satisfactory.

Commenting on a Montreal dispatch that the housing situation might put a crimp in this plan, the spokesman said placements were made only where housing was provided by the employer.

Inasmuch as "it is not as easy to place two people as it is to place one" there has been a certain amount of difficulty, but the official could see no reason to believe this difficulty might eventually mean calling off the plan.

Cleminger, C. Tandy; District Master, V. Graham of Wellman's Corners LOL, took the chair for the election of officers. Visiting brethren were present from Springbrook LOL 442 and Nickle LOL 285.

Artistic Individuality

MONTREAL (CP)— "The artist is an individual and always will be," Sir Osbert Sitwell, British poet, critic and novelist and here during an interview. The tendency in today's world "for us to be made into ants; the attempt to have everything standardardized" is not congenial to the production of good art, he said.

Prime Ministers Very Ordinary Elevator Operator Has Found

By WILLIAM WILSON

OTTAWA, Nov. 20 (CP).—If you watch enough Prime Ministers come and go, they finally become just like everyone else:

At least that's the way Joe Leseque feels. Joe had watched them all since Sir Robert Borden occupied the suite of rooms on the second floor of the East Block—the rooms permanently reserved for the King's first minister.

Philosopher as well as civil servant, Joe is the 62-year-old Public Works' Department employee who runs the Privy Council elevator.

Joe—as he is called by the Cabinet—has a brief word to say about each Prime Minister he has known.

Sir Robert Borden

"He was a nice man," recalls Joe. "I wouldn't say anything against old Borden."

There are only a handful of persons in the Capital's Prime Minister of the First World War as well as Joe. He took him up and down, into and from his office every day from 1916 onward.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen

Arthur Meighen took over from Sir Robert in 1919 and returned to "Meighen was a jollifier," he the East Block briefly in 1926, was, said Joe with a smile. "He'd come and he'd say: 'Joe, what're you looking so grumpy about these days?'"

Former Viscount Bennett

R. B. Bennett was Prime Minister from 1930-1935, Joe recalls.

"Bennett was the man to remember his staff," Joe said, simply. "He never forgot anybody."

Mackenzie King.

Joe probably knows more about former Prime Minister Mackenzie King than a lot of persons, but he isn't saying too much.

"King was fine, but it was the people Mr. King believed in—he really thought about the people, not his staff."

And Then St. Laurent

When Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent stepped out of his car, on his first trip back from Government House after he had been sworn in as Prime Minister, a youthful secretary stepped quickly to the curb to congratulate his chief.

Then the Prime Minister entered the side door of East Block—the Privy Council and Prime Minister's door.

The Prime Minister smiled. "Merci, Joe," he said. And then he disappeared up the elevator to his office.

Ferguson Funeral Widely Attended

Many floral tributes and a large gathering marked the funeral service of the late Walter Stewart Ferguson 42, of 120 Hunter Street East, on Friday afternoon from his late residence. The service was conducted by Rev. A. M. Partridge of Mark Street United Church, and the pallbearers were J. Reid, C. and D. Foster, D. Howell, E. Black and F. Moore. A Masonic graveside service was conducted and burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Mr. Ferguson, owner of the Ferguson Coach Lines, had been in ill-health for some time but his death on Wednesday was quite unexpected. He was born in Temperanceville, Ont., son of the Rev. J. S. Ferguson and Lottie Hetherington. He was educated in Baltimore and lived also in Carleton Place and Pickering. He operated a bus line from Pickering for some years and came from there to operate the present bus line service from Peterborough to Bancroft which is still a successful operation.

He was an active and popular member of the Peterborough Lions Club and an ardent horse fancier. He kept many hackneys and ponies for show purposes. His animals won many ribbons at shows in Eastern and Central Ontario. He was a member of the Corinthian Lodge 101, A.F. and A.M. and a very active member of Mark Street United Church.

Smith WCTU Meet In Gilmour Church

The regular meeting of the Smith and Lakefield WCTU was held in Gilmour Baptist Church on Tuesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. J. Gordon Mann presiding.

Mrs. Albert Armstrong, who has been secretary for some years tendered her resignation, as she is leaving the community to take up residence in Peterborough. Mrs. R. T. Pettersone of Bridgenorth was appointed to take her place.

Mrs. Joseph Mann and Mrs. Jas. Young sang a duet.

The special speaker was Mrs. Gordon Adams, president of Peterborough WCTU. She gave a report of National and Provincial conventions, which were held in Toronto and London.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

Rev. Morris, with Mrs. Clayton Telford at the piano, led in community singing while the Gilmour ladies prepared and served a delicious lunch.

Watery Sovereignty

WELLINGTON, N.Z. —(CP)— Prime Minister Walter Nash claims that probably no sovereign power in the world has a greater length of sovereignty from north to south than New Zealand. Mr. Nash said that New Zealand extended from the equator to the South Pole, "but" he added, "it is mostly water."

Mrs. Spencer Funeral Held On Thursday

Funeral of the late Rose Carroll Spencer was held at the Comstock Funeral Home on Thursday with the Rev. C. C. Boyd, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church conducting the service. Pallbearers were Basil Wilson, Anthony Cummings, Al. Huehn, Jas. McNaughton, all of Toronto, Melville Moore, Oshawa and Ed. Johnston, Peterborough.

The late Mrs. Spencer was born in Arlington, Mass., 78 years ago, a daughter of the late James M. Spencer and Jane McNutt. She moved to Peterborough seven years ago from Portland, Oregon to live with her daughter, Mrs. Helen Emmerson at the Grand Hotel. She was a quiet, kindly woman who made a host of friends during her short time in the city.

Her husband who was a shoe merchant in Edmonton, Alta., died there 32 years ago.

Surviving are one daughter and one son, Mrs. Helen Emerson, Peterborough, and Ralph Spencer, Portland, Oregon. Two sisters and two brothers also survive. Mrs. Rilla McKim, Victoria, BC, Mrs. Gertrude Fortin, and Frank Carroll, both of Summerville, Mass., and Everett Carroll, Londonderry, NS.

Burial was at Union Cemtery, Port Hope.

Marmora News

James Bell of Marmora Township is erecting a new residence on Madoc Street.

Dr. H. Crawford of Brighton renewed acquaintances here on Thursday.

On Thursday, November 11, Mrs. Alexander Anderson, a former highly esteemed resident of Marmora, celebrated her 94th birthday with her daughter in North Dakota. Mrs. Anderson retains a deep interest in Marmora.

Due to the former's ill-health, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Haacke of Deloro mave moved to Toronto, Mr. Haack having been ordered a year's rest by his physician.

LAC Tom Brady of the RCAF has been transferred to Torbay, Newfoundland, on temporary duty.

Mrs. W. J. Pack has sold her farm in Marmora Township to Arthur Fleming of Madoc Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Gawley and children, who have lived in part of Charles Archer's residence for some time, have moved into part of Mrs. J. Reardon's house.

Mrs. J. M. Archer, formerly of Cookstown, has moved into part of the residence of Charles Archer.

Strayed, Not Stolen

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—Police investigating the theft of a milk bottle and 34 cents found that the money and empty bottle had been moved to the back door of a home by the landlady, who insisted that was the place for a tenant to put them.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Canadian Federation of Agriculture Engages Economist For Its National Office and Work... Dundas County Farmers Co-operate to Help J. W. Fawcett Rebuild Holstein Herd... J. T. Tully Third Prize Winner at Royal.

Dr. E. C. Hope, agricultural economist, has been appointed economist to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

This information from Ottawa Friday gives reality to farm wishes as they have been expressed in the last few years with increasing rural awareness of a lack of essential facts relating to the agricultural economy of this country.

Dr. Hope is a native of British Columbia and former professor of agricultural economics and farm management at the University of Saskatchewan. For the last four years he has been economist at headquarters of the Progressive Conservative party in Ottawa. He owns and operates a farm outside the capital.

Farm leaders in Ontario have been advocating the engagement of an economist for their national office in Ottawa, and as the need became clearer they were generally supported by Federation members.

When the Royal Milk Commission took up its enquiry in Ontario, dairy farmers found themselves handicapped by lack of essential and authentic information. They employed temporary help to prepare their case, but that was a hasty expedient which could not be expected to assemble the fulness of fact the dairy industry required and deserved.

Federation directors have also been urging the provincial department to give more importance to economics in the studies at Ontario Agricultural College. Hon. T. L. Kennedy has shown his responsiveness to the growing demand throughout the counties by appointing Dr. H. L. Patterson to the Department for special work as director in costs and economics of farming.

Dr. Patterson is coming to the Norwood short course in December to discuss costs in farm business. Agricultural representative Frank C. Paterson is emphasizing the importance of those four days for the young farmers of East Peterborough and is hoping to see at least 50 of them in daily attendance in Norwood town hall.

Federation leaders have been sounding forth the the idea of taking some practical step toward setting up an economics branch of their own. Agreement and assent from the membership has finally resulted in this engagement of Dr. Hope.

Evidence of hesitation by Federation leadership was noticed for a time in their stress upon the cost of getting the desired information, lining up a fully qualified man for the post, and paying him out of Federation funds. Reaction at unit meetings was simply a recognition of the plain fact that expense was involved, and the members were prepared to meet it.

It has taken several years to reach this advanced stage of organizing an economics branch under Federation management, and the background of Dr. Hope should recommend him to farm members. Agriculture realizes that it must have a broad basis of cost facts, and through the Federation they have affirmed their wilingness to pay for it.

From Washington it was reported this week that Canadian farmers "may set the pace in a move to revive the international wheat agreement.' Canadian government officials are represented at this 57-member conference of the United Nations food and agricultural organization. They declined to make comment on this prediction, but Herb H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation expressed his conviction that FAO "will miss the boat" if the need for an international wheat agreeement is not stressed.

LEMONS AS BIG AS GRAPEFRUIT grow on 30-year-old tree in Gage Park greenhouse, Hamilton. Each year the crop is picked one week before Christmas and the fruit sent to institutions. There are about 50 lemons this year. June Fry is avoiding the tree's thorns.

FARMER'S $20,000 LOSS

Insurance against fire and lightning did not extend to the loss of more than $20,000 suffered by W. J. Fawcett, Winchester, RR 3, south of Ottawa, in the death of 18 Holstein cattle by an electric current as they lay in their stalls.

Investigation of this disastrous accident indicated that vibration of a metal water pipe had gradually worn through the rubber insulation on an electric service wire in the barn. Contact of the exposed wire with the pipe caused a short circuit through the steel stanchions about the animals' necks. Six of the herd of 24 were remnant survivors of one of the best Holstein herds in eastern Ontario. Allison Fawcett said they escaped probably because their necks were thinner and were not in contact with the stanchions when the short-circuit occurred.

All of the Pathfinder get of the herd which had been bred by Mr. Fawcett and his sons in the last 27 years were lost. Many of them had won top honors at district exhibitions this summer and at the recent Ottawa winter fair.

Among the six cattle unharmed was the prize bull, Willola Supreme Bellringer, reserve grand champion at Ottawa. At that show a few weeks ago Mr. Fawcett won the premier exhibitor's award and tied for the premier breeder's prize.

The accident occurred in the early morning of Remembrance Day. The dead animals were dragged out of the barn by tractor, were skinned by employees of an Ottawa firm, and the carcasses were carted away to a fertilizer plant. An Ottawa report said the barn was built only six years ago.

BIGGER POULTRY PENS

A laying house built last year on a Pennsylvania poultry farm is 60 feet deep and 350 feet long. Layers are kept on three floors with feed running by gravity into carriers on each floor. A water trough extends from one end of the building to the other. Lights go off and on automatically.

There are no partitions in the building. In the single pen on each floor are 7,500 White Leghorns, more than 20,000 layers in the one building.

Poultrymen not interested in building new houses are increasing the size of their present pens by removing partitions in old buildings. Some are cautious, taking out every other partition, doubling the size of their pens. Others have removed all partitions, making one large pen. Thermostatically-controlled exhaust fans are used in some of the large pens to aid ventilation.

Carrying water on some of the commercial poultry farms in the eastern States has been almost entirely eliminated by piping to the laying pens, brooder houses and range. It didn't take producers long to figure out that 100 layers require four to five gallons a day. Where frost is a threat, some poultrymen use electric heating cable along the water pipes. Elevators or lifts have been installed in some of the multiple story buildings to raise feed to the upper floors. It is then distributed by chutes to lower floors.

Pennsylvania State College is experimenting with a mechanical feeder. Its hopper can be located in the feed room, and the feeder extended through the pens. A time switch operates the feeder at regular intervals. Fresh food is added in this way, the other feed is stirred, and labor is saved.

In a brooder house in Pennsylvania one man broods 38,000 chicks. The house is warmed by radiant heat, hot water pipes laid in the floor. The trend is away from colony brooder houses and toward the permanent type. Improved rations make it possible to raise pullets to maturity in confinement. Cost reduction by having labor is one of the prime objectives of much of the thinking and planning in commercial poultry production today.

TO HELP FAWCETTS

Holstein breeders in Dundas county have decided to canvass their membership for cows to replace the 18 lost by W. J. Fawcett of Winchester last week. They are being asked to list their herds, and from them Mr. Fawcett will be offered 18 replacing head on loan for two years. Those whose cattle are not taken will be asked to contribute cash to be known as the Fawcett Foundation Herd Fund.

The Fawcett loss was so large that eastern Ontario breeders beyond Dundas are being requested to help.

DANISH EXPORTS

Danish cheese exports declined during the first nine months of 1948 from 12 to 8 thousand tons as compared with the same period in 1947. Bacon and pig meats were down from 42 to 38 thousand tons; beef carcasses from 72 to 51 thousand, slaughter cattle from 170 thousand to 26 thousand.

Butter exports increased from 68 to 77 thousand tons; lard from 3.3 to 3.9 thousand tons; eggs from 18 to 30 thousand tons; potatoes from 36 to 108 thousand tons; poultry from 111 tons to 1.4 thousand tons.

FEWER CHEESE FACTORIES

In the last three years 87 cheese factories in the counties from Frontenac to the Ottawa River have gone out of business, Frank Robinson of Kemptville, chief instructor for factories in Eastern Ontario, said recently at a cheesemakers' dinner at Chesterville. Causes of this loss to the industry were shortage of labor, export of cattle to the U.S., farmers transferring to condensaries, and also the fact that factories were too small to operate economically.

Holloway factory, 10 miles north of Belleville, built in 1867 and one of the oldest in the Quinte district, is reported sold with its equipment, and will not be producing cheese next spring. Decrease in the number of patrons is said to be the reason for ceasing operations.

✦ ✦ ✦

THIRD AT THE ROYAL

Joseph T. Tully of Otonabee was in the prize money at the Royal Winter Fair. He won third place in the senior bull calf class of the Holstein section.

Durham county judging team finished second to Middlesex Monday in the first day competition preceding the Royal opening. Howard Forder of Blackstock was awarded to the Stonehouse trophy for the highest score in judging dairy cattle. He had 193 out of a possible 200 points. Mr. Forder won the gold medal in beef cattle judging, and Harold Beatty of Dunford, Victoria county, the corresponding prize in dairy cattle judging.

✦ ✦ ✦

JUNIORS' BUS PARTY

Among those who took advantage of the junior farmers' bus trip to the Royal Winter Fair on Wednesday were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Savigny, Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart, David and Donald Garbutt, John Webster, Ron Frankish, president of the Junior Farmers' Association, George Craft, Harold Knight, Frank Leahy, Jean Bolton, Gwelda Bolton, Kevin Hurley, Reeve Jeremiah Mahoney, Jack Matchett; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davidson, Kevin Leahy, Anne Walsh, Rita Heffernan, Frank Maloney, Don Landry, Isabel Heffernan, Jean Lowes, Barba Clark, Shirley McArthur, Douglas Clark, Howard Clark, Reg Ferguson, Gordon Bradfield, Marjorie Clark, Lorraine Bradfield, Jean Hunter, Percy Frankish, Fred Abbott, Douglas McNevan, John Edmison, Roy Stillman, George Sanderson, E. 2 MEN KILLED IN BANCROFT COLLISION

Can't Have 2 Big Areas Israel Told

Pearson Fearful Jewish Armies May Take Palestine

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(CP).—Lester B. Pearson of Canada told the United Nations today that Israel cannot have both the area in Palestine given to her by partition and that gained by force of arms.

Pearson, external affairs minister, said before the U.N. General Assembly's No. 1 political committee that Israel's "armies seem to be in a position where they could, if they chose, establish themselves in most of Palestine."

"If they did so," he added, "they would be openly defying the wish of the international community." He referred to Jewish claims to the Negev desert and to Western Galilee, which the Jews took from the Arabs by force.

The senior Canadian delegate spoke as the committee resumed its discussion of the recommendations drafted by Count Folke Bernadotte, the U. N. Palestine mediator, before he was assassinated last September.

The Bernadotte plan would give the Arabs the Negev desert in Southern Palestine, which the U. N. partition plan assigned to the Jews. It also recommended that western Galilee be given to the Jews.

Need Jewish Consent

In a preliminary statement on the Bernadotte plan last Saturday, the United States supported the slain Count's report as a basis for discussion, but said no territory should be taken from Israel without Jewish consent.

Soviet delegate Semen K. Tsarapkin said the Bernadotte plan would cause "increasing animosity between Jews and Arabs" and also would cause contention "even among the Arab states themselves," because it proposed that the Arab part of Palestine be given to Trans-Jordan.

The Russian said the "interference of the United States and Britain in Palestine led to this impasse." He added that the Russian delegation wants the U.N. partition plan of last Nov. 29 put into effect now.

THIS TANGLE OF STEEL is all that remains of a passenger car which was in a sideswipe accident with a truck near Bancroft Saturday night. Lawrence Ray (Left) was killed along with Calvin Brethour (inset), both of Bancroft. Four others were injured, two seriously. The truck landed upside down in the west ditch on Highway 62.

Four Others Injured In Accident

Side And Top Of Car Taken Off In Crash; Truck Upsets In Ditch

BANCROFT, Nov. 22 (Staff).—Two Bancroft men were instantly killed and four other persons seriously hurt when a car and a truck side-swiped on Highway 62 about two miles south of Bancroft, at 7:30 Saturday night.

Calvin Brethour 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brethour, and Lawrence Ray 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ray, died in the crash. Bud Seers 22, Baptiste, is in the Bancroft Red Cross Hospital with a fractured ankle and face cuts, and Miss Aileen O'Coyne, Tweed, was rushed to Toronto General Hospital for treatment by a brain surgeon. She has a fractured skull. Michael Murphy and Jack Murphy, Murphy's Corners, both received treatment for cuts. Russell Eaton, Tweed, escaped unhurt.

The car containing five persons was travelling north toward Bancroft as Brethour and Ray were coming home for the week-end. Brethour, Ray and Seers were in the front seat with Miss O'Coyne and Eaton in the back. The truck was proceeding south from Bancroft and was driven by Michael Murphy with his cousin Jack also in the cab. The truck is owned by Charles Murphy, Steenburg.

At a wide point in the road, the vehicles met with terrific force, and the left side of the car was sheared off along with most of the top. The truck turned upside down in the west ditch, while the car was hurled into the east ditch.

Aid Injured

Motorists rushed the injured to Bancroft, where first-aid was given. Then it was found desirable to have Miss O'Coyne taken to Toronto.

Brethour is a CNR employee at Belleville and lives with his parents in Bancroft. Lawrence Ray is married and lives in the village also. He works at Trenton.

A hearing was called Sunday night by Coroner Dr. O. W. Anderson, and adjourned until December 1. Police are investigating the tragedy, but so far no charges have been laid.

It is one of the worst highway accidents in the history of the North Hastings village.

Study Milk Price

TORONTO, Nov. 22—(CP). — Representatives of the Ontario Milk Distributors and the Ontario Milk Producers' League met here today in an attempt to agree on a price to be paid farmers for milk. Officials of the Ontario Milk Board announced recently if the two organizations fail to agree the matter would be put to arbitration. Deadline for an agreement was set for today.

Chinese Reds Warn U.S. Keep Out Of War

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22—(AP)—Chinese Communists Sunday broadcast what was tantamount to a "warning" to the United States to keep out of China's civil war.

The Communists' North Shensi radio declared the Reds consider American or other foreign military aid to the Chiang Kai-Shew government "an act of hostility". The broadcast was heard in San Franciso by the Associated Press.

Referring to an alleged plan for American protection to Shanghai, the broadcast said "The Communist party of China firmly opposes any such traitorous actions."

It said the party "holds that any military or economic aid to the Kuomintang government by the goverments of the United States or other countries constitutes an act of hostility against the Chinese nation and the people of China, and should cease immediately."

The broadcast expressed a willingness of the Communist government "to establish equal, friendly relations with all foreign countries, including the United States of America, and to protect the rightful American Nationals. But the integrity of China's territory and sovereignty must be preserved without encroachment."

New Fighting

NANKING, Nov. 22.—(AP). — Rumblings of new fighting came out of the Suchow front today.

Evidence of a renewed Communist drive gave weight to the theory that government forces had blunted but by no means broken the offensive power of the Chinese Communist armies in the battle for the approaches to Nanking.

The Communists attacked in the area where the government military spokesman just four days ago proclaimed a major victory for Chiang Kai-Shek's troops.

Concern in the highest circles over the military situation showed itself in a broadcast speech by Madame Chaing Kai--Shek from Nanking. Calling for "immediate and definite" United States aid, the Generalissimo's wife declared "If China falls, all of Asia goes."

Tobermory Guide Risks Life To Rescue 16 Clinging 3 Nights To Boat Wreckage

Storm Lashes Lake Huron Into 15-Ft. Waves Drives Two Vessels On Reefs; Village Folk Watch Wreck, Helpless To Aid

SOUTH BAY MOUTH, Nov. 22—(CP).—Stuart Peacock, 35-year-old Tobermory guide, risked his life in the rescue of 16 persons, marooned for three nights and two days on the wreckage of a battered tug and dredge on the rocks of storm-swept Manitoulin Island. "If it hadn't been for Stuart Peacock, none of us would be here now," said Angus Morrison, captain of the tug Patricia McQueen. "He saved our lives time and time again at the risk of his own."

Crew members of the dredge Ella M. and the Patricia McQueen, owned and operated by Capt. J. E. McQueen of Amherstburg, gave Peacock credit for their rescue after the vessels were driven ashore on reefs 20 miles apart on Thursday. Fifteen-foot waves and a biting cold wind kept all boats but the Gracie, a 30-foot cruiser from which Peacock operated, in the harbor.

The Ella M. foundered and sank Thursday night off Rabbit Island, three miles off shore and midway up the east coast of Manitoulin Island at the north end of Lake Huron. The Patricia McQueen, its rudder smashed and engines useless, drifted 16 hours before piling into reefs off this tiny Manitoulin Island village.

Peacock said he and John Desjardins of Tobermory set out on the "worst trip I've ever experienced."

"We pounded our way through high seas and bitter cold to the tug. The rudder had broken off and it was drifting dangerously near some reefs. After a long struggle we managed to get a line on the tug and we pulled it from shore and got it into the troughs.

Bouncing Like Corks

"We were bouncing like corks and couldn't pull the vessel any further. Through the gale which was mounting I yelled to the captain I would get another boat and then pulled away for South Bay Mouth.

"It was getting dark when I got George Simpson and his boat to come with us in an attempt to rescue the tug. We couldn't get near the Patsy.

"We let the tug drift and stood by it. I yelled to the captain that we couldn't do anything until the wind dropped. I heard him yell: 'Don't worry about me — worry about the dredge—there are 11 people on board.'"

Terrible Pounding

On Friday Peacock got his cruiser close enough for the captain and a crew member to jump on the roof, but they spent all night on a shoal where "we were almost pounded senseless."

The men and a woman aboard the Ella M. were taken to safety Saturday when Peacock transferred them to a former Royal Canadian Navy minesweeper, the tug Lachine, which bucked up the stormy lake from Sarnia.

"It's just a miracle we're alive," said Mrs. H. D. Bridacomb of Penetanguishene, one of the two cooks on the Ella M.

Striking Crew Return To Work Aboard Liner

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Nov. 22—(AP)—Striking crew members of the Queen Elizabeth today agreed to go back to work after the Cunard White Star Line promised not to sail the liner to the United States until the Longshoremen's strike there is settled.

The men promised to return to work at noon. The line promised also not to sail to Halifax, the port to which some British ships were diverted last week.

The walkoff, which already has cost Cunard White Star about £40,000 ($120,600) in extra docking fees, wages, food and fuel was called in sympathy with the longshoresmen's strike on the east coast in the United States. The line also is paying the expenses of 1,500 passengers who are living aboard the ship.

Sailing of the Elizabeth's twin liner, Queen Mary, previously had been postponed by the line.

The Queen Mary is in Southampton drydock and cannot be brought to the pier until her sister ship has been moved.

Departure of the Elizabeth for New York is nearly a week behind time already. Even if the New York strike were settled she could not get away before tomorrow afternoon because of the tides.

Say Russ Answer On Currency Seems Hopeful

PARIS, Nov. 22 (CP) —Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina said today the Russian answer to his Berlin currency questionnaire "appears to be satisfactory."

The November president of the United Nations Security Council said however, a comparison of the Russian reply with the answers from Britain, the United States and France, expected to be delivered to him today, is necessary to decide if a basis of agreement on the Berlin crisis can be reached.

Bramuglia said he had scheduled a meeting of the six "neutral" members of the Security Council to begin as soon as the western replies were received. If the six neutrals decide they can work out a new plan to end the Berlin dispute, it is likely the full council will be convened by the end of this month to consider the plan formally.

The six countries who will meet are Canada, Argentina, Belgium, China, Colombia and Syria.

Evatt Hopeful

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, president of the General Aembly, said Sunday there are reasonable prospects for a Berlin settlement within the next three weeks.

Evatt said in a radio interview that the dispute between the western powers and Russia is "a question of time and not of principle". The main problem, he said, is to draft an acceptable time schedule for lifting the Soviet blockade of Berlin and introducing Soviet zone currency as Berlin's only tender.

Russia wants the two steps to take place simultaneously. The Western Powers say they will not discuss a settlement until the blockade is lifted.

Hundreds of Deer Hunters Searching For Breen Plane

HAYWARD, Wis., Nov. 22—(AP).—Hundreds of deer hunters joined in slogging through the slushy morass of Sawyer county back country today for a trace of the missing aircraft carrying Toronto-born singer Bobby Breen. The single-engined Red Stinson monoplane, which left a Waukesha airport at 1.20 p.m. Sunday, is unreported since it was seen near remote Ghost Lake shortly before dark Sunday.

A steady mist, freezing at upper levels and mixed with snow-flurries, turned back five search planes 20 minutes after they left Waukesha, some 300 miles southeast of here.

There was eight inches of snow on the ground here and the temperatures had climbed into thawing ranges.

Appeal For Volunteers

An appeal was made for volunteers to search the wilderness of swamps, forest and flowages 23 miles east of here, where the plane was seen late Sunday.

The manager of the Hayward airport, Al Carr, identified the craft positively as to type today. He said he saw it at tree-top level at about 4 p.m. while hunting near Ghost Lake. Previously it had been thought the plane was not Breen's.

Breen began his professional career in Toronto at the age of four when he appeared at a theatre and night clubs. When he lived in Toronto he was known as Isadore Borsuk. His name later was changed to Jackie Borene and then to Bobby Breen.

After Breen became a screen actor in Hollywood the family moved there.

Fiancee Drinks Poisoned Beer

VAN BUREN, Me., Nov. 22—(AP) — A 39-year-old laborer who police said admitted jealousy prompted him to pour lye into another man's beer was held today for murder in the death of his fiancee who drank it "by mistake."

Carl Peterson of Fort Fairfield was charged with murder in the death of Mrs. Yvonne Poitras, 21, widow. She was the mother of an 11-month-old girl.

Police said Peterson told them Mrs. Poitras drank beer containing lye he had intended for a man who had paid attention to the 21-year-old widowed mother.

"I didn't mean to do it. I didn't mean to hurt her," police quoted Peterson as saying in an oral statement.

Police did not identify the man for whom the drink allegedly was intended, except to say he was one of two St. Leonard, N.B., men at the party in the home of Mrs. Poitras' parents.

Falange Party Sweeps Election

MADRID, Nov. 22 — (AP). — Eighty-two per cent. of all the City Council members elected in Spain's municipal elections Sunday are members of the Totalitarian State Falange Party, the party's national headquarters said today.

The elections were the first held in Spain since the Civil War.

The Falange claim was published in Hoja official Del Lunes, along with a declaration made on Sunday night by Interior Minister Blaz Perez Gonzales that all candidates elected were supporters of the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

There was no possibility of independent confirmation of these claims, since the affiliations of many of the candidates in the 9,223 Spanish municipalities were not made public in advance. The triumph of the so-called official candidates had, however, been generally anticipated.

The "official" tickets were supported and in many instances organized by the provincial governors, who usually are also the provincial chiefs of the Falange, and by the appointive mayor and controlled Falange organization and press.

Bush Pilot Trick Saves Woman Flier

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Nov. 22—(AP). — An old bush pilot trick paid off Sunday for Mrs. Morrow - Tait, round-the-world flier, and her navigator, Michael Townsend, who made a crash-landing 200 miles southeast of here. Neither was injured in the accident.

The trick is to follow a highway just in case there might be the need of an emergency landing.

She followed the Glenn Highway, which heads north-east to a junction with the Alaska Highway.

Her plane crashed near the road 30 miles south-west of Tok Junction in 30-below zero weather.

The Alaska Highway Patrol picked up the fliers and took them to Tanacross.

Hillsburgh Boy Gets King's Prize

TORONTO, Nov. 22 — (CP). — Kenneth MacKinnon of Hillsburgh, near Guelph, in Wellington county, today won the King's 50 guineas for the best steer exhibited at the Royal Winter Fair by an Ontario junior farmer.

It was the second win for MacKinnon, who also carried off the prize last year—each time with an Aberdeen-Angus steer. The prize, at present exchange rates, is worth $211.05 and will be presented tonight by Governor-General Viscount Alexander.

Judith Merry of Oakville, near Toronto, placed second in the competition. She is a member of the Halton Calf Club. MacKinnon belongs to the Erin Calf Club.

To Demolish Dock

HAMBURG, Nov. 22.—(Reuters).—The Royal Navy will demolish the 80,000-ton dock at Wilhelmshaven, principal naval base of Nazi Germany, it was announced today. Forty tons of explosives will be used in the action late this week.

Hill To Stand Trial On Stealing Charge

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 22 (CP)—William (Red) Hill, 35, well-known riverman, today was committed for trial at a higher court on a charge of stealing $3,573.50 by conversion of hunting and fishing licenses fees between March 1947 and August last.

Recently the barrels in which Hill and his father had shot the whirlpool rapids were told for $2,900, together with goods in Hill's souvenir store to meet demands of Hill's creditors.

Marshall Arrives For Truman Talks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP) —State Secretary Marshall arrived today from Paris for a foreign policy review with President Truman. Truman greeted him at the airport.

Formal conferences between the President and Marshall were set to begin at 12:30 p.m.

Truman also had conferences scheduled with Treasury Secretary Snyder, Defence Secretary Forrestal, and W. Averell Harriman, roving ambasador for the European co-operation administration.

When Marshall stepped from his plane, reporters besieged him with questions.

Privy Council Dismisses Saskatchewan Gov't Appeal

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Nov. 22 (CP)—The Privy Council today dismissed the Saskatchewan government's appeal against the Supreme Court judgment finding a section of the Farm Security Act beyond the province's legislative power.

The judgment concerned section six of the Farm Security Act which is designed to make the mortgage-holder take the same risks as the farmer—sharing losses in bad years and profits in good years—and to prevent debt accumulation and foreclosures resulting from drought and depression.

It provided that in the event of crop failure beyond the control of the mortgagor he would not be required to make any payment of principle to the mortgagee for one year.

Agree With Decision

Lord Simon, in announcing the judgment, said the Privy Council was in agreement with the Supreme Court decision that section six was legislation relating to interest and therefore beyond the jurisdiction of Saskatchewan.

The Privy Council also upheld the contention that under section 91, heading 19, of the British North America Act interest was a matter within the exclusive legislative power of Canada's federal parliament.

The Privy Council, however, did not agree with the argument submitted by the attorney-general of Canada and others that the British North America Act conferred on the Dominion parliament "the exclusive power to legislation in relation to bankruptcy and insolvency."

TNT Factory Destroyed

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 22.—(AP). —A heavy explosion demolished the T.N.T. factory of the Bofors Munition Works today. A few workers suffered slight injuries from splinters. The factory management said the workers saved themselves by racing behind prepared embankments when an alarm sounded for the fire which preceded the blast. Windows were blown out for a distance of more than three miles. Many nearby buildings collapsed.

ManitobaLegionBacks Hong Kong Pay Plan

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22—(CP) — Hong Kong veterans' bid for Pacific pay has received unanimous support from the full council of the Manitoba and North-Western Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion.

This action came Sunday after a delegation led by Lt.-Col. J. Baillie of the Hong Kong Veterans' Association appeared before the council in support of their request.

It was pointed out that more than 1,600 Canadian officers and men received Pacific pay in 1945 under an Order-in-Council although none of them ever actually served in the Pacific area.

14 Escape Death

PARIS, Nov. 22—(AP).—Fourteen persons escaped death Saturday night when a South African-owned passenger plane crashed into a power station on the outskirts of Orly Field here. Only two of the nine passengers and five crew members suffered severe injuries.

8 Die In Bad Snowstorm Sweeping US Plains Region

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Nov. 22 (AP)—The Great Plains region today counted its dead from a three-day snowstorm at eight.

The storm, which whipped across a strip of the great plains from Eastern Colorado to Minnesota, blew itself out Saturday but clearing of snow-clogged roads and towns still were continuing in some areas.

Five of the deaths occurred in Nebraska and three in Kansas.

Hundreds of motorists were marooned and trains and buses were stalled. Electric power and communications were disrupted. Some schools closed.

Sunday snowplows uncovered the body of Mrs. Hal Laughlin, 30, of Jetmore, Kas., about a mile from where her automobile had stalled. She had been sought since Thursday. Her car stalled near Dodge City in Western Kansas.

The body of Lester M. Carson 38, McCook, Neb., also was found Sunday in his snow-covered car eight miles west of Oberlin in Northwest Kansas. Another death reported Sunday night was that of John H. Haun, 48, a truck operator who died of exhaustion from shovelling snow in O'Neil Neb.

The heavy snow stalled a number of passenger trains. Snowplows, bucking through drifts as high as 15 feet, had cleared all the mainline tracks by today. Some of the trains were tied up for three days, with passengers being cared for in nearby towns.

Winds up to 75 miles an hour accompanied the snow, accounting for the huge drifts. The sheep loss in Western Kansas and Eastern Colorado was high.

Two Men Shot In Car Feud

TORONTO, Nov. 22—(CP). — Police Sunday night laid charges against one of two men shot in what officers said was an underworld feud over a stolen car.

They charged Frank Battaglia, 35, with auto theft, receiving and fraud. Battaglia and John Sutherland, 24, both were in hospital with bullet wounds in their legs.

Officers said both men were hit by the same .32-calibre bullet, fired at close range. It pierced Sutherland's leg, came out and struck Battaglia.

Police said Battaglia stole a car in Hamilton and sold it to a Toronto dealer after it had been registered falsely.

The two men told police they had been shot while attempting to disarm a drunk. Later they denied the story and refused to give details of the shooting.

Criminal Code Change Will Boost Expenses

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—(CP).—A change in the criminal code which becomes effective next Oct. 1 was discussed at a week-end meeting of executive board of the Crown Attorney's Association of Ontario.

The changes, made at the last session of Parliament, gives an accused person the right to elect trial by Judge and jury on several petty offence charges now tried by a magistrate alone.

Delegates to the Crown Attorneys' meeting expressed belief that, as a result, municipalities will face higher court-operating costs. They decided to advise municipal governments to study this question of higher expenditures now and decide just how far they are willing to go in helping to shoulder the additional load.

Little Britain Man Wins Sheep Award

TORONTO, Nov. 22—(CP)—Tonight will be a Royal night at the Royal Winter Fair's horse show.

The King's vice-regal representative, Governor-General Viscount Alexander, will occupy the royal box. On his arrival Britain's famous soldier will review an honor guard of the Royal Regiment of Canada, drawn up on the tanbark of the arena.

Later he will present the Governor-General's cup to the owner of the most promising Canadian-owned and bred hunter—a three-year-old mare or gelding.

Ontario's young farmers, owners of prize Hereford, Aberdeen-Angus and Shorthorn steers in boys' and girls' calf clubs across the province, will come into their own at the horse show tonight.

The King's Guineas—50 guineas awarded from a fund originally created nearly a century ago by King Edward VII, then Prince of Wales—will be presented by Viscount Alexander to the owner of the grand champion steer chosen from 110 entries of the young farmers.

Auction 110 Steers

There will be an auction, too, at the evening show. The 110 steers will go under the auctioneer's hammer, along with the fair's grand champion steer, wether lamb and hog.

Speak Easy, owned by the Rolling Rock Farms of Ligonier, Pa., with Betty Bosley up, won the $1,500 McKee hunter stake from a field of 33 entries. Crystal Lady, from the ABC Farms of Brampton, was driven to victory in the Murdoch harness pony stake by Chap Carter, of Toronto.

Presents Trophy

Agriculture Minister David Ure of Alberta made two appearances in the ring. He collected the oat championship trophy from J. Wharry of the Quaker Oats Co., Peterborough, for John Boulton of Abee, Alta., and the rye trophy from Herbert Heimbecker of Parrish and Heimbecker for R. Wennerstrom of Camrose, the world's rye champion.

Sheep have had their place in things, too, and the champion Dorset Horn ram and reserve were shown by P. E. Dearing and Son of Exeter. Dearing also had the champion Dorset Horn ewe, and the reserve was taken by G. H. Marks and Son of Little Britain.

Top Awards

Grand championship rosettes were pinned on seven horses, all tops in their breed, and two sheep, in Saturday's judging.

The awards went to:

Palomino Stallion—John Bracken, Manotick, Ont., Bourbon Pot o'Gold; Palomino mare—Hamilton McLean, Richmond Hill, Circle M Jewel; Hackney stallion—J. McCracken, Listowel, Seven Up; Hackney mare—Argyll Stables, Mt. Carroll, Ill., Killearn Beauty; Saddle horse stallion—Dufferin Stock Farms, Toronto, Brave Captain; Saddle horse mare—Charles E. Stephens, Milton, My Lucky Charm; Belgian mare — Robert Thomas, Grandon, Sask., Paragon Kitty.

Oxford Down Ram—T. H. Peacock, Crystal Beach, Miller 72, and Oxford Down ewe—Robert Coates, Creemore, Lilac Downs Lass 25B.

Trade Agreement

CANBERRA (CP)—Australia has concluded a new exports agreement with Sweden. Australia will ship wool, grease, ores, rutile and tanning extract Sweden, and in return will receive, lumber kraft paper, cardboard and wall paper.

She said she expected the dredge to break up at any minute during the 60-hour ordeal. They huddled in two cabins on the upper deck after the dredge sank in 12 feet of water and heavy waves broke up the interior of the dredge.

The two vessels had left here Thursday for winter anchorage at Little Current on the north shore of the island. They took shelter in Rabbit Island during the storm and the Ella M. went aground in the dark when Captain Angus Morrison decided to take the McQueen and her tow eight miles south of Fitzwilliam Island.

On the way south a four-inch tow-line snapped, fouling the McQueen's propeller and seizing the engines. The other two-line pulled the McQueen to the rocks, smashing her rudder.

The cable was cut and when its anchor failed to hold the McQueen drifted before the storm until it piled into a reef outside the harbor here.

The 25 families of South Bay Mouth watched all Friday night from the shore, powerless to help the McQueen as heavy seas battered it against the rocks.

None of the 16 persons were injured. But all were cold, wet, tired and hungry when they came ashore.

The galley of the Ella M. was smashed. Mrs. Brimacomb scrambled eggs for the crew in a fire lit in the dredge's bathtub.

Captain Morrison said it was the worst storm he had seen in nine years on the Great Lakes.

No estimate was available of the damage to the two vessels.

Aboard the Ella M. were Captain William Harper, Rochester, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Brimacomb, Penetanguishene; James J. Bond and James E. Bond of Little Current; Sam Castrilli, Toronto; E. A. Cadel, Providence Bay; Elmer Rowe, Little Current; John Morrison, Mansfield, and Jack and Donald Everets, Fisherville.

On the Patricia McQueen were Captain Morrison; Chief Engineer J. R. Ferguson, 62, Kingsville; Second Engineer Alex Beehan, 30; Wheelsman Harold Mayville, 21, Amherstburg. Reginald Gelston, 17, South Bay Mouth, the McQueen's cook, was making his first trip as a member of the crew.

Former Councillor Dies At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 22. —(ENS).—Funeral of Neil Thompson, 84, took place Saturday afternoon from the family residence on Bridge St. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. G. Lester of Warkworth and burial was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Pallbearers were H. M. Donald, E. Sloggett, T. J. Craighead, Earl Stephens, P. B. Nelson and M. Sayers.

Mr. Thompsson died at his home Thursday after a short illness. He was married twice: his first wife, the former Janet Smith, and his second wife, the former Mabel Williamss, predeceased him.

Born in Seymour Township, son of the late Donald Thompson and Isabella Clark, he was a lifelong resident of Campbellford and district. Up to the time of his retirement, he was a successful farm machinery agent. He was an elder of St. John's United Church, a member of the local Masonic Lodge and had served on the Town Council.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Rutledge (Grace) at home; two granddaughters, Mrs. K. Wood (Ruth) of Bradford and Margaret Rutledge of Campbellford; one great-grandson, Robbie Wood, and one brother, James, of Spokane, Wash.

Drew Begins Campaigning

CARP, Nov. 22—(CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, has opened his by-election campaign with a warning to Canadians against the dangers of communism and socialism.

Mr. Drew spoke Saturday after he was unanimously nominated as Progressive Conservative candidate in the December 20 Federal by-election for the Ontario constituency of Carleton. He said the CCF party and the communist parties both believe in the doctrines of Karl Marx and added that a vote for the socialist candidate would be welcomed by agents of Moscow.

When his election to the national leadership necessitated his election to the commons, Carleton county was chosen as the most suitable riding because it would allow him to keep in touch with the constituency while carrying out his other duties.

Prime Minister St. Laurent had "extended every courtesy" when Mr. Drew ndicated his desire to contest a by-election in Carleton. The Liberal and Social Credit parties decided not to oppose the new opposition leader.

"The National Socialist party, with communist support, has seen fit to oppose me at this time, as is their right," said Mr. Drew. "Their action, however, defines the present issue in Carleton county in the clearest possible terms . . .

"The question is whether the chosen leader of one of the great traditional parties is to enter the House of Commons to fulfill his duties, or whether on the other hand Carleton is to be represented in the House of Commons by a National Socialist who believes in the supreme authority of the state and the complete socialization of all our activities in every field."

ly's No. 1 political committee in his first major speech of the current assembly.

Pearson outlined three broad principles which he said should guide the Assembly:

1. Recognition that a Jewish state exists.

2. Establishment by the United Nations of an official body—perhaps a small commission as suggested by the United Kingdom—which would make available its good offices to the Jewish state and its neighbors in arrangements for defining geographical and political relations.

3. The Assembly should reaffirm its relommendation for international control of Jerusalem and should call on both parties to co-operate in implementing the recommendation.

Not Popular

PARIS, Nov. 22—(CP)—Riad Es-Solh, prime minister of Lebanon, today told reporters tartly that the latest Canadian statement on Palestine was "just about what we expected."

Es-Solh, generally considered the man who cracks the whip among the Arab delegations, said Pearson's statement "with its assumption of a Jewish state, is in keeping with the efforts by Lester Pearson last year to bring that state into being."

He added that the Arab delegation was "directly opposed" to the Canadian statement.

"We don't expect to gain any victories here against the views of Canada' the United States, Britain and Russia," he added. The gains must be made by us in the Middle East before we can expect to gain anything here."

Hydro Manager Dies Suddenly

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 22—(CP)—Leonard G. Andeno, 59, regional manager of the central district of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario died suddenly in his office Saturday.

He was born in Kitchener. He graduated from Galt Collegiate and the University of Toronto in science in 1916, taking a position with the Hydro Commission. He was superintendent of the Thunder Bay district for 22 years, coming to Belleville in 1945. He was a noted track and hockey star in his younger days and played professional lacrosse in the days of Neil Felker and Charlie Querrie.

He was a member of the Knight of Columbus, former director and member of the Kiwanis Club, the Quarter Century Club of the HEPC and Registered Professional Engineers.

The late Mr. Andeno was a member of St. Michael's Church, member of the School Board and the Chamber of Commerce and also director of the Community Concert Association. Surviving are his wife, three daughter, one son, a brother and four sisters. The funeral will be held in Belleville Tuesday.

Two Accidents At Same Spot

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 22—(ENS).—Two were hurt in an accident Saturday night when a car owned by Joel McArthur, Campbellford, and driven by Gordon Prendergast, Toronto, smashed through a telephone pole and hit a tree on No. 30 Highway one mile west of town. The driver received cuts on the face, and his companion, Jean McArthur, was thrown forward with such force that her head pierced the glass in the windshield. Damage to the car is estimated at $800.

A second accident occurred near the same place before the investigation of the first one had been completed. A west-bound car driven by Arnold Thompson of RR No. 2, Hastings, was in a head-on collision with a car driven by Robert Harris of Marmora. The view of the drivers was somewhat restricted by the glaring headlights of spectators' cars parked along the highway. Thompson, the only occupant, received minor injuries, while Harris and his passenger, Arnold Wells, were sent to hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises, but later allowed to proceed home. Both cars were badly damaged. Provincial Police Arthur Kellogg of Hastings investigated both accidents.

Doubts De Gaulle

SUDBURY, Nov. 22—(CP). —Francisque Gay, French Ambassador to Canada, said in an interview Sunday that he had little confidence in the political judgment of Gen. Charles de Gaulle. But he said that in other ways he admired the wartime leader of the fighting French forces and joined in the gratitude the French people felt for the role the general played during the war.

MAIL EARLY FOR CHRISTMAS

Are you forever intending to send your Christmas mail early . . . but always leaving it until the last possible minute? Remember that Post Offices are always busy places—but that Christmas mail is an especially taxing burden to over-worked staffs. Why not start a little earlier and make sure that your mail arrives in time for Christmas? Your help will speed up handling and lessen the extra load placed on the delivery system. Your consideration for others will prove your own "Good Citizenship."

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Profit Over-emphasized Speaker Tells Rotarians

COBOURG, Nov. 22.—(ENS).—The Rotary Club principle of vocational service can be exemplified in everyday business, creating confidence on the part of the buying public, stated E. L. Fraser, Trenton Rotarian, in his address here at the weekly luncheon of Cobourg Rotary Club. The speaker pointed out that there were 2,000 occupational classifications recognized by Rotary as serving society, and those which did not serve the community in a worthy way were not recognized as classification.

The misunderstanding between employer and employee had tended to hamper reconstruction after the war and speedy restoration to the democratic way of life. The expression, "An honest day's work for an honest day's pay," should have been instead, "An honest day's pay for an honest day's work," and the result would have been a different attitude on the part of labor, Mr. Fraser said.

The worker has come a long way from the days of slave labor, but it had taken a long time. Both capital and labor had its respective rights and there should be co-operation for their mutual advancement.

Dealing with relations between merchant and customer, the speaker said that the customer was entitled to "good goods at right prices." One dairy had a slogan, "100 lbs. of milk is 80 lbs. of water. We don't think we should add any more water to it." "Honesty is the best policy," was a good maxim, but it could well be, "Honesty is the only policy." There should be a return to the days when merchants can render those little free services—to those days of service above self. In the present day merchants were too prone to think of the profit motive. It was true that profits are needed to stay in business, but service should come ahead of profit. Goodwill was more to be desired than extra profits. One often heard the expression, "All the traffic will stand." Free enterprise will never hold the line against Communism or Fascism if people are charged by big business to the extent of "All the traffic will stand." Merchandise should be fairly represented to the people and there should be no necessity for laws to curb false advertising. Rotarians with their high ethical standards should lead the way in business ethics. Rotarians are the ambassadors of their respective classifications, to the public, and vocational service is the contact between Rotary and the public, Mr. Fraser said.

Speaker Urges Laymen Increase Aid To Missions

ROSENEATH, Nov. 22—(ENS).—"Men and Missions" from a layman's viewpoint was presented to the congregations on the Roseneath United Church charge on Sunday. The speaker was A. A. Martin, PSI, and chairman of the Cobourg Presbytery. "Go ye therefore and teach all nations," a portion of verse 19, Matt. 28, was the text. "Those of us," said Mr. Martin, "between 20 and 75 have lived in an age of materialism and self-sufficiency, an age of two wars. We thought we could get along without God. We realize now we cannot afford to neglect our souls' welfare."

Speaking of the great development of natural resources in Northern and Western Ontario, he said we are responsible for those people who are there opening up industries. "We are responsible, too," he continued, "for home missions, new Canadians in our cities, hospitals, institutions, in addition to our foreign missions."

He spoke with admiration of the work of the Salvation Army, but does more of that type of work know that the United Church said it might be interesting to than the SA.

In a stirring challenge he called on the laymen in the Cobourg Presbytery to put the work of missions before the people, concluding with "We may shut our life-work away from God, but we cannot shut Him out."

The service was held in connection with "The Veterans of the Cross" movement. Mr. Martin was introduced by O. T. Robins, chairman of the board of stewards, and thanked by Rev. R. C. White. The choir had two numbers, an anthem, "I Love to Tell the Story," and a solo, "Beside Still Waters," by Ambrose Atkinson.

The Spoils Of Victory For Israel

In international affairs might is still right. That proposition was reaffirmed by the United States on Saturday, when the American Government nodded its head to the Jewish armed victory in the Negev desert. It said that the Negev should not be taken away from Israel without the consent of Israel.

* * *

Once again the U.S.A. has reversed its stand on Palestine. Only a few weeks ago at the opening of the U.N. Assembly General Marshall urged the adoption of Count Bernadotte's report as a generally fair basis of settlement of the Palestine question. Count Bernadotte's boundary proposals were that the Negev should go to the Arabs and that Galilee should be part of Israel. Now, in fact, Israel has both, and intends to keep them.

* * *

U.N. is proving itself as ineffective as the League of Nations in international politics. While the Assembly has been sitting in Paris, while the Security Council has ordered armistices, while a U.N. mediator has been at work in Palestine, the Jews have been consolidating and extending their positions. They have had a voice in the American Presidential elections. They have power in both the United States and Palestine; more, apparently, than U.N. has.

* * *

U.N. is now meekly trying to wash its hands by voting money for the relief of displaced, dispossessed Arabs in Palestine. Some of the member nations may wonder if the U.S. has driven Islam into the Russian empire.

Fight Awaiting U.S. Congress

Although political observers in the United States are, for the moment, rather reluctant to prophesy, they have ventured the prediction that the Taft-Hartley labour legislation will be the most controversial issue of the next session of Congress. The argument is expected to be so warm and protracted, it is said, that the subject will be placed well down on the agenda, so that it will not delay discussion of more pressing matters. Much of the argument may centre on whether the Taft-Hartley Law should be amended or whether it should be repealed and the Wagner Act amended.

President Truman, of course, is committed to seeking repeal; that promise was constantly repeated during his campaign, and it undoubtedly won him the labour vote. In some quarters, doubt has been expressed that Congress would comply with the President's request for repeal, since a number of Democrats favoured the Taft-Hartley Law and voted for it. The Presidential election, however, may have affected Democratic thinking on the subject. Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, for instance, is regarded as being a few steps farther to the right than Republican Senator Robert Taft, yet Senator McKeller has now heard the "voice of the people" crying for repeal. It would not be surprising if the hearing of less conservative Democrats also became sensitive enough to hear the "voice" coming from the huge labour vote polled by Mr. Truman.

Nevertheless, the Republicans are strong enough to force a fight on the issue, and the outcome will depend entirely on the change of attitude—or lack of it—on the part of Democrats who formerly supported the legislation. The official party line will call for outright repeal, if election promises are kept on this issue, and it is reasonable to suppose they will be. In the end, however, compromise may provide a solution, for President Truman himself has invoked the powers of the Taft-Hartley Law for the good of the nation. The trouble with the Taft-Hartley Law, it seems, is that it went too far in one direction, just as its predecessor—the Wagner Act—went too far in the other.

This flaw was pointed out more than once, when the Taft-Hartley Law was being considered by Congress. Even critics more nearly aligned with management than labour warned that the punitive features of the legislation would eventually prove its downfall, and there were appeals for legislation which would be an acceptable compromise between the two extremes. It was admitted that curbs to check abuse of power by labour were essential, but at the same time it was contended that some of the provisions of the Taft-Hartley legislation seemed more inspired by a desire to retaliate than by a desire to revise reasonably. This moderate criticism now appears justified; it will be interesting to see if the Democratic Party will profit from the experience of the Republicans and exercise moderation in revising United States labour legislation.

A Scholar's Golconda

Lieut.-Col. Ralph H. Isham has devoted twenty-five years of his life and the greater part of his private fortune to tracing and buying the private papers of James Boswell, the biographer of Dr. Samuel Johnson. Within the past month he has acquired the last important group of these papers, completing a collection of which one expert has said: "There is enough here to keep fifty scholars busy fifty years".

When Boswell died in 1795 he left collections of letters, diaries and manuscript jottings to the care of his heirs, apparently thinking that they would edit these, and publish at least a selection from them as a literary memorial to himself. But the heirs feared that they might be involved in a literary scandal (for some of Boswell's revelations were strong meat) and did nothing. The papers were dispersed into attics and lofts, and scholars assumed that they had been destroyed. But the tireless Col. Isham, by processes which would have commanded the respect of Sherlock Holmes, traced some of these papers to Malahide Castle in Ireland and others to Fettercairn House in Scotland, and after tedious processes of law and bargaining, bought them for a very great price. In consequence he is now a comparatively poor man, but he has enriched the world of eighteenth century scholarship immeasureably.

Among the treasures brought to light are 1300 pages of the great Life of Johnson, Boswell's journal in which he tells of his first meeting with Johnson, letters to and from David Garrick, John Wilkes, Edmund Burke, Voltaire, Rousseau and Sir Joshua Reynolds; there are unknown poems by Johnson and even a brief account by Johnson of his early life. And these are only the best of the finds; there are fragments and jottings which will materially affect a number of eighteenth century reputations, enhancing some and clarifying others.

These papers give much new light on Boswell himself; Macauley was of the opinion that Boswell was a fool who, by some unexplained accident, wrote a great book; later information showed that Boswell was not a fool but was a man of loose morals and unstable emotions. Neither point of view explained why the impatient and demanding Johnson made a friend and confidant of Boswell. But it appears that these papers reveal Boswell as a man very close to genius, fully able to hold his own in the brilliant Johnson circle. After 150 years Boswell gets his just deserts.

This discovery would not have been possible without the patience, enthusiasm and sacrifice of Col. Isham. He has earned the gratitude of generations of scholars and book-lovers.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The London Times announces that "a glut has been reached in the world's rum supply". "Glut" is a good word to use for too much rum, though "gag" might be even better.

A fashion note says that the "chemise of the '20's will return next Spring". This raises our hopes for a revival of the peekaboo blouse.

Someone in the Washington Star wants to know "the number of gorillas in the U.S.A. and their location". And the Ottawa Citizen suggests that the enquirer may be a football coach, building for '49!

An English court rules that a dog has the same rights as a pedestrian. Dogs should not worry too much, however, as few motorists will intentionally run over them.

A Vienna barber has set a world's record by shaving a man in 14½ seconds But as he apparently said nothing at all while working judges are in doubt as to whether this may be counted as a legitimate shave.

The Ottawa Journal comments that Mr. King has now joined Mr Meighen in Canada's "highly exclusive little club" of living former Prime Ministers. And we predict that, as in most exclusive clubs, the members won't have much to say to each other.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

ONE of the best written underground stories to come out of the war is Julian Amery's Song Of The Eagle—a study in guerrilla war. Amery, at present writing the concluding volume of the Life of Joseph Chamberlain, found himself in Belgrade in the summer of 1939, preparing for his finals at Oxford. When war broke out he accepted an offer to join the staff of the British Legation there. In 1940 the Secret Service entrusted him with the task of preparing a revolt in Albania. He modestly (and humorously) describes his transfer from the Diplomatic to Secret Service. The assistant Naval-Attache, Sandy Glen, turned out to be more interested in activities other than purely diplomatic. Shortly after, Sandy's "Chief" arrived.

"'The Chief,' he said, 'has asked me for a note on the situation in Albania. Of course it's got to be different from what the F.O. give him. I know nothing about the beastly place and wondered if you could help me.'

"Until that moment I had hardly given the country a thought, but I was bored with the routine of office life, and longed for bigger game than the Belgrade editors.

"'Yes, of course,' I answered. 'I'll try and let you have a short memo. on the latest trends by dinner tonight.'

"For a moment, after the door had closed behind him, I was at a loss to know how to begin, and cursed my irresponsibility. Then, deciding to make the best of the situation, I rang up Ralph Parker, the correspondent of The Times to see if he knew any Albanians.

Parker, confessing that he knew two, agreed to get them round for a drink that evening.

✧ ✧ ✧

"ACCORDINGLY, at six o'clock, I repaired to Parker's flat and there was introduced, as a fellow journalist, to Gani and Said Kryeziu. They were the first Albanians I had ever met. Our conversation lasted perhaps an hour; and when it was over I returned to the Legation and there concocted a short memorandum on the Albanian situation. At Sandy's request I handed this to 'the Chief' at dinner, modestly expressing the hope that it might 'throw some more light on the general picture.' The great man glanced thoughtfully at the paper and announced that he would take it to study in Athens, where he was going next day. From the Greek capital he penned a despatch to London, which, among other doubtless more profound observations, contained the following statement:

"'...Our staff in Belgrade would be greatly strengthened by the co-operation of Julian Amery, whose expert knowledge of Albanian affairs would be an invaluable asset to the organization.'

"'God moves in a mysterious way!'"

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Albanian leaders, according to Amery, were of exemplary discretion, but the same could not always be said of their followers. One afternoon when he and Sandy Glen returned from lunch they found two or three hundred Albanian wood-cutters, variously armed with axes and knives, grouped outside the Legation. A few of them were in earnest consultation with John Bennett, who presently discovered what was afoot. Someone, it seemed, had told them that the British would pay them a hundred dinars apiece to wreck the Italian Legation, and, like prudent men, they had come to collect their money in advance!

SYDNEY Smith — the Reverend Sydney Smith—is the subject of one of the latest "Penguins" published. That versatile English biographer, Hesketh Pearson, has penned an entertaining portrait in The Smith Of Smiths.

"It was largely due to Sydney's presence in Edinburgh (writes Pearson) that Scott and a few others started the Friday Club. It was founded on the model of Johnson's Club and the members met for dinner every Friday in Fortune's Tavern. Among the original members were Professors Dugald Stewart and John Playfair, Sydney Smith, Walter Scott, John Archibald Murray, Henry Cockburn, Thomas Campbell, Francis Jeffrey, Francis Horner and Henry Brougham. The Club severely discouraged strangers, with the single exception of old James Watt, who was always welcome when visiting Edinburgh. Until his departure for London, Sydney was the predominant personality, and once at least he was the ringleader in an affair that might have distressed his graver clerical brethren had it been made public.

"An apothecary named Gardiner had a shop in the house immediately to the east of the Assembly Rooms in George Street. Over the door was a head of the Greek doctor, Galen, which certain members of the Club had long wished to possess. But its position was elevated and seemingly well secured. One evening the character of Galen was discussed at the Club, and after the wine had been thoroughly circulated, several of the disputants raised the subject of his personal appearance. From that to the head over the apothecary's shop was an easy and natural step. The hours slipped by, the wine went to and fro, the less adventurous spirits stumbled off to bed, and four men were eventually left round the bottle to settle the question. They were John Playfair (a professor, aged 50), Thomas Thompson (the Deputy Clerk Register and Clerk of Sessions, aged 36), Sydney Smith (a clergyman, aged 27), and Henry Brougham (a barrister, aged 26).

"WHEN the wine was finished, it almost seemed as if the meeting would close without coming to a decision. But Brougham was equal to the occasion. He made his famous punch mixture, a somewhat dangerous beverage of rum, sugar, lemons, marmalade, calves-foot jelly, water, and more rum. It had effect. The professor, the Clerk of Sessions, the clergyman and the barrister sallied forth, and eventually found themselves at the apothecary's shop; or rather three of them found themselves there, the fourth Brougham, having apparently got lost on the way. It was a formidable business which would have alarmed a band of sober professional burglars; but they were amateurs and their sobriety was questionable. The clergyman was hoisted on the railings and was held in position by the professor, while the Clerk of Sessions valiantly attempted to mount the clergyman's back. These arduous and ticklish proceedings took some time, because the Clerk of Sessions, who was in constant danger of being impaled, objected to the casual advice which was being proferred him by the professor, who was swaying safely on the pavement.

✧ ✧ ✧

"IN the midst of an animated discussion, the lights of the watch were descried some distance down the street; the Clerk of Sessions descended to earth with an agility which, exercised earlier, would have achieved the bust; the parson followed; the professor was already round the corner; and a few moments later Galen's head faced the watchmen alone. With the newcomers was a gentleman named Brougham, who had first egged his friends on, then given them the slip, and now played this trick upon them. Already he was marked out for success in politics"

Spiritual Values Must Come First

By DR. WALTER H. JUDD
Montreal Gazette

ONE of the significant developments of our time is that so many profound students of history and science are coming to the same conclusions about the nature of man and the universe which the religious seers came to long ago by insight and inspiration.

When Professor Toynbee summarizes the major conclusions to which his lifelong study of the major civilizations of history has led him, the conviction which he considers most important is simply that man is a moral and spiritual being, living in a moral and spiritual world, under moral and spiritual laws as definite and dependable as the laws of gravity or electricity.

Man can violate those laws, but he cannot break them.

When man violates those laws, they break him and his institutions.

It is not for us to try to create new principles for our time and generation. There are no new principles to be created. Our task is rather to study the past in order to discover the unchanging principles which are revealed there with striking constancy, and then to devise, for our particular problems, solutions based on those principles.

If we do these two things we will live and grow, be useful and happy.

If we persist in putting our faith in false remedies, and in worshipping the gods we ourselves have created — our mechanical skills, our flag, our science, our power, our material success—then we, too, will perish, strutting to our doom like the 20 civilizations before us.

We can win if we will be true to our moral and spiritual nature; but if we will not, then God and history will find others who will, as has happened so many times in the past.

It is we, not God and His laws, who are on trial.

Our concern, therefore, must be that we qualify as a worthy spiritual instrument in our generation, as the founders of our civilization did in theirs. They built the finest material civilization the world has seen—precisely because they sought first the dignity and freedom of individual man as a spiritual being. Because they put that first, not second, the political system which they established was one which released the creative capacities that are in ordinary men everywhere. Thereby has our progress been achieved.

We still have freedom of will—but what shall we choose?

Shall we focus on preserving material results?

Or on reproducing the spiritual causes?

The fruits or the roots? By our decision we will "shape our future for good or for evil."

The plainest lesson of the past is this: that whatever our individual field of labour may be—business, education, government, or any other—the primary condition for survival is that we learn the fixed moral and spiritual principles of the universe, and then apply them successfully to our time and situation.

The decisive factor is not power, but the character of those who control power.

There is no such thing as the brotherhood of man without first of all the fatherhood of God.

Letter To The Editor

Sir: What great need of men of common sense, as well as sacrifice, honour and dignity also, for Peterborough's 1949 Aldermanic Board to oversee very heavy expenditure of the taxpayer's money! One and a half million dollars to finish the half finished hospital! Was the hospital board wholly responsible for getting that far, but no further? We, the people, are now invited to provide the remainder to finish the job. I have always voted for hospital extension, but for far less money than now. These votes never carried. Will this, and then what?

The Memorial Centre's very heavy subscription got us a superior reputation all across Canada. Then with so much money, Peterborough stumbled and did not build this very necessary Centre; got Peterborough a far from good name across Canada. Building material dealers assure me that had we gone ahead then, the necessary materials were to be had, and at far less cost than now. Because of this, the Civic Arena was required, and its collection to complete was so much harder. Years ago the City Council commended the Townsend Street location for the Memorial Centre, far enough from George Street for a good foundation. The very heavy incinerator in the same area shows it can be secured. Lots of room there for the lacrosse field also.

The new City Hall will be built in a few more years, but its location is a question now. Why, with rising taxes and all costs, pay heavily for a location and pull down expensive houses, as at the now proposed block, when we should use Dr. Faludi's advice that "we had great natural advantages, but had not so far used them". We should improve our own centre city block now offered for sale. Use that beautiful stretch of the river; buy much less expensive houses opposite on east side of Water Street, and build the City Hall there; but advance that far in 1949. Shrubbery and trees could hide railway sidings, sheds and other undesirable property.

A ground floor market building is also looked for in the near future. Why sell our suitable sites such as George and Sherbrooke Streets, which we bought from one kindly, agreeable government. Also all the Charlotte-King line location we could also buy from another agreeable government.

This letter is written from a heavy taxpayer in this my home city, and I want and can give nothing of other service. I wrote the council at the beginning of November along this line. The vote cost our forefathers blood; cast it not away as valueless; use it. Our nomination and election day is soon. Be not a later grumbler, but act in the living present. Use your vote after due thought. Use our minds or be unable to use them; nature's way with anything we do not use.

JOSEPH S. BELL.
Hunter Street West.

The Old Toast

Last night the dukes of Bedford and the pubs of Lancashire raised their glasses in a toast. The lonely factor of the Yukon and the storekeeper of Bulawayo stood to the pledge as the radio brought the news. In Penang and in Ceylon, in Egypt and in Malta the words they said were words for that new child born into the palace. And for the mother of that child.

But what if those who drank the toast, the oldest of them, perhaps, found an old word still upon their tongues? What if they forgot, for a second the occasion for which they had been waiting: what if they raised the last glass not to the new but for the old! "The British Empire"—and broke the glass!—Sunday New York Times.

Overlooked The Kinsey Poll

New Yorker cartoonists are talking to themselves about what happened to their prophecies and bets in last week's election, with columnists and pollsters at a heavy discount in the talk. Best comment on everything came the other day from a famous Broadway actress who was headlined at a luncheon club. Said this lady, who incidentally bet on Truman and made herself a lot of money:

"Trouble with you Republicans is that you read the wrong polls. You read Gallup and Roper and Crossley. I read Kinsey."

That brought down the house. It remained down, and in complete bedlam when the actress went on to define a Republican optimist: "He's a man who takes an uncertain view of the future."—Ottawa Journal.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Preserve me, O God; for in thee do I put my trust. O my soul, thou hast said unto the Lord, Thou art my Lord....The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot....

I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved. Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth: my flesh also shall rest in hope. (Ps. 16: 1, 2, 5, 8, 9.)

✧ ✧ ✧

As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness. (Ps. 17: 15.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For we are labourers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building....

Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?..

Therefore let no man glory in men. For all things are your's ...And ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's. (1 Cor. 3: 9, 16, 21, 23.)

The Maid Problem

There has just come into my possession (writes "H. T.") my great-grandmother's cookery book, "A New System of Domestic Cookery formed upon Principles of Economy and adapted to the use of Private Families by a Lady." The following advice is still alarming:—

MAIDS

Should likewise be hung one day at least. They may be broiled or fried; or, if a tolerable size, the middle may be boiled and the fins fried. They should be dipped in egg, and covered with crumbs.

The great Oxford Dictionary defines "Maid" as "the name given to the skate and thornback when young." And an illustration dated 1598 runs as follows:—

"Take out the guts of maids before they are old enough to breed."

Can one wonder that the genus "Maid" is now extinct?—Manchester Guardian.

To Remember A Name

When you meet a person for the first time, repeat his name in acknowledging the introduction, and use it frequently in the ensuing conversation. This helps to fix the name in your mind.

Then associate the name with something no matter how stupid or foolish it may be Look for some peculiar characteristic through which you can associate the face with the name.

Then tell your friends that you met him using his name again to fix it in your mind So if you use a name three or four times you are more likely to remember that it is his.—Chatham News.

A GOOD TARGET

Two Irishmen arranged to fight a duel with pistols. One of them was very stout, and when he saw his lean adversary facing him he raised an objection.

"Bedad!" he said. "I'm twice as big a target as he is, so I ought to stand twice as far away from him as he is from me."

"Be aisy now," replied his second, "I'll put that right."

Taking a piece of chalk from his pocket, he drew two lines down the stout man's coat leaving a space between them.

"Now," he said, turning to the thin man "fire away, ye spalpeen, and remember that any hits outside the chalk mark don't count."

4 Die In Bus Crash

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 22.—(Reuters).— Four persons were killed and 21 hurt Sunday night when a crowded double-decker bus was involved in a head-on collision with a private car in the south-eastern London suburb of Dulwich. The four persons killed were the occupants of the car.

THE HUMANE SOCIETY of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, is ever on the alert against discomfort for animals and with the approach of winter citizens throughout Canada are urged not to neglect their pets. The work of the society is of far-reaching worth. It carries on a constant, efficient program of conservation of animal and bird life which merits the support of the public. Daily the society restores and lengthens the lives of thousands of friendly, beloved, peaceful, unselfish creatures which help to brighten these days of darkness. The talian greyhound at left shows no signs of neglect. In fact he is well-looked after with a comforter to keep him warm. Needless to say all animals respond to good grooming and care and the two poodles at right clearly illustrate the point.

Doubt Russia's Wheat Claims

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22 —(CP)— Canadian experts maintained today that Russia's claims of experiments with a branched wheat capable of producing five times as much as standard varieties sounded like "extravagant talk."

Dr. P. J. Olson of the plant science department at the University of Manitoba said he doubted "very much, judging from past experience, that they have been able to grow a wheat of the branched variety that would yield five times as much as our standard varieties."

The "mere fact" that it is a branched variety "doesn't necessarily mean that you can multiply the contents as compared to that of single-headed wheat," Dr. Olson said. He added that this was not the first time that claims had been made of the discovery of branched wheat with further value than other brands.

Sees Shack Afire, Thinks Persons In It Hair Singed As Building Burns Down

LINDSAY, Nov. 22.—An empty frame shack quickly burned to the ground Friday night during the power cutoff on the Little Britain highway, about 400 yards outside Lindsay's limits.

The shack belonged to A. McNeilly, who had moved out with his family of four children about one month ago.

Living near the shack is Mrs. R. M. Clarke, whose son, Allan, went running along the road because he thought there was someone living there, and on opening the front door got his hair singed. His uncle, Douglas Mitchell, who is on leave from the army, discovered the fire and phone the fire hall.

When the fire truck got there the whole place was one mass of flames, with no place to draw water. Shortly after the place was burned to the ground.

One unconfirmed report says that it started on the outside.

BUDAPEST— The "liquidation of clerical reaction" is imminent in Hungary, Erno Gero, Communis Minister of Transport, said. Gero declared Josef Cardinal Mindszenty is "the head of the reaction."

LOS ANGELES — Frenchman Claude Marsan, self-styled great lover, faced a woman and chose to remain in jail. He appeared before Judge Mildred Lillie on a charge of conducting a lewd show before minors in a local bar. Marsan took one look at Her Honor and said: "I would like another day so I may study my plea." Barbara Weir, Marsan's partner in an alleged lecture on love, was released on bail.

Loses A Leg

TORONTO—A creeping fungus disease has cost William Ayres, Oshawa war veteran, his left leg and a year's work. Now recovered, he has gone into partnership in a saw-filing business.

OAKVILLE — By setting up roadblocks over a wide area, police arrested Russell Hourrocks, 17, of RR 2, Paris, and Robert Henderson, 20, of Paris, for Woodstock police. Local police said they had been notified that the automobile in which the youths were travelling had been stolen in Cannington.

MORRISBURG — An attempt will be made to pull the freighter Milverton off the St. Lawrence River shoal on which it foundered west of her in September, 1947. If tugs succeed in raising the vessel, they will tow it to Port Weller for rebuilding.

SHANGHAI — Three hundred doctors, nurses and officials of Lester Chinese hospital demanded a 35-per-cent wage increase. They threatened to give free injections and medicine if they didn't get it soon.

CHICAGO—About 100 fur coats with a total value of approximately $100,000 were reported stolen from a Chicago fur company. Entrance to the premises was gained by battering in a door. A burglar alarm failed to operate.

OXFORD, N.C.—A man asked some boys whether they had seen his 13-year-old son, George Wallace Inscoe, Jr. They told the father he was standing outside of his home, his head inside a window. When the boys raised the window, young George's lamp body fell off the barrel on which he was standing. He was dead of a broken neck. Police said the boy was killed when the window sash fell.

TORONTO — Brightly-colored interiors for Toronto street-cars are being considered by the Toronto Transportation Commission. If the new color scheme is approved, red leather seats will replace the present dark green ones and the gray of the walls will give place to two shades of blue.

NAPANEE—Convicted on three charges of using cancelled postage stamps, Mrs. Carole Ham of Ernestown Township, has been fined $10 and costs or 15 days on each charge. If the jail terms are served, they will be consecutive.

ST. THOMAS—Poultrymen in this district say Christmas turkeys this year will be scarce and expensive. They say Detroit buyers are paying 59 cents a pound live weight for hen turkeys and trucking them right away from the farms.

BARRIE—When the small rowboat from which they were fishing overturned, Stephen Steddings and James Gill, both of Barrie, were thrown into the cold water of Kempenfeldt Bay. Other fishermen rescued them.

Senior COSSA Honors Won By PCVS For Third Season

By FRED MAYBEE

Bev Goulding's Peterborough Collegiate seniors are COSSA champions for the third successive year. Saturday's 20-0 victory over Burlington to climax a highly successful season's play marked the seventh straight win including three shutouts for the colorful local squad.

Since October 2, PCVS are undefeated having compiled a total of 235 points in six regular and one exhibition games and have had but 40 scored against them, a record comparable to any achieved by great Collegiate teams of the past.

Saturday's game at Burlington was played at the high school grounds before a large crowd of fans which crammed the stands and sidelines to capacity and they went home satisfied the better team had won. The staff and students of Burlington High proved good hosts as well as sportsmen as they congratulated Coach Goulding and his players heartily after the game and served a fine lunch to all. Captain Blair Thomson thanked Mr. Bates and the students for their hospitality and commended them for their good sportsmanship, in defeat.

Soggy Field

Hainsworth kicked off for Burlington on a soggy field with a sharp northwest wind against him and Graham and Thomson plunged for eight yards after Green ran to his rivals 50. Graham hoofed to the rival goal line and play continued hard in Burlington territory until the five minute mark with PCVS driving in to score. Hainsworth kicked from behind his own goal and as his kick hit the crossbar, Swanston and Hempstead tackled him 10 yards behind his line for a safety touch, after he snared his own rebound. This was a break to start PCVS on the way with two points.

Wally Graham scored a try at the 13 minute mark to make it 7-0 as Hainsworth's short kick to his own 40 was offset still further by a 10-yard penalty for no yards to the lakeshore squad, and Thomson and Graham plunged, with the latter making a great run around left end to score through a maze of players. The convert failed. A pass, Green to Northcott, near quarter time, took the latter to Burlington 35 when PC VS switched to aerial attack as their rival's line held well.

A centre pass to Swanston as the teams changed ends brought PCVS close in. Utter intercepted the next pass however and the home squad held on as Cooper, Hainsworth and Skene led in a gallant attempt to stave off the power of PCVS attack. The line of Swanston, Grainger, Lowes, Killingbeck, Beavis, Robinson, Hempstead, Fitzpatrick, Buck and their mates never played better. Finally, Al Payne snared a Skene pass and ran to his rivals 30, Green took a quarter sneak for five more and Graham lined low to Hainsworth. The latter got out however, but seconds later Aram snapped low to Skene and Beavis and Ward downed him behind the line for another safety to make it 9-0 at half-time.

Tried Passes

Burlington took the leeward end by choice to open the second and attempted several passes and end runs in a futile effort to open up PCVS defence but only one of seven passes clicked. Peterborough made five of eight tosses good — one for a touchdown. Hence, no strategy seemed to help Stu Freeman's boys to score though defensively they showed well, till late in the third stanza. Then Green, Graham and Northcott combined to increase their margin and assure final victory. Green ran a kick to mid-field and Graham plunged twice, losing ground the first time but skirting left end for 25 on the second to Burlington's 35. Green then tossed a long cross field pass to Northcott who made another spectacular catch and ran 15 yards around right end for a major. It was a picture play. Conversion failed.

Graham kicked a long single in the fourth as Beavis recovered Hainsworth's fumble on the latter's 25 and PCVS took the point on the next play. Play continued fairly even for six minutes, when a Thomson to Green pass clicked to the rival 30 and the latter carried to the 12. PCVS then lost possession as they almost scored and a Skene to Forsayeth pass for 20 yards put the home squad safe for a moment. At this point however, Blair Thomson recovered a costly fumble by Burlington on an attempted lateral passing play and ran hard for 22 yards to score standing up, making it 20-0. The convert failed. Thus ended the scoring although the hot pace continued to the end, with play at Burlington's 10 at the finish.

For Peterborough, the entire team looked well playing sound football throughout. Northcott, Graham, Thomson, Green and Coon worked well on the secondary defence in every kind of going while the entire front wall to a man shone for the Garnet and Gray. For Burlington, Floyd Cooper, Floyd Vivian, Don McFarlane, Ken Butt, Bill Nelson and Dick Hainsworth were best.

PCVS Seniors — Flying wing, Coon; halves, Northcott, Graham, Thomson; snap, Killingbeck; quarter, Green; insides, Hempstead, Buck; middles, Lowes, Beavis; outsides, Swanston, Grainger; alternates, Stacey, Lane, Woodcock, Fitzpatrick, Wright, English, Ward, Hamblin, Robinson, Sergeant, Payne and Welsh.

Burlington High School—Flying wing, Forsayeth; halves, Cooper, Hainsworth, McFarlane; quarter, Skene; snap, Aram; Insides, Vivian, Heagle; middles, Utter, Palmer; outsides, Fortner, Marshall; alternates, Fisher, Cole, Butt, Gall, Glover, Bowes, Nelson, Gillies, Patterson, Vill Vivian, Vinter, Don. Fitzpatrick.

Referee, Carm Bush, Toronto; umpire, Don Ferguson, Hamilton; head linesman, Murray Thorpe, Toronto.

STELLAR MAT CARD—Wednesday's card at the Brock Arena should be one of the best of the whole season. The stellar Australian wrestler Fred Atkins, shown above with a feminine admirer, will be introduced here against Big Ben Morgan. Atkins is rated one of the top wrestlers of the world but even so, the mighty Morgan may jolt him severely. Pat Flanagan and Dan O'Connor meet in the semi-final while Jack Wentworth comes into meet Charlie Green. A special fourth bout will see a renewal of the feud between Nick Futa and Nick Vicchiarelli.

Dutchmen Edge Tigers 3-2; Mercurys Win

By The Canadian Press

A win for the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen and Toronto Marlboros' first defeat in 10 starts shot the Dutchmen three points ahead of the pack in the Ontario Hockey Association senior race.

The Kitchener-Waterloo club edged out Hamilton Tigers 3-2 in Waterloo Saturday while up in Owen Sound the Mercurys were beating Marlboros 4-3.

The week-end left Marlies and Tigers tied in second place.

In the junior circuit, St. Michael's split 3-3 with Windsor Spitfires and Marlboros edged Guelph Biltmores 6-5 in afternoon games. At night Barrie bounced Oshawa Generals 6-0 and Galt Rockets hit Stratford Kroehlers 8-2.

Doug Verity was the man on the spot for Dutchmen, scoring the winning goal midway through the final period. Trent Anderson and Bill Curick had scored in the first period while Murray Comfort and Frank Liscombe tied it up for Tigers.

4 Points Ahead

Owen Sound moved four points ahead of the last-place Stratford Indians by beating Marlboros, as Bruce Small and Mike Shabaga scored in the final frame to bring Mercury's from behind. Bun White and Jack Ingoldsby got the other Owen Sound goals while Flash Hollett, Billy Johnson and Ray Hannigan scored for Toronto.

The junior games left the idle St. Catharines Teepees tied for first place with Windsor but the Spitfires have three games in hand. Oshawa and Barrie are tied five points behind.

Barrie caught Oshawa as a result of the 6-0 shutout. Gary Gordon paced the 1947 Memorial Cup finalists with Long, Chevrefils, McNabney and Keefe each adding a goal.

Officials handed out 22 penalties, four of them majors for a second period brawl.

Harold Hopper blasted in three goals as Galt picked up its fifth victory of the year and moved into a tie with St. Mike's, four points ahead of the last-place junior Marlboros. Tkachuk and Broughton each added two and Horvath and Yeamans scored one each. Bob Armstrong and Bibber O'Hearn replied for Stratford.

Marlies had a 5-2 lead with little more than eight minutes left against Guelph but three quick goals by Ron Ferguson, Butch Martin, and Gar Vasey tied it up and Howie Lee got the winner with less than three minutes left. Ron Regan, George Armstrong, Neil Grenke, Bob Galand and Bobby Knowles got the other Toronto goals with Don Oberholtzer the fourth Guelph marksman.

Bruce Giesbrecht evened things for Windsor after St. Mike's went into a third period lead. Larry Wilson and Bob McKay got the other Windsor goals with Gord Hannigan, Don Rope and Red McCarthy tallying for St. Mike's.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Congratulations to PCVS senior and junior gridders—you really gave us one for the book Saturday. In Burlington, Coach Bev Goulding's senior PCI-ers captured their third straight senior COSSA crown. And here the same aft, Coach Alex Londry's junior Garnet and Gray boys beat Port Colborne to bring the Peterborough Collegiate its first junior COSSA championship. Great stuff. A regular producer of good high school football teams, the local Collegiate staff insists upon all players keeping well up in studies—or they're dropped from the team. All games and practices are over and above school periods.

* * * * * *

The scrap at the Oval was a dandy. More than 600 fans thrilled to the open and exciting playing—with enough fumbles and penalties to keep everyone worried. And play plenty tight throughout. "Toughest line we've ever run into," Coach Londry said afterward, of the Ports, "but our superior condition paid off toward the end." It is his third year as junior coach and now, losing two-thirds of his players to senior company, he will have to start re-building next autumn. There was a big Collegiate victory dance after, with the senior club arriving during the shank of the evening, and no doubt a banquet, or two, is in the offing. The teams rate it.

* * * * * *

They All Went Well

PCVS juniors had to really drive the last half, and they did it. Fine aerial work, and the linemen settled down the last two quarters. Al McIlraith showed swell tackling, while the work of Roy Armstrong in toting the ball was outstanding. Don Griffin, Brian Young, Warren Brown and Ted Evans again shone. They all did against stiff opposition, the Ports fighting fiercely to the final whistle. Hubert Knox suffered a broken arm in the third quarter, a tough break, but he was at the dance with the arm in a cast later. Yes, it was a big day and night for the junior gridiron heroes.

* * * * * *

And likewise for the senior squad. Both coaches are quite proud of their charges, and both deserve much credit for their work. The senior PCVS pack looked potent all season and their win in Burlington was clear-cut and decisive. Played first-rate football against a good club to earn it handily. The fact that it's three straight COSSA titles for Collegiate is really worthy of note. Wonder how many other high school teams can boast such a record. While some of the ace players on this team are finished now as high school rugbyists—and they bow out on a high note indeed—the school will come up with another classy club next fall, no doubt.

* * * * * *

Looked Like Champs

Conditions in Burlington weren't the best, but the winners made no mistakes and cashed in fast on any slip by the other side. The linemen turned in a whale of an effort and 'twould be unfair to single any out. Opened holes, drove hard and tackled in fine fashion. Two safety touches, a single point on a kick, along with two majors for Wally Graham and one for Al Northcott. This pair, Bill Coon and husky Blair Thomson—smart team captain—all were quite prominent on the attack and at secondary defence. But it was teamwork, training and conditions that made it the third straight senior title for the PCI-ers.

* * * * * *

A boys' council has been elected to work with the Trojan Athletic Club executive, these chaps being Lionel Bloom, Jim Stewart, Glen Pagett and Ed Dunn. They had a meeting recently at which OMHA crests were presented to the peewee puck champs by Coach Jerry Pagett. A hockey movie "Hot Ice" was shown and enjoyed muchly by the lads. Quite a bunch have been registered so far but others may contact Mr. Lundy at Douglas Ave. or Mr. Jennings, 564 Patterson St. evenings between 5.30 and 7.30. A number of the boys offered to turn out and help on odd jobs an evening here or there, and more are invited to lend a hand as the hockey season approaches.

* * * * * *

Bearded Ben Is Back

Big Ben Morgan, 322 pounds of beard and muscle from down Tennessee way, is back in the main mat bout at the Brock Arena this Wednesday night. He meets Fred Atkins, huge Australian champ, in two out of three falls. Morgan was pretty burned up at the odd fall Whipper Watson won over him here a week ago and is after a return go. If he takes Atkins this time, it is likely the Whip will be rematched. The semi-final has Pat Flanagan in against strong Dan O'Connor, while the prelim features Charlie Green and Jack Wentworth, a couple of scrappy pro grapplers. And an added attraction is a rematch between Nick Futa of Detroit and Peterborough's Nick Vicchiarelli. It shapes up as another fast and furious card for the fans.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

Today we will use this column mainly, on the rules of the game.

A week of curling has passed, and as we stood in on "No. 8" and looked out on the ices, we noticed many of the rules were broken. We believe in many cases, it was just that they didn't know the rules. There was no intention to deliberately break any rule. This goes for some of the older players as well as the many new players.

If it will help any, and until such a time that we all become better acquainted with these rules, we will print one rule each day, and it does appear to us that the simpler the rule, the easier broken.

These rules have been well prepared and have been adopted by the Ontario Curling Association, with which our club is affiliated.

Today's Rule

"Each player must play from the hack and must release the handle of the stone before the stone and passed the sweeping score."

The turnout on Saturday afternoon was small. Maybe the boys had enough for the first week. Maybe the staggered working hours had something to do with it.

In the evening there were 10 mixed rinks out. B. Ashmore and T. Doughty were the winning skips.

Tonight Groups No. 1 and No. 2 play.

Week-End Stars

By The Canadian Press

Bill Durnan, Montreal netminder, who scored his fourth shutout of the season as Canadiens setback the Red Wings 3-0 in Detroit.

Tony Leswick, diminutive Ranger left-winger who whipped in two goals as New York downed the Bruins 4-1 at Boston.

Joe Klukay, Toronto forward, who after he had been sent to the dressing room with a cut head, returned to the ice to score the tying goal as the Leafs battled the Black Hawks to a 3-3 deadlock in Chicago.

Flyers Chalk Up Two Victories Over Pittsburgh

By The Canadian Press

American Hockey League standings remained unchanged in the western division while the Philadelphia - Washington swap for cellar position was the only eastern section change after nine games were played over the week-end.

The Rockets now hold a one point lead over last place Lions, the result of their 7-5 victory over the Lions Saturday night.

St. Louis Flyers chalked up two straight victories over Pittsburgh Hornets to strengthen their hold on first place in the western division. The Flyers defeated them 5-4 Saturday and took Sunday night's tilt 5-3.

Buffalo Bisons maintained their unbeaten home record Sunday night by downing Springfield Indians 4-1 while Indianapolis Capitals and New Haven Ramblers fought to a five-all stalemate.

Providence Reds, leaders in the eastern section, unleashed their strongest attack of the season to smother Cleveland Barons 9-2.

Don Grosso notched three goals for the victorious Flyers while Lloyd Doran and Tony Licari shared the balance of the scoring. Snipers for the Hornets were Rey Ceresino who got two counters and Rudy Migay.

The Murdo MacKay, Fred Hunt George Pargeter line again set the pace for Buffalo each member bagging a goal.

Art Lessard got the other Buffalo tally while the lone Springfield goal was scored by Rene Trudel on a pass from Bill Warwick.

Brilliant Scoring

Indianapolis put on a brilliant scoring drive in the second period to score four goals in little more than three minutes. Calum MacKay blinked the red light twice during the spree. Gerald Reid and Fred Gover also founds the mark. Podolsky notched the other Caps' marker. Sherman White accounted for two of New Haven's points. George Johnston, Gerry Claude and Webster scored once apiece.

Providence took a one point lead in the first session then broke the game wide open with a 3-goal blast in the second frame and then picked up five more tallies in the finale.

OAC Captures Championship

GUELPH, Nov. 22 (CP) — Ontario Agricultural College came from behind Saturday to beat a surprising Queen's University crew 18-9 and win their second straight Intercollegiate football championship.

Queen's uncorked a pass attack that dazed the Aggies but couldn't match them in strength along the ground.

Goomer Rathby crashed right through twice for OAC touchdowns in the second quarter after a placement by Jack Cuddie and Jack Robert's converted touchdown had sent Queen's into the lear.

Kev Kennedy romped for a last-quarter touchdown for Aggies. He converted his own major in the final quarter the hard way. Quarterback Bill Anderson fumbled the snap. As the ball lay on the ground, Kennedy lashed out at it with his left foot and the ball soared over the cross-bar.

There was no argument when Referee Charley Prince allowed the point. Prince said after the game: "I'd never seen it happen before and I've never heard of it happening."

Canadiens Blank Red Wings Leafs Manage Two Draws

By The Canadian Press

The race for the National Hockey League leadership tightened over the week-end as Boston pulled into a tie for first place with Detroit and Montreal edged up one point behind the leaders.

Canadiens beat the league-leading Detroit Red Wings 3-0 in Detroit Sunday night while New York Rangers downed Boston Bruins 4-1 at Boston. Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston tied 2-2 at Toronto Saturday and then invaded the windy city Sunday to gain another standoff with the Black Hawks, 3-3.

In one of the fastest games of the week-end, Frankie Boucher's Broadway Blueshirts showed they are not to be shrugged off as a second division club as they outscored the Bruins, 4-1.

Little Tony Leswick sparked the victors with two goals, one on a solo attempt to give the Rangers a tie for fourth position in the league with Toronto. It was the Bruins first setback on their home ice in six starts.

Fourth Shutout

Bill Durnan, stellar Montreal netminder, recorded his fourth shutout of the season when Montreal blanked the Red Wings 3-0. Durnan proved himself the rugged type when after getting two teeth knocked out in the first frame on a shot by Detroit's Jerry Couture, he kept his cage free from enemy pucks for the remainder of the game.

Rip Riopelle and Elmer Lach gave Canadiens the jump with a pair of first-period markers, and after a scoreless second session, Billy Reay clinched matters when he beat Harry Lumley after taking passes from Joe Carveth and Bobby Filion.

Watching the game from the sidelines were Emil (Butch) Bouchard, Canadien defenceman and Ted Lindsay, Detroit forward. Bouchard was injured over a week ago and has been sidelined with torn tendons in his left knee. Lindsay who started off the season up in the high scoring brackets is recovering from a shattered ankle.

Two Draws

The once mighty Toronto Maple Leafs found the best they could do in their two games over the week-end was a couple of draws. Saturday night they tied Bruins 2-2 and Sunday night they played to a 3-3 deadlock with the Black Hawks.

Vic Lynn's first goal of the season paid dividends by giving the Leafs a saw-off against the Bruins. Lynn also made the play for the first Toronto counter, while Johnny Peirson and Pete Babando hit the target for Boston.

Joe Klukay, Toronto forward, proved he also was the rugged sort. In the first period Klukay was knocked out before he even got into the game. Seated on the Leafs' bench, he was struck on the head by Gaye Stewart's stick. He was taken to the dressing room for repairs. Coming back out with murder in his eye he banged in the tying goal for the Toronto squad with less than three minutes to play.

Wild Bill Ezinicki and Ted Kennedy fired the other goals, while Doug Bentley, Bill Gadsby and Jimmy Conacher connected for the Hawks.

Riders Trounce Hamilton 19-0 To Capture Title

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—(CP). — Two crowns down and a third to go, Ottawa Rough Riders today were preparing to meet Calgary Stampeders for the Grey Cup on foreign ground.

The Riders, who won the Big Four and Eastern Canadian championship on home soil, will lock with the Western Canadian champions in Toronto's Varsity Stadium next Saturday.

They earned their way into the battle for the Canadian football crown by walloping Hamilton Tigers 19-0 Saturday.

The Tigers, Ontario rugby football champions, met the Riders on a muddy, foggy field. They were badly outplayed from the start.

Led by Tony (Golden Boy) Golab, the powerful Riders started their victory march towards the Hamilton end early in the game. They broke the Tigers' line for three touchdowns, all converted, and a single point.

Gets 2 Touchdowns

Golden Boy Golab—a wounded veteran of the Second World War—provided two of the touchdowns, one in the first and another in the third quarter. Bert Haigh took Bob Paffrath's second quarter pass from 10 yards out to provide the third. Eric Chipper converted all three.

Playing a dazzling game for the Riders and doing most of the booting, Howie (Touchdown) Turner kicked a single in the second quarter.

The Tigers had an early setback when playing-coach Frank Filchock injured his arm. It struck Golab's helmet in the first quarter. But despite the injury Filchock continued to play but was hit hard by the Rider line.

The Rider line also did some heavy crushing as the Tigers continued to put up a spirited but ineffective offensive.

In the final quarter, the Hamiltonians finally made some headway, driving into Rider territory.

Soccer Growing In Popularity With Canadians

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—(CP).—Soccer, which has long been a game for immigrants from European and Asiatic countries, is gradually developing more and more Canadian-born players.

Soccer comes closer to be a universal sport than any other game known. It's played in all corners of the earth, yet strangely enough, it's only taken up by the odd few in Quebec.

Elmer (Montreal) Ferguson brought the subject to the fore by saying that perhaps the triumphs of the Montreal Carsteel team this season marks the beginning of a new era in the game here, an era in which athletes of Canadian birth will take on soccer in increasing numbers.

"The team has won four championships and the McKellar trophy, but the point of most interest, we think," comments Fergie, "is the fact that Doug McMahon, captain of the team, is the greatest Canadian-born player of all time.

"He scored 71 goals the past season, a Canadian record. And the secondary point of interest is that the entire Carsteel team has been doing missionary work on behalf of their game in the schools and other institutions of Montreal.

Hundreds of school children caught the soccer whim as Carsteel put on exhibitions and explained what they did after each play and why they did it.

"So in addition to being a great soccer club and a fine sports organization the Carsteel team is doing a job in planting the soccer idea in the minds of Montreal youth, which is the only way to establish the game as a successful sports venture in these Dominions," concludes Fergie.

Varsity Takes Football Crown Ends Reign Of Western Team

By JACK MITCHELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Nov. 22 (CP) — College football has a new champion toast today in the University of Toronto Blues, Coach Bob Masterson's husky and superbly drilled machine that finally halted University of Western Ontario's long reign in the East's Intercollegiate Union.

The big blue team ground to its first title since 1936 by beating Western 18-7 before a throng of more than 20,000 at Varsity Stadium Saturday, ending the string of three official and one unofficial title racked up by Johnny Metras' Mutang in holding the crown since 1939.

It was a stirring triumph for a team that started its season with two successive losses, then had to win four straight just to get into this sudden-death post-season playoff. The Blues did it the hard way, beating the Mustangs 23-8 the previous Saturday in the final game of the regular schudule.

It was equally a gallant defeat for the Mustangs, crippled by the loss of six regulars and up against a Varsity team geared to a pitch that would let it do no wrong. Though the Blues put on a dazzling display of aerial and running attacks, they never once lost the ball on a fumble.

No Favorites

So much did the Blues function as a team that even their screaming supporters who snake-danced to city hall after the game could hardly pick a favorite.

Perhaps the game's standout was Bruce Cummings, the 21-year-old triple threat fullback from Ottawa who threw forwards for two touchdowns and kicked two converts and a single. Or it may have been either Nick Volpe or John Chorestecki, who each caught one of those touchdown tosses.

Another candidate for the hero's mantle was Tommy Waldon, the stocky quarterback who, as Cummings said later, "called all the plays and called them 100 per cent perfect." But how could you pick anyone over Jack Gray, who featured a great offensive and defence show at outside wing by snaring a pass from Waldon for Varsity's other touchdown?

On one play alone, Alex Lawson earned top rating. The hard-hitting outside from St. Catharines tore in to spill Jack Parry on an attempted forward and force a fumble that led to Varsity's first touchdown. That play was the break of the game, breaking a 1-1 deadlock and starting a rally that gave Varsity a 13-1 lead by half-time.

Little To Cheer At

The crowd of 5,000 who came from London, Ont., to help their team "trample Toronto" had little to cheer about after Varsity wiped out Western's one-point first-quarter lead with a 13-point second quarter. Their biggest moment came in the final quarter when Parry featured a belated drive by scoring and converting a touchdown.

This was the final opportunity for more than a dozen Varsity players, the team veterans who had eaten Mustangs' dust for three consecutive seasons. Masterson loses that many by graduation—team captain Ian Clark, Jack Williams, Dave Copp, Ernie Jeans, Bill Stockman, Eddie Huycke, Johnny Shore, Art Hardman, Eric McMillan, Ted Toogood, Nick Volpe, Tommy Waldon and Cliff Beaty.

Statistically, the Mustangs were not badly beaten. They gained 17 first downs to Varsity's 18, outrushed the Blues by 253 yards to 208 but made only 91 yards passing to Varsity's 127. Cummings gave the Blues an edge in forwards, completing nine of 18 against Western's six of 19, and also gained five yards a punt with his average kick of 45 yards.

But the Blues had the finish when it counted. The Blues second touchdown was a honey, Waldon taking the ball on the Western five as if to plunge and throwing a perfect forward to Gray across the goal-line. They made the same brilliant use of others in Masterson's repetoire of plays, as mystifying a collection of razzle-dazzle as ever shown here.

Maybe that's why university president Sidney Smith kissed Masterson on the city hall steps at the victory rally.

Screen Activities

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 — (CP).—Hon. Lai Lien, member of the Yuan (Legislative Assembly) in China, said Saturday that Russia is using the Berlin blockade and threat of war in Western Europe to screen warlike activity in supporting the Chinese Communist army drive in China.

St. Paul Has Checked Minneapolis Victories

By The Canadian Press

St. Paul has checked the fast-climbing Minneapolis Millers' undefeated string at 10 games in the United States Hockey League.

The Saints produced the first shutout of the season in blanking Minneapolis Sunday night 2-0. The Millers stepped into the Northern Division's second place Saturday with a 6-1 decision over the Saints, but slipped back to third behind St. Paul Sunday night.

Kansas City and Omaha split their week-end games. The Pla-Mors bumped Omaha Sunday night after the Knights took Saturday's match 3-2.

Dallas defeated Houston 4-1 Sunday night to climb out of the Southern Division and dump the Huskies into last place. Dallas tied Fort Worth, 3-3, Saturday.

Tulsa administered a 12-1 beating to Houston in the other Saturday game.

Here And There In Sports . . .

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Paul McLaughlin, Toronto yachtsman, and captian of Canada's yachting team at the 1948 Olympics, Saturday urged Amateur Athletic Union of Canada delegates, in session at 55th annual meeting in London, Ont., to apply to Olympic authorities to have the 1960 games held in Canada.

Mr. McLaughlin said he believed it was time this country applied for the games. It is too late to do anything about either the 1952 or 1956 games, he said, but urged delegates to seek the 1960 Olympics.

Billy Stout, Ontario trotting champion from Frank Plaunt's Brantford stable, won the $1,500 free-for-all trot at the Toronto Dufferin Park harness racing meet Saturday.

Billy Stout won the second elimination heat, then came home in 2:23 in th efinal 1 1-16 mile heat.

Projectile, from the Richelieu Park stables of Montreal, won the first heat but finished third in the final right behind Buster, owned by the De Kalk, N.Y., stable of McTavish and Seymour who placed second to Billy Stout in the elimination.

Dick Birch, 1948 Canadian badminton singles champion, Sunday night was named playing captain of the Canadian team to play India in the first round of Thomas Cup play.

Other members of the team to play in Toronto Dec. 3 and 4 named by the Canadian Badminton Association after a four-day round-robin tournament are:

Johnny Samis, Vancouver; Ted Pollock of Toronto and Roy Smith of Woodstock, 1948 Canadian doubles champions; Gord Simpson of Montreal and Daryl Simpson of Vancouver.

Chicago White Sox were reported Sunday night at Chicago to be considering a $100,000-player deal involving third baseman Bob Dillinger of St. Louis Browns.

In preliminary talks, the Browns are said to have asked $100,000 and three Sox players for Dillinger, who batted .321 last season and topped the American League in base stealing.

The only White Sox player the Brown are reported to have labelled acceptable thus far is outfielder Dave Philley.

At Los Angeles, fight manager Tommy Farmer today accused the National Boxing Association of "persecuting" his world bantamweight champion, Manuel Ortiz.

Considerably wrought up, Farmer charged that N.B.A. boss Abe Greene was trying to "intimidate" his fighter by threatening to declare the bantam crown vacant unless Ortiz defends it soon.

"Greene is trying to be a czar of boxing, but at the same time he lets the New York Boxing Commission dominate his actions," Farmer said.

"Joe Louis says he isn't going to defend his heavyweight title until next June. Why don't Greene declare that title vacant?"

PCVS Beats Port Colborne For Junior COSSA Crown

By CEC PERDUE

Defeating Port Colborne Collegiate 23-12 here Saturday, Coach Alex Londry's local PCVS gridders captured the junior Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association championship before more than 600 excited fans in Nicholls Oval. The visiting huskies, COSSA champions last year, went down battling fiercely in a hard-fought playoff, but the Peterborough boys earned the victory.

The Ports had a 1-0 edge the first quarter, and they were still in front 6-5 at the half. PCVS bored in there in the third for a 6-1 quarter margin and an 11-7 lead on the game. They then outscored the redshirts 12-5 in a hot final frame. The peninsula pack was ploughing hard into Peterborough territory at the finish.

Tough Break

Hubert Knox, classy PCVS lineman, went out in the third quarter with a fractured arm, being taken to the hospital, after a pile-up. Several other players on either side suffered minor injuries—particularly as the game wore into the late stages—as they shot the works. The skies were cloudy but the footing fairly good and the wind not too strong to seriously hamper hoofing. The rivals were well-matched on weight and speed with the losers' line outplaying the home front wall the first half.

Forward passing played a big part in the Garnet and Gray triumph. The tossing of Don Griffin left little to be desired and the Ports had not much defence against his long floaters. Also, an intercepted pass led directly to a local touchdown. Port Colborne took desperately to the air the last quarter and one pass paid off for a major count.

Had An Edge

Early in the initial inning, Carrothers and Stephens moved the sticks for the Lake Erie lads, but Evans ran Rajczak's punt out to the home 25. Grist came out with a cut near the eye and a kicking exchange followed. Ports drove again, playing most of this period well into PCVS territory, and Rajczak booted a long one to deadline for a point. Young kicked to the other's 40-yard chalk and Wallace knifed the line for a first down. Held later, they put the toe to it. Brown skirted end for yards for the home crew and Frise bucked seven. Griffin's kick was partly blocked but Armstrong then ran out Rajczak's hoof. Brown got yards but a home fumble was snaffled by Carrothers on PCVS 15 at quarter's end.

Strong opened the second chukker by an end run to score standing up, the convert missing, and the score was 6-0. Griffin flipped one ahead to Jensen, who ran 10 to Ports' 40-yard strip. A backfield fumble was pounced on by the visitors, but Armstrong intercepted a pass on his 40. Brown bucked seven and a kicking exchange followed. Armstrong shook loose to gallop 15 and Brown bucked yards. A long forward to Evans put the pigskin on the Port Colborne 20-yard mark. But they were held then. Armstrong had a nice runback but a penalty made them kick. Karpinchik plunged to move the sticks and Griffin later ran a short kick back 20. A Griffin-Armstrong pass on third down paid off and, after two bucks for five, Griffin plunged across, the convert missing.

Went Ahead

Early in the third, Armstrong ran punt back 12 to mid-field but a penalty pulled Young back after a fine run. They kicked but Burns dived on a Ports' fumble in Colborne area. Griffin threw one ahead to Jensen for 15 and he ran 10 more. Griffin then threw a touchdown forward to Young, and the latter kicked the convert to make it 11-6. Karpinchik and Brown in turn ran for yards and, after Knox went out injured, Grant and then McIraith crashed the line to halt a Colborne march. Karpinchick then kicked a point. Brown and Armstrong moved the sticks, after Bertulli hurt [redacted] Ivanich grabbed a PCVS [redacted] and they were allowed a dropped forward on interference.

Plenty Open

Play really opened up in the fourth. Armstrong, who was going great guns, came off winded for a minute, and Karpinchik—also shining—limped off as the sides smacked each other hard. Grant intercepted a forward on Colborne's 35, a Griffin-Armstrong pass followed, and Griffin kicked a point to make it 12-7. Frise intercepted another Ports' pass to go 15 to their 10 and Brown bucked over, but it wasn't converted. Simon ran back a kick 15 to centre and Stephens bucked for yards but they had to hoof. Strong zoomed in to snatch a home fumble on PCVS 15, and he took a pass from LaPointe to score. It was not converted and the count was 17-12. Rajczak fell on his own short kickoff but Jopling recovered right after on a fumble. Griffin bucked eight. After a punt, a LaPointe-Simon pass moved it up but Jensen intercepted the next pass and ran nearly 50 yards for a try, Young converting, to end the scoring. The Ports kept passing and battling the final few minutes of play. The teams:

Cobourg Ghosts Take Title Against London

COBOURG, Nov. 22— Cobourg Galloping Ghosts captured the ORFU intermediate title here on Saturday when they defeated the London Falcons, 17-5.

Starring on a team that operated with precision in spite of a muddy field, were Cooper, Quigley and Jamieson. Cooper is playing-coach of the team. The Ghosts seemed to be fired with a spirit that quailed before nothing and rammed through the heavy London line for repeated gains. Although the field was slippery and the ball an oval of muddy, greasy leather, they played a brilliant game. Cooper to Quickley was a forward-passing combination that accounted for many long gains. London played a hard clean game with several former Western Stars on their lineup, but were unable to stem the Cobourg atack. The next game will be with a team from Quebec

Find Alexander Varsity Fan

PICTON, Nov. 22 —(CP) — University of Toronto Blues, who Saturday won their first intercollegiate football championship since 1936, have a new fan— Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada.

Here to open a new Canadian Legion Hall, the Governor-General told a Toronto co-ed: "I was greatly impressed by the forward passing techniques of the Toronto team which I observed in the Varsity-McGill match in Montreal in which Varsity beat McGill, 41 to love, I believe."

The opening of the hall preceded the investiture of two air force veterans. Flt.-Lt. J. W. Cantelan of Picton received the Order of the British Empire and Flt.-Lt. Donald Goodwin received the Distinguished Flying Cross and Bar.

Stamps Begin Hard Workout

OAKVILLE, Nov. 22 (CP) — Calgary Stampeders replaced their 10-gallon Stetsons with football helmets today as they started a week of workouts before their Grey Cup clash with Ottawa Rough Riders next Saturday.

Coach Les Lear had his unbeaten charges on the field for a workout almost as soon as they arrived.

And he predicted Stampeders would win Saturday if they "play ball."

Stampeders arrived Sunday night, tired after their three-day trip from the Foothills city, but full of enthusiasm for Calgary's first bid for Dominion football honors since 1911.

They will remain at Appleby College here until Friday.

Sunday night they went through a brief passing session, a game of touch rugby and a jog around the gridiron.

Wildcats Take Junior Crown

HAMILTON, Nov. 22 (CP) — The Hamilton Wildcats displayed a bruising brand of orthodox Canadian football Saturday in bringing the city its first Dominion Junior gridiron title.

The heavier Cats, who entered the game as favorites, swept to a 23-10 victory over Saskatoon Hilltops in the first official East-West Junior game since 1932.

Led by Ed Yablonski, Brian Timmis, Jr., and Garnet Steeves, the Hamilton team banged away at centre for most if its gains while tossing in the odd end run when the chance arose. One touchdown, the first, was scored off a pass.

PASS FORMATION — PCVS junior gridders are shown at the Oval in pass formation Saturday with Don Griffin poised to throw a long floater ahead. The squad really opened up in the last half of their playoff game with Port Colborne to win 23-12 and capture the first junior COSSA championship for Peterborough Collegiate, though senior honors have come this way fairly frequently.

IT takes much more than the jumps and spins of spectacular free-skating to win a championship. In fact, 60 per cent of the points are for school figures which must be skated again and again with great precision over the same ice marks. Only on the most accurately made skates can this be done. Such skates are C.C.M. Figure-Skating Matched Sets.

Each set consists of a pair of C.C.M. Figure Skates accurately matched as to weight, balance, ice-lay and radius. The blades are identical and the heel plates the same height. These carefully matched skates are then securely attached with equal care and in exactly the ideal position to a pair of C.C.M. Figure-Skating Shoes. The result of all this precision, care and experience is a C.C.M. Figure-Skating Matched Set as worn by 90 per cent of the Canadian Champions.

Whether you strive for one of the figure-skating titles, wish to excel at free and carnival skating, or desire to enjoy club dancing, you will find that C.C.M. Figure-Skating Matched Sets will enable you to reach the very pinnacle of your skating skill.

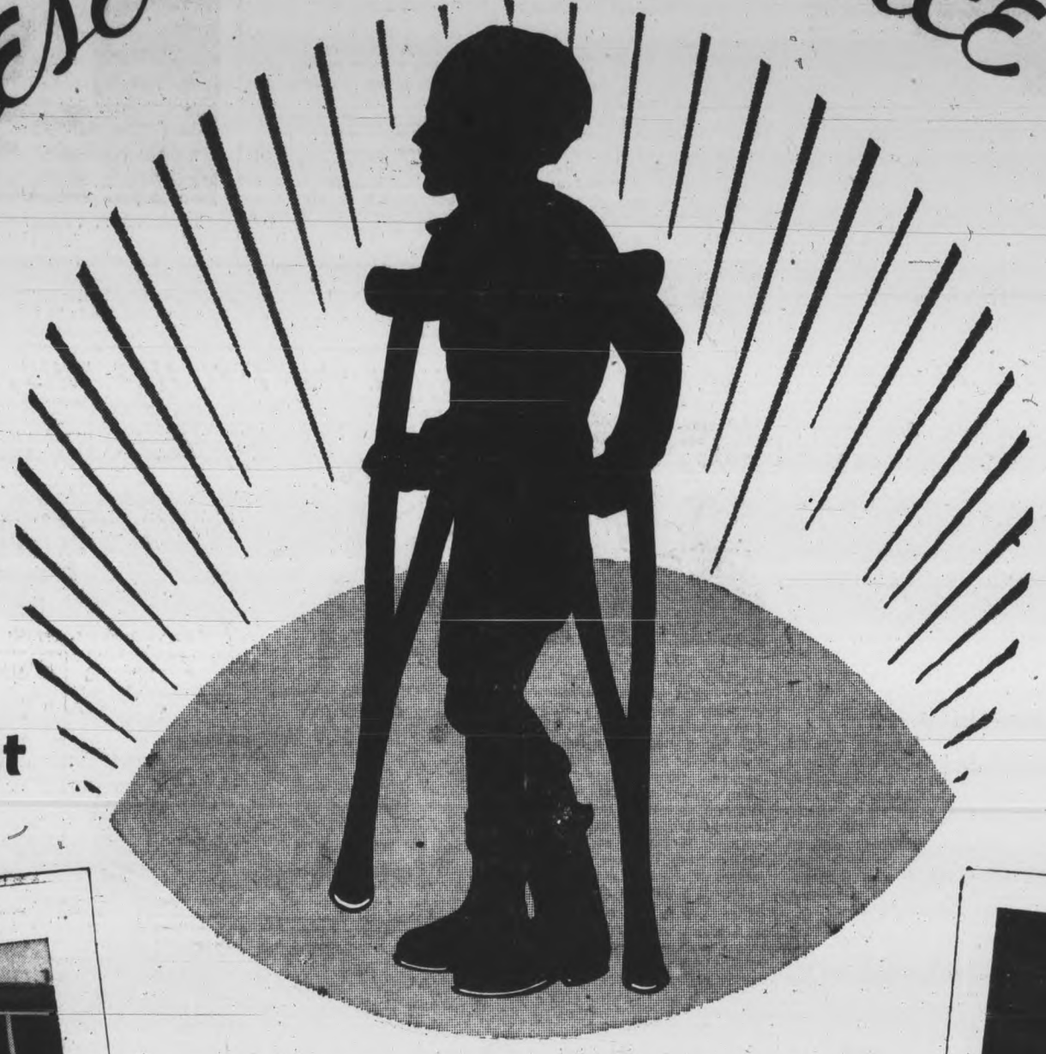
CRIPPLED CHILDREN deserve a chance!



Your help is needed. If you know of a crippled child not receiving treatment contact Dr. Morgan.

Rotary distributes the Easter Seals for Raising Money

Crippled Children Survey

If you know of a crippled child not receiving treatment, give:

Name of child .....

Adress .....

Tear out and mail to

ROTARY CLUB OF PETERBOROUGH

This information will be treated CONFIDENTIALLY

DR. MORGAN.

We are sure that you will see to it that every child in your district, this Peterborough district, has the necessary assistance to help minimize his or her disability. Rotary is concerned with those children who need medical or surgical guidance or assistance and who have not the necessary funds to provide such help. Rotary has long been raising funds for worthy objectives. In this year the Rotary train to Toronto has furnished a ward in the Civic Hospital. Rotary has sponsored the ladies' softball, the Paul Whiteman Show. And on December 3rd, or thereabouts, the opening of Peterborough's newest Theatre "The Paramount" will be sponsored by the Rotary Club to help in the crippled children's work. Famous Players Corporation are donating all of their evening's proceeds to this work.

Rotary is concerned with those children who need medical or surgical guidance or assistance and who have not the necessary funds to provide such help. Where there is a physician or surgeon in attendance and funds are needed to supply splints, boots, artificial limbs, transportation or hospitalization the Club will undertake to do this. Where there is no physician in attendance the Club will endeavor to see that the best accepted methods of treatment are made available.

We wish to make it clear that we want to help any child who needs help, not only in the field of plastic surgery, of deformities of bones and joints, birthmarks, cleft palates, harelips, club feet and such ailments, but any other congenital or disabling diseases that afflict children.

And to those who may have been discouraged in past for some years, who may have been told that little help could be given, we must not forget that there may be new hope in the light of the events that have transpired in the last few years. Many things that formerly were impossible are now possible. The congenital heart cases are an example of this. It is indeed a thrilling sight—to see a school boy — on his way to school knowing that before his operation he could scarcely walk at all. So, let us all take stock once more and see to it that no child lacks for care in the Peterborough District. Will you then help us to try to see that every child is listed with the Crippled Children's Committee of the Rotary Club of Peterborough. This you may do by contacting your minister, teacher, physician— or women's organization. A survey is made only every few years—let's do a thorough job. Thank you.

Likely Some Time Before UK Libel Laws Changed

By STUART UNDERHILL.

LONDON, Nov. 22 — (CP) — No changes in Britain's libel laws are likely for some time, despite strong recommendations by a Government-appointed committee, for more generous consideration of the circumstances in which offences are committed.

Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons that legislation will be necessary if it is decided to adopt the suggestions of Lord Porter's committee on the Law of Defamation. No such action is planned in the present session of Parliament.

Main theme of the committee's report is that the defendant in libel actions does not always get a fair break.

When statements are made in Parliament or in the course of judicial proceedings, they are "privileged" and may be quoted by newspapers without fear their contents are actionable.

The committee recommends that for purposes of privilege a "newspaper" should be defined as a periodical published at intervals not exceeding 36 days, instead of the present 26 days.

It recommends a mor generous interpretation of "joint liability." As the law now stands an editor and publisher are responsible for everything appearing in their paper. They might print a letter making what seemed a legitimate comment on the policy of a member of Parliament. But if it were proved the writer acted in spite, his comment would be actionable and the editor and newspapr both liable.

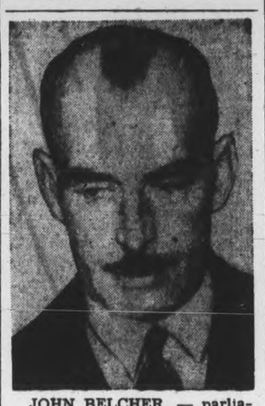
It also urges that more freedom be given to the defence pleas of justification (that the allegation was substantially true) and fair comment (based on matters of public interest and made honestly).

Where the committee would like to see a tightening of the laws is in statements broadcast over the radio. At present the interpretation is that spoken allegations constitute slander, not defamation.

The committee says it encountered considerable opinion favoring safeguards against group defamation—"false statements vilifying not indentifiable individuals, but groups or classes or persons distinguishable by race, color, creed or vocation."

It decided against recommending changes. Group defamation seems to vary with current political trends and "much as we deplore all provocation to hatred or contempt for bodies and groups .... we cannot fail to be impressed by the danger of curtailing free and frank—albeit, hot and hasty — political discussion and criticism."

DURING A PRESS CONFERENCE in Washington are, left, U.S. Secretary of Defence James V. Forrestal and Rt. Hon. C. D. Rowe, Minister of Trade and Commerce, who were conferring on the standardization of U.S.-Canadian military procurement.



JOHN BELCHER, — parliamentary secretary to the British board of trade is shown arriving at Church House, Westminster, where hearings are being held on allegations that he was receiving 50 pounds a week (approximately $200) from business man Soloman Wulkan, to use his influence on matters requiring government action. Wulkan, recently released from Brixton prison on orders of the British home secretary is a witness at the hearing.

Hold Consultation

BELFAST, Nov. 22 (Reuters)—Sir Basil Brooke, prime minister of Northern Ireland, discussed the impending repeal by Eire of her external relations act at a meeting this week-end with Prime Minister Clement Attlee. It is understood the Northern Ireland government is being consulted about the position arising along the 240-mile land frontier between Northern Ireland and Eire if Eire repeals the act and becomes an independent republic.

Deny Any Arrest

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 22. —(AP).—Official sources Sunday night ridiculed a report that President Romulo Gallegos had been placed under house arrest by dissident army leaders. (This report came from Willemstad, Curacao, and said that high-ranking army officers had demanded Gallegos' resignation and the formation of a new coalition government).

Betty Grable Picks Her Own Football Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22 (AP) —Guess who's getting into the 1948 All-American football team schedule? None other than Betty Grable.

Naturally, the curvy cutie doesn't spend her nights poring over grid statistics. She undoubtedly received some prodding from the 20th-Fox publicity department in selecting her squad. But she accepts full responsibility for the choices.

Quarterbacking the Grable All-America is Oregon's Norm Van Brocklin.

For halfbacks Betty chose Southern Methodist University's Doak Walker, who has "the best-looking legs," and Minnesota's Billy Bye, who appeals to her "maternal instinct." Completing the backfield is Yale's handsome Fred Madherny at fullback.

Pat O'Sullivan of Alabama captains the squad at centre. Mississippi's Barney Poole and UCLA's Bill Clements flank the line at ends. Guards Bill Fischer of Notre Dame and Rod Franz of California were chosen for their rugged good looks.

The tackle spot presented a serious problem. Betty said she could find only one handsome enough to make the team—Phil O'Reilly of Perdue. Any other nominations?

Short Takes

Charles Laughton writes Elsa Lanchester that he is homesick and will return here as soon as he finishes "The Man on the Eiffel Tower." He had been reported planning to do "Galileo" in London...June Allyson is crowing about whipping Dick Powell at tennis. The score 9-7.

Capsule Review

"Every Girl Should Be Married" (RKO) is as whimsical as its title. It displays Cary Grant as a baby doctor who is bedeviled into marriage by Betsy Drake (a refreshing new find) who won't take no for an answer. The whimsy spreads a bit thin at times, but the leads, plus Franchot Tone, Liana Lynn and Eddie Albert make it a diverting comedy.

Hamilton Salesman Wins $34,000 On Sweepstake

By The Canadian Press

George S. Powell, 64-year-old salesman for General Steel Wares, Hamilton, today is $34,000 richer because the horse he held a sweepstake ticket on came in first in the November Handicap at Manchester Saturday.

He held a ticket on Sportsmaster in the Quebec Army and Navy Sweep. Fifty-three other Canadians also held tickets on the English race.

"It was the thrill of my life," Powell said, telling how he listened to a broadcast of the race.

Second prize of $20,000 went to John Daskas of Glendale, Long Island, N.Y., who held a ticket on Good Taste, second to come in in Saturday's race.

Third prize winner was a 46-year-old woman cook in a pulp and paper company staff house at Kenogami, Que. She is Mrs. Rose Goulet, mother of four daughters, and her prize was $3,000.

"Isn't that swell!" was all she could say when she heard the good news.

Mrs. Goulet said she couldn't sleep nights since she learned a few days ago that her name was one of those drawn and before she knew her horse, Yoyo, third-place finisher, would run.

Forty persons who drew starters will receive $550 each, 65 who drew non-starters will get $315 each and 100 will be given consolation prizes of $240 each.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL at Hamilton on charges of jumping $10,000 bail and possessing narcotics, is Elaine Peltier, 19, recently deported to Hamilton from the United States. She is seen with her mother and boy friend, Jack Cooper, who came from Windsor to be with her.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

BUILD WAREHOUSE

A Timber-Rib building 50 ft. by 100 feet is being erected by Co-Op Service on their property at the foot of Dalhousie St., east of George St. It is being roofed with aluminum, and is to be used temporarily for storage.

MINOR COLLISION

Slight damage to both vehicles resulted in a collision at McDonnel and Water Sts. Saterday afternoon. Drivers were Leo Doubt, 191 Rink St., and Gordon Perry, 2166 Wolsley St. PC. M. D. Traynor investigated.

MISSING LINDSAY YOUTH

Charles Edward Carpenter, a 15½-year-old Lindsay boy, has been missing since November 14. Carpenter is described as about 5'6" tall and weighing between 125-130 pounds. When last seen he was dressed in a khaki shirt, dark blue trousers and was in his stocking feet. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the youth please contact the Lindsay police department.

REDUCED MARKET SATURDAY

Rain reduced the size of the outside market on Saturday and correspondingly increased the volume of business in the Market Hall. Most notable feature of the day was the substantial drop in the price of eggs to between 50-65 cents a dozen. A few tentatively tried higher prices but were forced to drop them in order to make sales. Chickens sold at 40-50 cents a pound, and ducks at about 50 cents. There was an abundance of apples, potatoes, carrots, cabbage and turnips.

RAILWAY SWITCH DAMAGED

About $200 damage was caused to the CNR crossing switch on Bethune St. between Hunter and Brock Sts. Saturday evening. It was struck by the car of Joseph Morrison, 107 Hazlitt St., who swerved aside to avoid hitting another car. About $30 damage was caused Morrison's car. PC. Harold Andrews investigated.

OWNER PAYS FOR DRAIN

City council recently rejected a suggestion from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation that the city pay 25 per cent of the cost of a drain in the Parkhill housing housing district. Response of the council was to the effect that municipal contribution in this instance would be a precedent for others. Drain costs on private property must be borne by the owner of the property, it was decided.

WATER PIPE TROUBLE

A cracked water pipe leading to a hydrant under the Hunter St. bridge on Saturday evening caused a little flooding of Riverside Park. Public Utilities Commission trouble shooters turned off the water on Sunday morning and by noon today have dug to the trouble spot and will have it repaired in short order, officials state.

FIREMEN MAKE THREE CALLS

There were no serious fires over the week-end. On Saturday afternoon a flooded oil burner was reported at the residence of Mrs. Charlotte Longmuir, Sherbrooke St. Two chimney fires were also reported: the first, on Saturday night at the residence of L. Lowe, Water St., and the second, late on Saturday afternoon, at the residence of S. Walling.

PEDESTRIAN HURT

Injured as he was crossing Lansdowne and Aylmer streets on foot on Friday evening, Noah Gillies, 50 Aylmer St. North, received medical attention for bruises. The driver of the car was Herb Ayotte. The vehicle struck Mr. Gillies, threw him to the road. One wheel ran over his foot. He also had a bruise over his eye and sore shoulder.

VICE - CHAIRMAN of the Board of Education Frank H. Jobbitt, who will seek re-election at the coming municipal contests.

Frank Jobbitt To Enter Race

Frank H. Jobbitt, a member of the Board of Education for the past four years, announced today that he would, if nominated, be a candidate at the coming municipal elections. Mr. Jobbitt is vice chairman of the Board and has been chairman of the Property committee for the past two years. With Mr. Jobbitt's announcement, three of the four retiring members will seek re-election. The other two are Dr. R. C. Honey and Walter Bannon. The fourth member, W. B. Gordon, announced two weeks ago that he would not seek re-election.

New Candidate

Only newcomer to offer himself as a candidate to date is Dr. R. M. Matthews, of 463 Hunter St. W.

Dr. Matthews is on the Family Court committee but has never held elective office. This is the first time he has offered his services to the community since comig to Peterborugh in 1945.

He was born in Port Arthur and graduated in medicine from the University of Toronto in 1933. For seven years he practised in Port Arthur and then joined the RCAF in 1940. During his five years of service he was overseas for 20 months.

After his discharge in 1945 he came to Peterborough to practice, and he is now in charge of paediatrics at the Peterborough clinic.

He is married and has four children.

"I will stand if nominated," he told the Examiner today. "I'm interested in education, particularly the mental health aspect," he said.

Mr. Jobbitt is a former secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough Lock Co. and has now opened a retail business on Park St. S. He was born in Lindsay but has lived most of his life in Peterborough. He received his formal education at South Central school and Peterborough Collegiate.

Two Cars Collide Damage Tops $300

Damage totalling $300 to two cars was caused Saturday morning in an accident north of Bewdley. It was at the intersection of the 8th line of Hope Township and the Durham-Northumberland counties line. Drivers were Charles Davis of Bewdley and Elmer Worr of 462 Cambridge St., Peterborough.

Only injury was a minor face cut to 11-year-old Norman Davis, who struck the windshield in the collision.

Provincial Constable Emmett Crough investigated.

TIME'S OUT OF JOINT

Clocks seem to be getting out of kilter regularly these days. On Saturday, the Market Hall timepiece ceased operations. Today, the hands of the big clock on the Post Office stopped at 10.10 a.m.

Newspapers Ask Abbott Lift Tax On Newsprint

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP)—Canadian daily newspapers today asked Finance Minister Abbott to remove the eight-per-cent sales tax on newsprint and thus put them on an even footing with magazines and comic books which do not pay the tax.

The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association brought a delegation of 40 representatives of publishers from coast to coast to put their case before the minister.

After a discussion lasting 1½ hours, in the minister's office, the group's spokesman said the minister "received us in a very friendly fashion."

H. L. Garner, publisher of the Peterborough Examiner and president of the C.D.N.A., was chairman of the delegation.

The newsprint tax, the minister was told in a prepared brief, is a discrimination against daily newspapers in that it does not apply to: Canadian magazines, American magazines sold in Canada, comic books or pulp fiction magazines.

Applies To Every Paper

The newsprint tax does apply on every daily and weekly newspaper.

Domestic and imported magazines and pulp paper publications exempt from the tax compete with the newspapers for advertising revenue, the brief argued.

The sales tax was first imposed in 1921 but newspapers paid only half the full tax until 1931. At that time the government was facing deficits and the newspapers did not make any strong protests.

Now, with the government showing surpluses the same reasons do not exist, the brief said, and this is the third effort the publishers have made to get relief.

The tax costs the publishers about $2,000,000 a year. It is not levied in any other commonwealth country nor in the United States.

The brief, signed by Ian H. MacDonald, general manager of the C.D.N.A., showed the extraordinary growth of American magazine circulation in Canada from 1931 to the present, and samples of Canadian advertisements for which they compete with the taxpaying daily newspapers.

Rumored Sale Of Bus Barns

Rumors of pending transfer of the bus barns on King St. to Irwin and Godson, Ford Motor Co. agents, have been gaining circulation during the last two weeks.

It was repeated this morning in several quarters, but the only information that could be obtained was that the reported sale by Peterborough Bus Lines had not yet been completed.

The bus company has bought the Edwards motor building east of the Hunter St. bridge, and it is understood that the company's intentions are to move their terminal from the King St. property which was bought from the city several years ago.

Irwin and Godson are successors to Hood and Cummings at George and King Streets.

Plan To Present Christmas Play

Rehearsals have begun and are advancing rapidly for the presentation of "A Play of Our Lord's Nativity" at St. George's Church, Braidwood Ave, during the Christmas season. This will be the third year for this presentation, which shows signs that it may become an annual event. Groups from Hamilton and St. Catharines, who are coming to Peterborough to see the play, have already booked tickets.

TO PRESENT PLAY

Thirty members of the Peterborough Little Theatre will travel by bus to Toronto this evening to be present at the first showing of Sir Laurence Olivier's film version of "Hamlet."

Harry M. Yudin, Thea tre Owner, Will Seek Seat On City Council For First Time

Harry M. Yudin, successful Peterborough theatre owner has announced that he would be a candidate in the aldermanic field at the coming municipal elections. Since coming to Peterborough, Mr. Yudin has taken a prominent part in service club activities. He has been a leader in organizing many sports among the youth of the city and has taken his place in the business men's organizations and the Chamber of Commerce.

Born in England he came with his family to the United States when he was a youth, where he attended Washington and Jefferson College and graduated from the University of Pittsburgh with his B.A. and LL.B. degrees. However, the practise of law did not attract Mr. Yudin and he came to Canada, where he married a Canadian and opened a theatre in St. Catharines. There he was a member of the Lincoln and Welland Regiment. In 1945, after buying the Centre theatre, he came to Peterborough, where he purchased his own home.

He is a past president of the Optimisis Club and was one of those who took a leading part in the establishing of Trafalgar House at Nicholls Oval. This is actually a boy's town and is operated by the Optimists. Mr. Yudin is president of the B'nai 'Brith and with his group of men has helped to organize Turner Park for the youth of the southwest section of the city.

In the sports field he is on the executive of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, president of the Peterborough Football Association. He has coached the Towne Togs basketball team for three years and also the Outboard Motors B team.

City Puts On Festive Garb During Vice-Regal Visit

A special committee of the Chamber of Commerce has reported that the city will be well decorated for the visit of the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander on Thursday.

Primary purpose of the vice-regal visit is the laying of the corner-stone for the new Civic Hospital but several other functions have been arranged in different parts of the city. Mayor William Ovens and the City Council have asked all business establishments and houses on these routes, particularly in the downtown area, to display flags and other decorations in honor of this event. The city has undertaken to decorate several strategic points.

The Chamber of Commerce has written to business proprietors and resident on the Governor-General's route reminding them of the Council's wish that they decorate the outside of their premises.

Strings of pennants will be hung across streets and at corners, and there will be a profusion of Union Jacks and Red Ensigns. Rosettes will be placed on several buildings. Special Union Jack shields will be placed on Hunter St. bridge for the occasion.

J. E. Pierce, superintendent of sanitation, said that garbage collection on that day would be completed long before the Governor-General's appearance. But he appeals to citizens to bring in their empty cans and thus give the streets a more tidy appearance.

Painters Exhibit Work At Library

By T. J. ALLEN

The fifth annual exhibition of the Peterborough Group of Painters opened on Saturday evening at the gallery of the Public Library. It is an unpretentious, pleasant show. There were many visitors during the first evening and the exhibition should attract many more before the pictures come down a fortnight hence on December 4th. There are nearly a hundred paintings, well arranged for such a large display. The oils are in the main gallery, the water-colours and pastels in the ante-room.

Although they are the work of one group there is diversity in styles, subject matter and mediums. It is good to see some figure work. Maralin Munro's self-portrait "Medieval Lady" is ably done. Helena Munro's pastel "Chrysanthemums" is gracious and sensitive; pastel is a medium in which her talent is well expressed. Of the water-colours, Jack Hamer's are the most sure, the most interpretative. His style and colouring (distinctive in this group of painters) seem in oil to become parodies of his water-colours. This painter is the most adroit part-time painter Peterborough has in its midst.

Winnifred Lampman is showing four canvases. All of them reveal her skill and artistry. Her "Flowers" is the most alive thing in the exhibit, a fine piece of work and a pleasure to look at in these drab November days. Gertrude Cox is a serious student of painting as her "July Landscape" in post-impressionist style. She is to be commended for her technical ventures and variety of styles. Her "Gray October, Orangeville" is a satisfying composition, partly because it is not drab in mood and colouring.

Another painting which came pleasingly to the eye was Mary Lee's "Country Lane". Other exhibitors whose work has some interest were Bonnie Carlisle, Margaret Londerville, Madeline Hambly, John McKerchar, Florence Wilson and John Londerville. The three new members of the group exhibiting this year are George de Long whose careful brush and mezzotint colouring came out well in "Sunday Morning, Mennonite District"; Alfred Hatton (his "McLarence Creek in Spring" was attractive) and Betty Weir. Her "Sawmill on Indian River" was pleasant.

This is a paintable district. Even within the city limits there are things which need and should draw out a painter's brush—ugly things, crude things, and quite delightful things. Perhaps from a group such as this we may get a valid and honest interpretation of Peterborough. The skill to say what should be said is developing. Further, the general interest to look at the results is growing; painting is securing an audience as well as practitioners in Peterborough.

Will Be Hanged

CALGARY, Nov. 22 — (CP)—Stanley Donald McLaren of Toronto and Calgary, will be hanged March 30 for the holdup slaying three years ago of Chinese grocer Lum Yum Wing. The 23-year-old plasterer was convicted of murder in Supreme Court late on Saturday following a dix-day trial.

TANGLE THEATRE QUEUES

Theatre-patrons at the Odeon and Capitol theatres blocked the sidewalks at the late shows Saturday evening. Finally police had the Capitol management reverse the line to run north on George street. Combined queues went the full length of the block from King to Charlotte. Centre patrons patiently waited from the theatre almost to the market clock. What will happen when the new theatre opens in the near future?

Engineers Plan To Survey Road Junction

"Department of Highways agrees with us that something should be done about the condition at the junction of 7-A and No. 28," Ald. Max Swanston said today, reporting results of a deputation's visit to Toronto Friday.

"They have promised to send an engineer or two down to go into this question with City Engineer Chalmers, and I think we can expect them at an early date."

This is a question of reducing the top of the hill at the west end of the Kawartha Club. Use of No. 7-A is being restricted by the fact that westbound traffic leaving it to enter No. 28 is in danger of meeting traffic from the west that is unseen coming up the hill.

"The Department engineers don't like the sharp turns off Lansdowne St., but that is another phase of the question," Ald. Swanston said.

"Ontario Municipal Board approved the transfer of $11,000 from the City Trust surplus earnings to pay for the new concrete band stand the council built this year at Nicholls Oval."

New Power Low Set On Sunday

Peterborough dropped Sunday to a new power low, 132,000 kwh. 97,900 less than the Hydro quota for this city. It was preceded by a string of low days, but the week ends do not count in the Hydro reckoning. Their concern is for the five days, Monday to Friday. Thursday was 226,000 kwh. Friday 228,000, Saturday 220,000 and Sunday 132,000. There seems mystery in the accomplishment.

Montreal Police Take Suspects Back

Frederick W. Axford, 26, no fixed address and James Cunningham, 22, of McMasterville, Que., were turned over to Montreal police today and will face charges of car theft and receiving stolen goods in that city. The pair, captured here by two teen-agers after a wild chase last week, were arrested on warrant by the Montreal officers. They had been held here on charges of vagrancy pending arrival. The vagrancy charges, laid by the provincial police here, were withdrawn.

Obituaries

MRS. PATRICK KENNEDY

The death occurred suddenly on Sunday at her home 552 Armour Road of Mrs. Bridget Kennedy, widow of the late Patrick Kennedy. A lifelong resident of the Peterborough district, Mrs. Kennedy's maiden name was Bridget McManus. She was born in Douro 76 years ago and was the daughter of Anthony McManus and Julia Connors. Mrs. Kennedy is survived by one son Herbert Kennedy and one daughter Vivian Kennedy of this city, one sister Mrs. Mary Almy of Buffalo and one brother Michael McManus of 479 Roger St.

Mrs. Kennedy was a member of the Immaculate Conception Church, the Catholic Women's League and the Altar Society.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday from the home of her brother Mr. Michael McManus to Immaculate Conception Church at 9.00 a.m. with burial in St. Peter's cemetery.

JOHN BARNETT

John Barnett, 85, of 539 Harvey St., died today at his residence, following a short illness. He was born in St. John's, NB, son of the late John Barnett and Ann McCann, and before moving to Peterborough six years ago, lived in Scarboro.

Besides his wife, the former Elizabeth Jones, he leaves three daughter, Mrs. Herman Harding of Buttonville, Ont., and the Misses Eleanor and Evelyn Barnett of this city. There are four sons, John of Warsaw, Edgar and Elmer, both of Highland Creek, and Roth of New Westminster, BC. A sister, Mrs. Sarah Fairweather, lives in Sussex, NB. He was an adherent of the United Church.

Funeral will leave the Comstock Funeral Home on Wednesday for service at 2 p.m. at the United Church in Milliken, Ont. The Rev. Mr. Butt will officiate and burial will be at Union Cemetery.

FO. DAVID NESS

FO. David Ness Awarded DFC

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 22 — At an investiture held at Trenton on Friday, Flying Officer David Edward Ness, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ness of Campbellford, was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross by Field Marshall Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada.

The citation on which the award was made reads as follows: "FO. Ness has always shown the utmost enthusiasm for operational flying. Throughout all his missions his exceptional skill, cheerful confidence and devotion to duty have set an outstanding example to all his squadron. He has destroyed three enemy aircraft, eight flying bombs and has shared in the destruction of several trains."

FO. Ness was born in Westmount, Montreal, in 1918. Later his family moved to Sudbury where he received his high school education. In 1941 he joined the RCAF and was stationed at the elementary training school at Debert, N.S. After passing through the schools at Victoriaville, P.Q. and Portage La Prairie Man., he was sent to Ottawa where he recived his wings.

The same year he went overseas where he was attached to one of the famous fighting squadrons in the Battle of Britain. From the time of his citation in February, 1945, to VE Day, he shot down three German fighters, destroyed 75 transport trucks and 25 locomotives in Germany.

While visiting Haymead's Hospital, Cambridge, he met Nursing Sister Shela Pendlebury, an English girl who had lived in India previous to the war and in 1943 they were married at Wooler in the north of England. Shorlty after VE Day, FO. Ness returned to Canada with his wife and took up residence on Booth St., Campbellford. They have two children, Sandra and David.

REFUND ON TAXES

City council has directed payment of the following sums as ordered by the Court of Revision in refund of taxes: Harold Baptie, Bolivar St., $2.41;; T. Eaton Co., $55.77; CPR $91.75; Thos. Hughes, Monaghan Rd., $5.60.

Motorist Stops To Pick Up Man; Accident Follows

"When is a car parked?" was the question facing Magistrate W. R. Philp in court today. He heard evidence in a charge of illegally parking on the highway against Mendall Gishman, 680 Reid St. Judgment will be given Tuesday. Defence counsel J. C. N. Currelly, entering no evidence, has moved for dismissal.

Facts, as given by crown evidence, were that the accused had stopped on No. 7 Highway near Fowler's Corners to pick up a passenger. His two outside wheels were off the road. A Bell Telephone truck, travelling behind him and driven by Frank E. Stewart, came to a sharp stop behind Gishman. Stewart testified that he could not turn out to pass as the scene was on a hill and there was oncoming traffic.

A car behind Stewart's, driven by Joseph Sullivan, was not able to stop in time, struck the rear of the Bell truck, which was pushed forward into Gishman's truck.

Provincial Constable George Stevens, who investigated, said that the highway at that point had a wide shoulder which gave plenty of room for Gishman to pull entirely off the highway.

Mr. Currelly argued that recent decisions of courts had held that "parking" must mean "something more than a momentary stopping." Judgments he cited ruled that a brief halt while a passenger was closing a gate and while tractor engines were being switched did not constitute "parking".

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry countered by pointing out that the Highway Traffic Act forbids parking on the travelled portion of a highway "when it is practicable to park....off the travelled portion..."

Santa Parade Route Extended

One change has meen made in the route of the Santa Claus parade which starts from the Armouries at 10.30 a.m. on Tuesday.

The parade will proceed west on Sherbrooke St., not King St., after going south on George St. It was felt that the parade would be too long for that particular route and the head of the parade travelling east on Charlotte would meet its tail still travelling south on George.

Those children who were going to see Santa pay his annual visit to Peterborough from a place on King St., are now advised to go south to Sherbrooke or select some other vantage point.

Purchases Prize Swine

At the Royal Winter Fair on Saturday the reserve junior champion sow in the Yorkshire class, were both purchased by Herbert J. Miller, RR 1, Keene, who has been a Yorkshire breeder for 40 years. The boar was bred by Carl Roberts and Son, St. Adolphe, Manitoba; the sow, by Joseph Featherston, Streetsville. Prices were $350 and $335 respectively.

LITTLE CHERYL PYTLIK, 4, may well have wondered what it was all about as she had her picture snapped in Montreal recently. She was looking at a rose in her grandfather's garden. Roses usually bloom in warm weather, and when one pops up at this time of year it's something to talk about.

Can't Be A Red And Believe In God-Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP).—A United States Congressional committee, in a report released today, says: "You cannot be a Communist and believe in God."

That, the report adds, is "the long and the short of it."

The House of Representatives Un-American Activities committee prepared the report. In a summation entitled "100 things you should know about Communism and religion," it said:

"The aim and object of Communism is always the same—complete control over the human mind and body, asleep and awake, in sickness and in health, from birth to death. That is why Communism marks religion enemy No. 1.

"Communism cannot dominate family life, for example, until it has first fought its way past the influence of religion upon the family.

"Communism cannot dominate unless it has the power to remake the life of the people. It cannot ignore religion and do that."

100 Questions

The committee's report was in the form of 100 questions it asked and then answered.

Here are a few of the new questions and answers supplied by the committee:

Q. If Communism should come to the United States, could I belong to a church?

A. You would have to choose at once between church and Communism. If you should choose the church, then prepare for persecution.

Q. Would the Communists destroy the Bible?

A. Every copy they could find. And they would jail anybody trying to print new copies.

Q. Could my child be baptized or christened in the church?

A. At the risk of prison for parent and pastor.

Q. Would my child go to Sunday school?

A. Not only would Sunday school be illegal, but also your child would be taught to report you to the police for trying to send him.

Q. How would my child learn his religion, then?

A. Only through what you might tell him at home, to offset the positive atheism he would learn all week at the government school.

Report 18 Violent Deaths Across Eastern Canada

By The Canadian Press

Philip John Nash, 24, of Fredericton, has been charged with murder in the gunshot death of Gerald Gaudet, 22, whose body was found on a roadway near the New Brunswick capital.

Gaudet's was one of 18 violent deaths reported in Eastern Canada dufing the week-end.

A Canadian Press compilation showed 11 deaths in highway accidents, including a double fatality near Bancroft, two shootings, two persons killed at work, one fatally injured in a fall, one drowned, and one burned to death.

The other shooting was at Granby, Que., with a 14-year-old boy as the victim. Police said they were satisfied the boy, whose name they withhead, shot himself. They said they found a note in the boy's handwriting saying he was tired of going to school.

William Pickering of Caledonia, NS, died Sunday night after severing an artery in his arm in a fall against a door. Pickering bled to death.

Crushed By Tractor

A tractor which toppled off a ramp at Little Long Lac, in the Port Arthur district, crushed Douglas C. Robinson, 25, to death. Robinson formerly lived in Preston.

Jack Sebbens, 22, of Cedar Springs, was killed at Wallaceburg by railway timbers which toppled from a flat car. Three companions leaped to safety.

A Saturday night collision between an automobile and a truck at Bancroft, 75 miles north of Belleville, killed Alvan Brethour, 23, and Lawrence Ray, 23, both of Bancroft.

Victims of other Ontario traffic accidents were: Mrs. Pearl Warner, 57, and Andrew Gogal, 23, killed in separate Toronto mishaps; Murray Repp, 18-year-old taxi driver, whose cab was struck by a train near his Oakville home; Gerald Robinson, seven, knocked down by a car in Essex; John Mirynech, 65, struck down in a St. Catharines Street mishap.

A car crash on a curve near Sussex, NB, fatally injured Mrs. G. Budd Hallett, 63, of Presque Isle, Maine. Also in New Brunswick, Eugene Leblanc, 38, met death when his car collided with an oil truck near Moncton.

Falls In River

In still another New Brunswick accident, Ferdinand Leblanc, 74, lost his way in darkness, stumbled into the Cocagne River near Cocagne, NB, and was drowned.

Hector Durocher, 68, died in Montreal Sunday of injuries suffered Friday when struck by a car.

At L'Abord a Plouffe, near Montreal, Jean Claude Valiquette, 23, was fatally injured in an automobile accident.

Packages being moved aboard the steamship Macoris fatally crushed William Hosie, 22, a Maltese merchant seaman.

William MacKay, 82-year-old former Justice of the Peace, was burned to death Sunday night when the fire swept through the 2-storey brick dwelling in which he lived at Renfrew.

Flynns Take Trip

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Errol Flynn and his wife, the former Nora Eddington, are en route to Halifax via New York and perhaps a trip together to Europe. They boarded the Santa Fe Super Chief at nearby Pasadena Saturday night. Both quietly but firmly declined to say anything to reporters about a reconciliation. There have been reports recently of a rift in the Flynn household.

COMPLETES CYCLE—Merritt A. Brown, oldest practicing lawyer in Toronto who celebrated his 93rd birthday Friday, has seen a complete cycle in lighting the Ontario capital. Eighty years ago he helped his mother mould tallow candles. The candles gave way to kerosene lamps and the lamps to electric bulbs. Now with power blackouts, the candle has returned to its own and the ancient candle moulds shown left, have been hauled out of storage as Mr. Brown makes his own candles.

TLC Official Says Red Charges False

MONTREAL, Nov. 22—(CP)—Elphege Beaudoin, vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, Sunday described "utterly false" charges that the national and federal unions chartered by the TLC were "communist-dominated" and "constituted a danger to the existence of international unions."

The charges were made by Robert Hewitt, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, at the annual convention of all international unions affiliated with the America Federation of Labor at Cincinnati last week.

In a prepared statement, Mr. Beaudoin said that the spread of such nonsense by responsible officers of AFL unions "is most damaging to the good name and the unity of the labor movement in Canada."

Misguided Men

"These misguided men, whose methods of combatting communism are questionable, took a terrific shellacking from the rank and file delegates at the Victoria convention, and now are trying to save face by making public statements smearing fellow trade-unionists with unfounded charges.

"The indisputable facts are that of the 3,002 local unions affiliated to the Trades and Labor Congress, only 229 are federal and national local unions. These unions constitute approximately 10 per cent of the membership of over 400,000 members in the Trades Congress."

Referring directly to the man who started the controversy last September and let the anti-communism fight at the annual TLC convention at Victoria, B.C., Mr. Beaudoin's statement said "it was the rank and file of 'international' unions which repudiated Frank Hall's methods of fighting 'communism' by trying to break up the trade union movement and not the small number of federal union delegates."

Mr. Hall is Canadian vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, one of the international unions represented at the Cincinnati convention.

VITAMINS • TONICS • RELIEF FOR CHEST COLDS, HEAD COLDS, COUGHS

26 WAYS TO FIGHT A COLD...

There are a number of ways in which colds may be combatted. Of prime importance is to build up your resistance to cold germs. There are a number of worthwhile vitamin preparations and tonics which serve as dietary supplements to help build your resistance. Your Doctor is best qualified to determine your deficiency and prescribe the preparations which can help you most.

When a cold does strike, you can combat it. If it is not possible to stay in bed, at least keep regular hours and retire early. Eat plenty of nourishing food. The system should be cleared of waste matter regularly, with laxatives when necessary. Acetyl-Salicylic acid tablets help to diminish fever and reduce pain. Fruit juices or antacid compounds help to prevent an acid reaction which, it is believed, prolongs the cold.

Drink plenty of water. Dress warmly and avoid exposure to dampness and drafts. In addition, there are a number of reliable remedies available which can bring you comfort. Nose drops will help clear nasal passages and the "stuffed-up" feeling of a head cold. There are beneficial cough remedies that alleviate the discomfort of a deep-seated cough. Many of these proven remedies are featured on this page, and are available at your local Rexall Drug Store.

Schools Hold 'Open House'

MILLBROOK, Nov. 22 (ENS) —"Open House" was kept Friday afternoon, by the Public and Continuation School, in observance of Education Week. when parents and friends were welcomed.

For the program, pupils of the Continuation School sang two-part selections, with George Ingham accompanying. A debate followed, "Resolved that pupils obtain a better education in large schools than in small ones." Upholding the affirmative Lyle McMahon and Ed Hewitt, who, however, went down by score of seven points to five, before the arguments advanced by their opponents, Robert Thompson and Paul Sanders. The judges were the Public School staff, Principal P. E. Hamilton, Misses Jean Burham and Mrs. Robert Larmer.

Piano solos by George Ingham and Arlene McPherson varied the program, as did also a group of readings from the works of Pauline Johnson, by Continuation School pupils. The hostess table for the afternoon tea, served by the senior girls, was lovely with lace cloth, fall blossoms, and silver. Miss Burnham and Mrs. Larmer kept the cups filled, with Betty North relieving the latter.

Guests visited the rooms of the school, where the pupils work was displayed, the teachers being on hand to answer any questions. In the primary room, curios from Holland, loaned by Mrs. Robert Ridge, a war bride from that country, were of interest. They included, among many lovely articles, silver, carved wood, linens, and a Dutch doll in native costume.

The Faculty of the Continuation School, Principal James A. Thompson, J. A. Powell, and B. E. Ingham, with that of the Public School, were hosts and hostesses for an enjoyable occasion planned to give parents an opportunity to see at first hand what is being done in the education of their children. what needs require to be met, and what advantages would result from an expansion of facilities and staff.

Neighbors Hold Party For The Amstrongs

CAVAN, Nov. 22 —(ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Armstrong, of the seventh line Cavan, who sold their farm and are leaving the neighbourhood were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Armstrong for dinner on Thursday evening. Other guests were Mrs. W. Williamson, Millbrook and Mrs. Robert Morton. Later in the evening about 30 neighbors and friends came in and the evening was spent playing cards and crokinole.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were asked to take seats in the living-room. J. D. Armstrong read an address expressing the regret of the neighbourhood at loosing such good neighbors. Eldrich Nelson made the presentation of a tri-light floor lamp.

The committee in charge served lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong intend to make their home in either Cavan or Millbrook and at present are staying with Mrs. Armstrong's brother and sister, Mr. and Miss Blanche Moore.

Ankle Injured

MILLBROOK, Nov. 22 (ENS) —Mrs. Chester Fisher met with an accident at her home, Prince street, on Thursday, when she fell going down the cellar stairs, injuring her right ankle. Mrs. Fisher is in Civic Hospital, Peterborough, an operation may be necessary. Mr. Fisher, who is with the Hydro near Ottawa, arrived home on Friday, when he learned of his wife's accident. Mrs Fisher had just returned from visiting with her sister, Mrs. D. McLaren, at Peterborough, on Wednesday evening.

Col. Bonavia Dies

TORONTO, Nov. 22 —(CP) — Word was received here of the sudden death in Hamburg, Germany, of Col. Victor Joseph Bonavia, 55, commander of the largest military hospital in the British one, Germany. Col. Vonavia's daughter, Mary Bonavia, a British immigrant living in Toronto, last year was the only girl to own a sailboat at Toronto Island. She won her skipper's licence at Bombay, India.

George Robert Cain's Bride And Attendants From N.S.

In the Church of the Immaculate Conception, the wedding was solemnized this morning of Lola Arlene Humphreys, from Halifax, and Robert George Cain of Peterborough. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur William Humphreys of Woodside, Nova Scotia, and the groom a son of Mr. Michael, 223 Caddy St., and the late Mrs. Cains. The Rev. James A. Greenan said the nuptial mass.

Pink roses and mauve 'mums were in bouquets on the altar table. Mrs. Agnes O'Donnell played the wedding music. During the ceremony Mrs. Marianne Duffus sang Mascagni's "Ave Maria" and at the signing of the register, "Sweet Saviour Bless Us."

Given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Reginald Humphreys of Woodside, the bride was gowned in white slipper satin with a full graceful train. The yoke of net at the high neckline was trimmed with satin and gathered lace and embroidered with seed pearls. The long slender sleeves came to points at the wrists and the bodice fastened with self-covered buttons to the waist at back above a bustled skirt. Embroidered net fell about her shoulders in a halo and was caught to her head with white gardenias, and she carried a showered bouquet of red roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Rice and Miss Olive Murphy, also from Nova Scotia. They were in matching gowns of mauve and yellow brocaded taffeta with fish tail bustle, and wore flowered hats to match. Each carried a ring bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Peggy Adams, niece of the groom, as flower girl, was in golden yellow rosettes to show a lace petticoat. She wore a matching poke bonnet and carried a nosegay of mauve baby 'mums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Mark Cain. Ushers were Gordon Hume and Harold Cain, also a brother of the groom.

Guests were received later in the Empress Hotel by the bride's mother, who was gowned in moss green with hat of black and red rose corsage. The groom's sister, Mrs. M. Adams, also received and was attired in grey with black trim, wearing a black hat and corsage of red roses.

When leaving later on a wedding trip to Buffalo, the bride was wearing a grey suit with black accessories and a topcoat of winter white. On return Mr. and Mrs. Cain will live in Peterborough.

Eleanor Dawson Bride Of M. Bruce Taylor

St. Andrew's United church was the setting for a quiet wedding Saturday when the Rev. M. J. Aiken officiated at the double ring ceremony of Mary Eleanor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Franklin Dawson, to Mr. Morley Bruce Taylor, son of Mrs. Hector Taylor and the late Mr. Taylor, of Uxbridge. Mr. Harry Northrop was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a suit of grape gabardine, hat to match and pink accessories. She carried a white rink of Rapture roses. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Doris Dawson, who wore a suit of cinnamon brown gabaradine and dark brown accessories. She carried a pink ring of deep bronze pom poms.

Mr. Russel Leask of Toronto, was groomsman and the ushers were Keith Wass, Toronto, and Alan Eagleson, Bailieboro.

After the reception at the Empress Hotel, the bride and groom left for a trip to Ottawa and Montreal. For travelling the bride donned a topcoat to match her suit. They will live in Peterborough.

A Lovely party dish!

FLAVOR — beyond compare. Color — gay, crystal-clear. Consistency — perfect. And this gorgeous-looking party dish is remarkably easy and economical to make — with Jell-O!

Jell-O combines perfectly with so many fruits, for wonderful desserts — with vegetables, for delightful salads.

And Jell-O's famous "locked-in" flavors mean more marvelous dishes — plain, or attractively varied in countless ways. Look for the big red letters on the Jell-O box.

There are seven famous Jell-O flavors

CHERRY PARTY MOLD

A Product of General Foods

1 package Lime Jell-O
2 cups hot water
1 cup canned pitted white (Royal Anne) cherries
1 cup canned pitted red cherries

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Chill. When slightly thickened, add the drained cherries and turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on serving dish. Garnish.

What's found only in Jell-O? That "locked-in" Jell-O Flavor!

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Men Advised to Marry Good Healthy Girls

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man nearly 21 years old. My girl friend is practically three years my senior. We are very congenial and happy when we are together, but there are a few matters which I regard uneasily. She is very anemic. She eats hardly anything, and when we are taking part in sporting events she always tires when I could enjoy it further. If we go out to places of amusement for several night in succession or do anything strenuous, her face becomes pale and dark rings form around her eyes, and that makes me wonder how she will be able to stand the wear and tear of life.

Dorothy Dix

Don't think that I expect too much of her, but I would certainly hate to think that I would be marrying a girl who might become a chronic invalid. What is your advice?

YOUNG MAN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: One of the things that men seldom seem to take into consideration in picking out their wives is the health of their prospective brides, yet the success of every marriage depends largely upon whether the girls they marry are going to be just doctors' bills to them, or helpmeets.

Health Preferred

It is all very well for a man to fall in love with a frail little Dream Girl, who might get her angel wings at any minute, but when he marries he wants a wife who is strong and husky and who can do a hard day's washing and then dance half the night. He doesn't want any neurosis in his. He doesn't want a wife who breaks down under every strain. He wants a wife who can take life as it comes and buck her husband up when things go wrong, instead of being a drupstore around his neck.

Of course, hale and hearty girls often turn into sickly wives. That can't be helped, and to the honor of men be it said that most husbands under such circumstances bear with their wives with the patience of he-angels.

But, all the same, it is a wise thing for any lad contemplating matrimony to get a health certificate from his girl, just in case,

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Do you think that a divorced man has, or should have, as much attraction for a single woman as a single man would have? Would he have as good a chance of making a desirable marriage? Also, do you think that a single girl or woman should date a divorced man?

A WORRIED PERSON

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: From my observation I would say that divorce is no handicap to a man so far as the ladies are concerned, unless he was unlucky enough to have the court award him the children in the divorce settlement. That cramps his style as a Romeo, for there are few women who want a husband badly enough to take one with a readymade family.

Whether a bachelor should be penalized for having muffed his chances with single women and thus be condemned to marry widows, is a problem beyond my powers to solve.

As to your question as to whether a single girl or woman should date a man who has been married, the answer is: Why not? Widowers are always preferred risks.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 23 and am in love with three different men. Number One tells me that he loves me and we have had some good times together but he has never asked me for a second date. Number Two is older than I am and all he ever does is to feed me when he takes me out. Number Three says he loves me, but he only comes to see me once every two weeks.

All of the men are past 40 and have been married. One of them three times. But none of them have wives now. What shall I do to get one of them to marry me? Or how can I get ANY rich man, for that matter? These men are not rich, but they have enough money for me to live on in the style I want to live.

QUESTION MARK

ANSWER: As none of the men have asked you to marry them, it seems to me that you are borrowing trouble about trying to decide which one to take. Love talk is the cheapest thing in the world and the least to be depended upon.

However, I should regard Number Two as your best bet, as you say that he feeds you when he takes you out, and that's "sumpin," as Amos and Andy would say. Any man who will buy you good food has a charm that is not to be scoffed at.

Otonabee Chapter IODE Tea Delightful Event Saturday

From a dainty tea table in the YWCA Green Room Saturday afternoon, members of the Otonabee Chapter, IODE, were serving tempting refreshments to their many guests. Candles in pastel shades, geer and pink and white, were placed in triple holders on silver candlebra. The cloth was white Maderia with lact border and the centrepiece a silver dish heaping with colorful fresh fruit.

Pouring tea during the afternoon were Mrs. B. Jackson, Mrs. M. Connor, Mrs. R. R. Hall and Mrs. F. K. Kerr. Mrs. F. J A Hall was refreshment convener, assisted by Mrs C. Sherwood, Mrs. D. J. Hall, Mrs. B. McLean, Mrs. A. Archibald, Mrs. F. Mowry and Mrs. A. F. McConkey. Arrangement of the tea table was by Mrs. J. H. Jamieson and Mrs. D. W. Clark.

Mrs. A. McWilliams, regent of the chapter, received at the door, assisted by Mrs. W. A. Burrell, vice regent. Mrs. N. Andrews was treasurer for the tea and Mrs. H. Wilson looked after door prize tickets.

Draw for the door prize was made by Mrs. A. W. Turner, regent of Municipal Chapter, and the winner was Mrs. R. Jones, Simcoe St. Tickets were sold on a cake, donated by Mrs. F. J. A. Hall, by Mrs. R. J. Martin. A draw on this was made by Mrs. Mrs. G. W. Hall, vice regent of Municipal Chapter, and Mrs. J. Callahan was the winner.

Quality and sales of goods from the Opportunity Chest were high, with satisfaction the result on all sides. The stock included a wide assortment of aprons, children's clothes and baby things, flannelette garments for little girls, pretty hand-made crib quilts, sofe sloppers, household artticles, towels and pillow cases. Mrs. E. L. Davis was in charge, assisted by Mrs. W. Comstock and Mrs. H. Lowes.

Patriotic colors were used to decorate the small containers for home-made candy for sal by Mrs. W. G. McLaren, who dispensed larger quantities too until the supply was gone. At the home-baking table Mrs. F. A. Gray, convener, was assisted by Mrs. E. Curry and Mrs. A. E. Dryland and demands for thir delicious wares were heavy.

Cleary, Mr. and Mrs. Art Lamey and Mrs. L. Potten were among those attending the shower in the Warkworth Town Hall on Friday evening.

Mrs. Margaret Venters is now spending a few days in Trent River at the home of her brother Mr. and Mrs. George R. Brooks.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, November 23

There are indications of a definite upsurge of many projects of major importance, with a concentrated drive in putting these over with vigor and initiative. While preparation and techniques seem constructive and practical, yet an error of judgment, confused thinking, or other form of rush rather than reason, is likely to alienate the interest of those disposed to cooperate. Under such dubious rule, it might be easy to invite litigation, to offend friends, involve contracts or cause separations, in business as well as personal relations. Pause to analyze and to put over clever ideas or innovations.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves under a strong drive to inaugurate new projects, inovations or exceptionally brilliant plans or propositions in which special skills and ingenuity are ready for demonstration. However, a reckless or over-played hand may block the enterprise and result in withdrawal of those already interested. Shun cause for separations, offending friendly interests both in business and social or domestic affairs. Sign all contracts with precaution. Shun all carelessness and stick to facts and logic.

A child born on this day may have an ambitious and aspiring nature, with excellent opportunities for reaching high places. However, such drastic changes and surprises may not measure up to expectations.

Furniture Truck Hits Bridge Catches Fire

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 22. —(ENS).—A large truck loaded with furniture, owned and driven by Keith Synder of Picton, went out of control between the two bridges at this village early Sunday evening.

The vehicle, with the engine on fire, crashed the guard rail and the corner steel braces of the bridge structure, turning over on its side along the rocky ledge at the edge of the "back channel."

Frank McLaughlin, local storekeeper, who resides at the opposite end of the bridge, was the first on the scene, and along with the driver, who had climbed from the cab of the truck unaided, were successful in getting the fire under control.

Keith Synder, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Synder of Lakefield, was the only occupant of the truck and escaped without injury.

The most of the damage was caused to the furniture, which was pretty well broken up by the impact. The truck was badly damaged.

A guy-wire from a nearby hydro pole and attached to the bridge, was the only thing that kept the truck and its contents from toppling into the deep water of the channel.

With the help of the spectators the furniture was loaded onto another truck and proceeded to Lakefield where Mr. and Mrs. Synder are taking up residence.

FRIEDERICH BOEHM, Austrian employee of Russian occupation troops in Vienna, who leaped to his death from Soviet headquarters in centre of the city. Boehm, who landed on the sidewalk outside the Vienna building, told those who rushed to his aid that he jumped from the window because the Soviets were holding him on a charge that he was a spy.

Truck Ditched Driver Unhurt

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 22 —(ENS)—A blowout of a front tire on a Highway Department truck, heavily loaded with gravel, caused the vehicle to leave the highway spilling it's load and turn over in a swampy ditch a quarter of a mile north of here on Saturday morning.

The driver, Edward Payne, Peterborough escaped unhurt and there were no damages to the truck.

The truck was drawn out of the ditch by two trucks.

Harwood Born Congressman Dies In Cobourg

HARWOOD, Nov. 22.—(ENS). —Ex-Congressman George Rogers, who represented New York State in the United States Congress for a number of years, died in Cobourg General Hospital Saturday morning of a heart attack.

Mr. Rogers had been at his summer home, "Hillcrest," in Harwood, convalescing from a serious illness. Previously he had been in hospital in Rochester.

He was born in Harwood, 62 years ago, and attended Harwood school and St. John's Anglican Church and Sunday School. While quite young, his parents moved to the United States, where he later engaged in the grocery business. He was the youngest of a family of seven.

Mr. Rogers always considered Harwood his home, no matter where else he lived.

He was much interested in politics, and his work on the park commission in the city of Rochester was outstanding. Throughout the years he has helped to raise funds to erect the new hall in Memorial Park, Harwood, and his sudden death means that he was unable to see the hall completed.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, Ralph and George, of Rochester, and two grandchildren, two brothers, Charles and Alfred, also of Rochester, two sisters, Mrs. Ada Eyers and Mrs. Alice Underwood.

Funeral service will be held on Wednesday at the Church of the Ascension, with burial at Riverside Cemetery, Rochester.

Knox Church Speaker Raps Emphasis On Wealth, Birth

The Rev. J. V. McNeely, M.A., B.D., president of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church, was the guest preacher at the 38th anniversary services of Knox Church on Sunday. There were large congregations at both morning and evening services, special music under the direction of W. R. Potter, organist and choirmaster, and anniversary thankofferings to continue and extend the work of the church locally and generally.

During the morning service Mr. McNeely paid tribute to the faith and vision of the builders of Knox Church, mentioning in particular the late J. F. Morrison, and a minister emeritus of Knox, the Rev. William McDonald, who was present for the service. Mr. McNeely's morning theme was, "Divine Endowment," and his text the second verse of the fourth chapter of Exodus, in which the Lord asked Moses: "What is that in thine hand?" to which Moses replied, "A rod."

The preacher remarked how Moses, slow of speech, endowed with only a primitive rod, was chosen to be a leader of men. "God takes that instrument, endows it, makes it the very will of God in the hand of Moses. . . . All who followed that rod were given a great franchise." He said that "worth does not depend on what an individual has, but what he is," and referred to men of humble birth like Luther, Cromwell and Bunyan, who became leaders of men. His text, Mr. McNeely said, imposed a moral question, "Dare we show God what we have in our hand? Are we ashamed of the things in which we have put our trust? Better a shepherd's crook than the orb and sceptre," if the orb and sceptre are used basely.

He discussed two "endowments" much prized throughout the world, the endowment of birth—like patents of nobility—and the endowment of wealth. He said that neither birth nor wealth were true standards. "Character is the divine measure of worth and may be found in a man who is as poor as a church mouse or is a multi-millionaire." He cited Milton, who had in his hand a pen; Wesley endowed with spiritual fervor; Knox with the character which could cow a queen; lister with a microscope; livingstone with a medicine chest. Wealth and birth were not of consequence to these men. "Yet," Mr. McNeely said, "we are still judging men by the cut of their coat, estimating their value by their bank balance. Our standard of measurement in Canada is still very largely birth and wealth."

The Messrs. Clarke sang two quartets during the morning service. The choir sang the Gloria from Mozart's Twelfth Mass. In the evening the guest preacher's theme was, "Friendship in Christ." The Clarke brothers again sang two quartets. The choir, under W. R. Potter, presented an anthem, "Sing Praise to God."

ONE MONTH LATER—One month, good food and good care can make a great deal of difference in a person, these two photos taken one month apart show. On the left is Gordon Kelley, 23, of Toronto as he appeared one month ago. He claimed he had been held prisoner and beaten. The photo on right is Kelley as he appeared in Toronto police court Friday. The young man was remanded another week for additional treatment at Toronto Psychiatric Hosital while authorities ponder further legal action in the case.

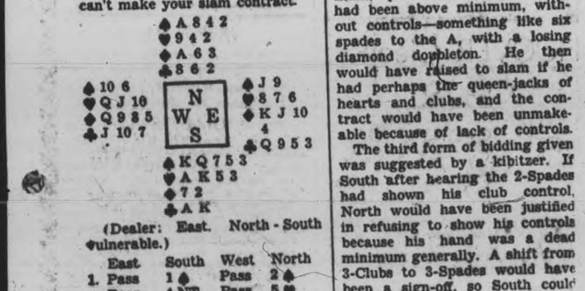
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TWO FACTORS NEEDED

IN ORDER to make a slam, you must possess two fundamental factors. One is the ability to take the necessary number of tricks after you get the lead—twelve in the case of a small slam and thirteen in the case of a grand slam. The other is ability to gain the lead before the defenders have taken two tricks, in the case of the small slam, or before they have taken any trick in the case of a grand slam. If either of those is lacking, you can't make your slam contract.



(Dealer: East. North - South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1. Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 NT	Pass	5 ♥
Pass	5 NT	Pass	6 ♣
Pass	6 ♠
2. Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	5 ♠
3. Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

The first two sequences show what actually happened in a team of four match. In the Table 1 bidding, South decided to feel about for slam as soon as he heard his partner fitted spades, though of course that raise to two might have indicated just barely enough for the call. The Blackwood convention elicited the information that North had two aces and no kings, whereupon South found himself in a small slam. If North had delivered anything of value except his two aces—in either side suit length or a ruffable short suit, South would have been all right. There were not twelve tricks in sight, however, so he was set, even though the heart suit established an unnecessary thirteener. So he lost a trick in each red suit after the lead of the heart Q.

At Table 2, South decided to show the full trick-taking strength of his hand regardless of controls, with his natural jump to 5-Spades. North having a minimum, quit. But suppose North had been above minimum, without controls—something like six spades to the A, with a losing diamond doubleton. He then would have raised to slam if he had perhaps the queen-jacks of hearts and clubs, and the contract would have been unmakeable because of lack of controls.

The third form of bidding given was suggested by a kibitzer. If South after hearing the 2-Spades had shown his club control, North would have been justified in refusing to show his controls because his hand was a dead minimum generally. A shift from 3-Clubs to 3-Spades would have been a sign-off, so South could soundly have stopped at 4 Spades.

6—In Memoriams

CURTIS—In loving memory of our father, Arthur Curtis, who passed away a year ago, Nov. 20, 1947.
We who loved you sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year;
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever near.
—Ever remembered by Walter, Alfred, Jean, Florence, Leona, Bill and grandchildren.

KAVANAGH—In loving memory of our dear mother Almedie Kavanagh who went to be with her Lord four years ago today, November 22, 1944.
Beyond the sunset no clouds will gather, no storms will threaten, no fears annoy. His glorious presence, His words of welcome, was her portion on that fair shore. Oh glad reunion, with our dear loved ones who've gone before, in that fair homeland we'll know no parting Beyond the sunset for ever more.
—Ever remembered by son and daughters.

McDOUGALL—In loving memory of our dear brother Frederick James McDougall who died November 22, 1947.
A tribute of love and remembrance
To a brother—one of the best
The joys that he missed on life's highway,
May he find in God's garden of rest.
—Always remembered by brothers and sisters.

WADE—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother Mrs. Clara Wade, who passed away November 21, 1945.
As we loved her so we miss her.
—Ever remembered by her family.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the attending doctors, nurses and staff of Civic Hospital and the many friends who made calls, sent flowers, cards, cigarettes, fruit, during my illness. Vic Coombes.

Mrs. C. B. Chapman wishes to extend her sincere thanks to the many friends and relatives who so kindly remembered her with flowers, fruit and cards during her recent stay in the hospital. Also her appreciation to Rev. Kibblewhite, attending doctors, nurses and nurses' aides.

Mrs. Helen Emerson, Grand Hotel wishes to extend her heartfelt thanks to the many friends who sent flowers and messages of sympathy following the death of her mother, Mrs. Rose Carroll Spencer.

To the Sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, friends and neighbors I wish to say a sincere thank you. Mrs. B. M. Peterson.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Grant Warwick, Boston's high-flying forward, retained his lead in the National League scoring race over the week-end but Ted Kennedy, Toronto Maple Leaf centre, leaped from sixth to second in running by scoring a goal and assisting on three others in Toronto's two games. Eddie Sandford, Boston centre, and Doug Bentley of Chicago and Montreal's Joe Carveth follow with 13 apiece.

The Leaders:	G	A	Pts.

Industrials Drop In Very Dull Trading

TORONTO, Nov. 22—(CP)—Industrials slipped in dull trading on the Stock Exchange here today. Golds and base metals were quiet and held steady.

Selected industrials were in a downward trend with losses generally held to fractions. Canadian Breweries traded actively for a gain of ¼.

Hollinger and Lake Shore dipped fractions in senior golds and junior issue moved quietly. United Keno Hill was up to a new high at $2.45.

Smelters was down ⅛ in a dull base metals list. Pend Oreille rose 15 cents.

Armed Forces Included If Pay Boost Given

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 — (CP). — If and when Canada's roughly 112,000 civil servants get all or part of the cost-of-living bonus they want, the increase is also expected to affect the 37,000 odd men who serve in the three armed forces.

If the total flat bonus sought were granted, it would add about $1,000,000 a year to the Federal expenditures for the civil servants. A similar addition of the services would mean roughly another 20,000,000. CBC employees have already been granted a $15 a month bonus.

There have been varying reports on the outcome of the bonus campaign as the Cabinet continues to study the request for some $46 a month for each civil servant on the basis of the cost-of-living index.

At October 1—the latest date for which a report is available—the official index was 139.6, compared with 142.2 at this time last year. The rise since the outbreak of war has been 58.3 per cent.

Accountants

The Canadian tax foundation, an organ ization composed of chartered accountants and others interested in Canada's tax laws, will hold its second annual conference here this week.

At the foundation's first conference last year, delegates reviewed the government's proposed revision of the Income Tax Act, and produced a report, used by business and professional organizations to prepare recommendations invited by the government regarding the new Act.

The Act will be discussed again this year and some suggestions for alteration may be made.

Finance Minister Abbott will address the foundation's closing dinner on Tuesday.

Deer Kick-Back

OSHAWA, Nov. 22 — (CP) — Robert C. Forster said Friday he got a black eye when a dead deer kicked him in the eye. He said it happened on a hunting trip when one of his companions shot a deer. While he was helping to skin the animal he severed a tendon and the deer's leg straightened out, hitting him in the eye.

Grain Yield Up

TORONTO, Nov. 22 — (CP) — The Ontario Agriculture Department Friday estimated the province's 1948 grain production at 180,630,000 bushels, compared with 106,000,000 last year. The crop was "exceptionally good," the department said in its monthly report. Average grain production for Ontario during the last 10 years has been 156,000,000 bushels.

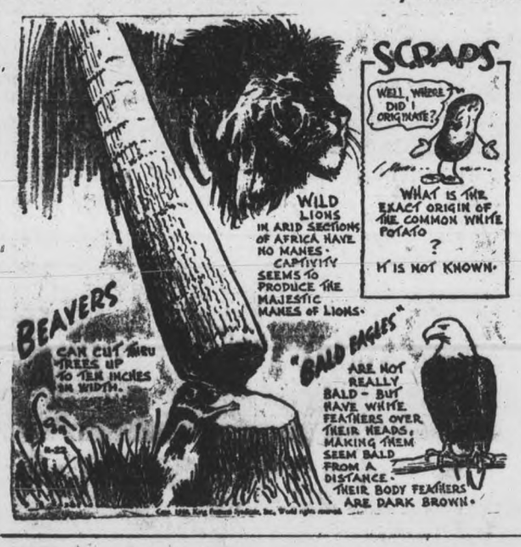
To Hold Short Course In Needlecraft

BAILIEBORO, Nov. 22—(ENS) — Bailieboro Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Douglas Fisher on Tuesday. The short course for needlecraft will be held Nov. 29 to Dec. 2. It was decided to again pay fees to the Local Council of Women in Peterborough. The Institute is again staging a paper drive. Reports showed that more than $191 was raised from the banquet. Mrs. Walter Jones, convener of home economics, called for readings, by Mrs. A. Montgomery, Mrs. W. Smith and Mrs. Gray.

A report on the recent convention in Toronto was given by Miss Clara Seens.

The Christmas meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Fletcher on Dec. 14.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott



Downpour Starts Premier's Talk

KENTVILLE, N.S., Nov. 22 — (CP)—A Nova Scotia downpour started Prime Minister St. Laurent on a train of thought here Saturday that ended in a bit of long-range needling regarding the Ontario power shortage.

Speaking at a complimentary dinner to Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Mr. St. Laurent said "I would like to say something about your beautiful Nova Scotia scenery, but due to the elements, we've seen very little of it."

"Mind you," he added, "in our part of the country, we also have troubles. The elements—and other contributing factors—have resulted in a power shortage."

In a thinly-veiled reference to the power controversy between George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservatives, and Trade Minister Howe, Mr. St. Laurent recalled a "challenge for open debate made by one certain gentleman to another certain gentleman."

"This challenge was accepted by the second certain gentleman. The place to be the House of Commons on any afternoon or evening when the place was not in darkness.

"It would not be fitting to hold such a debate by candlelight."

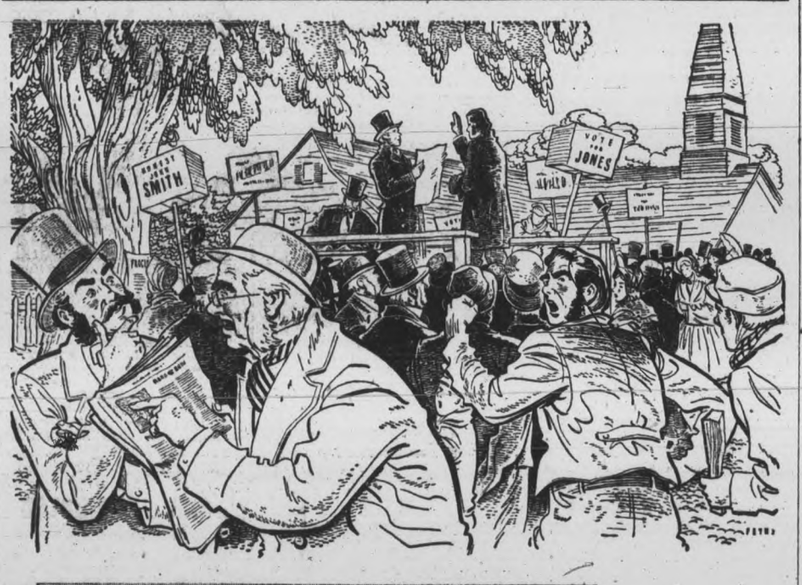
Have Small Twister

FORT ERIE, Nov. 22 (CP). — A small twister ripped through Bay Beach, near here, Saturday, uprooting 100 trees and wrecking cottages. Most of the damage was done in a strip a little more than a mile wide.



The year was 1841 ...

: : : six days of turmoil—that was election week in Upper Canada! Voters formed in long queues to mount the "hustings" (a rough wooden platform) : : . declaring aloud for all to hear, "I vote for John Smith." Often groups of hard-fisted toughs stood by, armed with cudgels to be used on those who voted the "wrong way."

But men who kept true democracy as their objective finally won the right of a secret ballot—the right to vote as you wish without fear of intimidation.

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

Royal Tour For 1949 Is Postponed

Deny Blood Clot In Right Foot Cause Of Ailment

LONDON, Nov. 23 — (CP). — The King is suffering from an arterial ailment, Buckingham Palace official correspondents reported today. All his public engagements have been cancelled.

The announcement, apparently authorized by the King himself, said the ailment did not involve a blood clot.

The King's physicians said in a medical bulletin early today the King suffered from "an obstruction in the circulation of the legs which has only recently become acute" and that a defective blood supply to the right foot caused anxiety.

Newspapers and court circles generally interpreted the bulletin to mean that a blood clot had formed in the King's right leg. This belief was heightened by the physicians' instruction that the King's projected tour of Australia and New Zealand next year should be cancelled because the strain "might well involve serious risk to a limb."

Not Quite Clear

Whether the Palace correspondents' dispatch meant the King is suffering from phlebitis was not clear. Phlebitis is an inflammation of the inner membrane of the veins. The dispatch was sent out after Sir John Weir, the Royal Family physician, paid a morning call on the King. This was several hours after issuance of the first bulletin.

The news was released at 1.30 a.m. today (8.30 p.m. EST Monday) by Buckingham Palace so it could be announced simultaneously in the parliaments of Australia and New Zealand that the royal tour of those countries set for 1949 had been abandoned.

Too Hazardous

The King's five physicians announced they had decided "that it would be hazardous for His Majesty to embark upon a long journey which might delay his recovery and which might well involve serious risk to a limb."

The King will continue to discharge duties which can be handled from his office in the palace. All outside appearances will either be abandoned or delegated to the Queen, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret and Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

Dies After Fight

KINGSTON, Nov. 23 — (CP).—Alphyr Bedard, 35, of Hammond, died in hospital here today after being bedten up in a fight on Barrie Street, Kingston's main thoroughfare, early this morning. Police are holding Lloyd Livingston of Kingston on an open charge. Three other men with Livingston, originally believed to have attacked Bedard, were allowed to go after they convinced police they were trying to break up the fight.

Hydro Orders Equipment To Ease Cut-offs

TORONTO, Nov. 23 (CP)—The Ontario Hydro Commission will acquire sufficient auxiliary Diesel and steam-generating equipment so that "we are very hopeful" power cut-offs in southern Ontario will not be necessary next winter, Commission Chairman Robert Saunders said today.

Mr. Saunders said none of the commission's water power plants now under construction could be expected to alleviate the power shortage before 1950. Auxiliary equipment was the only answer if recurrence of cut-offs was to be avoided.

Complete estimates of how much auxiliary equipment is to be installed by next fall would be in his hands within a day or two, Mr. Saunders said.

Mr. Saunders said it was unlikely additional purchases would be made in Quebec as companies there were having difficulty meeting power demands.

He said auxiliary equipment would be "considerably in excess" of the Diesel units already contracted for to produce 720,000 kilowatt hours a day. These were three 10,000-kilowatt sets, scheduled for delivery in September, October and November.

Included in new power sources is an additional steam unit at Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton. The commission now is getting 84,000 kilowatt hours daily from Stelco and the company has boilers which can produce a further 240,000 kilowatt hours a day.

Generators have been ordered and will be installed in time to start power deliveries by spring.

Recent heavy rainfall in the Ottawa valley has enabled Quebec companies to provide Ontario with another 1,000,000 kilowatt hours a week. The amount brought in from Quebec last week approximated 20,587,000 kilowatt hours, as against the 44,535,000 kilowatt hours called for in the original contract.

As in the case of Ontario itself, Quebec found its generating plants falling behind in production after a long summer's drought shrank streamflow. Much of the power which Ontario had hoped to import from Quebec to overcome its Hydro difficulties was unavailable.

A meeting to review power quotas for all Ontario municipalities was scheduled for today.

Word that the additional power would be available came as Toronto prepared to extend its three-a-day Hydro breaks to the downtown area tomorrow.

Fast New Escort Vessel To Be Added To Navy For Anti-Submarine Work

Corvette Has No Place In New Plans, Want 10,000 Men In Force To Boost Navy To Effective Pitch

OTTAWA, Nov. 23—(CP).—Canada is building towards a navy of 10,000 men and is going to arm them with a fast new escort vessel, better than either the frigate or corvette, for the anti-submarine role that still is considered their primary function in any new war, it was learned today. Naval circles said their current strength of less than 7,500 men is considerably below the minimum needed for effective training, but are fairly satisfied that they are slowly moving towards the desired manpower target. The figure of 10,000 represents the minimum.

Although major repairs and rearmament are usually under way, the navy now has no ships under construction but hopes to have keels laid in Canadian shipyards within the next year or so for the anti-sub escort craft that now is in the blueprint stage, as well as for some new minesweepers.

The new vessel is considered an answer to the latest developments in submarines, which Germany had carried to a new degree of deadliness by the end of the war.

Equivalent To Jets

It also is somewhat of a naval equivalent of the new jet interceptor fighter plane the RCAF is building to suit air needs peculiar to Canada.

A lot of its equipment will be standardized with that used in United States craft, a new reflection of the trend towards standardization among the allied nations.

The Navy has its own air arm now but feels that new developments indicate that surface craft, in co-operation with air, will be just as important in handling submarines as in the late stages of the recent war. The frigate will continue to be useful although not fully effective. The corvette is out.

Breen Denies Disappearance Publicity Gag

GLIDDEN, Wis., Nov. 23—(AP)—Sheriff William Sands said today that singer Bobby Breen's week-end disappearance was "a publicity gag that's going to require a lot of explaining."

But the 21-year-old Toronto native and former child movie star said, "Honest . . . there's nothing fishy."

Breen and his pilot were located Monday night at a hotel here, where Breen registered Sunday night under the name of Benedict.

The sheriff said Monday's day-long search for the single-engined monoplane which carried Breen and his pilot, Kenneth Thompson, from Thompson's home field at Waukesha, Wis., was a "travesty."

In a 45-minute telephone interview with the Associated Press today, Breen pleaded, "get it right, will you? Tell everybody it wasn't a gag."

Forced Down

The Milwaukee Sentinel quoted Breen as saying he and Thompson were forced down at a farm near Glidden about 3:45 p.m. Sunday and because of blocked roads, they were unable to get into Glidden and had to spend the night at a farm house which had no telephone.

But Mrs. Mary Sheridan, manager of the hotel, said Breen and Thompson registered under Thompson's name and spent "Sunday night and most of Monday" at the hotel.

1 Dead, 2 Hurt In Second Bancroft Crash

BANCROFT, Nov. 23.—One man was killed and two injured Monday afternoon when a car in which they were riding collided with a Department of Highways truck on Highway 62, 10 miles north of here. All three men were employees of the Toronto Evening Telegram. Robert Smith, 23, of 612 Mortimer Ave., Toronto, driver of the car, was killed when the dump part of the truck struck the car's windshield. Injured were James Rutter, of 503 Ontario St., and James Sykes, of 81 Burlington Rd.

Smith was going to Maynooth when the truck, driven by Allen Stringer, came down Selba Hill. As he began to make a turn on the hill, the back part of the truck hit the windshield of Smith's car.

Smith was taken to the Red Cross Hospital in Bancroft at 5.15 p.m., and died about an hour later. Skyes has arm and leg bruises and spent the night at hospital, while Rutter, suffering a slight leg injury, remained in a Bancroft hotel. The driver of the truck was not injured.

All three men work for the circulation department of the Toronto daily and were believed to be making a tour of the district on business.

An inquest into Smith's death will be held today, with Coroner Dr. O. W. Anderson, of Bancroft, presiding. Dr. J. B. McKay, Belleville pathologist, will be present.

Cpl. S. W. Palmateer and Constables Doug Ketcheson and G. Harding, all of the provincial police, investigated.

2 Policemen Hurt In Oshawa Collision

OSHAWA, Nov. 23 — (CP). — Two provincial policemen were in hospital here today following an automobile collision at a city intersection Monday night.

Officers Ray Hodgson and Harry Kift were injured when their cruiser was involved in a crash with a car driven by W. G. Hawkins of Oshawa. The police cruiser was hurled against a hydrant and tree.

Hodgson suffered a broken collar bone, bruises and cuts; Kift received leg and hand injuries. Hawkins escaped with bruises.

No charges were laid.

May Try To Halt Butter Shipment

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Nov. 23 — (CP)—New Zealand longshoremen have hinted they may try to block further shipments to Canada of the 1,000 tons of butter New Zealand agreed to sell Canada this year.

H. Barnes, president of the Waterside Workers Union, joined critics of government policy which exports butter from New Zealand while the ration of six ounces a week is retained here.

Government spokesmen have replied that the sale of butter to Canada earns urgently-needed dollars and keeps New Zealand in a market that may become more valuable when Britain's need for butter becomes less urgent.

Mr. Barnes alleged New Zealand also was sending butter to Latin America and Far Eastern cities where it was suspected of reaching the black market.

Only part of the 1,000 tons has been shipped so far.

Fear 29 Lost On Freighter

HALIFAX, Nov. 23.—(CP). — A storm-damaged British freighter, en route from England to Philadelphia with possibly 29 men aboard, is overdue and presumably lost in an area some 400 miles southeast of Halifax.

The 5,267-ton freighter Hopestar sailed from Newcastle Nov. 2 and reported "heavy weather damage" on Nov. 13. That was the last word hear from her.

RCAF search and rescue officials here said the United States coast guard had dispatched a Canso aircraft from Argentia Nfld., to the area. RCAF planes would join the search when weather conditions cleared.

Chinese Reds Open New Push

NANKING, Nov. 23—(AP)—The communists opened a new push today on Suchow, key to Nanking and Central China. The immediate objective was the defence bastion's only airfield.

Gen. Chen Yi's communist veterans punched out of the southeast under the cover of low clouds. Weather cut down the effectiveness of the government's air force which was the major factor in turning the communist assault in the first phase of the Suchow battle last week.

The new offensive added to communist pressure steadily building up against the nationalist second army group all along a great arc to the east and south o fthe city 180 miles northwest of Nanking. Other communist forces were reported moving against Suchow from the north.

In North China, the communist threat to the great cities of Peiping and Tientsin increased as the reds took over Paoting. The communist radio claimed the city Monday, the government announced its evacuation today.

Without full air support for the defence of Suchow, the nationalists were expected to be in for a rough time. The communists apparently had regrouped and reformed completely after last week's heavy battering. They had been caught unprotected on the Suchow plain and the nationalist air force blasted them in clear days and moonlight nights with bombers and fighter-bombers.

Ex-Port Hope Police Chief Arrested By Successor

PORT HOPE, Nov. 23—(ENS)—A new bombshell in the Port Hope police situation was exploded Monday afternoon, following the sudden arrest of ex-Chief Ernest Purdy by his successor, Chief W. Graham.

Purdy appeared in police court on thirteen charges alleging theft of fines and costs from the corporation of Port Hope. He was remanded without plea in custody, but Magistrate R. B. Baxter said that an application for bail would be considered. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman was not in court at the time and bail could not be set, but Purdy was later freed on $1,000 bail.

Purdy appeared in court Monday afternoon on charges alleging theft of fines and costs covering the period January, 1948, to July, 1948.

On Nov. 12, Graham arrested Bert Warren, a police sergeant on the force, just 12 hours after dismissing Warren. The charges against Warren concerned theft of gasoline from a taxi firm over a three-month period. He was released on $1,000 bail.

Chief Graham said the arrest of Purdy followed a joint investigation with Inspector Alex. MacLeod of the CIB in Toronto.

Purdy joined the force in November of 1946 and resigned August of this year. The charges against him involved 11 counts of theft of $12.50 each and two of $25 for a total of $187.50 and they are said to represent fines and costs belonging to the Corporation of Port Hope.

Chisel Open Safe Thieves Get $5,000

CORNWALL, Nov. 23 (CP)—Thieves chiselled open a small safe in the office of Lally-Munro Fuels, Ltd., during the night and escaped with several hundred dollars in cash and a considerable amount in cheques, city police said today. The loss was later estimated at $5,000, mostly in cheques.

Police said the safe was opened apparently by experts who gained entry through a washroom window at the rear.

Advise European Parliament Impossible

Britain Feels Plan Not Feasible At Present Time, Tells Allies

PARIS, Nov. 23—(AP). — Britain will advise her Brussels-pact allies soon that a western European parliament is beyond present-day achievement, authoritative British sources said today.

The sources said Britain was to have made this point tomorrow at a meeting of representatives of the Five Powers—Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

However, because of Belgium's current political crisis, today's meeting was postponed until Friday. A committee of Brussels alliance representatives called the session to begin a study of how to promote greater European unity.

Last month when the Five Powers announced they were asking the United States and Canada to join with them in a North Atlantic defence pact, France and Belgium proposed establishment of a western European consultative parliament.

The British informants said their Labor Government felt it was not feasible now to convoke such a parliament because it believes:

1. Members of the proposed parliament would not represent, in the democratic sense, any group of people because it would not be possible now to hold elections on a representative basis.

2. Continental unity, with a solid base established chiefly through economic co-operation, should precede such a parliament.

3. Formation of such a parliament would just be going through the motions of federating Europe, would accomplish nothing and might damage what practical political unity now exists in western Europe.

The results of the committee talks will be reported to the five-power Foreign Ministers who will meet here in January.

East, West Backing Original U.N. Plan

PARIS, Nov. 23 (CP) — The east and west appeared today to be moving toward firm support of the original United Nations partition of Palestine.

Australia joined Canada and the United States in reaffirming her position on the Nov. 29, 1947, division of the Holy Land between Arabs and Jews.

Australia's John D. L. Wood submitted a draft resolution calling upon the 58-power political committee to set up a conciliation commission of five members or less. It would ask the Arabs and Jews to negotiate a permanent peace.

Russia's spokesmen frequently have said in Security Council debates on Palestine that Russia stood by her support of partition.

Find Sewage Disposal Plant Would Cost Sault 2 Million

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Nov. 23—(CP)—Establishment of a sewage disposal plant to serve the Canadian Sault would cost approximately $2,500,000, Mayor W. H. C. Brien said Monday at the concluding session of the international joint commission investigating pollution of St. Mary's River.

"The city would require outside (Dominion or Provincial) assistance in the construction of such a large undertaking," Mayor Brien said.

He was replying to a question by Wm. R. Vallance, legal adviser to the commission, state department, Washington. Mr. Vallance asked Mayor Brien what the city was prepared to do with regard to curbing river pollution.

"The city is prepared to do all within its means," he said, "but I am of the opinion that the city could not stand such an expenditure alone." He suggested that a careful study of the whole problem be continued in the hope of finding a solution.

A. M. Wilson, Algoma Central Railway engineer, and Gavin Shanks, superintendent of the Algoma Central Steamship division, promised to follow up suggestions by the commission and investigate their full possibilities. The queston of installing storage or septic tanks on the five Algoma Central freighters brought from Mr. Shanks the admission that he saw no reason why these could not be installed. Both men promised the co-operation of the company.

City engineer E. E. Smith told the commission that the original estimate of $1,200,000 for the proposed disposal plant and centralization of sewer outlets would have to be almost doubled in view of today's increased costs and quoted $2,500,000 as a more likely figure.

Parry Sound Judge Handles Arbitration

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—(CP). Judge James B. Moon of Parry Sound Monday was appointed chairman of an Arbitration Board which will decide how much farmers will receive for shipping milk to the Toronto market.

He was appointed after representatives of the Toronto Milk Distributors Association and the Whole Milk Producers' League could not agree on a neutral chairman.

The Board set up by the Ontario Milk Control Board after producers and distributors were unable to negotiate a new price for milk. Under a contract which expired Oct. 31, producers received $4.05 a hundredweight for whole milk and $2.90 cents a hundredweight for secondary milk used for processing.

Six Robberies Net 2 Million

MONTREAL, Nov. 23—(CP)—Six big Ontario bank robberies in the last three years resulted in nearly $2 million in loot with much of the stolen cash and securities recovered, an unofficial compilation showed today.

The latest major safe-cracking was the as yet unsolved burglary two weeks ago of the Maxville branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

A circular distributed by Ontario authorities listed the total loot as between $400,000 and $500,000, Quebec provincial police said. Of this amount, $85,000 was in uncashable, registered bonds.

However, H. L. Enman, general manager of the bank, said in Toronto that the total figure was "much too large" and the registered bonds were worth much more than $85,000.

Police here believe the Maxville job was carried out by a group of local safe-crackers because a car found abandoned some distance from the bank and the acetylene torch outfit abandoned at the bank, both had been stolen in Montreal.

If the police figures on the Maxville robbery are correct, it will rank as one of the biggest recorded in Canada.

The other five bank jobs over the last three years have followed a startlingly similar pattern. Much of the loot came from safety deposit boxes, much was registered bonds and much was recovered.

In no case has the amount stolen been officially announced by the banks.

Lachine Policeman Shot In Car Chase

MONTREAL, Nov. 23.—(CP).—A policeman was shot in the right arm Monday night in suburban Lachine during an exchange of gun fire with four men driving in an automobile.

The victim, Constable Norman Aumain, was taken to hospital where his condition was reported as not serious.

Police said the four men were spotted by Constable Aumain and Constable Y. Collette as they parked on a Lachine wharf. When the policemen approached to investigate they drove off suddenly with the police car in pursuit.

U.S. Says Berlin Crisis Up To Security Council

PARIS, Nov. 23.—(AP).—The United States delegation to the United Nations reaffirmed today its position that the Security Council should find a solution of the Berlin crisis.

The delegation took the unusual step of authorizing a statement by a spokesman in answer to reports from Berlin that an authoritative American official there saw no basis for agreement on Berlin in the UN.

Witnesses Say Mrs. Pohl Feared Stuart

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 23 (CP)— A five-man coroner's jury continued today to wade through a tangled mass of evidence surrounding the life of Mrs. Emma Pohl, who disappeared Sept. 13 from her Kitchener home and was found strangled Oct. 25.

Ten of the 20 witnesses scheduled for the inquest were called Monday night.

Two of them testified that Mrs. Pohl was "afraid" of William Stuart, her former boy friend, who is held on a charge of public mischief.

Beverley Patient, Mrs. Pohl's 13-year-old daughter by a previous marriage, said her mother was afraid of Stuart. She said Mrs. Pohl told her that Stuart threatened to kill her unless she forgot about $600 she loaned him to buy a car.

Statements Stuart made to police about the $600 he said he repaid Mrs. Pohl the day she vanished led to his arrest on a public mischief charge. Police said they did not believe some of the statements. Stuart was released on $4,000 bail after six weeks in custody.

Testifies About Fear

Mrs. Nora Crye, who lived next door to Mrs. Pohl in a Kitchener suburb, testified that Mrs. Pohl was afraid of Stuart and "just didn't like to be with him."

Beverley Patient testified for more than two hours.

After she told of the alleged threat of her mother's life, Crown Attorney Craig McKay told the jury her statements were simply "hearsay" and the girl did not see or hear the statement being made.

A former RCMP handwriting expert, Stephen Lett, said the signature of Mrs. Pohl on a receipt she gave Stuart was genuine.

(Police had previously suggested the signature on the receipt was a forgery.)

Inspector Ewan Cameron of the Kitchener police said he questioned Stuart Oct. 1 about the $600 and was told it had been won gambling.

Mrs. Pohl's daughter said that Stuart had asked her to marry him when she went to question him about her mother's disappearance.

News of the 52-year-old King's illness—his first serious ailment since 1917 when he underwent an operation for duodenal ulcer—eclipsed the empire's rejoicing at the birth of a son to Princess Elizabeth a week ago.

The announcement which came as a complete surprise and shock to the entire commonwealth, said his doctors had ordered complete rest for the King. Palace sources said he would fill no public engagements for at least six months.

General Health Good

The King's doctors, who attended him before and after the birth of Princess Elizabeth's son in the palace Nov. 14, stressed that the monarch's general health, including his heart "give no reason for concern."

The doctors gave no specific medical name to the King's ailment. The possibility that the King is suffering from phlebitis was suggested in some quarters, but responsible sources declined to go beyond the official statement.

In their bulletin, the doctors said that "no doubt the strain of 12 years has appreciably affected his resistance to physical strain."

"It would be hazardous," they added, "to embark upon a long journey which might delay recovery and involve serious risk to limb."

The king, who asecnded the throne in 1936 and will be 52 Dec. 14, was to have sailed with Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret in mid-January on the tour of Australia and New Zealand. They were to have travelled in the battleship H.M.S. Vanguard, via the Panama canal.

Postpone Tour

The decision to postpone the tour was taken only after high-level discussion. The prime ministers of Britain, Australia and New Zealand concurred in the doctors' decision.

Pointing up the significance of the postponement, palace sources said it would not have been made without "due cause and reason."

Five doctors have been giving the king leg massages and electrical therapy for more than a week. These will be continued.

About two weeks ago the king complained of a loss of feeling in his right foot. More recently, palance informants said, he has been feeling pain in the foot.

The announcement was surprising as earlier this year the king's intimates commented on his excellent health and said his stamina appeared greater than that of far younger men.

It is understood the king hopes to make the royal tour when he is fully recovered. In 1947 he withstood well the rigors of the two-month tour of South Africa taken by the royal family when they covered some 10,000 miles by train, automobile and plane.

The Australia-New Zealand tour was scheduled to be the third commonwealth journey taken by members of the royal family. In 1939 the king and queen toured Canada and paid a brief visit to the United States.

United Counties Faces Heavy Fall Session

COBOURG, Nov. 23 —(ENS)— November session of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council got underway yesterday afternoon. Most of the afternoon session was devoted to reading of communications which were referred to the various committees for further consideration.

Request of the St. John Ambulance Association for a grant was referred to the Finance Committee. A letter from the inspector of the Dept. of Reform Institutions referred to cost of living bonuses for jail employees and outlined how the cost of living bonus was fitted into the jail financing; referred to finance committee. In this connection a letter from the sheriff recommended that the cost of living bonus be instituted, the letter also being referred to the finance committee.

A communication from Turnkey I. Palen of the jail staff pointed out that he couldn't qualify under the conditions of the superannuation service which had been extended to county jails, but he was willing to pay a lump sum into the fund in order to come within its scope; referred to finance. Report of the county jail inspector was sent on to the county property committee. The grand jury report was read and also referred to county property.

A resolution from Percy Township asked the counties to take into the counties road system a road east from No. 45 to No. 30; referred to the Roads and Bridges Committee. Also to this committee was referred the request from Hamilton Township for stop signs where the main roads intercepted county roads. A letter from the Ontario Hog Producers' Association asked for more uniform freight rates in connection with the transportation of hogs, the railway companies mentioned being the Pierre Marquette and Michigan Central; referred to the Agricultural Committee.

Oppose Amendments

A communication from York County Council deplored the legislation governing the repeal of Part 16 of the Criminal Code which would permit accused persons charged with minor offences, such as thefts under the value of $25, to elect trial by judge or by judge and jury, instead of by magistrate. This would involve much greater costs in the administration of justice, the letter pointed out. Council decided to refer it to the Legislative and By-Laws Committee with the counties solicitor in attendance. A resolution from Welland County Council objecting to repeal of the sections of the Municipal Act which gave to the mayor of a municipality the authority of a justice-of-peace, was referred to the Legislative and By-laws Committee. A resolution from Lanark County Council recommended that the Dept. of Agriculture look into weed neglect on railway right-of-ways, was referred to the agricultural committee.

Wentworth County Council sent a resolution asking the government to assume costs of immigrant indigent patients until they were on their feet financially; refered to Legislative and By-laws Committee. Request of Port Hope High School Board for two more apointees to the Board was laid on the table. Both Ontario County and Seymour Township had recommendations in for payment of fox bounties and these were referred to the Legislative and By-laws.

Murray Township had a request before the council for a board of aribtration to settle the disagreement between that township and Brighton Township in connection with a town line road. The warden appointed Deputy-Reeve R. J. Locke of Campbellford and Reeve E. Cavano of Manvers Township as representatives of Northumberland and Durham respectively on the special board of arbitration, the warden being the other member.

Reeve E. B. Seeds of Brighton township said that Murray township had asked the highway engineer, Mr. Marsden, to go over this road and give his decision. He was to have given his decision in writing but so far Brighton has not received any information on it.

"I don't know if Mr. Marsden has any jurisdiction in the matter or not, but if he has, I think we should wait and see what he has to say," suggested Reeve Seeds.

"We feel that Murray Township has been bearing the greater proportion of the cost," explained Reeve C. B. Jandrew of Murray Township.

"We feel that Murray Township has been bearing the greater proportion of the cost," explained Reeve C. B. Jandrew of Murray Township. "A year ago we asked for a joint meeting to see if we could divide this town line road between Murray and Brighton townships and at a meeting at Trenton we agreed on the telephone road. Murray passed a by-law on the telephone road and we heard that Brighton did nothing about snow ploughing their part of the road. If the board of arbitration takes off part of the road that we have to keep up, we will be glad but on the other hand if they put more on to us, we will abide by it."

Deputy-Reeve Fred Denyes of Brighton Township said that under the old system Brighton kept up one end and Murray the other and each billed the other for half so that it was even and fair to both. Furthermore, he said, Brighton had no need to keep up the north end as there was a road of their own which they could use.

"It was just the cost of the snowploughing that brought the matter up. It runs into a lot of money," commented Reeve Jandrew.

"Murray is only doing a half mile more than Brighton and yet they squabble over it," interjected Reeve Seeds.

A deputation from S.S. No. 17, Haldimand township, addressed the council to register an objection to the Carstairs property going into reforestation. It was assessed for around $6,000 and the school section would lose that much assessable taxes if it became reforestation property. Several members of the council commented that it was too good land for trees. It was part of an estate and had been willed to the province for nursery but was too close to Orono and the government handed it back to the estate which now wanted the counties to have it. It was decided to wait until the reforestation committee reported at which time council could turn it down, if it so desired, any recommendation to assume this property for reforestation purposes.

Council then adjourned until 1.30 p.m. Tuesday.

Ontario Spent 75 Millions On Schools In 3 Years-Porter

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 23 — (ENS)— The pioneers of Ontario laid a sound foundation on which to build our present day educational superstructure, said the Hon. Danna Porter, Minister of Education, at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club on Monday. "We, too," he continued, must not think only of our immediate educational needs but must look forward to the needs of future generations.. "

"During the past 3 years," he said, "the Province of Ontario has invested $75,000,000 in the complete or partial construction of 377 new school units. Half of this amount is met by the Departmetn of Education and the other half is paid by the taxpayers. These schools are of the most modern type and design and great care has been taken through the medium of better lighting, air conditioning and up-to-date canitation to safe guard the health of teh child."

He continued: "Education is more than brick or mortar and it cannot be bought with money. Education is the training of the mind and spirit so that when children go out into the world they will be self-reliant, have the proper balance, able to discipline themselves mentally, possess the ability to think for themselves and have the sturdiness to withstand the hardships of life."

Lauds New Courses.

He said that the controversial question today was, what should be taught within the past few years, the schools had introduced new courses, embracing technical education, practical agriculture and home economics. He claimed that this practical form of education equipped young people for the mechanical skills, different trades and did not divorce them from the economic needs of man.

"However, we must not belittle or disparage the humanities. They have a place in our educational system that technical educational cannot provide. Literature, living and dead language, history, the old classical masterpieces and philosophy are the intangibles. They make for better human relationships; they place man in the right light in respect to his God; and perhaps the most important function of all, they encourage people to think for themselves and to come to conclusions without leaning on the props of others. People who are denied the humanities are deprived of their birthright. The aspects of technical and liberal education should be considered together and neither neglected."

"The introduction of courses in the practical arts demands large school units," he stated. "This means the setting up of high school districts where one central building of the latest type and design takes the place of severa linferior one-roomed rural schools. This idea of high school districts has advantages which far outweigh the present system of small school areas."

Lower Costs

Under the broader educational unit the costs of school maintenance would be lower, better teachers would be employed, fuller instruction would be provided, more courses could be introduced and the children could take the full high school course without leaving home. The Department of Education does not dictate on the matter of the formation of larger school units but it will assist municipalities that ask for them."

We cannot visualize 1,000,000 more people in our province within the next 10 years," he concluded. "But taking the natural increase of 40,000 a year and the foreign-born increase of 60,000 this figure will be reached. Along with this tremendous increase in human beings and our great industrial expansion we must plan an educational system that will fulfil our cultural need and supply technical skills to our factories. We must teach our children to meet adversity when adversity comes and to retain humility in the midst of prosperity. The tough fibre of our people in carving a civilization out of a wilderness must be engendered into the citizens of tomorrow."

The speaker was introduced by the Hon. Wm. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare, and the vote of thanks was moved by Rotarian Hendershot. Brief speeches were given by W. E. Sandercock, Provincial member for Hasting's County, and School Inspector Charlie Haig of the public school thanked the Rotarians for having the school teachers as their guests at the weekly luncheon.

Rotarian Bill Brady was in the chair.

Why Peterborough Must Grow

We have received an anonymous letter which discusses a point raised in our leading editorial of last Friday, regarding the necessary growth of Peterborough. To publish the letter would be contrary to our rules; we must know the name and address of all our correspondents. But because it presents a point of view which we believe has many supporters among our readers we quote the following two passages from it:

> Is this an opportune time for expansion—a time when the housing shortage is acute, water-pumping taxed to capacity, sewerage inadequate, and Hydro barely meeting minimum requirements?
>
> To my mind the greatest lack in Peterborough today is space. Twenty years ago Peterborough was roomy and spacious; now it is crowded and congested. I can see only greater congestion from further industrialization with its consequent effects on the citizenry of this fair city.

The writer of the letter says that in his opinion Peterborough has already grown too big.

* * *

If the matter concerned Peterborough alone it might be possible to halt the growth of the city, and to keep it forever the place which it is at present. But Peterborough cannot be dissociated from Ontario, or from Canada, and while our country and our province develop we cannot hope to stand still. By stopping our growth now (even if it were possible) we could only ensure that Peterborough would fall behind the rest of the country and would in time lose many of the advantages which it now possesses. We cannot live in a growing land and refuse to grow with it.

* * *

The Peterborough which the opponents of growth cherish in their memories was a small lumbering town; it was destroyed when the first industries moved in and can never be recaptured. Doubtless it had its special charms, which rapid growth has destroyed. But as we cannot go backward, recovering the delights of an earlier day, we must go forward and seek the pleasures which lie in being a bigger city than at present.

* * *

For at the moment Peterborough is an awkward size; it is not small enough to escape the responsibilities of an industrial city, nor is it large enough to give us the advantages which lie in city life. A greater population, with a wider diversity of tastes, would not only ensure that Peterborough could take advantage of our national and provincial growth in every material way, but would also make it possible for its population to enjoy a more varied and rich life than we can support at present. Yearning for the past, or for some unattainable cessation of growth, is waste of time: as Peterborough obviously is growing, let us make sure that it grows large enough to keep a good place in the sun, and to be a good city in which to live.

The Nobel Peace

Alfred Bernhard Nobel, a Swede, discovered and patented dynamite in 1862. Later he developed other explosives. He died in 1896 and his will directed that the bulk of his huge fortune be devoted to prizes. One of the five Nobel Prizes is the peace prize. Nobel hoped thus to lessen the affect of his dynamite. It has been the prize most frequently withheld, for the war-makers have been more powerful if less blessed than the peacemakers.

The Nobel Peace Prize will not be awarded this year. There are no suitable candidates. The selection committee did not take a realistic American point of view and award it to an atomic physicist, even though the atomic bomb is considered in some quarters to be a formidable deterrent to war. We do not expect that the American Government would object to an American receiving the peace prize even this year, it being broader-minded than Hitler. Hitler claimed that Germany had been insulted by the award in 1936 of the 1935 prize to the German pacifist writer Karl von Ossietsky.

If the late A. B. Nobel's soul is still troubled, it should take its rest, because his dynamite is now old-fashioned and a civilian tool. Atomic energy has redeemed it, even if the Peace Prize could not.

Mr. Drew Opens His Campaign

Mr. George Drew is seeking election to the Carleton County seat in the House of Commons. Carleton's county town is Ottawa. The by-election takes place on December 20th. The Liberals have not put up a candidate, a courtesy extended to Mr. Drew as the new leader of the Conservative Party. He is being opposed by Dr. Eugene Forsey, C.C.F., who is research director of the Canadian Congress of Labour. Mr. Drew made his first campaign speech in the county on Saturday. It was a surprisingly weak political overture from a man who is the leader of a great national party.

Mr. Drew spent most of his time talking about Communism. "I would not feel I were worth my salt as a Canadian unless I were hated by every Communist traitor in this country". Reliable news reports quote Mr. Drew as referring to his C.C.F. opponent Dr. Forsey as a "National Socialist". It is all very well for Mr. Drew to set himself against Communism but it is not the kind of campaign theme to be expected from a party leader contesting a by-election. The three major parties in Canada are all opposed to Communism. We should expect to hear from the leader of a great party something constructive, what he stands for as well as against, what he proposes to do about specific Canadian and controversial matters. The voters of Carleton County have a right to hear from Mr. Drew not why other people should hate him but why they should vote for him.

Mr. Drew's friends and other Conservatives who elected him to head their party must be uneasy that Mr. Drew has not spoken like a national leader in opening his campaign, or even like a by-election candidate intent on winning votes. Carleton County is a "safe" Conservative constituency. Since Confederation eighty years ago it has always returned Conservatives to the Federal House. Mr. Drew must make at least a play for that safety, lest the C.C.F. whom Mr. Drew labels "National Socialists" out-play him.

The Irish Of Republicanism

The government of Southern Ireland —otherwise known as Eire—is shortly to proclaim itself absolutely and utterly and very Irishly a Republic. It has done that before, of course, but its republicansim was tempered by King George's signature on Irish passports. (The government of Eire found the British diplomatic services convenient for its republican travellers and business). The External Relations Act of Premier Costello is now before the Dail Eirreann. It will abolish an act of 1936 by which the King accredited Eire's envoys abroad. As soon as the new bill is put through the Irish parliament, negotiations will be begun between the Republic of Eire and the Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland to establish close commercial and military relations — closer than now seem to exist. That is the Irish of it.

There is a powerful lot of blarney, bluster, cussedness and tenacious recollection of British rule in Irish politics. "Erin go bragh" (Ireland forever) and the right to grow the shamrock on Irish ground are less national aspirations than centuries-old Irish publicans' fantasies the world over—from New York east through Dublin and backward, running opposite from the direction which the course of the never-setting British sun takes, right back to Chicago. The new External Relations Act will sever the last link with the British crown and give the quietus to the fantasies. Then at least the Irish in Ireland will come to the full realization that Eire must by its economy and geographical position ever be dependent on Britain, and act accordingly.

A Holiday For The Prince

Ontario school pupils will have a holiday next Friday to celebrate the birth of the young Prince of Windsor. Though it comes rather late after the event, it is an appropriate holiday. So many school holidays belong only to the adult world, and the reasons for them—like an Armistice in 1918 and a peace in 1945 —are beyond the understanding and experience of younger children. This will be a different kind of holiday. The birth of a child is already known to most of them as a joyous, important family affair. The birth of a Prince is something out of their story-books. So next Friday when the pupils have freedom from school, they will know the reason for celebration, and the advent of the new Prince will be etched in their memory as a really tremendous event touching their own lives.

The Cinema's Tomorrow

By DILYS POWELL
In The London Sunday Times

HAS the cinema a future, or merely a past? An enterprising London news theatre has been including in its programme a group of old silent films. There is Chaplin — not Charles Chaplin, but Charlie in the days before he got social consciousness—engaged in robust indelicacies at the dentist's; there is Royalty visiting or opening something, there are Mutt and Jeff, there are the Highlanders forming fours and doubling to the rescue of the Colonel's daughter, nee Miss Ritz.

The audience laughs at the simple tale of Trapper Joe, whose wife catches her foot in the trap while the baby yells in the burning homestead. But is it simpler than today's tale of the gentleman who breaks up the black market in Shanghai with a couple of left hooks? I doubt it. There are times when the cinema seems to be just where it was in 1914, except that now it can talk nonsense as well as look silly.

* * *

OF course there is not one cinema, but a dozen national cinemas which, like any local form of art, have their rise and their decadence. When we say "the films" we have at the back of our minds the American films. In its great days the American cinema had universal humanity; its sentiment and its fun embraced the world. Hollywood can still produce films of tension, lightning action and, sometimes, brisk screwball comedy. But it does so more and more rarely.

* * *

OTHER countries have had their creative periods: Sweden, pre-Nazi Germany, the Russians with their burst of revolutionary ardour. Some have had more than one flowering: the Scandinavian countries, the French, Italy s cinema in renaissance today after 30 dull years. The British cinema has come back to life. Today, for the first time since 1918, it has to be reckoned with internationally; even the French pay tribute to its realism on the one hand, on the other to its achievements in "cinematographic theatre," in, that is to say, the filming of Shakespeare; and this at a time when the American film is in decline.

* * *

TWENTY years ago Hollywood, which towards the end of the silent period had felt the beginnings of public apatny, was saved by the success of the talking picture. Hollywood was saved; but the Continental cinemas, speaking languages incomprehensible to the wide world, lost their international markets; tecnnical progress, in fact, was economically dangerous to them. Today technical progress brings a different danger, the danger that the cinema will lose from view its first purpose of telling a story about human beings. That is what has happened to the American film. The cinema of Hollywood has reached a state of such high polish that the spectator can scarcely see what it is about. Meanwhile outside Hollywood there are technical developments: developments in colour, with the German agfacolor and the new and still secret French Rouxcolor; and developments in the methods of production.

* * *

ANYBODY who has visited a European studio will have marvelled at its apparent naphazardness: the players kicking their heels while the electricians struggle with the lights in the miniature liner which is to steam past in the background. But recently there have been portents of change. The exhibition of British film design at the Victoria and Albert Museum earlier this year showed specimens of the new pictorial scripts which set down in sketch form the exact groupings of the players in each shot, and the angle and distance from which the camera sees them. And Alfred Hitchcock has been essaying what he calls a ten-minute take; that is to say a ten-minute passage, instead of being photographed in dozens of tiny scenes, is taken at one blow.

* * *

BUT something more startling is being attempted at Pinewood, where the system known as independent frame is on trial. Independent frame means, roughly, the divorce of the frame or background of the picture from the performers. The setting is prefabricated, with extensive use of back-projection, the actors, that is to say, working against the background of screens on which are thrown scenes photographed beforehand—the intention being to save time and, consequently, money, by leaving the director free, during the costly period of shooting, to concentrate not on the frame but on the players. And David Rawnsley, the designer of independent frame, looks forward to a still greater revolution. He wants to use not the movie camera but the television camera; meaning, as I understand it, that the director, instead of shooting his picture in fragments which are handed over for somebody else to trim and arrange, could himself at the moment of photographing see the result of his work and control its editing.

* * *

THE supporters of independent frame believe that it will free the players and the director from the tyranny of technique. Its opponents retort that prefabrication will prevent the exercise of imagination at the moment of creation. We must judge on results. But I fancy the cinema has come to a decisive moment: as decisive, perhaps, as the arrival of sound two decades ago. Concentration on technical polish has done films more harm than good these past 20 years. The need now is to get back to the human figure, lost in a glitter of mechanical proficiency. If independent frame, or the ten-minute take, or any other frame or take, can restore to us the warmth of a Griffith film I for one shall be grateful. In fact I should not be sorry to get back, now and again, to Trapper Joe.

Our Contemporaries On Mr. King's Retirement

Montreal Gazette

IT is not only the end of a career: it is the end of an era. No doubt it will be called in the years to come, as it is being called already, the King Era. But only the future will be able ot appraise the past. For a road is of importance and significance most of all for the direction in which it leads. And this is a conclusion which no one, at this point between past and future, can now truly draw.

But one fact is established. No man who has governed a nation for more than 21 years can be without extraordinary talents and capacities and strength of grip. Mr. King's unique length in office, breaking as it did all previous records, and giving Mr. King himself a wholly understandable satisfaction, will always speak powerfully in his behalf, as it does already.

But those who may seek to appraise the King Era with all the advantages of longer retrospect, may find that something of Mr. King's elusiveness may linger even in the pages of history. Yet this fact, so far from being baffling to the historian, may supply the key to an understanding of the era. For Mr. King's highest talent consisted, above all else, in the manner in which he could submerge himself in the political currents, in the way in which he could make an apparent colorlessness a vast political asset, and in the perception and patience with which he sampled the varieties of political tendency and adjusted the resulting compromise.

Those who search his own statements for the illuminating clue may well find it in some words which he spoke casually a few years ago. He then said that people think that political history is the record of what happened; but it is far more important to know the things that might have happened but did not. And in his own career Mr. King considered that what may have been of greatest importance were the things that he prevented happening by timely action.

* * *

Ottawa Citizen

ACCUSTOMED to Mr. Mackenzie King as head of the government for more than 21 years of the past three decades, Canadians will find it hard to realize that the country has a new Prime Minister. And the change is unspectacular, Mr. King having foreshadowed it well in advance and having himself quietly arranged the actual event.

Of the many achievements upon which he can look back with justifiable satisfaction, which will history regard as pre-eminent? He himself is proudest of having kept the country united during the war. Certainly the sagacity he has evidenced through the years affords lessons in leadership to his successors.

* * *

Montreal Star

MR. King was not, and is not, the kind of man who is, or will be, associated with spectacular tours de force. Again and again he has deliberately rejected the opportunity to play the striking role. As often he has built, stage by stage and with an amazing pertinacity, the solid, well-founded structure of the nation. Seldom if ever has he been forced to take a backward step. Never, so far as we can remember has he been driven wholly to reverse himself. His has been a technique that has again and again driven those opposed to him almost to distraction. But it is most unlikely that even the ablest of his successors will seek, or will be able, to turn back the hands of the clock from the point where he now leaves them.

His achievements at home rival those which have made him respected abroad. It would be an exaggeration to say that it was Mr. King who created the modern Commonwealth. It is, however, no extravagance to say that the development that has brought independence and freedom on friendly terms to India and Pakistan has been the extension of the policies pursued without interruption by Mr. King from the day he first attended an Imperial Conference. It is equally true to say that the projected North Atlantic Treaty also follows the line laid down by Mr. King at a time when Canada's loudest voices were crying out against him. It may be said that both these policies were inevitable ones. It is Mr. King's genius that he divined, long before it had won anything like general acceptance, that close Anglo-American co-operation was a pre-condition of all good Canadian policy.

New York Times

MR. Mackenzie King's contributions to liberal progress in Canada, to good relations between Canada and the United States and to Canadian co-operation for world peace and security are of far more importance than his mere duration in office. He has been a scholar in politics, with a deep concern with social and economic forces. His grip on public opinion in all parts of Canada is shown by the fact that between December, 1921, when he first became Prime Minister, and when he laid down his office on account of age and illness, there were only two interruptions of his tenure; once for a few months in 1926, and again for the five years from 1930 to 1935. During all but two years of his Premiership he was also Minister of External Affairs. In that capacity his intelligent co-operation with President Roosevelt during the Second World War contributed much to the defence of this continent.

* * *

New York Sun

HE has abundantly earned the rest he has chosen and it will be universally hoped that it may enable him to regain the strength he has sacrificed. The days ahead are as uncertain for Canada as for all other countries and his counsel should prove tremendously valuable to the man he has groomed as his successor....

There is nothing disturbing about this shift of pilots aboard Canada's ship of state. It should proceed along its present well-charted course.

* * *

Saturday Night (B. K. Sandwell)

MR. King has been leader of the Liberal party for twenty-nine years and three months. In that period the party has been in opposition seven years and in power twenty-two years. In the five years of Mr. Bennett's regime, during which the Great Depression was in full blast, little of permanent importance was done by the government of Canada, so that it can fairly be said that practically all the major decisions of Canadian political history since the defeat of the Meigner government in 1921 were decisions of the Liberal party; and that means that they were decisions of Mr. King. Nobody has disputed Mr. King's control over the party since he brought it to power; nobody has successfully challenged any decision that he has made.

The office of Prime Minister has become in his hands more important than it has ever been with any of his predecessors; or rather his use of its functions has been so dexterous, so incomparably astute, that he himself became more important, more influential, more powerful, than they had been. Mr. King departs; the office remains, for any successor to use as Mr. King used it, if he knows how; but we frankly doubt whether any prospective tenant will be able to use it quite as effectually as he has done. Perhaps that is not wholly to be regretted. Mr. King has on the whole used his enormous power to very good purposes; another Prime Minister may be a little less wise, or a little less sound, or a little less patriotic—in the sense of devotion to Canada as a whole and not to any of its parts.

* * *

Kingston Whig-Standard

MR. King's long years in office are the greatest tribute that could be paid to his political sagacity and to his outstanding statesmanship. Whatever he may lack in personal charm and the colourful attributes many deem essential in a politician has been more than counterbalanced by the solid qualities of able—and often brilliant—leadership that he gave so freely to the service of his country. That the electorate of the Dominion as a whole recognized these qualities, and decided to retain them in the service of Canada, has been overwhelmingly demonstrated by the political record of the nation since Mr. King was first elected leader of the national Liberal Party.

The stature of Canada among the nations of the world has increased tremendously during the period of Mr. King's leadership, and to this increase his contribution has been great. It is more accurately measured, perhaps, in other nations than it is in Canada, for the vision of people in this country is affected by political considerations which may or may not favour Mr. King. On the record however, are the words of statesmen of world-wide reputation, who not only admire Mr. King to membership in their group but who also declare emphatically they are honoured by his presence. We think their opinion may be accepted freely, for it is a tribute to the nation itself, as well as to Mr. King personally.

* * *

Toronto Globe and Mail

THIS is not the time to appraise Mr. King or his record. History must now decide whether there is substance in the claim made for him that he "held the country together." History may also find the answer to the puzzling question why this undramatic figure, lacking glamour and magnetism, appealed so successfully to Canadian voters. These are matters for lively debate into an unforeseeable future. For Mr. King will rank as one of the most controversial characters in our national history.

Brantford Expositor

HIS keen sense of strategic values, his remarkable ability to feel the pulse of public opinion, and his gift for compromise, in a country where genuine national unity is still more dream than solid fact, equipped him amply for the task he undertook and so sedulously carried out.

In domestic affairs he has been an administrator possessed of penetrating insight and shrewd ability. If he has preferred to be guided by popular demand rather than to give aggressive leadership, his course, despite all complaint and criticism, has evidently suited the views as well as the temperament of the majority. Judged on the elementary principle that the successful party chieftain is the one who can win the greatest number of elections, Mr. King's record is impressive indeed.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

If there arise among you a prophet, or a dreamer of dreams, and giveth thee a sign or a wonder, whereof he spake unto thee, saying, Let us go after other gods, which thou hast not known, and let us serve them; thou shalt not hearken unto the words of that prophet, or that dreamer of dreams: for the Lord your God proveth you, to know whether ye love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul.

Ye shall walk after the Lord your God, and fear him, and keep his commandments, and obey his voice, and ye shall serve him, and cleave unto him. (Deut. 13: 1-4.)

Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter! (Isa. 5: 20.)

Woe unto you, scribes and Phariseees, hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone. (Matt. 23: 23.)

And unto the angel of the church in Smyrna write; These things saith the first and the last, which was dead, and is alive; I know thy works, and tribulation, and poverty, (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemy of them which say they are Jews, and are not, but are the synagogue of Satan.

Fear none of these things which thou shalt suffer: benold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life. (Rev. 2: 8-10.)

Prov. Police Radio System Largest In World Now In Complete Operation

Official opening of District 8 radio station in the Provincial Police hook-up completes the largest police radio system of its kind in the world. Not only is it the largest, but it is the most modern as the 300 cruisers are equipped with 60-watt frequency modulation sets, which are latest in the realm of radio communication. It has the most units, and covers the greatest area. The network embraces all of southern Ontario from Windsor to the Quebec border, a distance of 525 miles, and north almost to a line drawn east and west from Mattawa to the Great Lakes.

This police set-up, one of greatest steps in combatting crime ever introduced in North America, has eleven 250-watt frequency molulation emergency communication stations, at Chatham, London, Niagara Falls, Dundas, Aurora, Mt. Forest, Peterborough, Belleville, Perth, Cornwall and Barrie. Each station consists of a central headquarters, and also a 200-foot steel tower and a 250-watt F.M. transmitter. The towers are located outside the towns and cities and take advantage of height to get rid of electrical interference from the highly industrialized urban areas.

In addition there are 30 smaller stations placed in various municipalities for the purpose of enabling detachments to communicate with headquarters. Lindsay and Cobourg in district 8 are examples.

These installations along with 300 mobile installations in police cars will permit headquarters at Toronto to keep in touch with cars anywhere in Ontario.

The 250-watt stations have a reliable broadcasting range of 150 miles to any other 250-watt station. They also have a reliable range of 60 miles to any car, but this does not represent an obstacle as messages can be relayed. The sets operate on two frequencies between 35-44 megacycles. There is one frequency for communication from cars to the stations, and another channel for communication from the stations to the cars, from station to station, and from car to car.

No Static

These 60-watt stations in the patrol cars are completely unaffected by electrical storms or other static disturbances common to a broadcasting frequency.

Before the installation of the radios, the highway patrol men often had to telephone home every half hour to see if any messages had come through for them. They felt that that with radio messages coming through every few minutes they would be tied down even more, but the system has worked to the contrary, and the men in the cruisers like it fine.

From a central control station at Aurora, and through a network of 41 local stations, a dispatcher directs the movement of the 300 cars attached to the 11 districts into which Southern Ontario has been split. Expansion of the system into Northern Ontario is expected in the near future.

Apart from paring the time element, the new system is safer for the police officers when they have to catch someone speeding. Before radio was installed, when a motorist or anyone notified police of a speeding car, a patrol in a cruiser or on a motorcycle had to chase the car for miles at high speed. Now the message is simply relayed to a detachment ahead and the patrol car waits for the offender.

Handle Emergencies

Ever so often an emergency call jogs through the transmitter to patrol car, and the officer is jarred out of his regular routine and finds himself involved in a chase after bank robbers. Often too, compassionate messages come through, and the police officer takes care of these in his stride.

Ingenious use of the frequencies allows messages to flow simultaneously between district stations, local stations and mobile units. As time goes on devices will be added which automatically relay or record messages improving the efficiency and scope of the equipment.

Many New Officers

Introduction of the radio system has made it necessary for the Provincial Police headquarters to recruit many more officers. It has also focussed attention on radio technicians who may find an outlet for their abilities and energies within the ranks of the force, although for the most part maintenance and repairs are the responsibility of the CGE Company which produced and installed the equipment. Every station is manned 24 hours a day by dispatchers, and if an officer in any car leaves the vehicle, he reports to the station saying he will be out of service and for how long.

Except for the antenna that shoots up from the roof of the patrol car and receiver and transmitter hidden away in the tire compartment, the police cruisers look the same as before.

Ontario Provincial Police have taken a forward step that will not only solve cases faster, but will save hundreds of lives in motor accidents by the prompt attention to victims. The system has had the acid test of everyday police use to reveal its manifold benefits, and veteran officers look for a marked drop in the crime graph for the province.

PROVINCIAL POLICE RADIO NETWORK, District 8 Headquarters, Peterborough, has been in operation for some time and was officially opened by Ontario Police Commissioner W. H. Stringer, OBE, last Friday. In Top photo, Const. W. K. O'Shaughnessy answers a radio call in a cruiser car which has been sent out by Cpl. L. T. Keeler, Lower photo, Left, from Headquarters station VG3U; Const. A. R. Edwards, day dispatcher, types a message at Right.

DIST. SGT. PRICE MORRIS of No. 8 district is well-known in Peterborough and Hastings counties. He has 20 years' service with the Provincials.

PATROL CORPORAL for District 8 is Lloyd McClure, who has served in the Provincial Police for almost 18 years. Prominent in Lions Club activities, boys' and girls' work, Corporal McClure was stationed at Hawkesbury before coming to this city several years ago.

DISTRICT INSPECTOR of Provincial Police at Peterborough district 8 is Inspector E. V. McNeill, a veteran of 21 years' police service. He is a native of the Bruce Peninsula, served 18 years in the Ottawa valley, and was liaison officer between the civilians and military at Petawawa during the war when stationed at Pembroke. His last post before coming here was at Mt. Forest.

Says Tax Evasion Becoming Honorable

OTTAWA, Nov. 23 — (CP) — A. R. Courtice, Toronto Trusts Corporation executive, said Monday night tax evasion "seems to have become an honorable pursuit in the minds of a considerable number of otherwise law-abiding people."

Mr. Courtice, assistant general manager of the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, spoke at the dinner of the second conference of the Canadian Tax Foundation.

He said the "otherwise law-abiding people" who evade taxation "try to justify themselves by an old Russian prover—'where all are stealing, none is a thief'."

The evasion was in part of the result of the fact that "it is too much to expect that taxation in any form will ever be regarded as a popular function of government."

Still Need Food

TORONTO, Nov. 23—(CP)—Officials of the United Emergency Fund for Britain said Monday that England still was "in dire need" of food. The officials were commenting on a statement made Monday in Montreal by William M. Birks, chairman of the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund Mission, that 'the need for relief is largely over in the whole of Western Europe."

Suggest Stock Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 23—(CP)—Three officials of the Royal Agricultural Society of England visited the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair Monday and said they were convinced that an exchange of pure-bred live stock between Canada and Britain would produce livestock "that would lick the world." The visitors were Lord Digby of Cerne Abbey, Dorchester; Maj.-Edward Griffith of Denbigshire, Wales, and Alec Hobson, secretary of the British society.

Threaten Break-Off

ISTANBUL, Nov. 23—(AP)—Vice-premier Faik Ahmet Barutchu said Monday night Turkey will sever relations with Bugaria if a Turkish officer held by that country on an undisclosed charge is executed. Obesrvers speculated the tense situation may bring to a head uneasy relations between the two countries after a series of incidents during the last two years.

Trial Set For Nov. 29

MONTREAL, Nov. 23—(CP)—Trial of Douglas Perreault, charged with the slaying of two Montreal constables in bank robbery last September, Monday was set for Nov. 29. Perreault, co-accused with Donald Perreault, not related, and Noel Cloutier, was scheduled for trial Monday. The three separate trials were postponed to later dates because hearing of another murder trial was longer than expected.

Arrest 20 Spies

HEIDELBERG, GERMANY, Nov. 23—(AP)—An authoritative United States Army source said Monday night 20 members of a Czechoslovak intelligence ring have been arrested in the British and United States zones of Germany. This source said those arrested will be prosecuted for "activity against the occupation powers."

PROCEEDS FOR BOY SCOUT WORK

JUNE IN NOVEMBER creates problems, and this unfortunate clad in a Santa Claus outfit had more than his share as New York basked in unseasonable summer heat. He was advertising a firm that specializes in renting out Santa Clauses for homes and parties during the holiday period, but the whiskers were warm, the suit even more so, and even as you and I, he decided to relax and take life easy on a Central Park bench.

EASTERN WINNERS—You'd hardly think the white-helmeted ball carrier, Tony Golab, would manage to cross the Tiger goal line with Frankie Filchock (7) and another Tiger player blocking him. But Ottawa's Golden Boy made Rough Riders' third touchdown on this third quarter play in the Eastern Canadian final at Ottawa Saturday. George Festeryga (25) is backing the Tiger line but Rider players managed to push Tony over. The final score in the sudden death game to decide which team would meet Calgary in the east-west final was 19-0 for Ottawa.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

According to Bunny Morganson of the Tely, J. J. (Tiny) McFadyen of Galt is slated to take over the presidency of the Ontario Hockey Association at the annual meeting in Toronto on Dec. 4, a week from Saturday. He will succeed George Panter, who winds up three busy years. Tiny was first vice-prexy and is in line for the step up. But Panter will remain very much on the OHA scene, as assistant to Secretary Bill Hewitt, and also as public relations officer for the association. Hewitt hasn't been in the best of health the past year and needs an assistant on his busy job. Frank Buckland of Peterborough will be running again for the OHA executive.

After a hectic week-end—including a victory dance—and much praise passed out at the school this morning, the shouting and the tumult around the two PCVS championship clubs has died down to some extent. Further honors may be coming their way but in any case they won't soon forget the thrill of the double victory. To have one high school capture the junior and senior COSSA titles the same season is something to brag about. And against stiff opposition. The senior players, in particular, who will be graduating this year will carry away happy memories of being on the COSSA winning team for the third straight year.

Ran For Their Lives

An amusing incident occurred at the Oval on Saturday during the tight junior playoff. Our photographer and the Collegiate paper cameraman decided they couldn't get an action shot with the teams playing on the far side of the gridiron. So they calmly noseyed out on the field about halfway across. Officials looked up in surprise but evidently decided to let 'em stay for one play. The Alert Ports promptly ran a play that way and the two photographers, surrounded by rushing players, dashed for their lives. And barely made it. A fan behind us remarked wonderingly: "What those press guys won't do for a picture!"

This item arrived yesterday from Canadian Press in Toronto: "Upper Canada Coll[illegible] and Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School seniors will play a sudden-death final for the Ontario Rugby Football Union interscholastic championship at a date and place to be decided. However, it is expected the game will be played either in Toronto Friday or in Peterborough Saturday. Peterborough won the Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association senior title Saturday for the third straight year by beating Burlington 20-0." NOSSA, EOSSA, WOSSA nor Toronto and district go for inter-association playoffs in recent years.

One And Only Timothy

Along with a number of other local sports' enthusiasts we were a guest yesterday at the Rotary Club luncheon. To hear Tim Daly, Maple Leafs' trainer, speaking. One of the Leafs' 20 goodwill ambassadors, the colorful Timothy dished up a humorous and interesting talk to the big gathering. Praised Peterborough as a fine sports' centre and he recalled boxing here many years ago. Also, Bill Breen, oldtime trainer here, got Tim his first job in that line some 42 years ago at Berlin — now Kitchener. Urging service clubs to continue to support amateur athletics, Daly felt it was a big answer to juvenile delinquency.

* * * * * *

He proceeded to recommend professional sports to young chaps as a good future with healthy financial returns. "Turk Broda got $16,000 last NHL season," he pointed out, "and not one of the Maple Leafs made less than $11,000 between salary and bonuses." He told of the Stanley Cup champs having two complete sets of equipment, with three pairs of skates each, and 18 sticks to choose from, nine at each game. One or two days before the club was slated for the road, Tim packed half the equipment and had it sent on to New York, Boston or wherever the game was to be. The team arrived and found everything laid out and ready.

Big Boost For Conny

"It is an honor to belong to the Maple Leafs, the most publicized club in sports," the veteran Irisher said; "and to work with 'Mr. Hockey', Conny Smythe. We have our fun on the club at the right time but we are serious when it's time to be serious — and I don't mind telling you that there's the devil to pay right now!" Daly is something of a fabulous figure in the Canadian sports' picture. Subject of many news anecdotes and stories, he has often been libelled in fun, but he's both good copy and good-humored. Used to train boxers, lacrossers and Leaf ballsters, but confines himself now to looking after the wants of the NHL Leafs. Rotarians and their guests enjoyed his visit considerably.

Kennedy Better Than Leafs, In Second Spot

MONTREAL, Nov. 23.—(CP).—This has been a lean season so far for Toronto Maple Leafs, but not so for their smooth-working centre, Ted Kennedy.

While the defending Stanley Cup champions are currently wallowing next door to the National Hockey League basement, official NHL statistics released today show Kennedy in second spot in the scoring race with 14 points, two less than the pacesetter, Grant (Nobby) Warwick of Boston.

Kennedy was the big gainer during the week, picking up one goal and three assists to edge closer to Warwick, the Bruins' mighty mite who has topped the marksmen for the last three weeks.

Tied for third place are veteran Joe Carveth, Montreal Canadiens surprise package, Eddie Sanford of Boston and Chicago's Doug Bentley. Each has 13 points. Bill Reay, Montreal's fancy-Dan pivotman, is all alone in the next slot with 12 points.

Warwick's eight goals make him top man in that department, while Reay heads the assists column with nine.

Toronto's Wild Bill Ezinicki jumped into the lead for loop badman honors. Ezinicki now has spent 42 minutes in the cooler, two more than Kenny Reardon of Canadiens.

Bill Durnan, Montreal's four-time Vezina winner, is back in a familiar spot, at the top of goalkeepers' records. Big Bill has a goals-against average of 1.69 to lead all netminders, and also show the way in shutouts with four.

JEANE FRANCES MATTHEWS of Vancouver, western Canadian figure skating champion and runner-up to Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa for the 1948 national crown, may well be Canada's next senior ladies' champion. Says the 19-year-old brunette, "Now B.A. is out of the amateur field, I'm giving that crown all I've got."

Artists Blank Quakers 6-0

Artists lengthened their lead in the YMCA Men's Bowling League last night, blanking the Quakers 6-0. Their closest rivals, Commercials, lost 4-2 to the Jay Bees. Canada Packers scored an 8-4 victory over B'nai B'rith. The teams were rolling for double points, having a postponed game in the other game Aberdeens won 4-2 from Tip Tops.

Artists had high team score of 3386. In their present form George Coleman's team really rate top spot. Canada Packers had high single game of 1190.

Vic Coleman was in a class by himself for individual honors, having high three of 816 and a smashing single game of 372. Other good triple scores were Gerald MacDonald 733, Pat Blodgett 719, George Walton 693 and Jack Dormer and Bob Dyer 681.

Following Coleman's huge single score Jack ormer had 316 and Pat Blodgett 300.

A couple of bowlers got the wrong hats and one is at the YMCA office and if the other one is brought back and exchanged everybody will be happy.

Louis Boxing Series Big Hit With Fans

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP).—Joe Louis' boxing road series is about as big a hit as the ones staged by Bing Crosby and Bob Hope for the movies. And the heavyweight champion is coining almost as much dough.

So say Booker Harry Mendel and Manager Marshall Miles, who have the Brown Bomber hitting the road to Detroit, Cleveland and points north, south, east and west.

Everywhere the champ shows, he's been packing them in. Louis will have earned more than $100,000 by the time he winds up the tour Dec. 16. The champ works on a percentage and so far everyone is happy, Mendel says.

"If he wants to keep on going he can make it 300 grand by April 1," Mendel adds.

In Canada, he said, Halifax, Winnipeg, Saint John, N.B., and Glace Bay, N.S., wanted Louis for exhibitions.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Bill Fry, secretary of the Ontario Rugby Football Union's Intermediate Committee, said at Toronto Monday night that the ORFU intermediate champion, Cobourg Galloping Ghosts, had offered the Quebec champion, Montreal Rocklands, a guarantee for a Quebec-Ontario playoff in Cobourg.

Fry said the final would not be recognized by the Canadian Rugby Union, but a successful Quebec-Ontario final would help inaugurate an East-West final for a Dominion intermediate title. The CRU intermediate final was discontinued in 1934 and Western teams have never participated in the series.

At Montreal, Norman Gillespie, secretary of the Quebec Rugby Football Union, said officials of the Rockland club expect to have a definite answer in a day or two.

Lightweight champion Ike Williams suffered a slight fracture of his right hand in a bout with Billy Nixon of Philadelphia Thursday, manager Frank Palermo disclosed Monday night. Williams, who stopped Nixon in the fourth round, was not aware of the injury until he tried to play golf Saturday. Palermo said Williams would not be able to go through with a scheduled Dec. 6 bout at Cleveland against Freddie Dawson.

Murdo McKay of the surging Buffalo Bisons for the second straight week leads the American Hockey League in scoring honors with 37 points, it was announced at New York. McKay, who hails from Fort William, has 14 goals and 23 assists to maintain his lead over Carl Liscombe of Providence Reds, Liscombe, who won the AHL scoring title last season, had 31 points.

George Pargeter of the Bisons moved into third place with 28 points. Paul Gladu of league-leading St. Louis Flyers was tied with Liscombe for most goals with 16. McKay's 23 assists left him as the league's top playmaker.

Lee Savold, Patterson, N. J., boxer, arrived in London Monday to start training for his bout with Bruce Woodcock, British heavyweight champion. "I have been loosening up on the boat and I feel grand," said Savold, who arrived at Southampton from Halifax on the Mauretania and came to London by train. "I have a good opinion of Woodcock, but I think I have a good chance to beat him." The 10-round fight is scheduled for Dec. 6.

Trainer Hirsch Jacobs said in Bowie, M., Monday night that Stymie will be bred to 13 mares next spring and then go back to racing to shoot for $1,000,000 in total earnings. The rags-to-riches horse is leading money-winner of all time now with $911,335. Calumet Farm's three-year-old champ, Citation, will have a chance to overcome Stymie while the seven-year-old horse is in stud. Stymie cracked a bone in a leg last summer and at first it was feared he was through with competition.

Cleveland Indians Monday announced the sale of Bob Muncrief, 32-year-old hurler, to Pittsburgh Pirates for a sum in excess of the waiver price of $10,000. A right-hander acquired from St. Louis Browns last year, he is the first member to leave the world champion's fold.

Tod Compeau of Dallas continued as leading scorer in the United States Hockey League through last week with 31 points for his 13 goals and 18 assists, it was announced today at Minneapolis. He was closely pressed by Bert Olmstead of Kansas City, only one point—a single assist—behind him. Compeau was tied in the assist department by Alex Ritson of Tulsa and was one behind the leading goal-getter, Dick Butler, also of Tulsa, who had 14.

Atkins To Meet Ben Morgan

There will be four matches on the wrestling card in the Brock Arena on Wednesday. The main bout has the great Australian grappling champion Fred Atkins meeting Big Ben Morgan. Atkins is rated a marvellous mat exponent and even the colossal Morgan may find him too tough. Fearless Fred from Down Under has come some 12,000 miles to challenge Whipper Watson for the Empire title and he has no intention of losing even to the giant from Tennessee.

Pat Flanagan meets Dan O'Connor and Charlie Green takes on the powerful Jack Wentworth in the other two regular spots.

In a special additional bout Nick Viccharelli again meets Nick Futa. Their last bout was a draw and in their first match here last year Futa won out. The local boy thinks he can clean the slate this time.

Most Successful British Race Season Over

LONDON NOV. 22—(CP)—In the Manchester mists and amid the Autumn colds and reds of the woods surounding "lovely Lingfield" one of the most sucessful British Flat Racing seasons in years ended Saturday.

The Aga Khan's horse in his famed chocolate-and-green silks won more than 46,000 pounds ($184,000), nearly 46,000 pounds more than his nearest rival the Maharaja of Baroda. The horses he bred won more than 30,000 pounds. It is the 11th time he has been leading owner an drifth as leading breeder.

Noel Murless, in his first year as head trainer at Beckhampton, saddled 63 winners whose purses totalled more than 66,500 pounds. Beckhampton's earnings were the best since 1931. Ther, the prominent Dewar, Loder and Macdonald-Buchanan strings are trained.

The peerless Richards, who is the leadign jockey for Beckhampton and the Aga Khan's, ran off with the jockey championship by booting home 224 winners. It was the 21st time the little iron man had led the riders.

Other Winners

Baroda's My Babu, a 2 to 1 favorite, socred in the two thousand guineas and Richards kicked Beckhampton's Queen home at 6 to 1 in the one thousand guineas. The Aga Khan took the Oaks with Masaka at 7to 1 and owned a half share in the French-bred My Love which came home in the derby at 100 to 9.

William Woodwards, chairman of the New York jockey club, won the year's final classic when Black Tarqsin, with Britt riding one of his greatest races of his career, won the St. Leger at 15 to 2.

Arbar broke down in the Goodwood Cup and was beaten by the Italian horse Tenerani which had previously gained a short-headed verdict over Back Tarquin at Ascot. Tenerani was bought by the British National Stud in an attempt to strengthen British staying bloodlines.

Dutchmen Leading Pack Wallop Stratford By 5-2

By The Canadian Press

The league-leading Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen pulled away from the rest of the Senior Ontario Hockey Association pack Monday night by walloping the cellar-dwelling Stratford Indians 5-2.

The win gave Kitchener 20 points, five more than Hamilton Tigers and Toronto Marlboros.

In O.H.A. junior game, Stratford Kroehlers juniors overpowered Guelph Biltmores 7-2 to jump into at third-place tie with Biltmores.

Doug Verity led Kitchener scorers with two goals while Harvey Hurst, Bob Weiller and Art Herchenratter each scored once. Mickey Roth and Bill Flick counted for Stratford.

Stratford opened the scoring late in the first period when Flick beat Marcel Pelletier on a close-in shot. Kitchener drove back in the second frame and counted three times by the six-minute mark—Hurst, Weiler and Verity scoring.

Back In Game

Roth put Indians back in the game early in the third session on a pass from Flick, but Kitchener sank two more goals to clinch the game—Herchenratter and Verity firing the tallies.

Dinny Fanagan, with thee goals, topped the Stratford scorers. Pierre Cadieux, Bob Houston, Joe Beda and Bibber O'Hearn counted one apiece. Lorne Ferguson and Butch Martin tallied for Guelph.

Stratford counted three times in the first period — Flanagan getting two and Cadieux notching one, and once in the second before Guelph answered early in the third.

Goalie Boat Hurley had a shutout until the 14-minute mark of the third session when Martin blasted a blue-line shot that caught the corner of the nets. O'Hearn, Flanagan, Ferguson and Beda counted third-period goals.

Only two games are slated in the O.H.A. tonight—and both in the junior loop. Toronto St. Michael's College plays host to Galt Rockets and Toronto Marlboros meet Oshawa Generals in a doubleheader in Toronto.

Stamp Coach Has Complaints

By JACK SULLIVAN

OAKVILLE, Nov. 23. — (CP). —Coach Les Lear of Calgary Stampeders wants answers to a couple of questions before his club hits the field against Ottawa Rough Riders in the Rose Bowl of Canadian football—the East-West final in Toronto Saturday.

First, Les doesn't like the idea of two or three Riders "loafing around" the sidelines during the game, and also what he termed Ottawa's "delayed substitutions."

Second, if it's a rain-soaked field he wants "two or three balls available just as we do out West."

Lear saw the Eastern final at Ottawa Saturday and was a bit disturbed, not at Ottawa's power, but at the manner in which the game was played. He voiced his objections in an interview today.

"Ottawa makes substitutions so often it isn't funny.

"But what gets me is a player standing around the sidelines and also the straggler who lopes to the sidelines, pauses to pass the time of day with guys on the outside, and then steps out just as the play starts.

"This kind of stuff draws an opposing back out of position and I'm not falling for it. It's like trying to pull that old gag, the sneaker play, and it really gives them 13 men on the field and they should be penalized."

200 Calgary Fans Heading East

CALGARY, Nov. 23 — (CP). — More than 200 gaily-garbed Calgary grid fans tonight will start a 2,500-mile trek to give vocal support to their beloved Stampeders in the Dominion football final at Toronto Saturday.

In a spectacular display of spontaneous civic pride, the fans will stage a "wild and woolly" Western parade in the staid Ontario capital that may rival the Grey Cup classic itself for color and thrills.

Dressed in colorful cowboy costumes complete with 10-gallon Stetsons, the fans are travelling in a special train scheduled to reach Toronto Saturday. With the Westerners will travel their horses and a chuckwagon.

Saturday the entire party will parade from Toronto's Royal York Hotel to Varsity Stadium. The parade will be headed by the chuckwagon drawn by a four-horse team and about 20 cowboys and Indians mounted on Palimino and Pinto horses.

The Calgary contingent will carry with them more than 10,000 pamphlets extolling the virtues of this foothills city for free distribution along the parade route and at the game.

The confident Stampeder boosters have included their club's victory song in the pamphlet.

Make Curling Playoffs

KITCHENER, Nov. 23.—(CP). —Rinks from Toronto High Park and Wingham, won their way into the playoffs of the Goodrich Trophy, main event of the annual Kitchner Granite Club invitation bonspiel Monday night, defeating teams from Plattsville and Galt respectively. In the secondary event, rinks from London Curling Club and Hamilton Victorias won spots in Friday's playdowns.

French-Canadian Writers Gain New Prominence

By PIERRE DUBOIS

MONTREAL, Nov. 23 (CP). — In concert with Canada's rise to a place among the leading nations of the world, French-language writers have lifted themselves out of obscurity to make a strong bid for a spot in the literary field. Best-selling first novels by several of a new crop of 40 authors helped break the ice.

Robert Charbonneau, Montreal publisher, critic, poet and novelist, credits Canada's present lofty position among world powers with having brought about a new deal for its French-language writers. Also a contributing factor has been the post-war decadence of the literary art in France.

He claims that not so many years ago, during a period of regression in arts and letters in Quebec, being French was considered the important thing to the exclusion of all else. One's education remained incomplete unless one went to France to study.

What French-language writers here needed was confidence — and they now have it, he claims.

Fully-Grown Now

Charbonneau is the bespectacled, mustached young man who started the lively debate with the French in appealing for what he terms an "autonomous French-Canadian literature." French publishers were quick to see the threat to their business in Canada as Quebec-printed books ran into big editions.

He refused to accept the old school of thought that in arts and letters Quebec was merely a branch on the tree of French culture. He maintained it was not just a branch but a fully-grown tree. Some Montreal critics, apostles of the old school of thought, sided against him.

French criticis said French-speaking Canadians should be ostracized. "They are going to ruin our market."

And the latest has come from a Brussels review in an article whose title poses a pertinent — or impertinent? — question:

"Is France about to lose Canada a second time?"

COMMANDER OWEN ROBERTSON of HMCS Cayuga chats with Barney Hajiro of Honolulu, a former US Army private, after a shipboard ceremony in Hawaii, during which Hajiro was presented with the British Military Medal for "heroic conduct in action in France" during the Second World War.

Colleges Face Big Adjustment

OTTAWA, Nov. 23 — (CP) — Canadian universities will face a major period of readjustment when the number of student veterans begins to taper off, university presidents agreed at a week-end meeting here.

There are still 32,000 veterans enrolled as university students, but many of them will graduate next spring and thereafter the veterans enrolment is expected to decline sharply. The veterans, who are eligible for government assistance in financing their studies, have roughly doubled the pre-war number of university students.

The problem was among several discussed at a meeting of the advisory committee on university training for veterans.

The meeting was attended by presidents of several universities, including Dalhousie, McGill, Queen's, Toronto, Laval, British Columbia and Saskatchewan. Officials of the veterans affairs department attended the meeting.

Doctors Qualify

OTTAWA, Nov. 23 — (CP) — The Medical Council of Canada Monday announced the names of 42 successful candidates in the regular October medical examinations, qualifying them to practise in Canada. Sixteen of the 58 candidates who wrote the examinations at Winnipeg and Montreal failed to pass. Successful Canadian candidates included: E. G. G. Jonas, P. F. Scott, J. C. Woodman, all of Kingston.

Zone Official Visits Apsley Auxiliary

APSLEY, Nov. 23 (ENS). — At the November meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Canadian Legion, the zone representative from Oshawa spoke on work of the Auxiliary.

Other guests were the president and secretary of Oshawa branch and a member of the American Legion who is a guest at Wilson Lodge.

Lunch was served by the social committee of Women's Auxiliary.

Isabel Pearson Heads Buckhorn Girls' Club

BUCKHORN, Nov. 23—Twelve girls with six members of the Buckhorn Women's Institute met on Saturday afternoon in the Wesley Orange Hall for their first meeting of "The Club Girl Entertains." This course if offered by the Department of Agriculture and sponsored by the Women's Institute.

After the opening exercises, the election of officers took place. Isabel Pearson was elected president; Jean Hall, secretary, and press reporter, Mildred Armstrong.

It was explained to the girls that they are required to keep a record book of the meetings and also a scrap book to illustrate the subjects dealt with. Both are to be shown at the Achievement Day.

"Etiquette In Our Club" was the subject dealth with. The point emphasized was the courtesy that should be shown to a speaker and the additional thoughtfulness that should be shown to make a guest speaker feel welcome.

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 23 — (ENS).—Mrs. James Cook entertained at a luncheon-bridge on Thursday evening when Miss Rosie Ruttan won high score prize. Other prize winners were Mrs. H. F. McNichol, Mrs. Robert Morrison and Miss Ducky Dofour.

The dining table was lace covered and centred by a bowl of cut flowers and tall candles.

Tea was poured by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Charles Dofour.

The guests were Mrs. Ross Pollock, Mrs. Francis Ruttan, Mrs. H. F. McNichol, Mrs. Robert Morrison, Mrs. Eric Little, Miss Ducky Dofour, Miss Rosie Ruttan, Miss Dolly Revoir of Noranda, Quebec, and Mrs. Charles Dofour.

Peter McNulty, 75 Missing Since Oct. 20

TWEED, Nov. 23.—Missing for almost a month, 75-year-old Peter McNulty, of Johnston's Corners, near Flinton, has not been seen since October 20. Accustomed to leaving home for sometimes a week at a time, the elderly man was last seen by a neighbor on the Flinton Road, about a quarter mile from his home. He was reported to have been walking south on the road at that time.

McNulty has been living with his brothers, Michael and John McNulty. His disappearance was reported a week after he was last seen by his adopted son. Constable George Spratt reported on the matter to the Ontario Provincial Police and Provincial Constable mmiss of Madoc, and Constable Spratt of Madoc have been scouring the roads around his home, but so far, have not found any trace of the man, who is reported to have money in an account in the bank.

Relatives in Belleville have been contacted but report that they know nothing of his whereabouts.

Lloyd Planning Screen Return

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 23 (AP).—Harold Lloyd, the shy guy with the horn-rimmed glasses, is planning yet another screen comeback.

I have this on authority of Harold Lloyd, the hearty millionaire.

"I have just the germ — you might call it the weenie of an idea for another picture," he told me. "It is the kind of thing that only I, or somebody else who has been in the business for a long time, could do."

The comedian has other film plans, too. He is going to reissue one of his great old films, "Movie Crazy," made in 1932.

"I tried the picture out at a theatre in Redondo Beach," he related.

"I would say that 65 per cent of the audience didn't know me, or at least didn't know my work. But the response was terrific.

"So I am going to put it out again — if I can get the right kind of presentation. But if it isn't presented nicely, it's not worth my trouble."

Lloyd said the film hasn't aged much — in fact, the women's skirts are the same length as today's his "Diddlebock" picture, made three years ago but not yet released by Howard Hughes, is even more dated because of the "Old Look" skirts.

Lloyd said the trouble with today's comedies is: "They are wedded to words." It's funnier to see things than hear them.

He told about doing a comedy scene in "The Milky Way," which Danny Kaye remade less funnily as "The Kid From Brooklyn." After Lloyd and McCarey shot a funny scene off the cuff, the director happened to glance at the script.

"Hey!" he said. "There was a pretty funny line here."

SMOKE CAUSES FIRE ALARM

Smoke from rubbish burning in the furnace caused an alarm to be sent to the Fire Department on Monday night. The furnace door in the basement of the apartment of J. Harper, Charlotte St., was left open and smoke began to fill the premise, causing the alarm to be raised.

SEEKING KNOWLEDGE?

Pigeons and sparrows have been roosting under the eaves at the front of the Public Library. They have proceeded to decorate the Library in their customary messy manner. Perhaps this situation can be remedied by providing the librarian with a shotgun.

32 DAYS TO GO

A truck, laden with freshly-cut spruce trees, was seen on Monday, the first of a long parade of evergreens which will flow from the northern woods indicating Christmas is drawing near, in fact, only 32 days away. The load consisted of from 20 to 25 trees.

RUINING PARADE GROUNDS

Heavy duty trucks and trailers of the 50th Heavy AA unit have changed what was once a grassy parade grounds in front of the Armouries to rought muddy terrain. The condition of the grounds at present reduces the beauty of Confederation Park.

BUSINESS STOPPED

Business was at a standstill along George St. this morning. Even staid restaurant owners forsook the office urns and the counter to watch the Santa Claus parade. Law office and insurance office windows were jammed with employees anxious to see the parade and the huge crowd.

REGULARS WERE LEFT

Regular noon-hour bus patrons had to battle for accommodation on the city buses at noon, competing with hundreds of housewives and youngsters hurrying home from the Santa Claus parade. Several of the regulars were left behind as the buses were packed before they hit the Water and Hunter intersection and the Aylmer-Charlotte crossing.

Guns And Floats Make Odd Picture

The Peterborough Armoury, home of the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment, was a "full house" last night when the Santa Claus parade floats, seeking a home from under stormy skies that might have washed out the papier-mache decorations, were admitted for safe-keeping for the night by Lt.-Col. M. E. Clarke, ED, Commanding Officer of the regiment.

The Armoury auditorium presented an odd picture with wicked looking 3.7" HAA guns at one end, heavy 14-ton trucks and radar trailers disposed neatly in their places in the drill hall, and topped by a display of the Christmas parade floats which contrasted strangely with the instruments of war.

The Armoury field, which up to this week had seen a long row of Army vehicles and equipments while the Armoury was being painted, drew a host of children Monday afternoon when the floats arrived.

DELIGHTFUL PREVIEW

"Gee, Mister, will there be a real Santa Claus in the parade" said a saucer-eyed youngster at Confederation Square Monday afternoon. The child was one of more than 100 from Central school who spotted the Santa Claus parade floats on the park and hurried over for a close examination. The inquisitive one was looking at Santa's sleigh behind the reindeer, and was assured by an adult that old Santa would be on the job.

Branch factories of jolly old St. Nicholas must have been working overtime for the past several months judging from the displays of toys in more than six of the city's toylands. From the time store doors open, small children drag their parents to these wonderlands. They not only gaze in rapture at tier upon tier of toys but start to wind small trains, push prams and fondle beautifully-dressed dolls. Harrassed sales people watch with bated breaths as some expensive toy slips from mittened fingers and crashes to the floor. Toys are made of sturdy stuff and rarely becomes unsaleable with all the handling.

Each toyland has several shelves of dolls from small baby dolls clothed only in diapers to beautifully-dressed models with fancy hair-do's. The labels say the hair is real. "Canadian-made dolls are the finest in the world," said C. H. Saunders, manager of the Richard Hall store. He walked past rows of them and pointed out their life-like features, their fine dresses and displayed their durability. He had some English dolls, which were high-priced and not so attractive, and since American products are the highest priced of all, there are none in Peterborough's stores.

Stuffed dolls, which fall into the cuddly class, come in all sizes from a few inches high to giant grinning pandas almost three feet tall. The latter type are terrifying in their size to the very small toddlers and are used chiefly to enhance window displays.

"Doll prams are in great demand this year and sell very readily," D. Fitzgerald of Zellers' said. Some stores were able to buy large stocks from Canadian manufacturers and are in a good position, while others are not so fortunate. Bicycles, tricycles and pedal cars in various steel designs are on show in great numbers. Some of these are made in England, but do not appear as attractive or durable as Canadian products. Since there has not been enough snow yet to excite either of children to buy sleighs, skis, toboggans and hockey equipment, displays of them are well stocked but sales people know that the first skift of snow will bring eager buyers on the run.

Buying is Heavy

"We foresaw a large Christmas sales program as far back as last Christmas," said J. H. Jamison of Canadian Department Stores. "We cleared our shelves bare at that time and bought heavily early in the season and our sales to date have not disappointed us."

Foreign-made toys are finding their way back to Canadian toylands. There are some lines of German mechanical toys of the wind-up variety and although the material is light they are as attractive as German-made toys ever were. One store official said that a great many German toymakers had gone to England and applied their knowledge to English mechanical toys and that the products, in their estimation, were better for it.

Trains Available

There are many varieties of mechanical trains for Father, which the sons are allowed to play with too. There are electric types run from house current, between blackouts, and for the avid fan, the wind-up types that run whether the Hydro is on or off. They are great things to get wound up in when the lights go off, especially when they are spread several times around the living room in figure eights.

The fine British educational toys such as Mecanno building sets, miniature laboratories and chemistry sets, are still well-made and complete. There are also a few alcohol-driven engines and boats for boys with mechanical minds.

The old monster jig-saw puzzles that kept families occupied for weeks, are missing but the simple type for young children are still a very popular seller. Cardboard games are piled in stacks both under and on counters, none of them are new inventions, but follow standards that have been popular for years.

A dashing dapple-grey metal hobby horse that comes to life with a push-pedal operation was one of the really new toys to be seen. It was sturdy enough to allow a 200-pound salesman to demonstrate it and he proved beyond a doubt that it would take a terrific beating. The line may or may not go well, at $40 each.

Missing from toyland this year are the toys with a war theme. "We refused to buy such lines on purpose," said J. C. Rousom, toy buyer for the Percival Stores chain. He said he was a veteran himself and he did not wish to have his own children playing with toys associated with war. "There are still plenty of toy guns, however," he said, "but of the Western variety." He showed an extensive line of cap and pop guns that would delight the cowboy spirit of many Peterborough youngsters.

Scout Paper Drive Set For Wednesday

The third paper drive to be held by the Peterborough District Boy Scout Association on Tuesday evening, promises to be the largest this year. Thirty-five trucks from the city and private firms have volunteered and the city has been divided into seven zones, each under the supervision of a major.

A new feature of their organization this time will be the use of advance parties of Scout Cubs. They will call at homes in each zone ahead of the collection squads to warn householders to have their paper ready. District Commissioner E. J. Wolfe said today that more phone calls had been received about this drive than any previous one that has been staged.

Charge Dismissed

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, today dismissed a charge against Mendall Gishman, 680 Reid St. of illegally parking on a highway. The accused had been charged following an accident on No. 7 Highway near Fowler's Corners. Gishman's truck, another truck and a car had been involved in the collision after Gishman had stopped to pick up a passenger. His counsel, J. C. N. Currelly, argued on the evidence heard Monday that courts had held that "parking must mean something more than a momentary stopping."

12,000 Watch Santa Claus Float Parade

For nearly two hours today there were no old people in downtown Peterborough: even grandparents felt again the throbbing excitement of youth. It was the annual visit of Santa Claus. The children took the kindly old man to their hearts, and their elders greeted him as the harbinger of the Christmas spirit which annually catches all in its warm embrace.

"The biggest and best ever," was the consensus among those who had seen the Santa Claus parade before. Not within the memory of the oldest spectator had there been a finer parade or a larger crowd to see it.

A motorcycle vanguard had to stop repeatedly to press back the surging throng of children who dashed onto the road anticipating the approaching parade. Estimates of the crowd ran as high as 12,000 people who lined the roadways and watched from buildings.

Work in offices, stores and buildings along the route of the procession came to a halt. In addition to the mass of adults and children who jammed the sidewalks there were hundreds who watched from second-storey windows—children, office workers, executives, and fortunately-situated apartment dwellers.

Workmen on the new Cherney building at King and George Sts. threw down their tools and gaped like schoolchildren, and they were matched by other workers at the Famous Players' Theatre now under construction on George St. Two men who were working on the roof of another George St. building dangled their legs over the eaves and cheered like the rest of the kindred spirits down below.

And there was plenty for the spectators to cheer about. Each of the thirteen floats depicting fabulous characters from "nursery land" was perfect down to the last detail. Children and parents entered into a jovial contest to see who could first identify the approaching float.

"It's Captain Kidd," said one mother after a glance at one of the floats which had just turned the corner.

"No it's not, Mummy," piped up a little girl who was still dressed in long stockings and a short skirt. It's Long John Silver see his wooden leg and there's the parrot perched on his shoulder."

Sure enough when the float came by its inscription said "Treasure Island." Score one for the younger generation..

All the Favorites

One of the fairy-tale favorites, Cinderella, was there too. She was shown, dressed for the ball, alighting from her coach-and-four. Following her came Jack-and-the-Bean-Stalk climbing up the huge vine only to be confronted by the ogre with a huge club he was brandishing.

The butcher, baker and candlestick maker who went to sea in a tub were shown being tossed skyward by the spout of a good-natured whale. Old King Cole was lolling back indulgently in his throne as he called for his pipe, bowl and fiddlers three. Nobody seemed particularly disturbed because his fiddlers, although dressed in medieval serving costumes, were playing western hoe-down music.

One or two of the adults gulped a couple of times as the musical elephant number came by. Seated there, biggest of them all, was a pink elephant with polka dots. Those who felt a bit self-conscious at this unexpected visitor consoled themselves that Santa would never play a mean trick like that.

"Ding Dong Dell. Puss is in the Well." Practically everyone in the crowd knew that rhyme and recited it as a bedraggled puss was shown being dragged from the well on an old oaken bucket.

Also included were the Old Lady in the Shoe who was dusting the breeches of several of her troublesome brood with a slat; Peter Peter Pumpkin Eater and the wife he couldn't keep were there too. The Three Little Pigs and the hungry-looking Big Bad Wolf were still feuding. Candy Train. I Saw a Ship A-Sailing and Mother Goose were the other floats.

Finally came the man all had lined up to see Santa Claus. His white beard, red suit covering his rotund little body, and his cheery waves of greeting to the children delighted everyone—. As his sleigh drawn by the faithful reindeer moved along a flock of young, unattached children ran beside it returning the greetings.

Streets were well decorated with bunting and gaily-colored flags of all kinds. A Chinese flag was hung outside one George St. restaurant.

About 100 senior public school boys, dressed in clown suits and liberally smeared with grease paint, ran along beside the floats. They shouted, tumbled and scrapped to the delight of the spectators as well as themselves. For once, they probably felt, they could be on their worst behavior with the emphasis on animal spirits and nobody would censure them.

Music was provided by the Citizen's Band which preceded the Arctic monarch. Five of the colored floats were provided with their own sound systems.

Although the weather was raw and damp and there was no snow on the ground, the spectators realized that this signifies the decline of Fall and the approach of the Christmas season.

Today Santa Claus came to town.

TWENTY-FOUR TOED CAT, Blackie, being displayed by his mistress, Mrs. E. Bennett, 47 Orpington Rd., may be a freak in the cat kingdom but he is a great pet for the Bennett children, Raymond and Jo Anne. He has seven toes on each front foot and five on each hind foot, 24 in all.

Police Hold Open House Children Lost At Parade

Santa Claus left a few bewildered and lost admirers in his wake this morning. They found their haven in the city's Police Department as officers on duty for the big parade brought in the unhappy little strays: tearful, wide-eyed, scared boys and girls who had been separated from their parents or overseers in the crush of the watching mob.

While kindly police questioned them on names and addresses and tried to make contact with the homes of the lost ones, the natural childish curiosity and friendliness added another duty to the police (who had plenty to do, anyway, directing the big show along the streets). They were called on to act as part nursemaid, part disciplinarian.

For example, PC Sherman Keliele led one 7-or-8-year-old boy into the guard room, got him comfortably seated and reasonably calmed while someone checked his "ownership" by phone. Almost the first question asked, as the lad spotted a rifle in the room:

"Whose gun is that?" reaching for the weapon.

"Oops, now, Ray," cautioned PC Keliele, "how about digging into this," bringing out a bright red apple from his own lunch.

"I don't wanna apple," resolutely replied the single-minded Ray, keeping his eyes on the rifle.

"I wanna see you shoot somebody."

It took some explanation to show him that policemen—even nice ones who befriend lost boys—do not find it possible to shoot persons for the amusement of boys.

Another "stray" brought into the city department was a little girl, who lustily expressed her unhappiness at the top of a pair of healthy lungs. Just about every effort of the police to befriend her and get information brought forth even louder wails of anguish.

Blame the Parents

It was finally discovered that the reason for her fear was that her mother had often warned her "if you're naughty, the policemen will get you," so naturally, her frame of mind was rather gloomy, surrounded by uniforms—and she hadn't even been naughty that morning, either.

The presence of other kids in the same fix had a quieting influence. With the men on station duty, the boys and girls gradually entered into a spirited conversation about the main feature of the season—Santa's arrival.

Patiently, officers detailed what "Santa's going to bring you for Christmas, mister?" and "Who was the mean looking guy that the three little pigs had tied up on the chair?"

Finally, anxious parents checked in to receive their precious misplaced goods and the police again turned, with a sigh of relief, to such minor matters as criminals and traffic tie-ups.

Firemen Seek Pay Boost Of $1.40 A Day

The executive committee of the council is meeting Friday morning with representatives of the firemen's union for a preliminary discussion of an application for a wage increase next year.

It is understood that the firemen are asking for an advance of $1.40 a day over their present scale.

Ald. Hugh Waddell is chairman of this committee, with Mayor Ovens, Ald. Herbert Young and Ald. Max Swanston.

The Police Commission recently received a somewhat similar request from the men of the police department, and it is understood that an increase of $200 a year in the salary scale is being recommended.

Agreements provide for these negotiations prior to the end of the municipal year. Prospective change to meet the applications of these bodies of civic employees are referred to the finance committee of the council, giving all the aldermen an opportunity of taking part in the discussion before a decision is reached.

Some suggestion of a broader scanning of the outlook for 1949 was heard around the city hall in recent weeks. Tentative estimates of expenditure by the new council were to be considered then instead of waiting until the new budget is drawn up in February. This idea may be carried out during December, but there hasn't been any definite approach to it yet.

Scottish Rite Reunion Held

The annual Scottish Rite reunion was held in the Masonic Temple on Monday with a class of 32 candidates. At the banquet in the evening Dr. James Simpson of Hamilton, deputy for Ontario, was the principal speaker and Dr. S. Y. Walsh was made an honorary 33rd degree member and presented with a jewel by Dr. Simpson.

Activities in the Masonic Temple commenced at 7.30 in the morning and it was 11.00 p.m. before proceedings concluded and more than 250 members went to the Empress Hotel for the annual dinner.

Stewart McGill, T.P.G.M. presided at the dinner and music was provided by the Scottish Rite octette. George A. Macdonald proposed the toast to the visitors, which was replied to by Clarence Pitts of Ottawa, while the toast to the Supreme Council was proposed by J. A. Dewart and responded to by Dr. Simpson who in his address declared all good living and morality starts in the home. R. F. Downey proposed the toast to the Absent Brethren.

UNDER THE POWER QUOTA

Peterborough reported to the Hydro authorities 61,700 kwh. under the local quota for Monday, getting off another week on the right foot. Power consumption was 168,000 as against the permitted maximum of 229,700 kwh.

FRENCH TROOPS MARCH in the dock area of Dunkirk, France, recently where they took over the port facilities. Two thousand waterfront strikers who had been occupying the area for four days abandoned the barricades without resistance and the troops began work on several of the eleven ships waiting to be unloaded.

Tim Daly, Maple Leafs' Trainer Regales Rotarians With Speech

"Children who take up sports develop into good citizens, not gangsters," Tim Daly, popular trainer of the Maple Leaf Hockey Club told the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon on Monday.

Introduced by F. D. Tufford, with many humorous incidents in Mr. Daly regaled the members his long sports career, and he urged them to give every boy and girl an opportunity to indulge in good, wholesome sport.

"There is more money being paid athletes today, than is being paid bank managers," he said, and explained that Turk Broda, goalie for the Leafs, made $16,000 last year. During the Summer Mr. Broda drives a truck and I'm suggesting that $16,000 a year is good money for a truck driver."

He said every player on the Maple Leafs' team makes at least $5,000 a year, and finished his reference to salaries with the admonition, "Gentlemen, it is your duty to provide Peterborough boys with a chance to become good hockey players."

Mr. Daly said in his travels he has met kings and presidents, and then paid warm tribute to Connie Smythe, president of the Maple Leaf Hockey Club. "I hope some day Canadians will see to it that fitting tribute is paid Connie for the contribution he has made to hockey, not only in Canada but in the world."

"Everyone is proud to play with the Maple Leafs, and one of the reasons for this is because a player becomes a star as soon as he dons a sweater carrying the Maple Leaf, one of the best-known Canadian emblems. Through the hockey broadcasts, the newspaper publicity and the huge crowds, these players are skyrocketed to prominence, much like a Broadway star."

The speaker showed a warm friendship for Peterborough when he told the Rotarians that he missed his first trip with the team in 43 years to keep this speaking engagement. "I can recall too, being in Peterborough 42 years ago, when it was one of the finest sports centres in the Dominion. At that time you had everything from cock-fighting to box fighting, and also Peterborough had one of the greatest hockey teams in Eastern Canada."

He explained that the Leafs had two complete sets of equipment, one of which goes ahead of the team to spots like Boston, New York, Chicago and Montreal, and the other set is kept at the Gardens. "Each player has three pairs of skates, one at home in the locker, one he takes with him on trips, and the other set travels in his trunk on the trips. Each man has 24 sticks to choose from, and always has nine sticks on a road trip," he said.

Mr. Daly wound up his talk with several stories, told with a noticeable Irish brogue, and the audience loved them.

W. A. Davidson, in thanking the speaker, said it was the first time within his memory that any speaker had been able to keep the audience intact throughout the entire talk, and it was also one of the largest meetings held by the club in some time.

Besides the Rotarians, there were members of the City Council, member of the Senior Baseball executive; C. J. Perdue, Sports Editor of The Examiner, and several other guests.

President W. H. Hamilton was chairman.

SNATCHED FROM DEATH—Sixteen persons were saved from drowning in Lake Huron after clinging three nights and two days to the wreckage of a battered tug and dredge on the rocks of storm-swept Manitoulin Island. They were crew members of the dredge Ella M. and the tug Patricia McQueen. A snowstorm lashed the lake into 15-foot waves which drove the vessels on to reefs 20 miles apart. This photo shows the tug hard aground. At the left is the lifeboat in which five crew members of the tug made their way ashore late Saturday.

Last Of Royal Ribbons Awarded As Judges' Corps Finishes

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—(CP). — Last of 10,000 rosettes and ribbons pinned to winning farm exhibits at the eight-day Royal Winter Fair will be awarded today as the Fair's crops of judges winds up its task one day before the big show ends.

In the judging ring today will be the last of the beef cattle and the last of the Clydesdale draught horses—and the first of the large-scale auctioning of livestock exhibits will begin.

Swine and sheep will go under the auctioneer's hammer. Also up for sale will be many of the beef and pork carcasses which have hung in the fair's huge glassed-in refrigerators.

Largest horse-show audience of the fair to date filled the Coliseum to the walls Monday night to greet the Governor-General and Lady Alexander on their first visit to the fair.

Nineteen-year-old Kenneth McKinnon of Hillsburgh stepped up to receive for the second successive time his 50 guineas, the historic prize inaugurated by King Edward VII, from the hands of Viscount Alexander.

Takes Two Trophies

Ken was the owner of Danny Boy — more formally, Triumph of Sunny Slope—the Aberdeen-Angus steer which he raised on his father's 250-acre Wellington county farm to win the grand championship of all steers entered by 96 members of Ontario's Boys' and Girls' Calf Clubs.

He also walked off with the Kennedy trophy, given him by Ontario's Premier T. L. Kennedy for his winning steer.

Later in the evening an auction sale, held in the crowded arena, added $2,760 to the king's guineas when Danny Boy was sold for $3 a pound. It was considerably less than the $10,030 which he took home last year from the showing and sale of another prize Angus, Torchy.

Three other grand champions of the show went on the auctioneer's block Monday night before the silk-hatted, evening-gowned audience in the box seats.

Cannonball, grand champion steer of the show, sold for $6 a pound, bringing his owner, Lloyd Mack of Rockwood, a total of $5,280.

The cutest lamb in the show—and its grand champion—was sold for $400 by its owner, W. J. Brodie of Stouffville. Earl B. Zavitz of Alvinston, saw his grand championship hog go under the hammer at $1.50 a pound.

Most Promising Hunter

Picked as Canada's most promising half-bred three-year-old hunter, Camside Export won the Governor General's Cup for her owner, J. E. Jeffery of Hyde Park. Presentation was made by Viscount Alexander.

For the sixth successive night a Mexican rider—this time team captain Col. Humberto Mariles—dashed the hopes of French and Canadian riders of winning a military jumping event at the horse show.

His mount, Resorte, made its first appearance at the show and put on a faultless performance Canada's best jumper, Lieut. W. R. Ballard, of Skip Across, was forced into a tie for fourth place with France's best, Maj. Pierre de Mapeou.

Get Diplomas

Two Canadian cattle experts, W. S. Brooks of Paris, and V. B. Leonard of Clarence, N.S., were awarded master breeders diplomas by the Canadian Guernsey Breeders' Association, meeting at th fair.

A Prince Edward Island farmer, Harold Laird of Kensington, was elected president of the Guernsey Association, succeeding W. T. Richardson of Sardis, B.C.

One maritime and one prairie farmer were among four winners of grand championships in beef cattle judging.

They were: Hereford bulls—Warren Smith, Olds, Alta., Real Domino Supreme; Dual-purpose Shorthorn bulls—Cossar Farm, Gagetown, N.B., Cossar Cornerstone; Shorthorn bulls—S. G. Bennett, Georgetown, Scotsdale Bombardier, and Aberdeen-Angus bulls—Don Head Farms, Richmond Hill, Bandolier of Don Head 19th.

In Clydesdale stallion judging, a grand championship was won by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, with Graigie Diplomat.

Eight championship ribbons in sheep judging went to:

Suffolk Rams—Elmcroft Farms, Oshawa, Abbots Noctule; Suffolk Ewes—William Clarkson and Son, Weston, East Cmno R51; Cotswold Rams — F. G. Glaspell, Hampton, Glaspell 1A; Cotswold Ewes—Charles Shore, Glanworth, Shore 5B; Leicester Rams—W. A. Douglas and Son, Caledonia, Douglas W. A. 1B; Leicester Ewes—Douglas A. Cumming, Russell, Russel Lady 2B; Cheviot Rams—C. U. Walton, Kettleby, Walton 2C; and Cheviot Ewes—D. E. McDowell, Mercer, Pa., McDowell 1296.

Forbid Lord's Prayer Roumanians Say

MARMORA, Nov. 23—(ENS)—The non-religious element of Communism is revealed in a letter which Thomas Paranuik recently received from a friend in Romania. Mr. Paranuik has been a resident of Canada for the past thirty-eight years, and his brother was a resident here from 1909 to 1919. The letter, among other things, mentioned that since the Communists have taken over Roumania the use of the Lord's Prayer in the schools has been banned. Also only four years of schooling is being granted to young Romanians, an indication that it is desired to keep the country under the iron heel. Furthermore, of the produce of farms and manufactories, the Soviet regime takes forty per cent. in taxation for which those levied receive not the slightest benefit. That latter fact is also borne out in news of Czechoslovakia received by Peter Fecko of Deloro, who is now deferring a planned return for the end of the year until a change is seen in the affairs of his native country.

Toronto People Take Lamps From Cottages

PAUDASH LAKE, Nov. 23 (ENS)—Unable to purchase oil burning lamps in Toronto for use in the power cut-offs, residents who own cottages in this area are returning to get their lamps in order to use them in their Toronto homes.

Mr. Harvey Bedford, who has been a patient at Malton Hospital suffering from a broken back, is a guest of his brother, Mr. Wm. Bedford.

Messrs. Chas. Elliott and Frank Blow of Toronto were week-end visitors at the latter's cottage.

Her many friends and neighbors will be glad to know that Mrs. Jas. McGregor, who has been undergoing treatment for a serious illness in Toronto, is expected home shortly.

THAT'S NEXT—There is a stone carving job to be done in Ottawa shortly. When the Parliament Buildings were built, shields were carved over the entrance for each province and a tenth was added and left blank in case another province should come into the Dominion. Now Newfoundland's entry is being discussed at meetings in Ottawa and this photo shows two of her delegates standing below the blank shield. Pointing to the uncut stone is F. G. Bradley and Joseph Smallwood is on the right.

Landscape Painter H. W. Wagner Dies

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—(CP).—A distinguished painter of Northern Ontario landscapes, Herbert William Wagner, 59, died in hospital Monday.

For the last 28 years he made annual trips to Haliburton and other sections of Northern Ontario to sketch landscapes.

He held many public and private exhibitions with some of his pictures hung in exhibits of the Montreal Art Association, Toronto Art Gallery and the Canadian National Exhibition. In 1939 an exhibit was hung at the Miami, Fla., Art Centre and the University of Miami.

Mr. Wagner, a pupil of Andre Lapine, was born in Galt.

CCL Finances CCF

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23—(CP)—The Canadian congress of labor plans to raise a $350,000 political campaign fund to aid the C.C.F. party, Pat Conroy, C.C.L. secretary-treasurer said here Monday. The fund will be raised through the union's 350,000-membership at the rate of $1 per member for campaigning in both federal and provincial elections.

Murray Changes Roles

PORTLAND, ORE., Nov. 23—(AP)—Philip Murray, for years the peacemaker of the C.I.O., publicly switched Monday into a lashing opponent of leftists and "unfit" unions within his own organization. Before thhe opening session of the C.I.O. convention he demanded the reorganization of three unions which he said had failed in the C.I.O.,s mission "to organize the unorganized."

WHEN THIS BIG WOODEN BALL, covered to resemble a globe, drifted ashore last week at the St. Lawrence River town of Beauport near Quebec City, residents were at a loss to explain its origin. The mystery was solved Monday when a pulp and paper company said they had built the globe for a Labor Day parade. Recently it was discarded and they believe youngsters may have pushed it into the river near Beauport.

Graziano Keeps Experts Guessing

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP) — The next chapter in the mystery series entitled "Rocky Graziano and the Coast" will be unfolded today—maybe.

The former middleweight champion, as undecided as a woman trying on hats, reversed his stand again Monday night. He was supposed to hop on a train for Oakland, Calif., and resume training for his Dec. 1 fight there with Fred Apostoli.

But a couple of hours before train time he changed his mind and said he wasn't leaving that night.

Irving Cohen, co-manager of the New York boxer, said "something has come up. I can't say anything further right now except that I will have a statement on the matter Tuesday."

This whole thing has been going on for some time now. Rocky and Apostoli originally were scheduled to fight Nov. 17. Rocky had the fight postponed until Dec. 1.

Thursday, Graziano, who had been training in Oakland, disappeared from the coast city. He turned up in New York, explaining he left because he was "homesick."

Sunday he said he would leave for Oakland Monday. Monday he said he wasn't going Monday night. Tuesday—???

Riders Feted Before, After Grey Cup Classic

OTTAWA, Nov. 23 —(CP)— More blocks are eexpected to be thrown out today and tomorrow by harassed club officials than the Ottawa Rough Riders, training for the Grey Cup classic.

Officials say they have been swamped with some 5,000 requests for tickets to the Dominion football final in Toronto's Varsity stadium next Saturday. The Canadian Rugby Union is alloting Ottawa only 3,000.

Requests have been coming in from "friends of friends" of Ottawa football club officials from Western and Northern Ontario and from centres in Quebec province.

Manager J. P. McCaffrey of the Riders and D. Wes Brown, Big Four secretary, says it will be impossible to satisfy demands.

Meanwhile, the Riders, with thoughts of meeting the fiery Calgary Stampeders always before them, are taking things easy.

The Big Four and Eastern Canada champions are expected to head west Thursday night after they have been given a big turkey dinner by Samuel Berger, club director and prominent Ottawa barrister.

Come what may, the Riders will get two free dinners: the one Thursday and another Saturday evening when they, along with the Calgary Stampeders, will be entertained at a buffet supper at the Toronto men's press club. The players will be interviewed on a coast-to-coast broadcast originating from the club.

Cup Match In August

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—(AP)— Amateur golfers from Britain and the United States will compete in the Walker Cup matches over the Winged Foot Course at Mamaroneck, N.Y., Aug. 19 and 20, 1949, the United States Golf Association said today.

Suspend Parcel Post

OTTAWA, Nov. 23—(CP)—The Post Office ordered Monday the immediate suspension of parcel post, including gift parcels, to Berlin and the Soviet zone of Germany. The action was ascribed to 'transportation difficulties.'

ALMOST FULLY RECOVERED from injuries received when she leaped from the Russian consulate window in New York, Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina (centre) prepares to leave Roosevelt Hospital. The Soviet school teacher, whose desperate effort to achieve freedom in a free land attracted international attention, is escorted by Dr. Eugene Watters and Virginia Muldoon. She must temporarily use a cane.

Social Credit To Extend Work

EDMONTON, Nov. 23 (CP)— Social Credit followers will serve notice on other Canadian political parties tomorrow that they intend to widen the scope of their activities outside Alberta and spread the group's doctrine further afield.

When delegates from all parts of Alberta gather here for the annual convention of the Alberta Social Credit League, national affairs will be as much in the limelight as the league's policy towards government of the province.

But delegates will be faced with the task of welding together a split in the ranks of the movement, as well as deciding the league's stand on such matters as freight rates.

The first day of the two-day meeting likely will see quick action by the league against those Social Credit followers who have declared themselves in support of the rebel Douglas Social Credit Council. This comparatively small group—led by A. V. Bourcier, Social Credit member of the legislature for Lac Ste. Anne—has taken a stand against some of the methods by which the league and Premier Manning's administration hope to put Social Credit into effect.

Toronto Schools Seek Course In Family Life

TORONTO, Nov. 23 — (CP) — A committee of the Toronto Board of Education Monday approved a program for the presentation of a "family life" course in the two upper grades of Toronto public schools.

The committee also approved a suggestion by teachers that the course be called "family life education" rather than "sex education".

The course must first be approved by the Ontario Department of Education.

Dr. C. C. Goldring, city director of education, said teachers giving the course would be instructed to give "straight answers to straight questions."

In grade seven the course would include the evolution of the family, the meaning of adolescence and community life and relationships within the family.

In grade eight—where the plan calls for segregation of boys and girls—the course would include study of a simple vocabulary of sex, the hygiene of adolescence, social behavior and "the meaning of growing up.'

Knocks Out Hydro

RENFREW, Nov. 23 (CP). — About half of this Eastern Ontario community was blacked out for 15 hours Saturday when Julien Rivest allegedly ran amuck with a gravel truck, smashing into telephone and power transformer posts. Arrested and charged with dangerous driving, he was later released on posting bail of $100.

SESSION—One of the Canadian delegates to the general assembly of the United Nations at Paris is Hugues Lapointe, member of parliament for Lotbiniere and parliamentary assistant to the minister of national defence. Mr. Lapointe is shown here on the left talking to F. B. Sayre of the United States delegation.

Locomotive Orders Pass $70,000,000

OTTAWA, Nov. 23 — (CP) — The office of high commissioner for Indian announced Monday night that 1948 orders placed in Canada for locomotives now have passed the $70,000,000 mark.

Most recent of the orders is one for 100 broad gauge locomotives to be made by the Montreal Locomotive Works, Kingston, at a cost of about $15,000,000.

Total number of locomotives now on order in Canada for the India Supply Mission is 350. Of these 150 are broad gauge locomotives being produced in Montreal and Kingston. Another 100 broad gauge locomotives are being prepared for delivery during the first half of 1949. The latest order of 100 is for delivery in the second half of 1949.

Total value of the three orders and spare parts is $50,000,000.

Bare Shoulders With Trousers For After Skiing

PARIS, Nov. 23—(Reuters)—Tapering trousers are the keynote of this season's winter sports fashions being shown by designers here.

Taking full advantage of the smart build-up line provided by this feature, one winter sports specialist, Andre Ledoux, has a novelty elastic inset in the lower part of the trouser leg which makes it fit like a gaiter.

Accompanying it is a loose blouse which is worn over a pullover and can be removed from the shoulders and slung around the hips.

For wear on the snowfields, there are trapper jackets, sports short and anorkas gathered at the waist and made of a new plastic material called "cracknyl," gabardine or poplin in bright colors —red, green, yellow, orange or multi-colored.

For after skiing hours, there are short coats, jackets and sport shirts in great variety, some loose, some close-fitting, some gathered at the waist with many darts.

For evening wear, bare shoulders and closely fitting bodices are worn wtih tapering trousers. These ensembles, the outstanding novelty of the season, are generally made in black jersey or a combination of black materials such as a chiffon bodice, satin sash and gabardine trousers.

In many cases, the bodice has motifs of white and dull embroidery on the left breast descending to the pocket.

Another winter sport specialist, Calixe, goes in for contrasting colors. One of his models consisted of dark green plus fours continuing as gaiters and worn with a mustard yellow waterproof anorak gathered at the waist.

FAVORED FUR FASHION—Beautifully marked, supple furs, light in color and brilliantly styled, have had a big autumn and look forward to a successful spring with a good resort and travel season in between. There's a world of beauty, charm and wearability packed into this fur coatee. Fashioned of champagne colored Indian broadtail exquisitely marked, it has an overlapping monk's drape, small standing collar and gathered cuff.

Home and School Association News

PCVS

Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy was in the chair for the regular meeting of PCVS Home and School Association in the gymnasium Monday evening. This meeting was especially dedicated to fathers and it was gratifying to see so many present. In the president's opening remarks she congratulated the two victorious rugby teams of the Collegiate.

Mrs. P. Martin reported for the membership committee in absence of Mrs. E. Chambers and said the campaign has been very successful and will continue for another week. Mrs. J. D. Fanning's report on the recent rummage sale showed it was also a success and extended thanks to all ladies who helped. Mrs. O. Laderach spoke on publications bringing to the attention particularly those dealing with good citizenship and stressing their use to keep well informed on all the important topics of the day.

Mr. O. Laderach took the chair for the program and introduced the guest speakers, Mayor Wm. Ovens and Mr. W. B. Gordon. Their subject was "Good Citizenship," the mayor speaking for the city and Mr. Gordon for the Board of Education.

Insight in the workings of the City Council was given by Mayor Ovens with stress on the fact the population has grown greatly in the past eight years and Council work is therefore very heavy. He spoke of the Municipal Act which gives the Province the right to clamp down on a Municipality if it extends the limit for expenditures, and said that this might sometimes be a nuisance but it has also proven a safeguard for the municipalities themselves.

Through questions led by Mrs. T. J. Carley, on behalf of the parents, detailed points on which they were curious were clarified. It was pointed out that a great deal of the program for improvements has been delayed due to shortages of material and labor.

Mayor Ovens discussed the ward system of election and it was found there is much to be said for and against such a system. It was pointed out that the Professors recently here on a survey were greatly impressed with the social and welfare agencies and he thought Peterborough was to be congratulated for the impression it made.

Mr. Gordon, speaking from the standpoint of the Board of Education said he felt the work of the Home and School Association is of greatest importance and particularly so to the teaching profession as it establishes a link between the home and the school, and works for better understanding and a greater benefit to children. He said he felt such a relation ship could be established between the Home and School and the Board and would work to the advantage of both.

The speaker also touched on the work done by the Recreation Commission which, although still in embryo stage, has already done a fine job with both adults and children. Sports and crafts have been introduced and advanced he said but in the field of music, drama and adult education the work is still lagging. Mr. Gordon expressed the hope that some agency will seize on the opportunity to promote this type of recreational activity.

Once again, the parents questioned the speaker with Mrs. Carley leading. Among facts brought out it was shown that to educate a public school pupil the cost to the Board is $102 per year. An academic student at Collegiate costs $172 and the vocational school pupil costs $234 a year. Health services of the school, medical and dental, are also taken care of by the Board. Mr. Gordon suggested the Home and School members visit the Board meetings and familiarize themselves with the work covered.

Mr. E. Chambers moved a vote of thanks to the speakers.

A sing song was enjoyed with Mrs. E. Druery at the piano. Refreshments were served with Mrs. J. H. Frise and her committee in charge and the fathers assisted.

Mrs. Eric McLean Entertains Mt. Pleasant W.A.

Mount Pleasant W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Eric McLean, with the president, Mrs. A. Tully, presiding. Mrs. T. Graham acted as secretary in absence of Mrs. D. Lawson.

Mrs. Lawson, Sr., was in charge of devotions. Mrs. H. Lowes read Scripture.

At October meeting members brought donations in place of holding a bake sale or bazaar and these amounted to $37. It was decided to give $15 to the M. & M. Fund. Mrs. H. H. Lowes reported on the record book purchased by the W.A. to be presented to the church in the near future.

A committee was appointed to make out new programs for the coming year. One quilt and one pair of sockees were disposed of.

A letter of thanks from a family overseas who received one of the boxes sent last spring, was read. Two members thanked the W. A. for card received.

It was decided to remember the shut-ins at Christmas; also to send chocolates to a member who is ill.

The program consisted of readings by Mrs. N. Fee, Mrs. H. H. Lowes and Mrs. M. Jones.

After the meeting a dainty lunch was served by the hostess, asssited by Mrs. E. Morden and Mrs. J. Fee.

White Roses Mean A Proposal N.Y. Stylist Says

TORONTO, Nov. 23—(CP)—A man shouldn't give a girl white roses unless his matrominial intentions are serious, says Helen Hutson Weber.

"White roses mean a proposal and are an invitation to trip down the aisle," says the rose stylist who came from New York to arrange roses for the Royal Winter Fair flower shows.

Red roses are safe, she feels. They signify love, all right—but there's nothing binding about them.

12 Canadians Study On IODE Scholarships

Mrs. F. P. McCurdy, national president of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, announced that twelve Canadian students, the successful candidates for the 1948-1949 IODE War Memorial Post-Graduate Scholarships will pursue advanced studies at British universities this fall. These post-graduate scholarships are open to both men and women and form the permanent part of the Order's First War Memorial. They are of the value of $1,600 each and are given for one year but may be awarded for a second year. To qualify, a candidate must be a graduate of a Canadian university and must have done or be doing post-graduate work. In the past 27 years, 157 IODE post-graduate scholarships have been awarded to students of outstanding ability.

DOROTHY DIX

Tactless Spouses Found In Both Men and Women

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Why do husbands and wives use so little tact in dealing with each other? There are the smallest number of married people who treat each other with even common politeness, to say nothing of showing each other the courtesy and consideration that they use toward the veriest stranger with whom they come in contact. Yet these same men and women who use the tactics of a brute and a boor in the family circle are noted for their suavity abroad. Why is this?

WONDERING

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: All of us know husbands and wives whose marriages are just as sure to end in a crash as an automobile would if it were driven at full speed into a stone wall, because they go headlong into each other's prejudices and convictions, instead of taking the trouble to gumshoe around them.

Why people with even ordinary intelligence show so little regard for the feelings of other must remain one of the unfathomable mysteries of matrimony, but it does explain why divorce is so common. One would think that even a moron would realize that there is no other relationship on earth so delicate and so difficult to manage as that between a husband and a wife, and that it is the one that calls for the most finesse in the handling and is the place for diplomacy to do its great and perfect work.

Inconsiderate Treatment

Perhaps in the backs of our heads we all know this, but we have such a naive faith that marriage will stand any kind of rough treatment, that we go along treating our husbands and wives as we would never dream of saying to anyone else, showing a callous disregard for their feelings that we wouldn't exhibit to our enemies, and then we wonder why marriage is a failure.

If husbands and wives were really so stupid that they never learned how to handle each other, excuse could be made for their blunder, but this is not the case. Before a man and woman have been married six months they have a perfect working model of each other's temper and temperament, with every angle to each disposition charted out, and they have each other's number to the last figure. But do these husbands and wives, who are so wise to each other's peculiarities, use their expert knowledge to avoid conflict and get along in harmony? Not so that you can notice it.

In marriage it is never what one says but how one says it; it is never what one does but how one does it that counts, and it is not too much to say that there is not a family scrap that couldn't be prevented, not an argument that couldn't be happily solved by the use of a litle diplomacy.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Is a woman supposed to be married to her husband or his people?

MRS. H. MC. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: When a woman marries a man she does, to a certain extent, marry his people. For one thing, he is pretty much what they have made him by the inheritance they have given him and the environment in which he has been reared.

She also marries his people in the sense that their name becomes her name, and she should at least make an attempt to become one of them. She should show them affection and consideration and make every effort to get along amiably with them. And she should not try to separate her husband from his family.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a married woman with three children and in love with a married man. I am sure he loves me, but he will not be disloyal to his wife. In fact, he simply ignores me and I am becoming desparate. Why should marriage stand in the way of a man if he really love some other woman than his wife?

UNHAPPY WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Perhaps the man has a sense of honor and duty, which are apparently trifles that do not bother you. He feels that he is bound by the vows he took to be faithful to his wife and he is too fine and clean to have an undercover affair with a married woman.

Why do you not emulate his example and be true to your husband? Why do you not recognize your obligation to be a good mother and keep your name clean for the sake of your children?

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, November 24

It is probably that a greatly accelerated urge in the direction of pleasure, celebrations, adventures involving gayety, moving about, vsiiting, or perhaps more practical ambitions or desires, are likely to be blocked, postponed or in some manner have the keen edges dulled. It might be owing to opposition from elders, from health conditions, or to wise decisions after sober reflection.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is face a year of ambitious plans and desires, with much of a promising nature for fulfilled hopes and objectives encouraged by stimulated ambitions, pleasant and favorable circumstances. Still there are adverse stiuations to be coped with. It might be a matter of physical health, the lack of support from elders or superiors, or other untoward circumstance. The spirits are generous and free, so there may be personal compensations for disappointments or obstructions.

A child born on this day, while ambitious, eager and skillful in developing its plans and adventures, yet may encounter obstacles, impediments and difficulties in its more serious objectives.

Hold Crokinole Party

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 23 — (ENS). — The members of the United Church choir held a progressive crokinole party on Friday evening. There were five tables played and prizes were won by Mrs. Ernie Vaness, Miss Afton Vaness, James Ruttan and Roy Glenn.

The ladies served lunch of cake, sandwiches and coffee.

British Restaurants Make Money On Their Extras

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, Nov. 23 (CP). — In theory Christmas dinner out won't cost Britons more than $1 apiece.

The Food Ministry has refused to raise the ceiling price of five shillings a meal, even for the festive season, on the grounds that if it did, hotels and restaurants would buy up all the Christmas poultry.

Some restaurants charge five shillings for a meal not worth half the price. Others serve up a reasonable dinner — which must not exceed three courses — and get their profit out of extra charges.

Extra Charges

Some of these are authorized by the Food Ministry. Some are a tribute to a manager's imagination if not his generosity. A charge of fourpence for a table napkin, for instance, seems a bit steep.

This principle of charging for "extras" seems accepted by Food Minister John Strachy, who said restaurants specializing in Christmas dinners probably would charge for crackers.

Sir Peter Macdonald, Conservative member of parliament for the Isle of Wight, said in the House of Commons that this was "the most hypocritical thing I have heard in the House for a long time."

The Poor Tourist

Pity the poor tourist, was the line most members attacking the Food Ministry adopted. What do Canadian and American visitors think when after the succulent and plentiful meals of transatlantic liners they are confronted with the restricted monotony of English fare?

The joint attack was made on a recent Act raising and fixing wages in the hotel industry. This admittedly has intensified problems of the small resort and country hotels depending on seasonal trade who find such things as holiday overtime taking a big bite out of profits.

Speakers in the Commons' debate noted an increasing trend among British families to spend the Christmas season in hotels. E. Taylor, Conservative member of parliament for Eastbourne, told the Commons that many establishments were keeping open simply to retain the goodwill of visitors.

He pleaded that they be allowed to raise holiday charges.

Dr. Edith Summerskill, Parliamentary Secretary to the Food Ministry, protested that they were doing the best to make the country attractive to tourists. But to raise meal prices at this time "would be quite wrong in the interests of the ordinary consumer."

Concert Dec. 21

FAIRVIEW, Nov. 23—(ENS)—The annual community Christmas concert given in Fairview church and presented by the two district schools of which Miss Ruth Murphy and Mrs. R. Robertson are teachers will be held on Tuesday evening, December 21, at 8 p.m.

Break Rustling Ring

SHERBROOKE, Que., Nov. 23. —A cattle rustling ring has been smashed with the arrest of four youths and the sentencing of three of them to prison terms, it was reported by police Monday. Gaudia's Noel and Charles St. Laurent, both of nearby Bromptonville, were sentenced Saturday to three years in penitentiary each, while Wilfrid Houle, also of Bromtponville, was given six months.

DR. EDWARD U. CONDON (left), director of the U.S. bureau of standards, looks on as James G. Morrow, of the Canadian Standards Association, signs an agreement on standardization of the American and British system of screw threads. The accord results from more than 30 years of effort aimed at making threaded products manufactured in the U.S., Great Britain and Canada interchangeable. Formal signing of the agreement by the three countries took place at the bureau of standards in Washington.

Forsey Denies Ever A Marxist

OSGOODE, Ont., Nov. 23 (CP). —Eugene Forsey, CCF candidate in the Federal by-election of Carleton, said Monday night he was never a "Marxist," and had "no sympathy with Communists or Communism."

In an address before a CCF house meeting here, he referred to a speech made Saturday by George Drew, National Progressive Conservative leader.

Mr. Drew stated that on one occasion Mr. Forsey had declared: ..."Until Christians learn to understand and apply the lessons of Marxism, they cannot enter into the Kingdom of Heaven...."

Mr. Forsey said the quotation attributed to him was written 12 years ago. Since then he had changed his mind.

"Mr. Drew is badly out of date. If he had pursued his researches a little farther he would have dug up evidence that my change of mind took place a considerable time ago."

Mr. Forsey said he had no use for Communists or "for their shameless lying and unprincipled opportunism, nor for the Soviet dictatorship whose mouthpieces they are.

"I fought for two years to prevent them for wrecking the fellowship for a Christian social order, which had published the book Mr. Drew quotes from."

Set Up Fund To Aid Czechs

OTTAWA, Nov. 23 (CP)—Under chairmanship of Senator Cairine Wilson, a Canadian fund for Czechoslovak refugees has been set up to assist people who have fled that country since the beginning of the Communist regime.

About 15,000 refugees are now living in camps in the western zones of Germany and Austria, a statement by the fund committee says. Of these, Canada has agreed to take 1,000, the United States 2,000, and others will go to Central and South American countries.

They come from all walks of life. "The first wave of refugees includes several cabinet members and about 40 M.P.'s, professional people, tradesmen, students and laborers," the statement says. A few of the students have been accepted into Canadian Universities but they will need financial assistance. More tragic is the fate of the older people who are suffering for their belief in freedom and democracy for the second time within a decade." The fund is seeking to raise $30,000 to assist the refugees, particularly those Canada-bound.

Treasurer is R. B. Macfarlane, 30 Yonge St., Toronto.

Final Tribute Paid Mrs. George Hogg

HARWOOD, Nov. 23—(ENS) —Many friends joined relatives to pay final tribute to Mrs. George Hogg at the funeral service conducted by Rev. A. E. Larke, at Bethesda United church on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Hogg was 78 years old and had lived her entire life in Harwood.

Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. Fleming (Bertha) of Port Hope, and three sons, Eldone at home, Ray of Baltimore, and Glenn af Harwood. Her husband and one son preceased her sevseveral years ago. There are also six grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Alex Young. Burial in Bethesda United church cemetery.

BALDIE—pet robin of 12-year-old Shirley Dunbar, of Newark, NJ, is fed an olive, one of its favorite foods. Baldie, who fell out of his nest while still a fledgling, also likes hamburger.

Rangers To Use Summer Toboggan

TOPONTO, Nov. 23.—(CP).—A summer toboggan may help rangers to fight forest fires in Northern Ontario next year.

The equipment, almost ready for tests, has been developed by the Lands Department's research division to overcome the difficulty of transferring equipment from a truck, boat or plane to the firelines.

Equipped with a track tread and steered with handles similar to those on a dogsled, the summer toboggan can be operated by one man. It has a four-cycle six-horsepower engine with a slip clutch and is designed to have a speed of about three miles an hour. Carrying a load of about 600 pounds, it will replace the old-time pack and tump line.

Backache

Stiff aching back? To get quick relief from backache torture, take Rumacaps. Not one, but three pain relieving ingredients go to work instantly to help soothe nerves and relax painful muscles. A fourth ingredient works as a purifier to help cleanse the kidneys and remove one of the chief causes of backache. Ask for Rumacaps at your druggists today. 50c and $1.00 economy size.

4 WAY TREATMENT RUMACAPS

TURNING THE PAGES OF "Canada Unlimited"

When Jacques Cartier arrived in Canada in 1534, he found the Indians living in strange-looking tepees made of branches and skins.

In 1608, Samuel de Champlain's fort was made of wood, surrounded by a stockade. The buildings that followed were made of great hewn beams, chinked with mortar.

In 1639, in Sillery, Quebec, the erection of a two-storey, stone building was an ambitious project—but by 1750, most buildings were of stone, with windows of oiled paper.

Style in early Canada brought wood again into the building picture. Soon frame houses appeared, and gaily stood out from their drab stone neighbours.

Brick began to replace stone around 1800 in new buildings, and today many houses are of warm, substantial brick construction.

Today we have "solar" houses, of shiny, light aluminum, The opportunity for new ideas in construction are boundless — because there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LENGTH DETERMINES IT

WITH A HAND which justifies bids of two suits, the question of which should be called first is not dependent on the relative strength of them, but on their length. When they are touching suits—both majors, or both red suits, or both minors—the higher should always be called first if they are equal in length and both truly biddable. Truly biddable meaning, with good players, either at least a five-card length or four headed by the jack or better. Only when the lower ranking suit is longer should it be bid before the immediately adjoining higher suit.

	♠ A 8 5 ♥ A K 8 ♦ 4 ♣ J 9 8 7 5 4
♠ Q 9 6 2 ♥ J 10 3 ♦ K 10 8 ♣ K 6 3	N W E S	♠ J 10 7 4 3 ♥ Q 4 ♦ J 9 3 2 ♣ Q 10
	♠ K ♥ 9 7 6 5 2 ♦ A Q 7 6 5 ♣ A 2

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

	South	West	North	East
1.	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
	2 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
	4 ♦	Pass	4 ♠
2.	1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
	3 ♥	Pass	3 NT

Notice how easy it was for South to show his two suits, plus the fact that they are five-carders, when he opened with the higher-ranking hearts at Table 1. Having shown his diamonds next, he knew he could give a five-five message about them with his rebid of the lower after North snapped into the 3-No Trumps. That made it obvious that North, with three hearts, had enough to support the suit adequately, so he shifted to the major game. That contract could not possibly be beaten. As played, an extra trick was made, with just one lost in each red suit, and any kind of play would produce enough for the game.

South got himself in a terrible pickle at Table 2, after opening with the lower-ranking diamonds. He was almost afraid to show the hearts at all, as that "reverse" bid of the higher suit might make North think he had more strength and so get the side into an unmakeable game. He chanced that anyway, rather than rebid the diamonds or call game in No Trumps. Naturally a spade lead ruined the No Trump contract, as two tricks had to be lost before nine could be established.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ J 10 9 8 ♥ K Q 2 ♦ 8 6 3 ♣ 10 8 3
♠ K 5 4 ♥ J 10 7 5 ♦ J 7 ♣ J 6 5 2	N W E S	♠ A Q 3 2 ♥ 8 ♦ A Q 10 4 2 ♣ K 9 7
	♠ 7 6 ♥ A 9 6 4 3 ♦ K 9 5 ♣ A Q 4

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

How should South play to limit his losses to minimum after West leads the diamond J to the A against his 3-Hearts doubled, and the diamond Q is returned?

Charge Youth Stole Company's Iron Gates

LINDSAY, Nov. 23—George A. Page, 20, of West Hill, was remanded Monday on $1,000 bail for one week on a charge of theft.

Page is charged with the theft of iron gates and other iron goods from the Canada Lime Co., Coboconk, between July 12 and August 2.

Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan asked if the accused might plead this week, but the youth said he wanted to see his lawyer first.

Peter J. Mather May Seek Seat

Peter J. Mather, district manager of Confederation Life Insurance Co., confirmed today reports that quite a number of citizens have been urging him to be a candidate for the City Council.

"I could not help but consider it when so many spoke to me about it but I have not made up my mind about it," Mr. Mather said.

A former reeve of Otonabee township and warden of the county, Mr. Mather is a resident and property owner in the city. His record in the County Council stamped with administrative ability and the experience would equip him for the city work. The procedure is exactly the same in both municipal bodies, the only difference being in the amounts and scope of budgeting.

"Some Otonabee people have been asking me to run again in the township, but I have not committed myself in any way," Mr. Mather said.

Company Favors Seaway Plan

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 23—(AP)—M. A. Hanna Co., one of the major interest in the Great Lakes shipping trade, now favors the St. Lawrence seaway project, it was disclosed Monday.

Heretofore the lake shipping trade has been unanimously opposed to the seaway project.

M. A. Hanna has extensive iron ore holdings in the Lake Superior district, operates coal mines and a large fleet of lake vessels.

In recent years it has been developing iron ore deposits in Quebec and Labrador, in association with Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., of Canada.

President George Humphrey of the Hanna concern told a reporter he has written Ohio senators Robert Taft and John W. Bricker asking them to "give this entire subject thoughtful review."

Humphrey's letters said: "New facts have developed which entirely change the situation. Explorations in the last years now have definitely proven that large tonnages of high grades iron ore exist in Quebec and Labrador."

Stolen Downtown Car Is Wrecked

Stolen from Water St. early Monday evening, the car of George Munro—minus its thief—was found almost totally wrecked shortly after midnight. Police had only the meager descriptions of bystanders in seeking to establish the identity of the man who had taken the car, driven it along Armour Road and then ditched it when erratic driving brought the car to grief near Douro St.

Marks left by the car, and the disjointed stories of several who had seen the incident, gave a rough picture of how the car-thief lost possession of his loot a short time after he had taken it.

Driving south along Armour Road, the car had crossed over to the east side of the road, went off the pavement for nearly 100 feet, smashed into a telephone pole, breaking it off at the base.

The car continued on, glancing from the blow to the pole for about 60 feet. The driver was thrown from the car. Apparently unhurt, he scrambled to his feet, remarked to one man watching that "I'm on my way to the hospital where my wife is, and I can't wait." He was gone when the police arrived.

Munro's car was badly damaged. Its rear wheel was broken off, body severely smashed, rear door ripped off, motor shifted and frame bent.

Several hours later, city officers were on the hunt again.... for another stolen car, which has not yet been recovered. Owned by Donald Elliott of the Lakefield Road, it was taken from the rear of the Quaker Oats plant between one and 2.30 o'clock this morning.

Bus, Car Collide

A city bus and a car were in collision at Charlotte and Rubidge streets about 7:45 p.m. Monday, causing damage to both. Bus-driver was Edward Simmonds, 75 Ware St., and Leo Shine, RR 10, Peterborough, was driver of the car.

There was a slight body dent to the bus.

The Shine vehicle had its bumper guard snapped off in the collision. It also received a dented fender, smashed headlight, broken foglight support. PC George B. Shaw investigated.

Has Lemon Tree

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 23. — (ENS).—Charlie Lee is displaying a lemon tree in the show window of his restaurant on Front St. Charley said that he had purchased the tree from the Georgetown nursery 3 years ago but this was the first year it had yielded fruit. It is bearing three good-sized lemons, the largest measuring over 11 inches in circumference.

Presbyterian Group Severs Connection With Church

SYDNEY, N.S., Oct. 23.—(CP).—The Westminster church here severed connections with the Presbyterian Church of Canada Monday night over alleged doctrinal differences but a statement added that it "intends to remain Presbyterian."

A statement issued following a largely-attended congregational meting said:

"....It was unanimously resolved that the congregation sever its connection with the Presbyterian Church in Canada solely on the grounds that it permits teachings in its colleges that are at variance with the word of God and the Westminster confession of faith, and because it refuses to take disciplinary action against certain ministers who deny the Virgin birth of our Lord and His subsequent death on the cross as an atonement for sin.

"And further because it is a member of the World Council of Churches, a council headed and controlled by modernists, who disavow the historic Christian faith.

"And further because budget money, given expressedly for the support of our historic faith and its work, is being diverted to help support projects that are permeated with modernism.

Remain Presbyterian

Westminster church intends to remain Presbyterian and will cooperate with all Christian bodies who hold the verbal plenary inspiration of the Scriptures, the Virgin birth of our Lord, His full and proper deity, His bloodshed on the cross as the only atonement for sin, his physical resurrection from the dead, and his personal return to this earth."

New name of the church, first organized in 1937 by Dr. Alexander Murray, its present pastor, will be Westminster Bible Presbyterian Church (Independent).

This was the second such break in the Presbyterian church in Nova Scotia in the last two years.

Rev. Perry F. Rockwood, former minister at St. James Presbyterian church at Truro, made similar charges in a series of sermons and was disciplined by an Ecclesiastical Court.

Rev. Frank Lawson, then moderator of the Halifax-Lunenburg presbytery, charged that Mr. Rockwood had "made a definite attempt to split the Presbyterian church."

Mr. Rockwood was convicted by the Ecclesiastical Court of following a "divisive course" and later resigned from the Presbyterian church to start the People's Church in Truro.

Rev. Gordon S. Vincent, minister of Halifax's West End Baptist church, preached in defence of Mr. Rockwood when the Truro minister was reported to have accused Mr. Lawson of denying the Virgin birth.

Sidewalk Photographer May Help Solve A Daring Bank Robbery

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—(CP).—A sidewalk photographer assumed a leading role today in police hopes about solving the daring robbery of a downtown bank on the strength of a "candid" snap.

Police, holding two men as suspects in the $300 robbery Monday of an Imperial Bank branch at Dunsmuir and Grenville, said photographer Alfred Pulice had been taking pictures near the bank at the time of the robbery.

They said the possibility he might have taken a picture of the bandit, who thrust a "stickup" note to teller Doreen Brown, is not being overlooked. The photographer said he did not have any definite idea that he might have caught the bandit in his lens but he felt the bank robber "may have been in the background of one of my pictures."

Monday's bank robbery marked the 11th holdup in Vancouver in 19 days. Police said the two suspects they rounded up in the early evening would be paraded before bank employees for possible identification today.

Same Technique

The lone bandit's technique—that of the "stickup" note shoved across a counter—branded him as possibly the same man who had staged three theatre holdups this month.

Miss Brown said the note was inscribed simply, "this is a stick-up, hand me your money." She attempted to pass the note to another employee in a casual manner but the man realized her intentions immediately and told her to "quit stalling."

The girl teller said the man thrust his hand into his pocket and raised the hand as if he had it wrapped around a gun.

For all his coolness in the perpetration of the crime the bandit overlooked a girl messenger in the bank at the time and carrying $9,000 in a satchel.

12 Persons Killed In Bombay Cyclone

BOMBAY, Nov. 23—Reuters)—Twelve persons were killed and 26 injured during the 100-mile-an-hour cyclone which battered Bombay, centre of India's industrial and commercial life, for 20 hours Monday, it was officially announced today.

A communique from the provincial government of Bombay stated that the resumption of electric and other public services was expected by tomorrow.

While the cyclone lasted, Bombay and an area of 70 miles around were isolated from the rest of India, which received its news of the disaster relayed through London.

Nearly six inches of rain fell over North Bombay in 24 hours.

Discover New Drug Which Helps Lepers

LONDON, Nov. 23—(CP)—British scientists have discovered a new drug they say is likely to bring relief to the world's 5,000,000 lepers.

After 10 years' work, Sulphetrone—made up into a small white tablet no bigger than a dime—has been perfected. World-wide tests, carried out in leper centres, proved it the most successful drug yet discovered for treating the disease. At least 75 per cent of all patients on whom the drug was tried have responded.

Given time, doctors believe it will halt leprosy and enable patient to return home in 90 per cent of the cases treated.

2 Canadian Officials Plan Berlin Trip

PARIS, Nov. 23—(CP)—L. B. Pearson, Canadian External Affairs minister, and Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, the Dominion's representative on the United Nations Security Council, plan to fly to Berlin this week-end if their U. N. duties permit, it was learned today.

Canadian headquarters at the U. N. said the trip's purpose would be to visit Canadian military headquarters in the German capital. They stressed that the plans are contingent on the pressure of the work at the U. N. Assembly and are in no way conneced with any special urgency in the Berlin blockade issue.

Two Cars Damaged

No injuries were received in a collision between two cars in a line of traffic on Water St. between Hunter and Simcoe streets, on Monday at noon. Drivers of the two cars were Leo Collins of 298 King St., and Miss Jean Shepperd, RR 5, Peterborough.

Damage to the Collins car was to its bumper, fender, radiator, grill, hood and top of the motor block. The Shepperd car had damage to its bumper, foglight and fender.

PC Gordon Trennum investigated.

2nd Offender Fined

Despite a 'full prisoners' box in court today, only one liquor charge was disposed of, the others being adjourned or remanded.

Ernest Redmond, RR 8, Peterborough, pleading guilty to being drunk in public as a second offender, and was fined $50 and $2.50 costs or one month in jail.

PHILIP MURRAY, right, president of the CIO, chats with Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritimes union, in Portland, Oregon. Behind Murray is Mollie Lynch, his secretary. Occasion was a meeting of the five-member CIO executive board, which took place shortly before the opening of the national CIO convention, scheduled for the coming Monday. Big issues are Taft-Hartley, Reds, and wages.

Horticultural Group Banquet Largest Yet

OMEMEE, Nov. 23—(ENS)—Omemee and District Horticultural Society's annual pot-luck supper in Trinity United Church Thursday evening was the biggest to date. Guest speaker was R. A. Patterson of Lindsay Collegiate.

Master of ceremonies, J. A. Bent, called on Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, who extended a welcome to the guests. Guests outside the Omemee district were: Mr. and Mrs. Patterson of Lindsay and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Heard of Woodville.

Mr. Zufelt led in community singing with Miss L. Race assisting at the piano.

The award of merit was won this year by Wesley Wilson. District director R. G. Heard, who presented the diploma for "Meritorious Survice to Horticulture," spoke highly of Mr. Wilson's efforts in the interest of juvenile horticulture, for which work the award was given. He also commended the Omemee society on its high degree of co-operation.

Mrs. J. Hayes, accompanied by Miss L. Race, sang two solos.

Mr. Patterson's address centred around English flowers and incidents of human interest which were a part of his experiences while posted in that country during the recent war.

Some items of interest were: His visit to a home where 80 war orphans were efficiently cared for and his visit to Buckingham Palace. He was much impressed by the wild flowers and blooming shrubs which beautify the landscape the year around.

H. G. Burke moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Patterson.

The program concluded with two movies operated by Thaxter Shaw: "The Call of the Kawarthas," and a sports reel including performances by Barbara Ann Scott.

Mr. Bent thanked all who helped make the evening a success, calling special attention to the management of convener Mrs. C. G. Shaw and her assistants.

ARE YOU More Irritable These Days?

Has the "wear-and-tear" of modern living—with its daily struggle to make ends meet despite shortages and "high prices"—begun to wear on your nerves? Do you feel you're not getting enough rest—and feel so edgy half the time, you can't enjoy life any more?

Mrs. Thompson Hostess

HASTINGS, Nov. 23—(ENS)—Mrs. Alton Thompson, Albert St. entertained on Thursday evening with a euchre party. Mrs. Pat Dodd won first prize, Mrs. Learl Humphries second, and Mrs. John Veals the consolation prize. A vote of appreciation was passed to the hostess for lunch served and Mrs. Learl Humhries invited the ladies to her home on Bridge Street next Wednesday evening.

Tells Methods Of Removing Radioactivity

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP). — Some of the secrets of Bikini — deadly radioactivity on the ship's decks, in their rigging, in the water, in the rocks, on the sand, in the air and even tramped about by men's boots — are told by Dr. David Bradley, one of the scientists.

Dr. Bradley was a Manhattan District atomic bomb worker, and at the Bikini test explosions in 1946 he was one of the radioactive safety men. His job was to fly or walk into dangerous places with a Geiger counter to see how many rays were filling the air.

"No Place To Hide," the title of his book published today, is his idea of what the whole world may face if it fight atomic bomb wars.

One of the secrets is that the United States navy found a way to decontaminate ships' decks of the deadly radioactivity that during the first five days after the underwater bomb fatally injured every animal that had been left on board.

Removes Rays

Sand-blasting removed the rays—provided the blast got all the paint. The blasting was done by heavily-clothed men wearing oxygen masks to protect them from breathing the dust.

Where wooden decks were radioactive the navy learned that an ordinary carpenter's plane, cutting off a little less than a quarter of an inch of wood, also removed the rays.

The navy learned, too, that all kinds of washing serves only to drive the deadly atoms deeper into wood.

Dr. Bradley predicted that plastic paint, that can be stripped off the ship and thrown overboard in sheets, might be a protection.

Since he made this prediction, such paint has been used in laboratories of the United States Atomic Energy Commission, and is stripped off when it gets contaminated from radioactive experiments.

He says the queerest stuff turns up radioactive a ship's brass bell, chemicals from a first-aid locker, a bar of soap.

A radioactive cloud was followed some 200 miles from Bikini. Rocks at the atoll were radioactive from atoms sticking to their surface, although waves rolled over them at high tide.

Will Try 2 Youths In Constable Assault

TORONTO, Nov. 23 — (CP) — Two Toronto youths, charged with assaulting and robbing Constable John Gaw in an East-end park last November 10, Monday were committed for trial.

Charged are John L. Smith 17, and Raymond S. Powell 16. Two 15-year-old boys charged with the same offence appeared in the Juvenile Court last week and were due to reappear next Wednsday.

Th policeman was attacked by four youths and robbed of $24, his watch and a lighter. He suffered severe leg injuries which doctors fear may leave him permanently lame.

Canadian Schooling For Mexican Family

WINNIPEG, Nov. 23—(CP)—Senor and Senora Gonzalez drove here from their home in Mexico City knowing two English words "Hello" and "Good-bye."

They came to place their three sons, Luis, Roberto and Neftali, and their daughter Hilda, in the schools in Winnipeg.

The eldest son, Gumaro, attended St. John's College last year with Luis, the youngest. They knew no English when they came, but they learned to speak it.

Senor Gonzalez preefrs a Canadian to a United States education for his children because he believes Canadian culture to be closer to that of Mexico.

Also, the children are less likely to meet Spanish-speaking people in Winnipeg, and will be forced to concentrate on English.

Roberto spent three years in schools in the United States. Hilda, away from home for the first time, expects her life to be vastly different from that in Mexico City, where she spent her time playing the piano, riding and painting.

Senor Gonzales prefers a Canlike to travel. They plan to take Hilda with them as interpreter when she has mastered the English language.

Luis, who interpreted for his parents and his sister, said he and his brother did not find the Canadian winter hard. But when he arrived last winter he came unprepared, leaving in an aircraft in a sport shirt, slacks, and a sports coat.

MacArthur Orders Tojo To Die

General Has Denied Clemency To 25 Japanese Officials

TOKYO, Nov. 24.— (AP).—Gen. MacArthur today denied clemency for Japan's 25 top war criminals and ordered the execution of Hideki Tojo and six others who dreamed of conquest but lost an empire.

As sole reviewing officer, he declined to use his power to lighten any of the sentences determined by the international military tribunal—seven die on the gallows; 16 to spend the rest of their lives in prison; two to lesser prison terms.

The Supreme Commander called the task "utterly repugnant" to him. He closed his review of the war-guilt case with a plea to people of all creeds in Japan to pray on the execution day—yet to be made public—to help the world keep the peace, "lest the human race perish."

Counsel for five defendants planned to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, which has never yet intervened in international war-crimes cases.

Those To Die

Those sentenced to death were: Tojo, army commander and premier at the outbreak of war; Gen. Kenji Doihara, known as the sly, ruthless "Lawrence of Manchuria"; Koki Hirota, former premier; Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, former war minister; Gen. Heitaro Kimura, Manchurian commander; Gen. Iwane Matsui, whose troops perpetrated the "rape of Nanking"; and Lt.-Gen. Akiro Muto, who fought in the Philippines.

Lt.-Gen. Walton Walker, commander of the eighth army, said the execution date has not been set but the seven men will be given "a reasonable time" before they are hanged, presumably at Sugamo prison in Tokyo. Only official witnesses will be allowed, correspondents will be barred and no pictures will be taken.

Walker told reporters that the bodies of the seven condemned men will not be given to their families. They will be cremated and "disposed of" at a place to be designated later.

Jury Returns Open Verdict

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 24 (CP)—Still unanswered today was the question of two killed Mrs. Emma Pohl, 37-year-old Kitchener housewife.

The verdict of a Coroner's Inquest jury returned Tuesday night attached no blame to anyone. But it established that the woman died of strangulation on a swampland road near Ayr at the point where her partly-nude body was found six weeks after her disappearance Sept. 13.

The jury found that the blonde woman met death at the hands of "a person or persons unknown."

As the jurors retired, Crown Attorney Craig McKay told them:

"Out of this tangled web of evidence, you are required to bring in a verdict. No one is on trial here. You are not required to find out who is guilty."

HalifaxLongshoremen Refuse To Work Ships

HALIFAX, Nov. 24 — (CP) — Halifax's 2,000 longshoremen tonight will decide whether they will resume handling ocean-going vessels diverted here by the United States ports strike.

The Halifax Longshoremen's Association (A.F.L.) Tuesday reached a decision not to work diverted vessels until tonight's meeting. This decision was a return to a stand taken Nov. 17, rescinded two days later after the Halifax union had considered its legal position.

As things stood early today, only two diverted vessels were being worked on the Halifax waterfront—the liner Media and the Westerdam. Unloading operations on both ships had started before Tuesday's announcement.

Get Tax Exemption On Basic Herd Sales

Ottawa Decides Income Tax Department Must Approve Cattle First

OTTAWA, Nov. 24—(CP).—Canadian farmers will be granted full exemption from income tax on the sale of "basic herds" of cattle, sheep or swine, if the herds have been approved by the Income Tax Department for taxation purposes, it was learned today.

A directive has been sent out to income tax offices advising them of the change in policy, requested for years by leading farm organizations and major cattle ranchers.

To benefit from the change, livestock farmers who have been engaged in operations in 1947 or 1948 may make application on or before April 30, 1949, for approved of a basic herd. A farmer commencing operations in 1949 or thereafter must make his application before April 30 of the following year.

Prior to the change proceeds from the sale of herds have been considered as income unless the farmer had accepted the practice of accrual returns, which meant keeping an inventory of all stock and other assets of the farm.

Under the new system, worked out after a year's negotiations with farm organizations, proceeds from the sale of basic herds will not be taxable if their cost was not charged against income in the year in which they were bought.

Where there is natural increase in the herds the same principle is recognized provided that in the year when they are included in the basic herd a fair market value for each animay is added to income.

Chiang Wins Only On Paper

NANKING, Nov. 24—(AP).—The Chinese Government today continued to win the battle of Suchow on paper, but neutral sources believed it was steadily losing vital ground to hard-pressing Communist troops. Not even the pro-Government newspaper reports agreed on what was happening. It was certain only that major fighting raged on the plains commanding the approach to this capital, less than 200 miles south of Suchow.

The weather, a key factor, turned against the Suchow defenders. Increasing cloudiness hampered air support such as helped Nationalist ground troops blunt the Communists' opening offensive last week.

Shanghai, 165 miles southeast of Nanking, showed its worry. Chinese officials discussed "total-war" plans. British authorities set up three safety zones for their women and children. United States army planes evacuated American school children from Kuling, China's summer capital 460 miles west of Shanghai. Other aircraft evacuated 20 Americans from Hankow, 585 miles west.

On Eastern Flank

The main fighting appeared to have erupted on the eastern flank of the Suchow battle. Neutral observers doubted Government reports of successes in this area.

One Shanghai newspaper said the Communist encirclement of Nienchuang, 33 miles east of Suchow, had been broken. Another said the Nationalist garrison had withdrawn to the northwest after undergoing night-long bombardment by Red artillery.

The Communist radio declared Tuesday that Red forces had completely destroyed Nationalist Gen. Huang Po-Tao's Seventh Army Group at Nien-Chuang.

Shanghai observers were convinced that Nienchuang and the eastern Suchow flank was lost to the Government.

'Brain' of Alcatraz Weds After 19 Years In Prison

CHICAGO, Nov. 24—(AP).—Cecil Wright, 41, "The Great Brains of Alcatraz," who spent 19½ years in prison, said Tuesday he will marry his childhood sweetheart here Thursday. Wright studied law during his years in prison and won his freedom Nov. 6. He argued his own case before the court of appeals in San Francisco. It was while Wright slaved over the law books that he was dubbed "The Great Brains" by his fellow convicts.

Monday night, as the silver-haired Wright stepped off a bus, he was greeted by the sweetheart of his boyhood, Beulah Brimberry, a blue-eyed brunette.

Miss Brimberry said: "We're very happy and I'm proud of Cecil."

Wright succeeded on his 13th legal attempt to free himself from "The Rock." The court decided his conviction for a $2.43 postage-stamp robbery at Strasbourg, Ill., was "unjust and unwarranted."

Lawyers have praised Wright for his legal knowledge and an assistant United States attorney in San Francisco called him "the world's greatest authority on habeas corpus."

Wright hopes to take the California Bar exam and open an office.

Mayor F. N. McCallum Won't Be Candidate

OSHAWA, Nov. 24—(CP)—Mayor Frank N. McCallum of Oshawa today announced he will not be a candidate for re-election at the civic elections Monday, Dec. 6.

Mayor McCallum, who said last week he probably would seek re-election for a fourth term, said in a statement today he was withdrawing because he planned to seek the Progressive Conservative nomination in Ontario riding in the next Dominion election.

He is a brother of Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto.

Fear Casualties Heavy

LISBON, Nov. 24— (Reuters)—Many persons were feared killed today in an explosion at a gunpowder factory at Amora, on the southern bank of the River Tagus, opposite Lisbon.

Clarify Recent Rent Increases

OTTAWA, Nov. 24 (CP) — The recently authorized rent increases apply only to completely self-contained dwellings, the Prices Board stressed today.

It recalled that the Oct. 22 announcement by Finance Minister Abbott said that the 10 per cent increase for unheated and 15 per cent for heated accommodation did not apply to rooms or so-called shared accommodation.

Apparently prompted by recent complaints, the Board clarified the regulations further by explaining that the increases do not apply to any accommodation in which the occupant is required to share a kitchen, bathroom, toilet or similar essential facility with the landlord or with any other tenant in the building.

The new regulation which removes control from accommodations when they become vacant is only applicable to completely self-contained units and does not permit the tenant of any such unit to sublet it at an uncontrolled price, the Board said. If the tenant of a completely self-contained dwelling wishes to sublet it, he must get the rent fixed by the Rentals administration.

Toronto Hydro Faces Loss Of $875,000

TORONTO, Nov. 24 (CP) — The Toronto Hydro Commission faces a $875,000 loss in revenue because of the power cut-offs in the city, it was reported today.

This represents the power the Commission could have sold to its 186,284 Toronto and Leaside customers if the power was available this fall and winter.

Red Advance Across China To Cost America Billions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—(AP)—The Communist sweep in China appears certain to cost the United States more billions in foreign aid over the next few years—whether or not she decides to give grand scale help to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

As policy planners here see the picture, two points stand out:

1. If President Truman and State Secretary Marshall determine that China still can be saved from Communism—and decide to go ahead with an aid program—they will have to ask the new Congress for several hundred million dollars at least. And that would be just a starter, since any new China program is regarded as a long-term undertaking.

2. If—in spite of American help or without it—all China falls to the Communists, the task of rebuilding Japan and providing it with a stable economy will be much more costly. That is because Japan would find trade relations with Communist China more difficult.

In addition, if a Communist China should prove actively hostile to the west in the cold war, military leaders might consider it essential to strengthen American defences in the western Pacific. That, however, is no more than a speculative possibility at the moment.

Marshall was scheduled to meet the President again today for their second foreign-policy conference in three days. Their first talk took place Monday shortly after Marshall returned from the United Nations' meeting at Paris.

Marshall arranged to hold a press conference at 3.30 p.m., EST, after his talk with the President.

Meanwhile, it is understood that Chiang in connection with his appeal to Truman for urgent assistance, proposed that a prominent American military leader — someone with great prestige—be sent to head the United States military mission in China.

Report Pitchblende In Theano Samples

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—(CP).—A report on samples of radio-active mineral taken from Theano Point in the Sault Ste. Marie district by Ontario Department of Mines' geologists says the samples were positively identified as pitchblende, a uranium ore.

The Mines Department report says pitchblende was observed in fractures which range in width from mere seams to as much as two inches and in one place a patch of six inches width was observed. Most of the visible occurrences of pitchblende and most of the fractures giving high geiger counter readings were found in the pegmatitized granite of the footwall.

The three samples submitted to the provincial assay office gave a uranium oxide equivalent as follows: sample No. 1, 61.6 per cent; No. 2, 63.8 per cent; No. 3, 56.3 per cent.

The reporting geologists state that until further exploration of the discoveries is carried out, it would appear impossible to state whether the occurrences constitute bodies of commercial grade.

3 Lancasters Comb Area For A Clue

Ship Last Heard From On November 13, Badly Damaged Then

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 —(AP)—The Coast Guard said today that it is believed the British freighter Hopestar with its crew of 37 has foundered in Atlantic and that there is little possibility any survivors are left alive."

Planes Searching

HALIFAX, Nov. 24 —(CP)—Three R.C.A.F. search and rescue Lancasters took off from their Greenwood, N.S., base today to search for the British freighter Hopestar, missing some 400 miles southeast of Halifax.

United States Coast Guard planes combed part of the vast area Tuesday in a hunt for the 5,267-ton vessel, last heard from Nov. 13 when she reported "heavy weather damage." The Hopestar sailed from Newcastle Nov. 2 for Philadelphia.

A United States aircraft based at Argentina, Nfld., also searched the Atlantic Tuesday in the area where the Hopestar was last reported but had to return to her field after developing engine trouble.

Just Finished One Job

The four Lancasters slated for search today returned to Nova Scotia from Newfoundland only Tuesday after taking part in the quest for a United States B-25 twin-engined bomber, lost on a fight from Washington to Stephenville, Nfld.

United States planes based at Harmon Field hunted for the B-25 from Nov. 12—when she lost radio contact with the naval base at Argentina—until Monday.

As the search progressed, chances of finding the bomber—with six men aboard — dimmed and United States authorities gave up the task Tuesday night.

Russians Guard Berlin Records

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—(AP).—The Russians posted guards today to prevent city government officials from removing any records from the Central City Hall.

Russian headquarters dispatched a letter to Acting Mayor Ferdinand Friedensburg claiming that "many attempts" had been made by government officials to remove files from the city hall, which is situated in the Soviet sector of the city.

The few anti-Communist elected officials who still work in the Soviet sector city hall said they interpreted the Russian action as preparation for establishing a hand-picked Communist regime after the Dec. 5 elections.

The Communists already have forced out of the city hall the elected city assembly and most major city officials except the mayor. The ousted officials have established offices in western Berlin, where they had to work without records because the Communists impounded them.

King May Use Wheel Chair

LONDON, Nov. 24—(CP).—The King today continued to carry out his normal routine of state business at Buckingham Palace despite a circulatory ailment.

His Majesty's condition was described by the Press Association as an "affection of the arteries themselves which impeded circulation of the blood."

While the King continued to carry out his normal duties, Sir William Gilliatt, gynaecologist, and Sir John Weir, the King's physician, who have been in attendance on Princess Elizabeth since the birth of her son, Nov. 14, called today at the Palace. The Princess and the infant prince are, it is understood, making satisfactory progress.

In future the King may use a wheel chair to rest his legs, it was made known informally Tuesday.

14 Escape Prison

TEL AVIV, Nov. 24 (Reuters).—Fourteen Stern gang terrorists escaped Tuesday from a military prison near Tel Aviv. The terrorists had been arrested after the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator, in Jerusalem in September. It was the third Stern gang jail break since Bernadotte's slaying.

Rules Utilities Bylaw Is Not Legal

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 24 (CP).—The City Council by-law, passed some weeks ago, which would have increased the membership of the Belleville Public Utilities Commission from three to five members, was ruled ultra vires here Tuesday night by Justice D. C. Wells at the local non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court.

As a result membership of the Utilities will remain with two elected members and the Mayor. Commissioner Russell Wotten will be entitled to serve out the second year of his two-year term.

In the second action brought by the Utilities Commissioner against the city, asking for a ruling on whether the city could direct that utility debenture payments should be made out of profits, Justice Wells reserved judgment.

In giving judgment on the utility motion to quash the city by-law increasing the utility membership from three to five members, Justice Wells stated that Mr. Wotten had a legal right to complete his two-year term of office, of which he has served only one year. He added that if the city wished to change the by-law it must wait another year until Mr. Wotten's term of office was completed and then put the matter before the electors.

The second action brought by the utilities arose from the controversy between City Council and the Utilities as to whether the cost of water mains in the new Parkwood Heights area would be paid out of utility profits or under the Local Improvement Act. The City Council passed a by-law directing that debenture charges be paid out of profits while the Utilities claimed the installation should be made under local improvements.

In the motion the Utilities questioned the right of Council to direct that the debenture charges be paid out of water profits.

Life-Termer Kills Convict

MONTREAL, Nov 24—(CP)—Nick Tedesco, 39, serving a 20-year sentence for armed robbery, was stabbed to death this morning by life-termer John Boyko at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, prison officials reported today.

Provincial police, who received the report, were immediately dispatched to the penitentiary 15 miles north of here to investigate.

Prison officials reported that Boyko, sentenced to life a year ago for the hammer-slaying of his common-law wife, stabbed Tedesco with a pair of scissors.

Municipal Hydro Quotas Up 2½ Per Cent Today Quebec Giving More Power

Ontario Hydro Commission Buys Generator For Administration Building; Try Easing Cut-Offs For City Of Toronto

TORONTO, Nov. 24—(CP).—Municipal Hydro quotas are up 2½ per cent. today and Hydro officials are hopeful that diversion of water from the Welland Canal to generating plants will make still more power available to help Ontario beat its electricity shortage. The quota boost, coupled with the extension of power interruptions to the downtown area, has enabled Toronto to discontinue for the present its week-night blackouts.

Recent late fall rains in the Ottawa Valley swelled the supply of power available to Ontario from Quebec companies and brought about the quota increase. Drought last summer resulted in low water levels and decreased output of Ontario power plants while industrial demands for electricity were increasing.

Toronto still has two power breaks each week-day—9-10 a.m. and 4-5 p.m. Switches are pulled simultaneously across the entire city.

Still Must Save

Mayor Hiram McCallum emphasized Tuesday night that power-saving efforts on the part of Toronto citizens still are urgently needed if the city is to stay within its new quota. He said that in view of provincial Hydro Commission plans to avert the possibility of power cuts during the winter of 1949-50 by buying auxiliary generating equipment, the city has given up plans of purchasing its own temporary generators.

However, the Ontario Hydro Commission went ahead with arrangements to buy a Diesel generating unit for its 16-story administration building in Toronto.

Downtown Toronto firms undergoing their first cutoffs today shuffled working hours and lunch times so that the power breaks would cause them as little inconvenience as possible.

Toronto's education director, Dr. C. C. Goldring, said Tuesday night he was opposed to a suggestion that school hours be rearranged to avoid the power cutoffs in classrooms.

Apology And $300 Cost To Lost Breen

HAYWARD, Wis., Nov. 24 (AP)—A public apology and about $300 is the price Toronto-born singer Bobby Breen will pay for the 36 hours a posse spent slogging through snow-choked forests looking for him while he relaxed at a hotel under an assumed name.

The apology — Breen's idea — was issued early today. The money — Sawyer County District Attorney Winslow Davis' bill—is payable at once.

Breen spent most of Tuesday explaining to Ashland and Sawyer County authorities why he didn't try a little harder to report his whereabouts after his chartered plane was forced down Sunday. The plane was piloted by Kenneth Thompson of Waukesha, who remained with Breen at a Glidden hotel while searching parties combed the wilderness on the ground and a flyer dared hazarous weather conditions to hunt by air.

Liquor Board Reverses Closing Hours

TORONTO, Nov. 24 — (CP).—To establish a more workable basis in respect to closing hours for the sale of liquor and beer by the glass in Ontario the Liquor Licence Board has decided to revert to the hours which were in effect prior to November 1.

This means, a board announcement said Tuesday night, that the closing hour for all outlets as set out in the regulations will be 12 midnight, instead of 10:30 p.m.

In the smaller places where an earlier closing has been in effect as a result of local demand, there will be no disturbance of the closing hour if it happens to be 10:30 or 11 o'clock.

When the board first announced that sales were to be stopped at 10:30 p.m., it explained the change was to permit establishments which do not do much business late at night to close early. At the same time, it said a licence holder if he wished could apply for permission to remain open until midnight.

The many requests that have been received for permission to retain the former closing hour was a factor in the board's decision to go back to the midnight closing, it was learned.

Heifer Butchered In Farm Field

Only the head and entrails remained of a two-year-old Holstein heifer, found on the farm of its owner, Fred Stenson. The case of the butchered beef is being investigated by provincial police here.

The evidence was found Sunday behind a clump of bushes on Stenson's farm, which is just outside the city limits on the Port Hope highway. The head had been neatly severed from the body and from the appearance of the entrails the disembowelling had been done by someone who knew his butchering.

The animal was worth about $100.

Recent rains had wiped out any signs which might have been valuable to police. Only clue as to how the heifer was killed was given by neighbors. They said they had heard a shot from the direction of the Stenson field Saturday night.

6 Neutrals Work On Deadlock

PARIS, Nov. 24 — (CP). — Six "neutral" members of the United Nations Security Council took up again to-day their task of trying to break through the East-West deadlock on Berlin.

The neutrals, including Canada will sift through British, United States, French and Russian answers to a questionnaire on Berlin's currency problems in an effort to find a clue to a means of halting the cold war.

Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, President of the Security Council for November, submitted the questionnaires to the four Powers and then turned the replies over to the other six members for study.

It was reported that the neutrals are seeking additional information from the Big Four.

Abbott Believes In Saving For Rainy Day

OTTAWA, Nov. 24 — (CP). — Finance Minister Abbott believes Canada, like her individual citizens, must realize the importance of putting something aside for a "rainy day."

"I may be old-fashioned," he said in a speech before the Canadian Tax Foundation Tuesday night, "but I hold the view that it is just as important for the nation as for the individual to put something away for the rainy day...."

He said the way the governments can do this is by paying off debt and referred to the $17,000,000,000 national debt which Canada has built up mainly as a result of the wars.

Mr. Abbott, who is heading towards his third successive surplus, made it clear to the Foundation that he would not disclose any budget secrets, and added:

"In budget matters, it is particularly true that policies must be followed which carry the general support of the people as a whole. This, I think, is as it should be in a democracy."

Not Much Enthusiasm

It is very difficult to obtain widespread public acceptance of or enthusiasm for a level of taxation appropriate to good times —"a level of rates that will tend to restrain inflationary influenses and to produce substantial surpluses with which progress can be made in the retirement of the public debt," he said.

The cyclical philosophy, he said, has been opposed on the following grounds:

1. Some individuals and business concerns want reasonable stability in tax rates to plan their affairs without fear of too much disturbance by fiscal authorities.

2. Frequent and drastic changes in sales and excise taxes always create inventory problems.

The finance minister answered another doctrine, which urged that taxes be set to provide for a balanced budget and a surplus, with the remark he was sure the public would demand that in times of depression the tax system should be used not to agrawate but to minimize the deflationary economic forces that are at work.

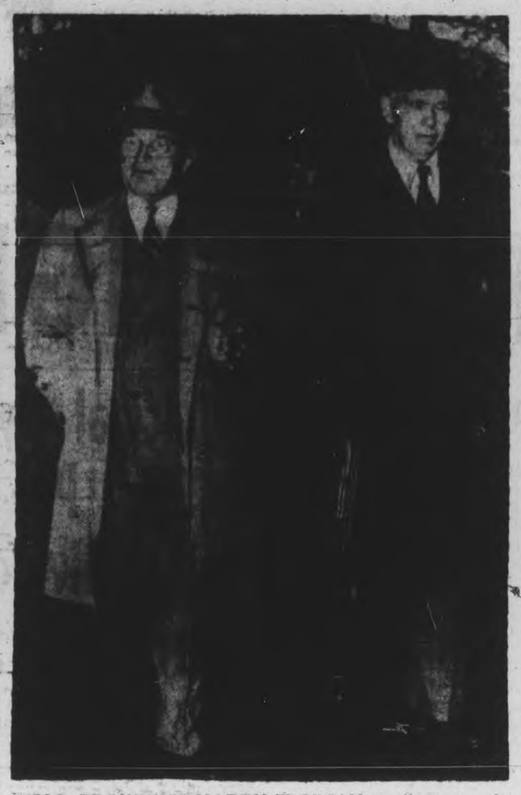
ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Here's Lowdown On Loco Power

When you hear a train whistle, you picture a powerful locomotive gliding over the rails at high speed. But did you know that the tremendous power behind its driving wheels is sealed into the locomotive with Asbestos?

Today, Johns-Manville asbestos products help many railroads control power. In the form of insulations, they keep heat on the job—help maintain the speed and efficiency of modern trains. As packings and gaskets, they conserve engine horsepower. And behind the scenes J-M friction materials help control the tremendous power of breakdown and repair hoists, cranes, winches, etc.

For over 85 years, Johns-Manville has served Canadian railroads. Today, J-M asbestos products are helping the railroads write a splendid new chapter in transportation history.



U.S. PRESIDENT HARRY TRUMAN strolls across the road from his White House executive offices to Blair House, the first family's temporary residence, with Secretary of State George C. Marshall. It was lunch time and Mr. Truman and Secretary Marshall were meeting with other cabinet members at Blair House after their own brief conference following Marshall's arrival from Paris. All traffic on this street is flagged with red to give the president the green light on his coming and going from house to house.

Cafe Disturbance Aired In City Court

Court Officers Have Trouble Keeping Order

In one of the most lively cases heard in city police court, Roy Milligan, no fixed address, was found guilty of causing a disturbance in the Paris Cafe on Nov. 16. Conducting his own defence for nearly two hours this morning, Milligan kept up a spirited stream of questioning, accusations and counter-accusations with the witnesses. At times, with the cross-examining by the accused man in the prisoners' box and an excited witness both pouring forth a tumult of words, while fingers pointed accusingly at each other, court officers had to call loudly for "order in the court."

As Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry commented (when he was able to make himself heard above the furore of cross-examination), "this seems to be a case where too many cooks spoil the broth."

According to crown evidence, Milligan, a former employee of the cafe, had come into the kitchen of the Paris in a drunken condition the evening of the 16th. Following an argument with cooks there, they said he had picked up a heavy knife, brandished it at them and then chased a waitress up and down the aisles of the cafe.

Reginald Thibidout, a kitchen worker, said that Milligan had been bothering the workers there, had been ordered to get out but refused to do so. He said that the argument with the cooks had made Milligan angry and that he had followed the waitress out to the front of the restaurant when she went there to telephone police. He denied the accused's charges that a cook had struck Milligan and blackened an eye.

PC Vern O'Donaghue testified that he had answered the call to the cafe shortly after midnight, had found the group in the dining room, who told him "there was a man in the kitchen who had no right to be there." He said that when he arrested the accused, Milligan was bleeding from one eye and was bruised on the face. PC Victor McConnell, who accompanied the other officer, agreed with the evidence.

Spoke of Scuffle

Things got warmer in the trial when Gordon Thibidout, a cook, came to the stand. He also recounted the story that Milligan had refused to leave when asked, that he had waved the knife back and forth and chased the waitress with it. Robert Challotte, another cook, had taken the knife from Milligan in a scuffle, Thibidout said.

The witness denied a suggestion by the accused that Challotte and he had "planned" the whole affair. He denied that, because there were "too many cooks" in the cafe, they were afraid one of them would be fired. He admitted that Challotte had struck Milligan twice in the struggle over the knife.

Challotte testified that he had come on duty at midnight, and recounted the events leading to the arrest. He said that he had grabbed Milligan as the accused started after the girl and had taken the knife from him.

"You're a liar," declared Milligan flatly in beginning his cross-examination. From that point on the conversation flew in a furious pace between accused and witness. Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, tried with difficulty to calm down both, who were talking at the same time, at a terrific rate of speed, hurling questions, answers, charges and names at each other. Other witnesses in the courtroom tried to chip in, too, with vital bits of information and had to be called to order.

The two became so mixed up in discussing a previous occasion on which Milligan said Challotte had been thrown out of a city hotel, that the magistrate had to call for order again, as the shorthand stenographer could not keep up with the overlaid exchange of words.

"What's the use, your honor? He's crazy . . ."

"Never mind that! I'm asking the questions . . ."

"None of your business . . . I won't answer that . . ."

"Shut up!"

Morris Meade, another cafe employee, also gave evidence of what he had seen of the quarrel.

In his own evidence, Milligan said that he had reported to the cafe for work that evening. He had been instructed to do some work by the proprietor, he said, and had been making himself a sandwich in the kitchen when the trouble started. Challotte, he said, had asked him what right he had to be in the kitchen.

"He hasn't any authority there," he explained.

Following this exchange, he said Challotte had struck him, knocked him to the floor. He got up dazed, he said, still holding the knife with which he had been making his sandwich. He did not realize he still had it until a girl remarked that it was frightening one of the waitresses, he said. He had dropped it then.

It was nearly noon hour when the case concluded. Found guilty on the evidence, Milligan was fined $7 and $2.50 costs or seven days in jail.

POWER CUT OFF

The transformer which serves the Queen Street area blew out at 5.30 on Tuesday night and the district was in darkness until 6.10. Additions and new installations in that section were given as the cause of overloading the transformer.

Teachers Seek Salary Boosts

Peterborough's teachers will meet with the Board of Education at a special meeting on Dec. 1 to present applications for increased salary schedules in 1949. The Board held a special meeting Tuesday night at which letters were read from three groups of teachers requesting a meeting to consider the salary question. The Dec. 1 meeting will be an open meeting of the Board, it was decided.

G. Wilson Craw, member of the Board, moved that the meeting to consider the teachers' requests be an open one of the Board. The letters from the teachers' groups all mentioned meeting with the Board's Committee on Appointments. Mr. Craw said he felt that the matter should be held "in open Board discussion as it is a matter of public interest."

W. B. Gordon agreed with the motion. He said that "much of the money expended on salaries is paid by the taxpayers of Peterborough, and I feel the matter should be discussed openly." He mentioned that appointments to city positions were discussed in public.

"If the teachers have a just claim, they have nothing to be ashamed of and there should not be any need to hold it hidden in committee."

Dr. H. G. Carleton, seconding the motion, added that after the teachers' delegation had been met by the Board that discussion of that body before final decision could be held and arrived at in committee.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

REPORT CHIMNEY FIRE

Firemen had only one call to make on Tuesday. Shortly before 1 p.m. a chimney fire was reported at the home of Mrs. C. Fitzgerald, 282 Sherbrooke Place.

EXPECTS SURPLUS

Brantford council is expecting to show a budget surplus of $14,000 at the end of the year after looking at a statement of municipal finances for ten months plus an estimate for the last two months.

TEACHER TO LEAVE

Miss Velma Staples, teacher at May's School, will leave that position next Easter. Her notice of resignation was received and accepted by the Board of Education Tuesday night.

ANOTHER BLUE-CLAD POPPA

The police station is bracing itself for another siege of cigar smoke. News has filtered through (in advance of the cigars) of the birth of a baby girl to PC Louis Rodrique. The customary stogies haven't been distributed . . . as yet.

SECURITY PLUS

Workmen wrestled with the latest addition to the Imperial Bank of Canada vaults this morning. It was a four-ton safe which stood on the sidewalk until the doorway could be widened. A small platform had to be built and the safe lifted on it. It was then rolled into the bank.

SERVED ITS PURPOSE

The street banner requesting financial assistance for Peterborough Civic Arena has been taken down from George St., for two reasons; one, to make room for civic decorations for the Governor-General's visit on Thursday and, two, it has served its usefulness for the Arena committee after six months' display.

15 NEW CASES

Dr. Russell Morgan, chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee of the Rotary Club, reported that 54 enquiries had come in from the city and district. Of this number 15 were new cases requiring investigation. These enquiries followed a drive by the club to locate crippled children who might be benefitted by medical attention which could be provided by the club.

STILL PRACTISING

Two young men of a number digging a sewer on Hunter St. W. were noticed yesterday playing their own version of lacrosse, by passing a stone back and forth on their shovels. Their fellows employees bent to the more prosaic task of digging as cars crawled slowly through the bottleneck created by the ditch.

Western Oils Reach Highest Point In Years

TORONTO, Nov. 24 —(CP)— Western oils climbed steadily to the highest level in 11 years in moderately active trading here today. Industrials were down as key issues sagged and golds showed a slightly better tone. Base metals slipped in quiet action.

Almost all the western oils were in an upward movement. Anglo-Canadian, Central Leduc, Pacific Petroleum and Calgary and Edmonton were ahead 6 to 20 cents. Home Oil trade briskly for a gain of ½.

Papers and steels dipped in a weakening industrial list. Utilities mixed gains and losses in narrow fractional range and a few financial institutions showed good advances.

Smelters led the downward trend in the base metals on a loss of 1½. Eureka, Normetal and Torbrit were also down. Noranda slipped $1.

Golds were quiet but holding steady. Teck-Hughes added in seniors and Aunor, Central Patricia and Cochenour were advancing in juniors.

Awarded Scholarship

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 24.—(CP). —Mary Lo Wishart of the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational school has been awarded the first Carter scholarship for $100 for Hastings county. Allen B. McBurney was second and James D. Arth third, it was announced today by Principal G. E. Curry. To date students in the BCI have won $4,230 in scholarships in the past school year.

To Show Films At Library Friday

The Peterborough Film Council will present "Films For You" on Friday, at 8 p.m. at the Public Library. Some of the shots were taken in Peterborough through the co-operatinon of the service clubs and church groups. A film on safe driving, "You Bet Your Life," will also be shown.

The annual election of officers will be held at the meeting.

W. L. Graff, secretary of the Film Board, said the executive hopes that every organization in Peterborough will join the Film Council and send two representatives to the monthly meeting. Membership costs two dollars. The organization appoints two representatives whose names and addresses shall be forwarded to the Council for their mailing lists. Membership fees and names of the representatives should be sent to Mr. W. L. Graff, at the Public Library.

Canada Agrees On Union Financial Terms

OTTAWA, Nov. 24 (CP)—After lengthy negotiations, Newfoundland and Canada have agreed on financial terms considerably different from tentative arrangements suggested a year ago when the island's entry into confederation was discussed.

A source in close touch with the union negotiations, under way here since Oct. 6, said that while the terms are different, the financial burden on Canada has not been increased. In the tentative arrangements of last year, it was estimated that the island's entry into Confederation would cause an additional drain of $15,000,000 a year on the federal treasury.

Since the negotiations were reopened last month, the Newfoundland delegation has been able to show that the federal deficit will amount to little more than $7,000,000 a year.

In the original terms, it was estimated that, as a province, Newfoundland could raise $9,600,000 in revenue and would spend about $14,500,000 for provincial services, leaving a deficit of $4,900,000 annually.

Cover 8 Years

In the current negotiations, Newfoundland presented budgets covering estimated revenues and expenditures for the first eight years of union. The budgets showed that the island as a province would pile up deficits at an average of $10,000,000 a year.

As a result of discussions, that average deficit now has been cut to $3,500,000 a year, and it is expected that Newfoundland will be able to fill this gap through the imposition of a provincial gasoline tax and possibly a sales tax.

Representatives of both countries believe that consummation of union will be possible by March 31.

The source said various steps were taken to whittle down Newfoundland's estimated $10,000,000 annual deficit as a province.

The Federal Government finally agreed to add about $16,500,000 to the $26,000,000 transitional grant it originally offered to pay Newfoundland in installments during the first 12 years of union. The $16,500,000 would be spread over the first eight years and would thus reduce the estimated annual deficit to $3,500,000.

Tempers Flare In Council As Connecting Road Prompts Lively Debate

COBOURG, Nov. 24 — (ENS). — Kicked around for many sessions, the matter of the connecting link between roads Nos. 61 and 62, became a municipal political football again yesterday when a recommendation of the road commission affecting the location of the connecting link was deferred to the January session by a meeting of the roads and bridges committee. Council has been told by the Department of Highways that the two roads will not be approved as part of the counties road system until they decide once and for all on the connecting link.

The road commission yesterday recommended that the link be the road running from Burnley to Warkworth via the south way over the first concession in Percy township from Burnley north and east to Ireland's Corners, then continue to Warkworth. Yesterday a deputation from Percy township presented a petition of 500 names asking that the road run from Ireland Corners to Warkworth along Concession 3.

When the road commission report came up at the roads and bridges committee Reeve C. B. Jandrew of Murray township declared that some conniving had been going on. Reeve A. Wartman of Percy said Warden Alex. Stephens, a member of the road commission, had refused to sign the report and had threatened that the road would never go through as long as he was reeve of Haldimand.

"I signed the Road Commission report," Reeve Jandrew told the Council. "The approval has not come through yet. This is a free country and I want to say right now there is a nigger in the fence somewhere. Somebody is playing crooked, and I say this in all sincerity. We were led to believe that all these would be approved. We get it today that they were not all approved, although Murray and Hamilton Township was. Somebody knew six months ago and we never got it. The hold-up was because of the road in Percy Township. Why were they not big enough men to come out and say so."

"What do you mean 'crooked'? On what authority do you say that?" asked ex-Reeve T. McMillan of Percy Township.

"It has all been aired freely by now and I don't think any further discussion will do any good," commented the warden.

At the road committee meeting, Chairman Jandrew asked to whom was the petition from Percy Township addressed. The warden replied that it was addressed to the Counties Council on the first page and to the Road Commission on the second. Reeve Wartman said that when the petition was first brought up he saw a copy of it. It should have been brought before the Township Council and had never been done so. The present road was brought to the Township Council and thence through the proper channels to the Road Commission.

"That is right," agreed the chairman, "as all that was done about the other road was to talk about it, but nothing on paper."

Came Up In 1939

"That is not right. It first came up on 1939 when deputations from Percy and Haldimand Townships came to the Council. For some mysterious reason the communication has vanished. I would like to know why go to Burnley south to White Church and down the first concession to Warkworth? It is a mile and a half farther around. I talked to the driver of a snow plough and he said it takes a great deal longer to plough around that way than by the third concession. My ratepayers sent me here to do a job, and when it gets that I cannot do it, I will go back and tell them to get somebody else in my place. I would hate to go into Murray Township and tell them what they should do. I feel that it is not in the best interests to go the route that the Road Commission suggess. How would you fellows like it forced on you?" the warden asked.

"He asks us why we go down to the White Church and up that way. The reason is to connect with No. 62 that has been passed no mater if it is three miles more that way. No. 61 and 62 will not be approved until they are connected. Did any of you know yesterday that all had been approved except that one?" declared Reeve Jandrew.

"He said he didn't care if it does go three miles more. He doesn't apparently realize that we spend near $304,000 on roads. We are going to have a deficit there of $4,000 by the end of the year. But he doesn't apparently have any consideration of that fact," said the Warden.

Says He Didn't Know.

"Why didn't you tell us before asked Reeve Jandrew.

"Go into the road office and read the minutes. It is moved by Runnalls, seconded by Jandrew or moved by Warman and seconded by one of those two in 95 per cent of the resolutions. I knew nothing until dinner time today whether these roads were approved or not," replied the Warden.

Reeve A. J. Runnalls of Hope Township, a member of the Road Commission, commented that up at the Dept. of Highways in Toronto they had been told that three roads had been approved and that was all that were asked for. They said nto to worry that they were all coming through. Somebody didn't ask for approval of all of them. Reeve Wartman declared that the warden was incorrect when he said that the rest of the Road Commission had moved and seconded most of the resolutions.

"I have asked for three months if there was enough money to do this and that," continued Reeve Wartman, "and the answer was 'oh yes, there is lots of money left. On that job in Haldimand Township the warden said it would end on Macklin's Hill but later we find out it went on a half mile further. The road superintendent said it was on the wardens' orders. If there was going to be a deficit, the Road Commission certainly didn't know it. The Minister of Highways and our local member told us that all the roads would be approved in a block."

Helped Contractor.

"The Warden is insinuating when he says that the resolutions were moved and seconded the way he said they were. The Warden refused to buy a truck after the rest of us had approved of the purchase. He had another 500 yards of gravel crushed out in Haldimand because he wanted to help the contractor, Mr. Harnden, out. The Minister of Highways told us over in the hotel that if we went a dime over our appropriation we wonldn't get any subsidy on it," Reeve Jandrew said heatedly as he thumped the desk with his fist.

"The day that the Minister of Highways was here, Mr. Jordon said we had about $35,000 left in the estimates. I felt on the Haldimand job that we should have something permanent and with $35,000 left, I pressed for the work being done. Mr. Jordon said the maintenance could work to Macklins Hill and our own machines could do the rest. Mr. Jordon told me that Mr. Wartman was kicking about all the work being done on this road. In regard to the truck I thought it was better business to get the lighter one and I was right. I move that no action be taken on this recommendation," said the Warden.

Messrs Woodyard, Bowles, Westington and Denyes commented that they were not familiar with the road recommended by the Road Commission and Reeve O. J. Robins of Alnwick suggested it be left to the January session Mr. Jandrew reminded the committee that the matter had been hanging fire for two years. Reeve Wartman said there was not much use having a road commission if it was not backed up. The Warden withdrew his motion when Messrs Woodyard & Whittington moved that the matter be left to the January session. Mr. Jandrew observed that the Road Commission had brought in two reports and nothing was being done. There were reasons behind this attitude towards the road he said and when two members of the committee declared they had no ulterior motive Mr. Jandrew said he would be more specific.

"The men I mean are Stephens and Robins," Reeve Jandrew said.

"My road is coming up in January and it is only natural that I should work for it as a connecting link to that road. We use the north one," Mr. Robbins said.

"I feel badly. We have been turned down twice," said Mr. Jandrew.

"It looks as if I was right when I said before that there is not unanimity on the road commission," observed Reeve E. B. Seeds from the gallery.

Home Bulwark Of Democracy Priest Claims

COBOURG, Nov. 24.— (ENS). —Sixty members were present at St. Michael's CYO, Cobourg, on Monday evening when Rev. L. P. Woods, St. Matthews church, Toronto, spoke on "God in the Home." Father Woods stressed that democracy had its strongest bulwark and support by showing respect for the state of matrimony and the home. The speaker said in part:

"The home is the basis of civilization. It is the rock bottom upon which our entire social edifice rests and depends. Any elements or philosophies that weaken the home weaken society and drag a nation to spiritual and moral decay. We point out to the citizens of this great Canada of ours, now absorbed in the mighty task of building astabler foundation of true peace, that they can neglect neither God nor the home in their planning."

Father Woods stressed that the home is the first and most important school. By God's plan, parents are the first and most important teachers. The life of the child is nothing less than an extension of the life of the parents, and by God's design the parents are therefore the logical teachers of their children.

"The homes trains its members in morality and holiness, not only by precept, but more powerfully by example," he said.

The speaker was introduced by Rev. G. J. Maher and thanked by Miss Mary Carr. Present also were Rev. J. P. Collins, P.P. St. Michael's and Rev. C. H. O'Donoghue of Port Hope.

Main event is the Hiram Walker Trophy. Second event is for the Silverwoods Trophy. Third event is a consolation sponsored by the Lindsay Curling Club.

Uranium Samples Sent To Port Hope

More than 3,000 pounds of hand-sorted and cobbed uranium ore were shipped last week to the Eldorado refinery at Port Hope. The shipment from the Nicholson Mines, Lake Athabaska, is being brought to Port Hope for the purpose of making tests to accumulate metallurgical data.

Diamond drilling is proceeding at the Nicholson Mines, and when the hole is completed it is expected that it will reach a depth of 700-750 feet. Progress is reported as slow because the hole is being cased along its entire length in an effort to obtain reliable sludge samples.

A great deal of work is said to be involved in making these metallurgical analyses. The Department of Mines has co-operated with the Port Hope refinery to assist in furthering these tests.

Another shipment of the ore is now enroute from Waterways, Alberta.

Approve Defence Bill

LONDON, Nov. 24 (Reuters)— The House of Commons Tuesday night approved in principle the government's civil defence bill creating a peacetime reserve of trained personnel qualified to deal with any attack on Britain, including atomic warfare. The Bill received second reading without division.

The Communist War In China

Nowhere is the Communist threat more menacing than in China. While the United States and associated countries have been busy guarding against a Communist thrust from Russia's western gates, its eastern exits have been virtually unguarded, and Communism has debouched from the Mongolian People's Republic and Manchuria almost as far south as Nanking, the capital of China.

• • •

During the last fortnight Chinese Communist armies have been battling the Nationalist forces around Suchow, 200 miles north of Nanking. The capital is boxed on three sides by victorious Communists. If Suchow falls, Nanking will probably go next. The Central Government of the Kuomintang and Chiang Kai-Shek would totter and though the civil war would continue, the way would be open for Communist domination of all China.

• • •

The issues of the battle for Suchow are therefore of gigantic importance, and particularly for the United States which has long had the chief occidental interest in China and is now in addition the strongest watch-dog against Russian Communism. The U.S. has some crucial decisions to make. It can discontinue all support of the Central Government. This would speed the Communist victory. It can vastly increase its financial and material aid—at cost to U.S. taxpayers and to E.R.P. It can go into China with U.S. armies. This might lead to war with Russia. Russia has said that it would consider the sending of American troops to China an act of aggression. It can continue its present policy of moderate economic aid—with military advisers. Of the latest 125 million dollar grant, only thirteen millions remain unspent. Even that much aid is having little success.

• • •

Many Chinese supporters of the Central Government seem to have lost faith in its power to hold the Communists. The Premier Wong Wen-Hao has tried to resign. He is now reported to be sitting at home writing poetry. (Even Socrates bore arms when Athens was threatened.) The soldiers of the Nationalist armies, poorly paid, inadequately fed, badly led, are not fighting with conviction. The whole country is in economic, financial and political chaos.

• • •

Meanwhile, after eleven years of war, the people of China suffer.

The C.C.F. And The Press

Among the letters which we publish today is one from a correspondent who feels that the Conservative and Liberal parties are making a particularly heavy attack upon the C.C.F. at present, in the hope of stifling it. He also asserts that matter concerning the C.C.F. which appears in newspapers is composed of misquotations, and is distorted to suit the politics of the publishers.

This is a frequent accusation, and in the course of a week we often receive several similar complaints from various groups which have axes to grind. Sometimes two opposed groups will accuse us of distorting the news in order to favour the other—an obvious impossibility. Accusations of distorting news were brought against the press of England by a number of dissatisfied persons, and a Commission has been investigating the matter. So far, the Commission does not appear to have found out anything very dreadful.

The chief complaint of our correspondent is that attempts are made to confuse the C.C.F. with the Communist party; now it is undoubtedly true that the Communist party favours such confusion, for it would be happy to promote its cause under the C.C.F. banner. But we do not know of any people of reasonable intelligence who fail to distinguish between the Communists and the C.C.F. We can quickly dismiss our correspondent's assertion that alliteration is used to aid this confusion; if that were so, the Conservative party would be implicated more deeply than the C.C.F., for "Conservative" and "Communist" might be confused by persons of defective hearing—but not by those in full possession of their faculties.

Many years ago the newspapers treated the C.C.F. as a baby party, which is what it was. Now it is growing up, and it is treated with the respect which its increased responsibilities and its following command. But we are sure that our correspondent must have noticed that the Liberal and Conservative press exchange pleasantries from time to time on a level not far above vulgar abuse, and we see no reason why the C.C.F. should be exempted from a field of vigorous polemic which is, in its eventual effect, healthy.

Humane Tails?

We feel that the zeal of calendar reformers, anti-vivisectionists, child-whackers and other people of goodwill can be carried too far, and that the middle of the road, the golden mean, the Greek ideal of moderation in all things, must ever be the Beam that lights our path to Progress. Thus with aplomb we raise the name of Major-General Churchill Mann and command the toleration of the Toronto Humane Society.

Major-General Churchill Mann is chairman of the Royal Winter Fair's horse show. He had to deal with a delicate, not to say ticklish problem. Should the horse show continue the ban on the use of tail sets (cradles to hold tails of show horses in a graceful position)? Should it continue the ban on bustles (heavy harnesses used to drag horses' tails into a high, eye-inspiring posture)? Major-General Churchill Mann surveyed the field like a good general making a tactical appreciation before a military 'show'. He found that horses about to be exhibited had their tails already set. He found them already used to bustles. This was a fait accompli, as a new hat on the wife's head is already on the husband's bill, or as the Israeli are already in Beersheba. So he told a meeting of thirty Canadian and American harness horse exhibitors a week ago that tail sets and bustles would be permitted.

The Toronto Humane Society stuck to its guns but did not fire them. It is still opposed to the practice of setting tails but has concluded that "the practice of bustling the already set tails does not involve suffering to the horse" and remarked with a sigh of resignation that "the painful part of the practice, the actual setting of the tail, has been carried out at least some weeks ago, or perhaps months or years ago. No injury of the animal takes place during the fair....In these circumstances, further action by this society would not be feasible". In the cradle of Progress as of tail sets wise men bow to the inevitable. The tale of the horses' tails has a high moral.

A Silence At U.N.

One day last week the Political and Security Committee of the U.N. Assembly had the problem of a Palestine settlement on its agenda. The chairman was Mr. Spaak, the able Belgian premier whose government has been in domestic difficulties. There was a heavy silence at the meeting.

Mr. Spaak: "Does no one wish to speak?"

Silence.

Mr. Spaak: "Certainly someone must want to speak".

Mr. El-Khouri of Syria: "Why not take up another subject tonight—the subject of Korea—and then return to Palestine tomorrow?"

Mr. Spaak: "We have been scheduled to meet tonight on Palestine. Let's talk about it....I appeal to you gentlemen. Won't anyone talk?"

Silence.

Mr. Spaak then lifted his gavel and adjourned the meeting.

The gentlemen at U.N. that evening seemed to know that the action in Palestine was carrying the argument on Palestine. Not words, but Palestine, had been lost to U.N.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Detroit policewomen have refused to wear uniforms. This is the first case we have heard of in which women insisted on plain clothes.

A musical comedy star is in the news because she continued to sing after her hair had caught fire. A torch song, we presume.

Regarding this vexing name "Des Joachims", the Ottawa Citizen suggests that we do not know how to pronounce it, and the Brantford Expositor challenges us to try. We pronounce it, gentlemen, according to the pronunciation prescribed in Larousse, which is much simpler than any you have suggested. Furthermore, we have long been aware that Joachim was the name of the Virgin Mary's father, which we'll bet is news to you.

CANADIAN CAUSERIE:

Right Turn At R.M.C.

By GEOFFREY VIVIEN

BY all accounts the new course which our future military leaders undergo at the Royal Military College, Kingston, is a most exacting affair. Its scope seems to approximate to a University Honours degree in 'Arts', with the usual array of military studies thrown in. Quite an order. And how necessary!

✧ ✧ ✧

NOT that the Canadian military mind has been disproportionately backward. I believe our Intelligence was as good as anyone else's during the last war. But there is no doubt that the value of intelligence—in every sense—has never in the past rated very high in military circles. The man who could play a good game of billiards and carry his drink well was always a more welcome addition to a regiment than the one who could argue the case for behaviourism or the Stanislavsky method.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE low estimate among the general public of the "military mind" is, I'm afraid, pretty firmly seated. It is a matter of fun rather than indignation; the figure of Colonel Blimp, David Low's immortal creation, expresses it exactly. Complete the picture by putting under it the classic caption: "The hardest thing on earth to do is to get an idea into a soldier's head. The next hardest thing is to get it out."

✧ ✧ ✧

LIKE most popular notions, this one has some truth. Now that we are beginning to get the inside stories of the war and an insight into the bungling and mismanagement that accompanied many of its operations (an unfortunate feature of all large-scale human undertakings, but especially unfortunate in wars since the cost is in human lives), we see how many dunces there were about in high places. Thus we find General Marshall (as he was then) saying to General Stilwell—who duly recorded it in his diary of January 21, 1942: "It's hard as hell to find anybody in our high command who's worth a damn. There are plenty of good young ones, but you have to reach too far down." The atrophy that seems to overtake the military mind in later years is not a problem of Western man only; Chiang Kai-Shek had just the same trouble with his commanders. "I have to lie awake nights" Stilwell quotes him as saying, "thinking what fool things they may do. Then I write and tell them not to do these things. This is the secret of handling them—you must imagine everything they can do that would be wrong and warn them against it."

✧ ✧ ✧

YES, it's high time we took the education of our future military commanders seriously. It will not only make them better soldiers, but may well widen our literary heritage. Most nations who have had Armed Forces for any length of time have received from them not only protection and national glory but also a whole literature of adventure, travel, history, fantasy and even poetry. German letters have been the biggest gainers in this respect, for she had the sense to build up from the start a tradition of intellectual and cultural awareness in her military leaders. That is why she has been such a menace. Field-Marshal Wavell's well-known illustration of the German soldier's lack of humour is a dangerous guide. Lack of humour does not imply lack of capacity in military and general affairs. Oliver Cromwell was a pretty humourless individual, and his secretary John Milton even more so.

✧ ✧ ✧

IF one excludes the poets of the last war (who were soldiers only by accident) one finds only one military man in our literary history—the bizarre figure of Major John Richardson, first Canadian novelist. His most successful work "Wacousta", a tale in the Fenimore Cooper manner published in 1832, is heavy going now. It is full of things like:

"Tiger!—monster!" she raved, "restore my brother!—give me back the gentle life you have taken, or destroy my own! See, I am a weak, defenceless girl; can you not strike?"

His life makes more interesting reading than his novels and someone ought to take in hand a good biography for the centenary of his death in 1852.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE enlightened spirit now operating at R.M.C. is not altogether new. It was already in evidence during the war; for example, in the appointments of Canada's official war artists. In this field it reaped immediate rewards. Some idea of the excellence of the work done can be gained from the reproductions in the three "Canadian Army at War" booklets issued by the Ministry of National Defence. And while on the subject of painting, I wonder if our new leaders-in-the-making can take this as an extra subject at R.M.C.? It could be useful to them, as it has been to Winston Churchill, to fill in the pauses in an active life. But maybe that's taking things too far; one must remember that the attempt to cultivate both military and artistic studies is not always successful. The famous American painter, James McNeil Whistler, started his career at West Point. He lasted three years but flunked at chemistry. "If silica had been a gas" he used to say later, "I'd have been a Major-General."

CROWDED

The very dumb starlet was browsing around a Hollywood antique shop. She saw an ornate bed that struck her fancy immediately.

"What a charmingly quaint bed!" she gushed.

The salesman nodded reverently.

"This bed has an amazing historical background," he said softly. "In this very bed, my dear young lady, slept King Louis XIV, King Louis XV, and King Louis XVI."

The starlet raised what was left of a tweezed eyebrow.

"Ain't that odd," she chirped. "You'd figure that such big shots could afford to sleep in separate beds!"

THE EVERPRESENT

Letter To The Editor

GANGING UP ON C.C.F.?

Sir: Your depiction of the Drew debacle as a Shakespearian drama was greatly enjoyed by me. No doubt it falls into that category of classical literature called the tragedy. On the same subject (Hydro power shortage), Saturday's Toronto Evening Telegram carried a cartoon on its editorial page showing three bad boys, a C.C.F.-er, a Liberal and a Communist slinging mud at the substantial door of Mr. Drew's home. Presumably, Mr. Drew is inside the house and the artist wishes to convey the impression that he is too much of a gentleman to come out and throw mud. I forget what the caption read but may I suggest this one "Politicians who wallow in mud can expect to have some thrown at them".

However, I am deviating from the purpose to which I sat down to write this article. It seems to me that the P.C.'s and Liberals are both ganging up on the C.C.F. these days and they are playing for keeps in this fight. By making full use of the strong arms of the press and radio, the old-line parties are endeavouring to strangle this child of Canadian politics.

Their method of anti-C.C.F. propaganda seems to have one purpose in mind, namely to link the C.C.F. party with Communism.

Mr. Editor, you will immediately say, "Oh well, old chap, you are slightly off the beam. There must be freedom of the press and if Mr. Howe makes a speech in London in which he smears C.C.F.'ers as Communists, it must be printed whether it is the truth or not". Yes, these speeches are printed all right but before they reach the public's eyes they usually have gone through a series of misquotations, deletions and censorships to suit the publisher's politics.

However, most people do not take time to analyze these speeches so they have another more insidious type of propaganda thrown at them. When they sit down to read an article in their favourite magazine, they come upon articles like the ones written by Austin Cross, a press gallery correspondent, who tries to bring to his readers an intimate, human interest in Canadian politicians. The article to which I am referring appeared in at least two leading Canadian magazines, one a woman's magazine at that. Mr. Cross spends about a paragraph on each type of M.P., taking a whole cross-section of the House. He builds up Mr. Coldwell as probably the most interesting orator in the House to listen to, but in the very last paragraph he very artfully takes a stand against socialism as if to apologize for a nice man like Mr. Coldwell being the head of a party like the C.C.F. This sort of trash is especially assigned for feminine consumption. To complete the propaganda, an article on socialism appears in the same issue, no doubt quite by accident.

I believe the most clever propaganda of all against the C.C.F., is being directed by the radio over the news broadcasts. Almost every day now, one hears the words C.C.F. and then "Communists". By their alliteration and through a constant repetition of these words, the announcer is endeavouring (albeit unconsciously) to make these terms synonymous. To my mind, this is the most effective type of propaganda yet, because in the flash of a news broadcast, a person does not get a chance to properly digest or analyze the news. He listens hypnotically to the rich tones of the voice and then, in the matter of seconds, his mind is absorbing something else. Also, the radio broadcaster gets at a great group of people who have no interest in politics at all. They cannot or will not grasp the full text or meaning of a speech. All they retain is a few outstanding words such as "C.C.F." and "Communism".

Let us not be misled in Canada by this clever propaganda which is being spread by big business through its tools—the old-line parties. It is calculated for one sinister purpose only. To strike fear into your heart and mine.

Let us remember what happened in the United States' recent election, when the full power of the press, radio and movies combined was not enough to change the will of the people.

Most of all, let us recall that Communism was born of hunger, tyranny and oppression, and nutured by revolution in far off Russia. It's sire was Lenin who molded and corrupted this offspring's mind into the terrible monster which it is today.

On the other hand, the Canadian Co-operative Federation enjoyed a healthy birth in Canada and this child is growing in stature in Canadian politics, regardless of how many green apples two feeble old men are trying to feed it.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints. For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ. (Jude 1: 3, 4.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And to the angel of the church in Pergamos write; These things saith he which hath the sharp sword with two edges; I know thy works, and where thou dwellest, even where Satan's seat is: and thou holdest fast my name, and hast not denied my faith, even in those days wherein Antipas was my faithful martyr, who was slain among you, where Satan dwelleth.

But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balac to cast a stumblingblock before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed unto idols, and to commit fornication....Repent; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the hidden manna, and will give him a white stone, and in the stone a new name written, which no man knoweth saving he that receiveth it. (Rev. 2: 12-14, 16, 17.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.

For we through the Spirit wait for the hope of righteousness by faith....

This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would.

But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law....

If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit. (Gal. 5: 1, 5, 16-18, 25.)

Peterborough Travellers To Aid In Anti-TB Drive

Peterborough branch of the Associated Canadian Travellers has pledged itself to assist the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association in raising funds.

Richard Ward, sec'y-treasurer of the Association was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Travellers. Mr. Ward traced the history of the local anti-TB body since it was established under the sponsorship of the Local Council of Women, three years ago.

A new group was formed this year, he said. The means of combatting TB are largely preventative or by catching it in its early stages by mass use of X-rays. In April, he said, citizens of Peterborough and district will be able to receive chest X-rays without charge.

Mr. Ward said that Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba had free local treatment already, and the Ontario body is now trying to establish this service throughout the province.

Cost of the mass X-ray is estimated at $8,000, and the total local objective has been set at $12,000. The Association has sent out 19,000 letters with Christmas Seals which it is hoped local citizens will purchase in order to finance this anti-TB work.

Because of the aid which had been extended to the Association in the past, that body was again asking for the support of the ACT, said Mr. Ward.

As tis project in the Peterborough district, the ACT is pledged to hand over 25 per cent of all its proceeds in furthering the work of the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association.

Mr. Ward said that both hospitals will co-operate and the X-ray machines are being installed by the government.

All branches of industry are being canvassed with the active support of the ACT, and two or more of that body's members will be on the Board of the local Association.

In the future, said Mr. Ward, it is hoped to have Peterborough as an anti-TB sanitarium centre.

The speaker was introduced by Ken Gadd and thanked by G. Carveth. President G. E. Church was in the chair. R. Ross who was recently superannuated as manager of a large grocery company was presented with a gift by Thomas Church.

Frank Haman entertained at the piano.

Guests were R. Ross and R. Ward. There were also some prospective members: Ken Hanbidge, John Nameth and Charles Armstrong.

It was announced that the annual Christmas party would be held on Friday, Dec. 17.

Ed O'Brien told of his recent trip to the provincial conference held at London, Ont., where anti-TB work was discussed.

City Dwellers Seek Oil Lamps

People from Toronto are buying every kind of a coal-oil lamp they can get their hands on and have even extended their shopping to the Peterborough rural district. This wave of buying has resulted from the Hydro cut-offs in Toronto.

Lakefield and the rural area has also been hit by Hydro blackouts, with the result there is not a single old-fashioned coal-oil lamp left in any store.

Gall's store manager at Keene reports that a woman from Toronto came to buy a lamp but got a lantern instead. "We had a few coal-oil lamps but they went like hot cakes and many buyers were from Toronto," he reported.

Inquiry at Towns' general store, Douro, brought the information that there were no lamps in stock. The Aladdin type was in brisk demand in good supply. So far as can be learned no old-type coal-oil lamps are in any Peterborough stores.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*

can stifle your spirit and ambition!

DO YOU start the day with a weary, letdown feeling? Have your spirit and sparkle gone into a slump? Is your face too pale to be good-looking? These are often the signs of a blood condition. If you have them, you may have a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron.

Your red blood cells may be pale and shrunken—they may be too weak to transmit full energy to every muscle and fibre. Many people—men and children as well as women—go dragging their weary way through life with this Borderline Anemia.

How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Vigor

If your healthy color and vitality are deserting you—due to this Borderline Anemia—take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size—to help restore your vigor.

Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may come from other conditions. Always consult your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood! Then your energy and color can come surging back! Then you can get fun out of life again!

 A mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron.*

BORDERLINE ANEMIA why it can make you TIRED • PALE • LISTLESS

Blood that builds energy! This is how energy-building blood looks under a microscope. Here are big, plentiful red blood cells that can release vigor to all your body.

Blood in Borderline Anemia! Many have blood like this; never know it. Cells are puny, faded. Blood like this can't release the energy you need to feel and look your best.

CARE: "Can we send a parcel through Care to an individual family in Budapest, Hungary? Is this city under Soviet rule? Would a parcel of used clothing or food get through? What restrictions are there on parcels?"

Post-office authorities tell us you can send a parcel to Budapest, Hungary, with every possibility of its getting through. You can send up to 20 pounds in either food or clothing. Postage on 10-15 pounds is $3.50, 15-20 pounds, $4.50. Care (193 Sparks Street, Ottawa), will send food parcels for you at $10. This sum includes both food and postage.

CARROT CURLS: "How can I make carrot curls? I've tried different ways, but without any luck."

Scrape whole firm carrots. Using a potato or apple peeler, shave thin slices lengthwise. Put in ice-cold water for three hours. They curl like a new permanent.

EPILEPTICS: "Is there a hospital in Ontario for epileptics? Where can I get information and help?"

The out-patient department of any hospital can give your patient an examination and advice. According to the experts, the case of these patients is not considered nearly so hopeless as it once was. Special hospital for these cases is located at Woodstock, Ontario. Application is made through your own doctor.

MASONITE TABLE TOPS: "My pantry table top, shelf and work table are all masonite. How can I keep them good-looking?"

Say the building experts, rub frequently with warm linseed oil. After a week, your tops are ready to face the world.

BARTER SHOPS: "Are there any barter shops in Toronto now?"

The Trading Post, 2123 Yonge Street, looks like what you want.

WATERPROOFED MITTENS: "Is there any method of waterproofing home-knit woollen mittens?"

Says wool expert Mrs. Jervis Allan, there is no waterproof wool. Before the war manufacturers produced showerproof wool, but it was not satisfactory.

Back Marshall Plan

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 24—(AP) — CIO President Philip Murray goaded the left-wingers of his union into standing up for a count Tuesday night as he won convention endorsement of a foreign policy resolution backing the Marshall Plan. Both Murray and Walter Reuther, president of the Automobile Workers, had taunted the Opposition to "stand up and be counted like men."

3 Fishermen Safe

VANCOUVER, Nov. 24 (CP)—After a 30-hour battle in stormy seas, three Vancouver fishermen were safe today but their 20-foot fishing boat was a battered wreck on rocks in the Gulf of Georgia. George Thrift, 50, owner of the boat, and companions Thomas Guthrie and W. E. Bagguley, returned home Tuesday and told of an unidentified Indian fisherman who attempted to pull them clear as they headed for the rocky shore near Steveston, 10 miles from here.

Police Shoot 2 Men

DETRONT, Nov. 24 (AP) — A gun-waving hold-up man and a would-be bank robber (both negroes) were shot to death by police Tuesday night in two separate outbreaks in Detroit's east side. The holdup man, identified as Bishop Bellamy, 20, was slain in an exchange of gunfire as he took refuge behind a parked car. The would-be bank robber, identified as Thomas James, 36-year-old auto worker, was killed in a hand-to-hand battle with two patrolmen.

CLARENCE PICOU, 16-year-old jockey sensation of the year, is shown winning the second race at Bowie, Md., recently on Viva Teddy (1) with Maneen (9) second. Picou had won the first race. He also won the third, making it his fourth straight triple —something for veteran jockeys to shoot at.

Billy Fox Absorbs Terrific Beating

BUFFALO, Nov. 24.—(AP).—Billy Fox, 22-year-old boxer from Philadelphia, was unconscious in hospital early today after absorbing a terrific beating Tuesday night in Memorial Auditorium.

He apparently suffered a head injury, a physician said. The hospital said his condition was not critical.

After losing a 10-round split decision to Ted Lowry of New Bedford, Mass., Fox left the ring under his own power. In the dressing room, he suddenly complained of being ill and lapsed into unconsciousness.

Fox, whose impressive knockout record twice earned him title bouts with the light heavyweight champion, Gus Lesnevich, was not knocked down during the bruising battle, but received a heavy pounding for most of the fight.

Lowry weighed 176¼ and Fox 169¼.

Remember When . . .

By The Canadian Press

Frank (King) Clancy, one of hockey's all-time greats, retired as a player 12 years ago today. He turned professional with Ottawa Senators in 1922 at the age of 19, going to Toronto Maple Leafs in the 1930-41 season for $35,000 and two players.

Six Rider Players Make Lineup For 1948 Eastern All-Star Team

By JACK MITCHELL.

TORONTO, Nov. 24 — (CP)— The stars will be out in force when Ottawa Rough Riders meet Calgary Stampeders for the Dominion football title at Toronto's Varsity Stadium Saturday.

Riders placed six players on the 1948 Eastern Canada all-star team, announced Tuesday night. Seven Calgary Stampeders previously were voted positions on the Western Canada League's dream team so that means a total of 13 all-stars may be on the field at once.

Football writers and coaches in eight cities, who selected the all-Eastern squad for the Canadian Press, also chose a second team and awarded one more Rough Rider—Quarterback Bob Paffrath—a berth on it.

For the first team, they practically chose the Big Four all-star team intact. The only change was to replace Paffrath with the Ontario Union's Frankie Filchock, ace playing coach of the Hamilton Tigers. Besides the six positions awarded Ottawa, they picked four Montreal Alouettes and one Toronto Argonaut— Joe Krol.

Unanimous on Golab

With the vote weighted to give equal voting strength to each city, the only player drawing a unanimous nod was Tony Golab, Ottawa's line-smasher having one of his greatest of many great seasons. The 32-year-old halfback, who has scored six touchdowns in Ottawa's three playoff games, polled the full 396 points.

The other Riders voted first-team status were Howie (Touchdown) Turner, snap Don Loney, outside Bert Haigh and two American linemen playing their first Canadian season—Eddie Michaels and John Wagoner.

Calgary can top this stellar array by one. The western champions all-stars are quarterback Keith Spaith and fullback Paul Rowe, both unanimous choices, snap Chuck Anderson, linemen Bert Iannone, John Aguirre and Dave Tomlinson and outside Woody Strode, Spaith's ace pass-catched. Spaith, Aguirre and Strode are U.S. imports.

The four Alouettes catching places on the all-eastern starting squad are Virgil Wagner, Montreal's consistent ground-gainer, linemen Herb Trawick and Lloyd (Bronco) Reese and outside Ralph Toohey. Wagner and Trawick have been selected every season since coming to Canada three years ago.

Krol Better

Krol is the only player with a better record, crashing the lineup for the fourth successive season even though Argos finally relinquished their crown.

In all, seven U.S. imports were picked for the first team—Wagner, Turner, Filchock, Michaels, Reese, Wagoner and Trawick.

Paffrath was the only American to catch a place on the second team. The selections chose five from the University of Western Ontario, two each from University of Toronto and Hamilton Tigers, and one each from Argos and Toronto Beaches Indians.

AT THE BROCK TONIGHT —Dan O'Connor, shown above, who meets Pat Flanagan in the semi-final of tonight's big pro wrestling card at the Brock Arena. The main bout brings together Fred Atkins of Australia and Big Ben Morgan of Lookout Mountain, Tennessee. Atkins is highly rated and his power plays and vast energy have made him a top-ranking favorite wherever he wrestles. Jack Wentworth tangles with Charlie Green in the third bout and in a special added match Nick Futa will try to break the tie between him and the local lad Nick Viccharelli.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Our Triple Link junior "B" puck squad is shaping up nicely, we hear. A few more drills and they'll be whittled right down to the 1948-49 starting club in OHA competition. First workout had 50 or so out, including several newcomers to town. With a rink here this winter and the likelihood of a good district grouping, the IOOF-ers should finally gain the fan support they didn't get the last two years on "foreign" ice. Coach Archie Weir has a fair idea of his material and prospects for the coming campaign but hesitates to list them yet till every junior prospect has had a good chance to show his wares.

* * * * * *

Something of the same applies to Coach Red Creighton of the senior "B" Petes. We've already mentioned half a dozen sure starters, but there are others still trying for spots as well as former stars undecided yet on whether to play again. Joe Blewett is one of these, we're told, and club officials are really urging him to take a whirl at it again on Peterborough ice. The fast-stepping Joe has plenty of starry hockey left in him and would be a big help up front for the Petes. Several more in the same boat and we rather think they'll be back in local livery when the referee faces off for the first time in the Civic Arena this season. More on 'em shortly.

Not Talking, Either

Legion leave at 8.45 tonight for a Lindsay drill. They don't say much about their lineup, either, but Coach Ned Vitarelli knows half his starting squad, if not more. Doug Free, a good junior, was on the list but has pulled out to play for Sudbury Wolves overseas. And another fine junior—Canadiens and Bruins both wanted him on their negotiation list—left here for Collingwood. He was Alf Treen of Kirkland Lake. Rumor has it that Al Burns will play in Cleveland. Haven't anything definite on the Lindsay or 'Caygeon players and that's why none of these clubs are saying much yet. Too much upcertainty, though they have some sure starters. But it won't be long.

* * * * * *

'Tis hoped the same animosity that existed between Legion and Petes last season won't be evident this winter. A certain amount of rivalry is natural — when they're both local clubs and both in the same senior "B" grouping. With a scramble on for players by each team. But enmity can be carried too far and there's no need of making a civil war out of it. Brother against brother and all that. The respective presidents will get along together okay, and we trust the coaches and players (and their friends) don't carry things to extremes. We will continue to sit on the fence and take no sides, as there are too many good guys on each squad.

Lining Up Hoop Frays

Basketball on two fronts here this week-end, lasses Friday p.m. at the YW, and male cagers next night at the Collegiate. CGE colleens vs. Collis at 8.15, and Neill's vs. Lock Co. an hour later Friday. Coach Frank Tyndall of Queen's postponed the men's game with Marines' "A" squad this Saturday till Dec. 11, but Marines got busy and lined up West End "Y" seniors of Toronto for an exhibition, and it should be a real test for Al Clark's classy crew in their first game of the hoop season. West End "Y" are coached by Shag Park, formerly of Simpson Grads and one of the Dominion's all-time greats in basketball. So, there you are, cage followers.

J. Alexander of Brintons rolled high for individuals last gloaming in the Girls' Bowling League. Her 682 chore not only was best for threesomes but also took the blind score prize, a mark of 699. And her 296 roll was best single for the night. Once again Towne Togs took down scoring honors for teams with a triple of 3169 — quite a respectable effort—and a single of 1195. But one daub of whitewash was applied this week as play tightened up considerably and the rest of the victories were 2-1 affairs. Won't be so long till chicken and turkey rolls are the order in the various trundling circuits.

The Coin Fell Wrong

This from today's Globe: "A coin tossed in Peterborough landed heads, just the way Ted Jarvis called it in Toronto over the telephone —and the ORFU interscholastic final was assured for Friday in Toronto at the Upper Canada College grounds. Kickoff time will be 2.15. UCC, unbeaten in 11 starts this fall, will take on a strong Peterborough team, which last Saturday won the COSSA grid title for the third consecutive year. Had the toss favored Peterborough, the game was to be played in the Liftlock City Saturday afternoon. Bev Goulding, son of George Goulding, who won the Olympic walking championship for Canada at Stockholm in 1912, is the Peterborough coach. He attended Vaughan Road CI with UCC coach Ted Jarvis in 1927-28." Yeah, the PCI-ers will trek Torontoward day after tomorrow.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

Judging by the scores that the lady curlers have been handing in lately it would seem to us as if they are playing for keeps—and a quick glance over their schedule standing shows that anyone of the rinks might easily finish on top and win the Gibson Trophy. It sure does look like a close race.

As yet, we have heard nothing about the Tankard rinks or the District Cup rinks.

Today's Question:

What would happen should a stone be broken during the course of a game? Think it over. We'll answer that question tomorrow.

The ladies have received notice of the Tolton Trophy bonspiel to be played at High Park rink, Toronto, early in December.

Tonight group 5 plays at 7:00 o'clock and group 1 at 9:00 o'clock.

Leading Counts Are Taken By J. Alexander

J. Alexander of Brintons took high cross of 682 and top single of 296 this week in the Girls Bowling League. She also won the 699 blind score. Towne Togs rolled a 3169 triple and 1195 single to lead team efforts. The only other sweep was marked by Cardinals over Sevenaires, the other counts being 2-1 affairs with Marines beating Arcos, Merry Macs victorious over Commandos, Hurricanes defeating Dodgers, and Togs successful against Brintons. The results:

ARCOS (1)—F. Killen 520, M. Barringer 493, M. Thompson 560, M. Rogers 541, E. Thompson 561. MARINES (2)—M. Timm 582, J. Castle 447, M. Warner 535, B. Goldie 504, B. Castle 604.

White Sox Trade Haynes To Cleveland Team

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24 (AP)—Pitcher Joe Haynes, one of the few outstanding players of Chicago White Sox, has been traded to Cleveland Indians for second-string catcher Joe Tipton.

The even trade was announced in Chicago today by Bill Veeck, president of the world champion Cleveland team.

Haynes, a long-tome jinx for the Indians, has won 66 and lost 61 during his 10 years in the majors. With the dismal White Sox last year he won nine and lost 10. His best year was 1947 when he won 14 and lost six.

Tipton came to Cleveland from Wilkes-Barre in the Eastern League. He batted .289 in 47 games last year.

Marlboros Blank Gens 2-0 St. Mike's Edge Galt 3-1

By The Canadian Press

The cellar-dwelling Toronto Marlboros Tuesday night registered their third win in 14 starts in the Junior Ontario Association loop by blanking the second-place Oshawa Generals 2-0.

In another junior tilt, Toronto St. Michael's College Majors took sole possession of fourth-place by beating Galt Rockets 3-1.

Marlboros fought through a scoreless first period, notched two counters in the middle frame and went through a pointless third period. George Armstrong drove in from the blue line, took a pass from wing-mate Bobby Hazard and outguessed netminder Steve Hendry for the first Toronto goal. Seconds later, Murray Orenke put Marlies ahead 2-0.

Dusty Blair, Ted O'Connor and Red Stephen were Oshawa's chief threat on the forward line, while Frank Sullivan and Don Hall turned in good defensive chores.

St. Michael's battled to a 1-1 deadlock in the first period, led 2-1 at the end of the second and counted once more in the third in their game against Galt. Don Rope, Tim Horton and Con Bonhomme each counted singletons for the Irish. George Beecham scored Galt's only goal.

Beecham got Galt off early in the first period scoring when the game was only two minutes old. Horton got the equalizer near the end of the period, when he beat goaler Sommerville on a lone rush.

Con Bonhomme tallied the only second-period goal and Rope counted in the third.

Runs Out On Fight May Sue Graziano

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 24.—(AP).—Fight promoter Jimmy Murray threatened today to sue Rocky Graziano for $50,000, charging breach of contract for "running out" on his Dec. 1 fight here with Fred Apostoli.

The promoter began refunding money to the customers after confirming Irving Cohen, one of Rocky's three managers, that the former middleweight champion wasn't coming back west.

Graziano disappeared from his Oakland hotel last Thursday. His friends at first thought he was out on a conditioning walk but he showed up at his Brooklyn home a couple of days later.

In New York Tuesday night Cohen declared his fighter is "mentally depressed" and "is in no condition to enter a ring."

"Rocky is as ill-equipped to fight today as he would be if he were suffering from some physical ailment," Cohen said.

Murray Tuesday night signed a tough local middleweight, Earl Turner, to fill in for Graziano against Apostoli on the Dec. 1 card.

EXAMINE LEG

Lou Brissie, rookie southpaw pitcher who hung up a 14-10 record for Phidladelphia Athletics last season, arrived in Philadelphia Tuesday for a series of examinations of his war-shattered left leg.

The leg, on which Brissie had 20 operations to save amputation after being wounded in the Italian campaign, bothered the hurler near the end of the season.

DEAD END KIDS—Known as the Dead End Kids of the Calgary Stampeders, now training at Oakville, near Toronto, for their east-west football final Saturday, are these four young huskies, members of last year's unofficial junior champion Vancouver Blue Bombers. All from Vancouver, they are: left to right, Jim Mitchener, flying wing; Pete Thodus, half; Ced. Gayles, half; and Rod "Outrageous" Pantages, plunging back.

WESTERN POWER—Three members of the western champions to whom Calgary is looking for great things this Saturday in the east-west football final are shown here. When the Stampeders go into action, Fritzie Hanson, veteran running half; Bill Kwong, star linesman; and Harry Hood, former Winnipeg Blue Bomber speed boy who moved further west, will be in there fighting. Shown at a practice session at Oakville where the team is training are, left to right: Hanson, Kwong and Hood.

3 Clubs Resume Battle For NHL Lead

By The Canadian Press

When the smoke of battle clears on the National Hockey League front tonight, either Detroit, Boston or Montreal may be leading the pack, or all three could be deadlocked for top spot. The red-hot race is that close.

The three-way tie could come about if Montreal Canadiens knock off the Leafs in Toronto while Boston and Detroit play to a tie in the motor city. This would leave all three with 17 points.

Dick Irvin's Flying Frenchmen invaded Toronto today all set for the opener of their double-date with the floundering Leafs. The teams move to Montreal where they clash again tomorrow night, and a pair of victories against their bitter rivals would boost Canucks into sole possession of top spot no matter what the other teams do. Both Boston and Detroit are idle Thursday.

Sits Out Game

Butch Bouchard, solid-blocking Montreal rearguard who suffered a pulled tendon in his left knee two weeks ago, will sit out tonight's game in Toronto. Doctors who examined Big Butch Tuesday found the knee hadn't healed sufficiently to allow the Hab rearguard to take the ice.

The final word on defenceman Bill Barilko, and forwards Joe Klukay and Vic Lynn—casualties in the Leaf camp—will come late today when the medicos give the three— a final checkup.

All three are laid up with ankle injuries. Lynn, who practised Tuesday, is the most likely starter.

Asked about the slump of ace sniper Maurice (Rocket) Richard who has only scored two goals in 13 games, Irvin said he thought the Rocket had been playing "very well," although at the moment his plays "just aren't clicking."

LEND LEASE TO BUFFALO

Joe Lepine, defenceman with Montreal Royals in the Quebec Senior Hockey League, left Montreal Tuesday for Buffalo on a three-game, lend-lease agreement to help the injury-riddled Bisons of the American League.

The agreement under which Lepine goes to Buffalo permits a player to play three games with a professional team and still retain his amateur standing.

Providence Scores 3-1 Win Over Hershey

HERSHEY, Pa., Nov. 24.—(AP).—Providence Reds, pace-setting leaders of the eastern division of the American Hockey League, scored a 3-1 victory over Hershey before a crowd of 4,491 fans Tuesday night.

Jack Stoddard, Harvey Fisher and Allan Stanley were the Providence goal-getters. Mark Marquess scored for Hershey.

The game replaced a game postponed earlier in the season because of indoor fog.

Ottawa Coach Puts Men Through Paces

OTTAWA, Nov. 24 — (CP). — Coach Wally Masters has unbuckled his training whip and unleashed his dogs of war.

For the first time since the Ottawa Rough Riders walloped Hamilton Tigers for the Eastern Canadian football championship, they were out on a wet, muddy field Tuesday in a heavy wicking and passing session.

Even those who will be unable to participate in the Grey Cup classic on Saturday against Calgary Stampeders turned up at the long workout in Ottawa's Lansdowne Park.

George Hall, inside wing, hurt Saturday, appeared with his left leg in a cast and using a crutch. Pete Finlay, outside wing, out with a broken bone in his left hand, also put in an appearance, sitting on the bench and consoling with Hall.

Tickets Halted

Meanwhile, what might have turned into one of the wildest scrambles for tickets in Ottawa's history was nipped in the bud. Rough Rider Football Club officials announced at the eleventh hour Tuesday night that a general sale of pasteboards has been cancelled.

The sale of some 4,000 ducats was scheduled to be opened today at a downtown store. Hundreds of Ottawans were preparing to stand there all night, if need be, to get their hands on a pasteboard.

But, says Manager Jimmy McCaffrey, "requests were coming in at such a pace, they were more than we could handle. Every ticket we could get from the C RU has been spoken for.

However, Riders are assured that they will have at least 4,000 supporters when they meet with the Stampeders for the Dominion football championship in Toronto's Varsity Stadium.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Rocklands, Quebec football champions, will travel to Cobourg, Saturday to meet the Galloping Ghosts, Ontario titleholders, in a Quebec-Ontario sudden-death playoff, Norm Gillespie, secretary of the Quebec Rugby Football Union, announced Tuesday night.

"The Cobourg team boosted their original guarantee to make it possible for Rocklands to make the trip," said Gillespie, "and Rockland club officials now are well satisfied with the financial agreements.

Rocklands, who defeated Lakeshore Flyers for the Quebec title last Saturday, will leave for Cobourg Friday afternoon.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler has summoned Leo Durocher, manager of New York Giants, and Freddie Fitzsimmons for a conference during the Chicago winter baseball meetings to explain Fitzsimmons' signing as a coach with the Giants, the commissioner's office announced Tuesday at Cincinnati.

Walter Mulbry, secretary of baseball, said that when Fitzsimmons signed with the New York club as a coach "about a month ago" he still was on the reserve list of the Boston Braves as a coach.

Prof. Nelson C. Hart, newly-elected president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, is not going to wait until spring before cleaning the A.A.U. house.

Hart, who succeeded George Machum, of Montreal, as head of Canada's amateur sports governing body at the A.A.U. meeting here last week, said Tuesday night at London, Ont., that some of the "deadwood" now clogging up the A.A.U. would have to be cleared away before the organization can function properly.

"With all due respect to some of our members," he said, "there's little doubt but that some changes are necessary. Our group has to be modernized, brought up-to-date. A speedy house cleaning is in order."

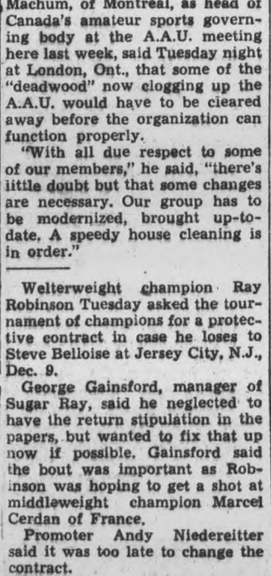
Welterweight champion Ray Robinson Tuesday asked the tournament of champions for a protective contract in case he loses to Steve Belloise at Jersey City, N.J., Dec. 9.

George Gainsford, manager of Sugar Ray, said he neglected to have the return stipulation in the papers, but wanted to fix that up now if possible. Gainsford said the bout was important as Robinson was hoping to get a shot at middleweight champion Marcel Cerdan of France.

Promoter Andy Niedereitter said it was too late to change the contract.

The Indian team which will compete against Canada at Toronto in the first round of the Thomas Cup international badminton matches was named yesterday by playing-captain George Lewis.

The Indians are working out on the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association courts in Montreal in preparation for the matches next week. Players selected for the matches are: Devinda Mohan of Simla; D. G. Mugve, B. V. Ullai, H. Ferreibra, B. D. Shmroff and akd Lewis, all of Bombay.



THE BOSTON BRUINS and the Toronto Maple Leafs played to a 2-2 tie at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto last Saturday night. The pace of the first two periods was fast and hectic, with body-checks flying in all directions. The boys slowed down a bit in the third frame. Above Leafs' Harry Watson is checking Bruins' Ed. Harrison. That's Turk Broda in the Toronto net.

Home-Run Star Wilson Dies

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24—(AP)—Lewis R. (Hack) Wilson, who held the National League home-run record, died in city hospital Tuesday.

He was taken to the hospital late Monday when he became ill and doctors said he died of internal haemorrhages complicated by a condition similar to pneumonia.

Wilson, 48, was hurt in a fall at his home last month and was in hospital about a week.

He came to Baltimore in 1941 and got a job in a war plant, but in recent years he had been an employee of the muncipal parks department. He started as a laborer and last summer was made manager of a park swimming pool.

Hack broke into the majors with New York Giants in 1924 and joined Chicago Cubs two years later. He reached his peak with the Cubs in 1930, when he smashed out 56 home runs and drove in 190 runs.

May Have Concussion

HONOLULU, Nov. 24.—(AP).—Tough Frankie Fernandez, 146½, Honolulu, Tuesday night sent Tommy Bell, 146½, Youngstown, Ohio, to a hospital with possible concussion after knocking him out in the final stanza of their 10-round bout. Bell sprawled on the floor after a flurry of blows from Fernandez and had to be carried to his corner. A few minutes later an ambulance was called and Bell was rushed to hospital for further examination.

Change Minds Negro Can Play

EASTON, Pa., Nov. 24 (AP)—Lafayette College authorities were hoping today that someone would throw a little light on the Sun Bowl situation after an apparent misunderstanding over a negro player.

Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, Lafayette president, announced Tuesday that the Pennsylvania College had rejected a bid to the New Year's Day football game at El Paso, Tex., because it would not be permitted to play Dave Showell, negro back.

Dr. Hutchison told 1,500 demonstrating Lafayette students that the bid to play Texas College of Mines was rejected as the result of a telephone conversation between William H. Anderson, Lafayette director of athletics, and C. D. Belding, chairman of the game selection committee of the Sun Carnival Associaiton.

Anderson said Belding told him the laws of Texas forbid a negro playing in the stadium where the New Year's Day game is to be held.

At El Paso, however, Belding denied he told Anderson that Showell would not be permitted to play. Belding said the only stipulation made was that the negro player would have to be housed in separate lodgings.

World News In Brief

Taken from Wires of Canadian Press.

BERLIN— Seven of every 10 Germans in the United States' occupation zone favor establishment of a provisional government for western Germany, an American military government survey says. Main purpose of the survey was to find out if Germans in the zone share the concern of many German politicians over calling the proposed new authority a "government."

Lost in Fog

VIENNA—American authorities said six United States fighter planes, probably lost in a heavy fog, flew over the Soviet-zone city of Amstetten last Tuesday. Corrective action has been taken to prevent a recurrence, army headquarters said in reply to a Soviet message on the subject.

SINGAPORE—A disabled American freighter, the 7,196-ton Amelia Earhart, was towed into Singapore by a tug after being stranded for 10 days on a coral reef in South Natun Islands, 300 miles from here.

WASHINGTON — A captured German V-2 rocket, fired in an experiment from New Mexico, apparently has set an altitude record of 114 miles. The applied physics laboratory of Johns Hopkins University said the rocket's warhead has been found by an army recovery team 20 miles from where it was fired from the white sands proving grounds.

TOWER CITY, Pa.—The Philadelphia and Reading Iron and Coal Company announced development of a new anthracite mine which is expected to produce 10,000,000 tons of hard coal. The tunnel for mining the coal will be driven 4,220 feet into the Big Lick mountain.

PARAGOULD, Ark.—A school bus loaded with young students collided with a lumber truck on a narrow bridge and at least two children were killed. Thirteen or more children were injured, some critically.

STOCKHOLM— Fourteen persons were believed to have been killed when a bus crashed through the rail of a bridge and plunged into water 66 feet below. The bus sank under 74 feet of water in Essingen Sound.

ST. THOMAS—Found guilty of violation of the Lord's Day Act, by operating concessions Sunday, Sept. 5, at Port Stanley, five men were fined $25 on each charge and costs or in default to serve 15 days in jail. The cases were heard Oct. 5 on charges laid by provincial police under direction of the Attorney-General's Department.

NEW YORK —The New York World-Telegram says in an editorial that any change in government in Ottawa, is second in importance to Americans only to a change in Washington. The newspaper says ties between the United States and Canada should become even stronger under Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, "who has succeeded our good friend, the venerable Mackenzie King."

PORT COLBORNE — James Barrett, 30, of London, was killed instantly about 10 o'clock when a John Labatt, Ltd., tractor trailer transport, which he was driving east on No. 3 highway, one mile east of here, left the highway and crashed into a large tree.

LONDON, Eng. — Communist Willie Gallacher walked out of the House of Commons in a huff after shouting "you dirty old blackguard!" at a Labor member during the debate on the government's defence bill. Gallacher, one of the two Communist members in the Commons, was infuriated by a statement by Albert Bechervaise, Labor member for Leyton East.

CONCEPTION, Chile — Ten Chilean sailors were drowned when a launch sank. The boat was taking the sailors to shore after Chilean naval manouvres.

NEW YORK—International Air Lines are considering a tourist class service with fewer attractions than first class and substantially lower fares.

BOULDER, Colo.—Police said lanky Joseph Walker, 31-year-old metal worker, issued a statement blaming the rape-slaying of Theresa Foster on a "chubby blonde" male companion of the girl. District Attorney Hatfield Chilson said Walker admitted disposing of the 18-year-old girl's body the night of Nov. 9.

Tuberculosis Bill

LONDON, Eng. — The Labor government made public a bill aimed at wiping out the menace of tuberculosis from milk. When the measure has been passed by Parliament, it will become illegal to sell milk which is not from tuberculin-tested herds, pasteurized, or sterilized.

WINDSOR—United States navy diving teams from Washington, D.C., entered the search of Lake Erie for a naval reserve pilot and his plane which crashed three miles south of Pelee Island last Saturday. Lt. Robert J. Sonderman was piloting one of four Hellcats in tactical manoeuvres when his plane suddenly went out of control and crashed into the lake.

REGINA — The Saskatchewan government said an investigation has shown no patient died as the result of violence in the province's mental hospitals. The investigation followed charges made by a former patient.

MONTREAL— Gaetan Daneu, 27-year-old airman from Iberville, Que., was arraigned on a charge of manslaughter in the death of Miss Therese Poulin, 30, of St. Johns, Que., who died after an alleged illegal operation to cause an abortion. Daneau was ordered held on baail of $2,000 pending preliminary hearing Nov. 30.

SILENT COMMUNITY—One of the best-guarded secrets in Canada is the formula of the famous Oka cheese made by the monks of the Trappist order on their farm on the shore of Lake of Two Mountains near Montreal. When the monks take their final vows in the Trappist order, they are enjoined to silence by a fifth-century rule of their order. As a result, the monastery, shown here, is one of the quietest places in Quebec.

C. W. Tanner Heads Transport Firm

Clifford W. Tanner, Toronto, has been appointed president and general manager of the Toronto-Peterborough Transport Co. Limited. Mr. Tanner is recognized as one of Canada's outstanding motor transport executives. He has been engaged in the industry for close on to thirty years, twenty of which have been with the company he now heads.

Toronto - Peterborough Transport operate a fleet of modern motor vehciles linking Peterborough with Toronto and intermediate points.

Mr. R. C. Notrum will continue as local branch manager. It is reported no changes in the employees personnel of the company will be made.

Accountants Told Company's Methods

Blake Bell and Arthur Pitchford of the Quaker Oats presented a talk on the methods used by Quaker Oats to ascertain the results of their operations, to the Peterborough Chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Ontario on Monday.

They pointed out the fluctuations occurring in day-to-day prices of cereals and grains, the necessity of knowing the values of their own stocks at current prices as well as the actual cost of these stocks, and the methods used by them to obtain these figures quickly and accurately as a guide to their purchasing and selling departments.

Transactions occur in such volume that the company have found it advisable to instal special office machinery using electrical impulses originated by punched cards to sort and tabulate the thousands of items occurring each month. From these figures statements are prepared which the management can use.

The youngest member in the Ontario society, the Peterborough Chapter, was addressed by S. E. Nicholson, president of the Ontario society.

J. N. Allan, secretary-manager of the Dominion society, was also present.

Fine Druggist $10,000

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Nov. 24 (CP)—Cuthbert M. Harry, former Calgary druggist, Tuesday was fined $10,000 after pleading guilty to a charge of attempting to smuggle $35,000 in United States currency into the United States last Oct. 12. It was decided that the money would be changed into Canadian currency and the fine paid from the amount. Harry would then receive the balance in Canadian funds.

Hasn't Lost Memory

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Nov. 24 (CP)—Mrs. O. C. Hartzog said Tuesday night that she hadn't suffered any loss of memory but she is glad Mrs. Ida Titus, Fort St. John, BC, housewife, is coming to see her. In passing through Winnipeg early Tuesday, Mrs. Titus, a former neighbor of Mrs. Hartzog, said she is making the 3,000-mile trip by plane to Wichita Falls to help Mrs. Hartzog regain her memory.

Farmers To Hear R. J. Morrison

John Kitney, secretary of the Federation of Agriculture, reported today that R. J. Morrison, vice-president of the Ontario Federation, will be the guest speaker at the first noon luncheon Tuesday, Dec. 7 at the Empress Hotel.

"I think we are going to have a good crowd out for this meeting," Mr. Kitney said. "We have had many inquiries from members, showing that they are interested in this luncheon plan."

Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore, proposed the noon luncheon idea, and the Federation directors fell in with it.

They are adopting the service club plan of mid-day meetings but on a monthly instead of a weekly basis. If the first one in December turns out as successful as the directors expect, other luncheons will be held once a month, until spring.

Federation is encouraging the attendance of women at these proposed luncheons which are open to all rural people, including the junior group.

Mr. Morrison has been prominent for years in the Ontario executive, and is an informed and capable speaker.

Royal Fair To Close Up Shop After Best Season In Years

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—(CP).—The Royal Winter Fair will close up shop tonight on its 20th annual show—in many ways the biggest and best yet.

With the completion of judging Tuesday, the show today will put its championship livestock on parade, auction off much of its beef cattle, present two more of its famous horse shows, and finally pull the curtains in a brief closing ceremony.

Tuesday's horse show was climaxed by the faultless performance of a six-year-old chestnut gelding jumper—Wings—who romped off with the rich $1,500 president's jumping stakes donated by the Fair's president, J. A. Northey. Veteran steeplechase rider Bill Ovens, rode the horse to its win for W. R. Ballard of Weston.

The crowds' biggest applause, however, went out to a 16-year-old rider, Doug Cudney of Winona, who guided his father's horse, Nortino, to third place over the difficult course with only one point in errors against him. Thirty-eight older riders didn't do as well.

The Olympic-champion Mexican team left no doubt of its jumping superiority as Col. Humberto Mariles, team captain, rode Arete through an errorless performance in the "knock down and out" stake. It was the seventh successive win for Mexico's jumpers in as many nights.

Close to Winning

One Canadian team member, Lieut. W. R. Ballardo, jumped to a close second place behind the Colonel. Only one hurdle knocked down by his mount, Skip Across, barred him from tying the winner.

The show's grand championship for two-horse heavy-draught teams was decided at Tuesday night's show. Two high-stepping Clydesdales entered by Zimmerman Bros. of Tavistock, ended the undefeated record of Belgians from Meadow Brook Farms of Rochester, Mich., to take the award. The American entry won the reserve grand championship.

An American entry, Kalmara Honey from Green's Farms, Clarence, N.Y., won the $1,500 Phillips saddle stake.

Tuesday's final judging of thoroughbred horses gave a grand championship rosette to Lilac Grove Belle, shown by Alvin Taylor of Grand Valley, as the show's best Clydesdale mare. Taylor's entry also won the Mark Duffy memorial shield for Clydesdales.

Four more grand champions were chosen from a line-up of purebred beef cattle.

Grand championship females in their breed were: Herefords—Silver Trophy, owned by W. A. Crawford-Frost, Nanton, Alta.; Shorthorns — Maxine Duchess, owned by T. G. Hamilton, Innisfail, Alta.; Aberdeen-Angus—Pardella M., owned by Witham Farms, Romeo, Mich.; Dual-Purpose Shorthorns—Cheapside Betty Arme, owned by H. M. Atkinson, Nanticoke.

Auction Carcasses

Auctions Tuesday of beef and swine carcasses brought average prices of 56 cents a pound for beef, 61 cents for Wiltshire sides and 51 cents for hog carcasses.

Ribbon - winning carcasses brought top prices. Grand champion beef carcass shown by William G. Jackson and Sons, of Downsview, brought 90 cents a pound; the champion Wiltshire side entered by Preston Hooker of Cooksville, sold at $1.40 a pound, and the winner of the Todd trophy in swine carcass judging, William Pinkey and Sons of Cooksville, received $1.25 a pound for the carcass.

Championships were announced Tuesday in the judging of the following bresds of sheep:

South down rams and ewes — Don Head Farm, Richmond Hill; Shropshire rams and ewes—F. W. Gurney, Paris; Lincoln rams—John Gardhouse, Weston; Lincoln ewes—Leeland Farms, Highgate; Hampshire rams—David E. McDowell, Mercer, Pa.; and Hampshore ewes—R. B. Glaspell, Bowmanville.

PC's Won't Run In Quebec Riding

OTTAWA, Nov. 24 — (CP). — George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, announced on Tuesday his party will not enter a candidate in the December 20 by-election in the Quebec riding of Laval-Two Mountains.

In the last session of Parliament, the seat was held by Liguori Lacombe, an Independent, who resigned to accept appointment as a magistrate in Quebec.

Mr. Drew noted in a statement that the riding will disappear in the redistribution which will accompany the next general election and said a contest at this time would be "nothing more than an indecisive skirmish for a representative position which will disappear before the election of the next Parliament."

"In the meantime, we will build up a vigorous organization to win the new constituency of which Laval-Two Mountains will form a part in the next general election."

The Liberals already have nominated a candidate for the by-election. The CCF has not decided whether to contest the seat.

Gets 2-Year Sentence

TORONTO, Nov. 24 (CP) — Mary Petras, 22, Tuesday was sentenced ot two years plus a fine of $200 or three months after being convicted of illegal possession of drugs. Manny Britstone, 30, was sentenced to 21 months plus a $300 fine or three months for a similar offence. Reginald Christian, 31, received six months plus a $200 fine of two months additional.

Free Three Suspects

VANCOUVER, Nov. 24 (CP)—Three youthful suspects, arrested Monday following the $350 hold-up of an Imperial Bank of Canada branch, were released from police custody late Tuesday. Police today continued their hunt for the youth who entered the downtown Vancouver bank and pushed a "this is a stickup" note in front of the teller.

Renew Discussions

VICTORIA, Nov. 24 (CP) — Attorney General Gordon Wismer of British Columbia said Tuesday he would renew discussions with Federal authorities in Ottawa next month on new steps to control lurid comic books. The Attorney-General's announcement followed a coroner's jury decision at Dawson Creek, BC, Monday that the two juveniles charged with murder there may have been influenced by comic book stories of highwaymen.

Ontario Court Of Appeal Upholds Pollution Ruling

TORONTO, Nov. 24 — (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal upholds a judgment which awarded six Sudbury district property owners a total of $5,600 for what they claimed was pollution damage caused by waste from a paper mill.

In a decision handed down on Monday, the Appellate Court dismissed an appeal by the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Company of Espanola, against a judgment by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the High Court of Ontario.

Chief Justice McRuer had ruled in favor of the property owners, who held that refuse from the company's plant polluted waters of the Spanish River near Espanola and killed fish, thereby hampering the tourist trade on which the property owners depended for part of their livelihood.

The action was brought against the company by Earl McKie, Russell Vance, F. N. Downe and other owners of river-front property. Largest awards went to Vance ($2,100), McKie ($1,250) and Downe ($1,000).

Dismissing the action, Chief Justice R. S. Robertson in the Appeal Court judgment said in part: "I would not interfere with the damages as found by Chief Justice McRuer. The plaintiffs are all men trying to make a living by such means as are afforded in the locations in which they live. The waters of the Spanish River in an unpolluted condition were of importance to them."

He also upheld Chief Justice McRuer's decision in granting each of the property owners an injunction restraining the paper company from "depositing foreign substances" in the Spanish River in future.

Suitor Starts Fire Girl 13 Suffocates

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24 (AP)—Police said today a truck driver admitted he started a fire that killed an 11-year-old girl because he "only meant to scare" the child's mother for spurning his attentions.

Harry Rich, police said, signed a statement Monday night after eight hours of questioning, admitting he put a match to a wad of tissue paper and a dresser cover in an east-side rooming house early Monday.

Police uoted the statement as saying Rich had been drinking rather heavily and was jealous he had seen Mrs. Lucille Balough 38, in the company of another man.

It was the widowed Mrs. Balough's daughter, Marilyn, who was choked to death by smoke from the fire. Another daughter, Joanne, 15, found unconscious beside her sister, was in critical condition at hospital, but appeared to be recovering from the effects of the smoke.

St. Catharines Has Mayoralty Contest

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 24 — (CP)—St. Catharines is assured of a mayoralty contest in the Jan. 1 election.

Two aldermen, John Smith and Richard (Dick) Robertson, announced today that they will be candidates for the position of chief magistrate. Dr. W. J. Macdonald, the present mayor, stated a week ago that he will not contest the election.

Both Aldermen Smith and Alderman Robertson have considerable experience in civic politics. Alderman Smith has been a council member for the past nine years and Alderman Robertson has had four years' service. Alderman Robertson contested the mayoralty in the 1946 elections, losing out after a close battle to Dr. Macdonald.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

NEW TRAFFIC BYLAW

Lakefield Village Council Tuesday night gave third reading to a new Traffic Bylaw. It will now be sent to the Department of Highways for approval.

SCOUT PAPER DRIVE TONIGHT

Citizens are requested to have their waste paper ready for the Scout Paper drive tonight. It was reported in error that it would take place on Tuesday night.

TO USE ROOMS

The Recreation Commission was granted permission to use the kindergarten room of the Central School on Thursday nights for leathercraft classes by the Board of Education Tuesday night.

ALEXANDER AT REGENT

Just a coincidence, the film "Will It Happen Again?", the menace of Naziism, at the Regent, includes in its Italian scenes one of Field Marshal Alexander who was in charge of the allied arms in the peninsula.

USED 216,000 KWH.

The power figure for Tuesday was 216,000 kwh., just a reminder that Peterborough is keeping within its quota of 229,700 kwh. a day. That puts the two-day average at 192,000. The average for five days last week was 221,600 as compared with 216,400 kwh. the previous week.

CARS SIDESWIPE

A side-swipe collision on No. 7 Highway east caused damage to two cars Tuesday afternoon. Drivers were William Godfrey of RR 1, Indian River and Frank Millard, RR 1, Picton. Damage to Millard's car was about $150 and about $25 damage was caused to the Godfrey car. PC Harold Andrews investigated.

TO ASK BUS CHANGE

The Board of Education Tuesday night decided to forward a petition from residents near Downer's Corners to the Peterborough Bus Lines, asking if a school service could be provided. The petition is on behalf of about 20 children living in that area who are not served by the bus service for school transportation.

NEW TEACHER

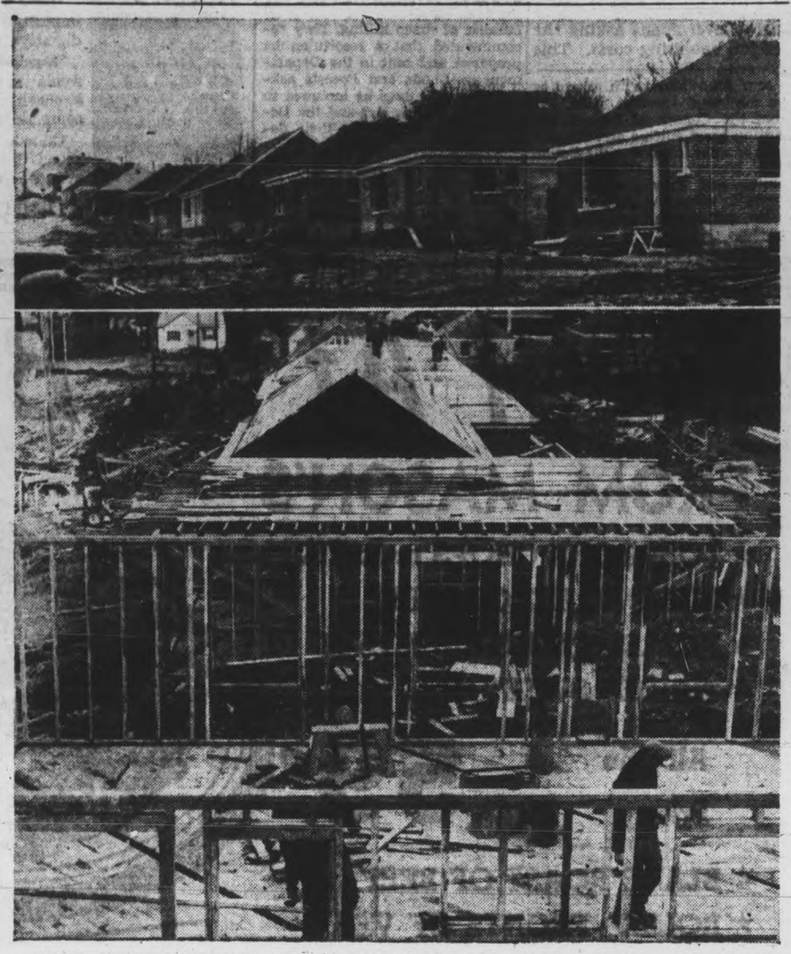
Miss Grace Blew of Belleville has been accepted as a member of the city's teaching staff. She will begin her duties in January. The decision of the Board of Education Tuesday night was made following the recommendation of School Superintendent K. S. Wightman.

TO ADDRESS Y'S MEN'S CLUB

Miss Myrtle Sargent will be guest speaker at the Y's Men's Club meeting on Thursday night, November 25. Miss Sargent's topic is her tour of the United Kingdom. She will tell of the International Soroptimist Club convention, which she attend as a member. The international aspect should interest the Club members as the Y's Men's Club is also international.

DIG TRENCH TWICE

For several days last week there was a slight traffic bottleneck on Hunter St. E. in front of the new addition to the Examiner Building. Part of the roadway was fenced off as workmen dug a trench to put in water and sewage services. The trench had no sooner been filled in than exacavation had to begin again. Telegraph cables had still to be laid.



FORTY-SIX NEW HOMES are in various stages of building in East City in the Beverley-Caddy Sts. section. All will be occupied by veterans' families. Top photo shows 17 brick bungalows, 11 of them completed as far as inside plastering. They would have been ready for occupancy by Christmas but pipe shortage has caused delay in sewer installation. Lower photo shows seven buildings on Beverley St., in the earlier construction stage. Sewer installation was completed on this street on Tuesday. All houses shown are being built by contractor Don Ephgrave. Contractor Arnold Steele is building 22 houses on the opposite sides of the above streets.

Civic Arena Is Completed

Ald. H. Dodds is spending down at the Park St. rink this week several holidays that were due him. Interior finish is rolling along, the flood lights are up, and this morning the front lot was being graded.

The chairman of the board of works was especially interested in trying to make the exterior approach presentable for a short call by the Governor-General Thursday. The ground has been levelled, but the rest room shack of outdoor rink days cannot be moved from its sidewalk position—not yet.

Peterborough's hands are empty of the memorial centre that was projected a long time ago. It would have been more impressive in all its particulars than the new rink, but at any rate the present arena is shining in the freshness of its minting, and looks like a lot of building for the money that is being collected for it. From the sidewalk it appears that Hugh Wilson, the contractor, has done not only a fast job but a good one.

Pipe Shortage Delays Sewer For Seventeen New Homes

Due to shortage of pipe, it has not been possible for the city to lay a sewer on Caddy St., to connect with 17 brick bungalows that have been completed by contractor Don Ephgrave, City Engineer A. E. Chalmers said today. The first of a 9-inch pipe shipment arrived in the city this week and as soon as the pipe-laying contractor finishes a small project in the McKellar housing section, work will go ahead on Caddy St.

Inside plastering has been completed on eleven of these dwellings and Mr. Ephgrave said on Tuesday he had hoped that all 17 bungalows would have been ready for occupancy by Christmas. Seven more buildings in the primary stages are being erected by him on the east side of Beverley St. The sewer on this street was completed on Tuesday but the houses will not be ready for some time.

The 24-house program was started June 15 and aside from the regular contractor's headaches, progress has been satisfactory. When Mr. Ephgrave foresaw the lack of a sewer on Caddy St. would delay occupancy, he laid off ten carpenters to slow his building program.

All the buildings are of brick construction in either four or five room sizes and will be occupied by Veterans' families. Many of the uncompleted bungalows have been turned over to anxious buyers who had hopes of leaving crowded quarters to occupy them soon. The price is a little more than $7,000 for the larger dwellings, with mortgage payments amortized over a 25-year period.

Contractor Arnold Steele is building 22 houses on the west side of Beverley St., and the north side of Caddy. The Beverley St. houses are the nearest to completion on this project.

Dr. Russell Morgan May Be Candidate

Dr. Russell Morgan may yet be the fifth candidate running for the Board of Education, the Examiner learned today.

The doctor fought shy of committing himself as the following brief conversation would indicate.

Question: "Dr. Morgan, have you considered running as a candidate this year for the Board of Education?"

Answer: "No."

Question: "If you were nominated is there any possibility that you would consider running?"

Answer: "Yes."

Dr. Morgan said he was interested in the subject of education but would not elaborate further.

Jaywalkers

Three small school boys nearly baffled an alert motorist on Tuesday at the intersection of Aylmer and Hunter Sts. As the car reached the intersection the boys started across. One dashed to the other side, one hurried back to the curb while the third stood bewildered in the middle of the street. The car stopped in time and the lad ran to safety.

Luncheon For Governor-General At CGE Informal Affair In Plant Cafeteria

Luncheon for the Governor-General at the Canadian General Electric Company, Thursday, will be quite informal.

Viscount Alexander of Tunis and Lady Alexander are going to dine with the big plant's employees and share their regular fare of the day.

"I think we are due for southern fried chicken," Gordon Hodgson said "In your own home you have to change things, and every now and then we get around to chicken. The rest of the menu will be just about what you have in your own home. Of course the vice-regal party will have their own table, but there isn't going to be any splash. The Governor-General is going to sit in with some 400 of the plant's employees and it should be quite a pleasant occasion."

There will probably be places together for ten or eleven persons, Mr. H. R. Turner of Toronto, president of the company, is coming down to join in the welcome to His Excellency, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Turner. There will also be Ian F. McRae, works manager, and Mrs. McRae; Mayor W. G. Ovens and Mrs. Ovens, and official attendants.

It is understood that the informality extends to complete absences of speeches or organized reception.

The Governor-General is just dropping in for lunch.

He had expressed a wish also to see something of the plant in the short time in the program before going on to Civic Hospital.

Labor Council Endorses M. E. Ketcheson

Maurice E. Ketcheson, who last week entered his name as a candidate for alderman, was on Tuesday night pledged the support of the Allied Labor Council. It is understood that Mr. Ketcheson previously agreed to endorsation of the Council.

During the meeting a telephone call was received from Eric May, CGE worker, declining nomination on the labor slate. This was the sceond man of the four nominated a week ago who has withdrawn his name from the candidacy.

At a meeting of the council a week ago the four labor candidates were announced. They were the Rev. E. C. Moore, St. George's Church; Mr. May, a storekeeper at CGE; Alfred Barber, president of the Labor Council and president of Local 210 UPWA, and John Beggs, president of Local 293 UPWA.

After the council heard that Mr. Moore and Mr. May had turned down the nomination it agreed unanimously to accept Mr. Ketcheson as a man deemed worthy of labor support. To fill the fourth spot it was decided that a committee should interview Harry Yudin, who has already announced that he will run. If Mr. Yudin does not wish to run with the support of organized labor—the committee has been asked to recommend some other suitable prospect.

Lively Argument

Most of the evening was occupied by the controversy between Donald Drummond, president of Local 527, and John Morton, Local 524.

At a previous meeting Mr. Drummond had attacked Mr. Morton declaring that he had tried to break up the Allied Labor Council with the intention of affiliating it with a CCL group. (At the present moment the Allied Labor Council is composed of both CIO and AFL unions.)

If such a motion were passed, AFL unions, because of the affiliation, would be automatically barred.

Mr. Morton waited on the council as a committee of one to reply to Mr. Drummond's remarks.

"I was sorry to read in the paper of one of the delegates here who took this opportunity to bring an unwarranted attack against myself and my union," he said. "It was a smear attack."

"Bosses in industry are glad every time they see a split in labor," said Mr. Morton. "I was sorry to see this done."

Referring to the charge that he had advocated the breakup of the Allied Labor Council he said: "I had nothing to do with it at all. At that time I was not an executive member of the council nor was I a delegate to the Local."

He claimed that the original motion from Local 524 was provisional: while supporting the council the executive of the union contended that if the council were dissolving the CIO unions in the city should form a CCL unit.

"I feel that Mr. Drummond owes me an apology," he said. And he suggested that the council urge him to do so.

He spoke highly of Mr. Barber and Mr. Beggs as labor candidates and said he was sorry Mr. Moore had declined to run for office.

Letter Is Read

A letter from Local 524 was read. In part, it said: "The charge that Morton tried to dissolve the Allied Labor Council is a flagrant misstatement of the facts. Early last winter it was brought to the attention of our executive that a prominent member of a local union belonging to the Allied Labor Council had presented a notice of motion to dissolve the Council and turn the funds over to the Workers' Educational Association. Believing this would mean that Peterborough would be without a Labor Council, the executive of Local 524 (of which Jack Morton was not then a member) approved a substitute motion."

"This motion was intended to give Peterborough a CIO Labour Council, similar to that in many other cities, if the affiliated AFL unions voted for the original motion which would mean that the AFL did not want an Allied Labor Council."

The letter which was signed by P. P. Doherty, Recording Secretary of Local 524, referred to the Drummond charges as 'slanderous activity."

Mr. Drummond did not apologize for his charges at the previous meeting. He claimed that Mr. Morton had tried to break the Peterborough Lock strike and that he had "tried to sabotage every meeting of the District 5 Council.

The only regrets he expressed were that the dispute of two locals of the UE should have been heard at the Allied Labor Council.

"I didn't come here to apologize," he said.

Before closing he offered to meet with Local 524 to personally support his charges.

The final motion was that Mr. Drummond should apologize and failing this he should produce written evidence substantiating his charges at the next meeting.

Get 6 Cent Raise

Under a new agreement signed between Wonder Bakeries Ltd., and Local 505 of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Workers Union (CIO), production workers will receive an across-the-board increase of six cents an hour.

The six-cent pay boost will be retroactive to July 1, 1948.

Other terms of the settlement were: time and a half for all hours worked in excess of 48 hours a week and payment for eight statutory holidays. There will be a voluntary revocable check off.

Salesmen were not affected by the new provisions.

C. A. Gliders, commenting on the settlement saaid: "This marks a distinct step forward for workers in the baking industry."

17,000 Letters Mailed With Christmas Seals

At the executive meeting Tuesday night of the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association, the secretary, Mrs. R. C. Honey, reported that letters with Christmas Seals enclosed had been mailed to over 17,000 homes in Peterborough county and city. The co-opertaive help of many volunteer workers had made this possible.

Members of the Soroptimist Club and other young women had assisted at typing. The staff of the Utilites Commission had addressed the envelopes. Several Secondary School girls had helped on Saturday. The Firemen did the big job of folding the letters and seals, putting them in the envelopes and delivering them to the Post Office. The Post Office staff did their part to get them all mailed at once.

Mr. Wm. Foley reported that the Boy Scouts had distributed the Jumbo Seals to down town offices and stores, and in many cases stuck them on office and store windows themselves.

Mr. Richard Ward stated that Mr. O'Brien of the Commercial Travellers' Association had enlisted the help of their members in distributing Jumbo Seals to stores and offices in the Rural section of the County.

Mr. Chas. Ray reported that the Press had been giving the Christmas Seal campaign good support. Also the Theatres were co-operating in running a short film in connection with the campaign. And that Mr. Graff of the Library was distributing another film to interested organizations.

The secretary advised that the staff was working on the filing system and were ready to record the donations on the cards as they came in.

Set Fire To Home Sentence Suspended

Found guilty of wilfully setting fire to a house in Cavendish Township owned by Mrs. Martha Handley, 74-year-old George B. English of Kinmount was placed on one year's suspended sentence in court today. Magistrate W. R. Philp had reserved judgment on the case of arson, after hearing evidence earlier this month.

The elderly accused, rather deaf, stood in front of the magistrate's bench quietly as the judgment was given. His only comment was a quiet: "I've never done anything like that in my life."

Alexander Beloved By Men Of Famous Irish Guards Has Fine Military Record

The Governor-General of Canada, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, who, with Lady Alexander, will be the guest of the citizens of Peterborough on Thursday, is a man destined for an enduring place in history. He comes as the representative in Canada of His Majesty the King to lay the corner-stone of Peterborough's new Civic Hospital, and inseparably associated with his personality is his fame as one of the great military leaders of World War II.

This is the Alexander who was Commander-in-Chief of the British forces that drove the Germans and Italians out of Tunisia, Libya and Egypt, and first fashioned the victory that followed across the Mediterranean.

It is the same Alexander who conducted the Allied campaign in Sicily and Italy as deputy to Eisenhower and finally as Supreme Allied Commander in the Mediterranean area. He has known the bitterness and anxiety of reverses, first in the retreat from Mons in 1914 as a young officer of the Irish Guards, and a generation later at Dunkirk where he and a naval officer were the last of the British invaders of the continent to leave for the rescuing boats.

Fought In Burma

In Burma and again in the earlier stages in North Africa Alexander fought delaying and withdrawing actions when the hopes of English-speaking peoples around the world were at the lowest and darkest ebb.

Peterborough will pay its deep respect to the Viceroy, and its gratitude and admiration to the Field Marshal. It may be that many do not know the earlier background and personal aspects of this great soldier whose ancestral home is in Ulster, and whose heart often returns to the men of his Irish Guards both from the north and south of the Green Isle. The following are a few glimpses of the man he is:

Field Marshal Viscount Harold R. L. G. Alexander of Tunis and Errigal, GCB, GCMG, KCB, CB, DSO, MC, was born at Caledon, County Tyrone, Northern Ireland.

He was born into a military family and its tradition of service to King and country. His father, the fourth Earl of Caledon, and his grandfather were soldiers, and his great-grandfather was a Governor of the Cape of Good Hope.

At Caledon House with its many acres he was the third of four sons, all of whom joined the Army. In his youth he played on the Caledon cricket team, was a frequent visitor to the village blacksmith's shop, was taught to dance Irish jigs and reels, and in fact became an accomplished step-dancer.

Studied At Sandhurst

Lord Alexander began his military career at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, England, and in September, 1911, he received his commission with the Irish Guards. He was Lieutenant of No. 1 Company of the 1st Battalion when his regiment went to France early in August, 1914. He was with the Old Contemptibles in the retreat from Mons. His courage and resourceful leadership won him rapid promotion, and on October 1, 1917, he became commanding officer of the 2nd Battalion. He was nicknamed "The Baby Colonel," but his men preferred to to call him Alex.

He was wounded three times in action during that first war.

The citation relating to his DSO affords a glimpse of the young officer who was to become a British Field Marshal. Its text is: "While leading his company in attack he came under heavy machine-gun fire from a concrete emplacement. He immediately led a successful attack through a gap in our barrage and outflanked three gun positions, captured three machine-guns and fourteen men. He then continued the attack and seized his objective within scheduled time, in spite of having to pass through our own barrage as well as that of the enemy. He set a splendid example of fearlessness and resource."

James A. Robinson wrote several years ago a sketch of the career of Viscount Alexander with special attention to human interest stories of the Field Marshal, and "to illustrate the warm heart, generous sympathy and wide outlook of this undemonstrative soldier who shuns the limelight."

Here is an episode from the Robinson book: "One moonlight night in the winter of 1917, Alexander clambered over the top with his orderly, Guardsman T. H. Keown, now a postman in Belfast, close behind him. Keown had his rifle ready, and Alexander walked steadily in the direction of the enemy lines.

Suddenly Alexander halted and beckoned to Keown not to move. Alexander listened intently, and then the guttural accent of the Boche broke the stillness. Alexander had stopped within a few paces of a German dugout.

"Get back, Keown," he whispered, and drew his revolver.

IT'S TRUE! PEPSODENT TOOTH POWDER GIVES YOU THE DENTAL CLEANLINESS THAT MEANS DENTAL WHITENESS

After a dentist cleans your teeth it's amazing how white they are! That's real dental whiteness: and he relies on powder. For unless dull, dingy film is removed, it hardens — darkens—turns into harmful, ugly tartar. But Pepsodent Tooth Powder is especially made with Irium to remove that trouble-causing film gently but thoroughly—right in your own home! Change today to Pepsodent Tooth Powder and give your teeth dental whiteness!

The difference is IRIUM—and
PEPSODENT IS THE ONLY TOOTH POWDER THAT CONTAINS IRIUM

Obituary

R. D. LUNDY

Last descendant of one of Peterborough's first settlers, R. D. Lundy, died in Toronto last week in his 90th year. It was in honor of this family that the street, Lundy's Lane, in the south end of the city, was named. He was buried in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jason Lundy of Peterborough, who came out to this city from Belfast, Ireland, he was born here but left at an early age and settled in Toronto.

He leaves a large number of nieces and nephews in Ontario and the United States, not all of whom can be traced. He was predeceased by his wife, the late Ada Victoria Kemp.

Mr. Lundy was a life member of the Alpha Lodge, AF & AM, Toronto.

Wants Gov't To Assume 50 Per Cent of Jail Costs

LINDSAY, Nov. 23.—A resolution is being sent by the Victoria County Council to the Ontario Government asking the Province to assume 50 per cent. of jail operating costs. This was decided at their last day of sitting in the November sessions.

A bylaw was recommended permitting the township of Somerville to look after its own arrears of taxes and conduct its own tax sales.

The construction costs for the installation of a drain on the county property at the Home for the Aged, up to a maximum liability of $2,000 was recommended by the committee. It was further understood, the recommendation read, that this does not obligate the county to assume maintenance costs in connection with this.

A grant was also made of $500 to the United Emergency Fund for Britain.

It was recommended the contents of a letter from the Ontario Municipal Association in which they brought to the attention of the committee the amendment of the Criminal Code which will probably seriously increase the cost of the administration of justice, be concurred in.

Futher resolutions from other countries were concurred in. The first from the Ontario Hog Producers' Association with regard to the minimum freight rates. (2) from the County of Lanark regarding weed cutting and railway right of ways. (3) From the County of Wentworth asking the Dominion and Provincial Governments to assume a greater share of the cost of administrating justice in connection wtih Indian Reserves.

Bounty on Wild Dogs

The committee also brought forward a resolution from the Township of Eldon regarding the payment of bounty on wild dogs because of sheep killing. They recommended that a resoltuion be prepared and sent to the Department of Lands and Forests asking that wild dogs be included in the Wolf Bounty Act and the Department to assist in their destruction.

A bylaw was passed granting the payment of $5 as a bounty for killing a fox. The bylaw reads to the effect that the pelt must be taken to the Department of Lands and Forests and a certificate obtained from them before the payment will be made.

Straight Men Important Part Of Act

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 24. — (AP).—It's Bud Abbott's lament. Consider the plight of the straight man.

Lou Costello is the more prominent member of the Abbott and Costello team, in more ways than one. All eyes are on the pudgy comic, and he's the one that draws the laughs. But where would he be without Abbott?

"Louis is the funniest man in the world," admits Bud, "when he wants to be." Meaning: When Bud is "feeding" him.

Feeding is a special craft in show business. A feeder is the mug who tosses straight lines to the comics. Amos feeds Andy; George Burns feeds Gracie. You get the picture.

"I trained for this job for a long time," Bud confided on the "Africa Screams" set.

"I was in show business before Lou was born. I worked with many comics in burlesque, waiting for the right one to come along. When I saw Lou, I said, 'This is it!'"

Bud declared there are only a few comedians, such as Milton Berle, Joe E. Lewis and Henny Youngman, who can do single acts. The others need feeders.

Success is a matter of the straight man's timing, he added. "I can make anyone a comedian —even you."

As a demonstration, Bud tried out the "Who's on first" routine. All I had to do was answer "Who," "What" or "I dunno" to Bud's rapid-fire questions. The results were hilarious, at least to me.

Seek Man In Slaying

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 24 — (AP)—A 27-year-old man was being questioned today in the rape slaying of Theresa Foster, university of Colorado coed, after his wife talked with police. District Attorney Hatfield Chilson declined to identify the man. Miss Foster, an 18-year-old freshman student disappeared Nov. 9. Her body was found two days later. She had been raped, strangled and beaten.

Alexander Beloved

"I hesitated for a moment," Keown recalled. "I wanted to cover the Colonel. He said peremptorily, "Get back", and I hurried off in the direction of our lines. The Colonel, with his revolver ready, covered my retreat. Many officers in similar circumstances would have moved back immediately, and left the orderly to bring up the rear. The Colonel was not like that."

Another Accolade

Mr. Robinson conveys this highest accolade to the character of Canada's Governor - General.... "They say in Londonderry, second largest city in Northern Ireland, that Alexander is one of Nature's gentlemen. There is no doubt he has a fine sense of the democratic fitness of things and, this combination of soldier and democrat finds happy expression in stories linked with the Maiden City."

"Nothing is more in keeping with the character of Alexander, this fine, modest, unobtrusive soldier, than the list of men serving in the forces, which was displayed throughout the (second) war in a frame of Caledon parish church.

There are 47 names on the list, about one tenth of the population of the village, and the first is H. Alexander. When it was prepared at the outbreak of war, his name was automatically placed at the top....Right through the war, from Dunkirk to the final surrender in Italy, with many unspectacular missions thrown in, Alexander has been fighting and steadily rising on the ladder of fame, but "H. Alexander" he remained in Caledon.

Nobody dreamt of putting the two letters "F.M" after his name to indicate his promtion to Field Marshal. It is realized he prefers no exception should be made in his case. To Alexander all men are equal in the church—he is just one of the sons of the parish—and the list is yet another example of his wish to shun the limelight."

A Favorite Hymn

"An older generation will probably recall Primate William Alexander, the Archbishop of Armagh and head of the Church of Ireland, who died many years ago. His wife composed many hymns. The best known probably is "There is a Green Hill Far Away". It has been sung in nearly every land, and is a favorite of Alexander's three children."

Lord Alexander's affection for his men is reflected in the manner of his tribute to Lance-Corporal John Patrick Kenneally, V.C., of the Irish Guards, who won his decoration "for magnificent bravery" in Tunisia in April 1943. He received it on August 27 1943, from General Alexander, on behalf of the King, at the Battalion parade at Hammermet, at the base of Cap Bon in Tunisia, where the 1st Battalion of the Guards was then stationed. General Alexander flew over for the day from Sicily, bringing with him General Omar Bradley, the American Corps Commander.

Proud of His Men

"Alexander first inspected the Battalion, and then went to the middle of the square which it formed, and told them of the great pride he felt in Lance-Corporal Kenneally's bravery, and the bravery of the entire Battalion... At the end of the speech, Kenneally was marched by R.S.M. McLoughlin before the General who decorated him and again paid tribute to his valor....

Kenneally afterwards fought with the Irish Guards in the Anzio beachhead in Italy, and finally served with the 2nd Battalion in Hamburg, by which time he held the rank of Company Quarter Master Sergeant. On St. Patrick's Day, 1946, the Irish Guards were marching to the lilt of their pipe band at the Estorff Barracks, Hamburg, when a telegram directed him to report immediately by the first available plane to Headquarters of the Irish Guards, London. He knew he was probably wanted for some parade, but did not dream that he was going to rub shoulders again with Field Marshal Alexander.

It was Alexander's personal wish that Kenneally should accompany him on a drive through the heart of the city to the Guildhall when he received the Freedom of the City of London. A last minute alteration in the arrangements prevented this being carried out, but the V.C. sat right behind the Field Marshal during the ceremony. More than once Alexander purposely turned around to smile at Kenneally."

The Field Marshal has always had an extraordinary insight into the effect his own action will have on the minds of the officers and men serving under him. Father Francis Browne, late Chaplain of the Irish Guards, told this story to the Field Marshal's brother, the Hon. Herbert Charles Alexander: "In 1917 the Battalion had a very hard time in the line. Casualties had been high and all ranks were dead beat. They had been relieved and buses were sent to bring the Battalion back to billets. At the rendez-vous it was discovered there was a bus short. Alex said, "Father will you stay with me?" He then called for volunters to remain behind and march. The entire Battalion volunteered. Forty men, however, were selected and the Battalion was put in buses and driven off. Alex and the chaplain and their 40 marching men hit the long trail for the billets and eventually arrived after an 11-hour march. It was an action which bears out the best tradition of the Servcie."

Often Visited Regiment

During the hot fighting at Cassino Alexander took time out for a brief visit to his own Irish Guards for their St. Patrick's Day parade. On his return he wrote the OC that it was a great joy to be with the Battalion and see how smart and proud of themselves they looked, "in fact just what one expects Guardsmen to look like. It must have impressed all the onlookers very much, as it did me...This was my 15th St. Patrick's Day parade with the Regiment, and the 5th on active operations—not counting Constantinople and Gib. in 1922-24. Good luck to you all."

On October 15, 1931, Lord Alexander was married in the Guards Chapel, Wellington Barracks, London, to Lady Margaret Diana Bingham, younger daughter of the 5th Earl of Lucan. At that time he held the rank of Colonel, and a brilliant career was forecast for him. They have three children, Rose, Shane and Bryan.

THE HOWLING BLIZZARD which swept through the middlewest wreaking death and destruction, left Line Foreman Thomas Hogarty of Freemont, Neb., with a tangled problem on his hands. He is shown looking at an ice-encrusted section of the miles of downed and tangled telephone lines which he and his crews must repair.

CANADIAN BABIES

BORN ON NOVEMBER 14th, 1948

Many proud parents were thrilled that the long-awaited birth in their family occurred on the birthday of an heir to the British throne.

In almost a thousand Canadian homes that day, was born a young person who, although not of royal lineage, will soon be ruling all hearts. "His Majesty — the baby" is a title fondly bestowed on every cuddlesome infant who assumes the divine right of demanding attention "fit for a king".

To insure the utmost care for these lucky November 14th babies, Heinz will send their mothers a gift of Heins Baby Foods, a handsome Baby Calendar and a booklet on "Your Baby's Diet".

If your child first opened his eyes on the little heir's birthday, simply send his name and his mother's name and address to: H. J. Heinz Company of Canada Ltd., 420 Dupont Street, Toronto 4, Ontario.

Fabian Galvin And Bride Live in Banff, Alta.

St. Joseph's Church, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, was the scene of a lovely wedding on October 18th, as Veronica Edith Mahoney became the bride of Fabian Gerard Galvin. The Rev. Father Malloy of Pembroke, Ontario, a friend of the groom, was the celebrant at the nuptial mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mahoney of Saskatoon, and the groom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. T. Galvin of Peterborough.

Miss Anna Cole sang Schubert's "Ave Marie" and "Panis Angelicus" and other hymns during the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a stunning blueridge satin-back crepe dress with a tiered skirt and a matching feather hat, with black accessories, and carried a prayer book topped with clusters of Briarcliffe roses and white gardenias.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Jean Mahoney, who wore a misty grey satin-back crepe dress with pink feather hat and pink accessories and carried a cascade of pink carnations.

Mr. Oliver Mason, uncle of the bride, was groomsman.

A wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony to the immediate family and a reception held in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Galvin spent their honeymoon at a hunting lodge in the Rocky Mountains, and will live in Banff, Alberta, where the groom is employed by the Federal Government.

MR. AND MRS. REGINALD J. HILL of Peterborough, who were married Monday afternoon in All Saints' Anglican Church. The bride is Eleanor May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Wilson, Peterborough, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hill of Trenton.

Eleanor Wilson and Reg. Hill Fly to Cleveland Honeymoon

In All Saints' Anglican Church on Monday afternoon the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite officiated as nuptial vows were pledged by Eleanor May Wilson and Reginald Justin Hill. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Wilson of Peterborough, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hill of Trenton.

Setting for the ceremony was bouquets of chrysanthemums banked wtih fern and Mrs. A. Logan played traditional wedding music. Mr. Douglas Weir sang "Because" and "At Dawning" during the signing of the register.

The bride wore a dress of white satin with long graceful train of white net, falling from the waistline, and edged with a gathered ruffle. Her headdress was fashioned in Mary Queen of Ssots style, trimmed with pearls, and held her fingertip veil of embroidered tulle in place. She carried a cascade of Talisman roses. Mr. Wilson gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Barbara Hill, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, gowned in blue crepe with hat in matching shade and she carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The bride's cousin, Miss Marilyn McQuade, was flower girl and wore a frock of yellow taffeta, with bandeau to match and carried yellow 'mums.

Mr. Ted Wilson, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Ushers were Bill Floyd and Fred Ray.

Receiving afterward in the Green Room of the YWCA, the bride's mother was gowned in black crepe and wore gloves and a feathered hat in pink with corsage of pink roses at her shoulder. The groom's mother who also received was in wine crepe and had black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride and groom left later for Toronto and on Tuesday they flew to Cleveland. For travelling the bride chose a grey gabardine suit and black accessories, and wore a muskrat coat with hat to match and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill will live at 292 London St.

Guests Reminded To Be Punctual At Civic Functions

Plans are now complete for the many thrilling events of Thursday in connection with the visit of Their Excellencies, Viscount and Viscountess Alexander of Tunis. Climaxing the program there will be a civic dinner and reception afterward in the Empress Hotel during which more than 200 of the guests will be formally presented to the Governor General and his wife.

All are reminded to present their invitations to the attendant on entering. Also, to note the time specified on the card and be very punctual. If dinner guests should arrive later than His Excellency they cannot be seated. Later, Their Excellencies will receive formally for a half hour only.

Ladies should wear gloves but no headdress, except a flower or ornament, regardless of their choice of dress.

Choir Entertains KnoxCongregation

More than 200 members of Knox United Church congregation attended the entertainment given by the choir members in the church hall. Mrs. Ada Huffman and Mr. Wm. Potter directed a varied program. Among the musical numbers presented were solos by Miss Dorothy Mitchell and Mrs. Jean Jackman, humorous musical dialogues by Mrs. Norman Hughes and Mr. John Donaldson, a quartette by Mrs. Jean Jackman, Mrs. Norman Hughes, Mr. Arthur Pitchford and Mr. John Donaldson, and violin solos by Mrs. Foster. Two dance numbers were given by the Misses Beverley and Joan Reynolds.

An amusing skit, entitled "Love Thy Neighbors," was directed by Mr. Peter McCombe, and those taking part were Mrs. Hy Wood, Mrs. H. Lewis, Miss S. Summers, Mrs. Godfrey, Miss Mary Morton and Miss Dorothy Godfrey.

Mrs. Foster was presented with a cup and saucer in appreciation of her long-standing friendship with the choir.

Chair prizes went to Mrs. Marchen, Mr. Stan Thompson, Mr. David Potter and Mr. Atcheson. Impromptu speeches were given by some members of the audience.

Dainty refreshments were served by the social committee at the close. Mrs. H. G. Douglas and Mrs. Hy Wood poured tea at a table centred with a basket of 'mums.

Mr. G. Morrison expressed thanks to the choir on behalf of the guests.

MR. FABIAN GALVIN of Banff, Alberta, and formerly of Peterborough, is seen with his bride after their marriage in Saskatoon recently. Mr. Galvin is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. T. Galvin, 461 Murray St., Peterborough. His wife is Veronica Edith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mahoney of Saskatoon, Sask.

Of Interest to Women

WHEN MISS SHARMAN DOUGLAS, daughter of the U.S. ambassador to Britain, flew in from London recently, she was quoted as saying that she hoped to see the young Marquess of Milford-Haven "if he's in town." Apparently little time was lost in fixing a date, for here they are at a New York night club—thus adding to romance rumors.

DOROTHY DIX

Good Provider Is Better Than a Perpetual Lover

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married for four months to a wonderful man who is good and kind to me and a splendid provider, but he does not give me the sweet talk now that he did before we were married and I am afraid he is taking me for granted.

Dorothy Dix

I am very unhappy about it because I don't think romance should stop just because you get married. He doesn't do all the little things he used to do, such as opening doors for me and telling me I am the most wonderful person in the world He seems to have lost his romantic ideas. Can you give me any comforting words?

E. C.

ANSWER: Probably it won't comfort you any to be told to quit acting like a feeble-minded bobby-soxer and get wise to the fact that now you are a married woman who is face to face with the realities of life Your lovey-dovey days are over. And the test of a husband's and wife's love is not handing out mushy soft talk. It is how many sacrifices they are willing to make for each other.

You are wailing and weeping because your husband has slacked off in his courtship. Well, for Heaven's sake, isn't that a natural reaction to the situation? You would think that a man should be put in the booby house if he kept chasing a car that he had already caught. And that goes double for marriages. A happy marriage is a settled one in which a husband and wife don't have to always be making protestations of their affections. It is a living thing that is just as much a part of them as their heartbeats.

You say you are afraid your husband takes you for granted. Well, isn't that the highest compliment that any man could pay his wife, or any woman give her husband? Jealousy and suspicion are the children of husband and wives who do not trust each other. So if you have a husband or wife who takes it for granted that you are true and loyal to him or her, thank God for your blessing, instead of thinking you are being neglected.

Millions of wives ruin their marriages by making an issue of trifles that they should have sense enough to ignore. Husbands forget anniversaries. They don't send flowers on a wife's birthday. They claim they are too tired to go dancing. They just grunt when spoken to. Their kisses are perfunctory, with no pep in them.

Too bad, isn't it? Regular divorce court food. But it wouldn't be if wives didn't expect their husbands to be great lovers, instead of tired business men who are worried to death about how they are going to pay their bills.

So, dear little bobby-soxer who is ready to call her marriage quits after four months' trial, just wake up from your romantic dream and face reality. Marriage is a pretty good career for women, after all.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am dating a man who has been married and divorced. He is 22 and I am 15. People tell me that he dates other girls behind my back. I love him better than anyone else and he talks about our getting married when I am old enough, but I know that I couldn't get along with him.

What do you suggest?

Kathryn.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, I suggest that you quit dating any boy seriously until you are old enough to know what you really want in a man. At 15 a girl's taste changes from day to day, and the man she thought was her Prince Charming one week bores her to tears the next. So take your time and look 'em all over carefully before you make your choice.

I am very much opposed to girls tying themselves up with any boy while they are still mere children. I think they should play around with a lot of boys and have good times. And don't forget that if you can't get along with the Boy Friend, you would have an awful time trying to live peaceably with him as a husband.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young bride living with my mother-in-law who thinks that everything I do is wrong and, instead of telling me how to do it, she complains to my husband and we fight. My husband always sides with his mother and he doesn't want to leave her to go housekeeping with me.

We have been married three months. Do you think I should leave him? We still love each other, but living with my mother-in-law is getting me down.

AN UNHAPPY BRIDE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Now and then when a girl marries and goes to live with her mother-in-law it turns out happily, but this only occurs when the two women are of exceptional intelligence and have angelic dispositions. As a rule, both the mother-in-law and daughter-in-law are jealous and possessive, and there is no happiness for any of the parties concerned. The Chinese ideograph for a fight is two women in the same house.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, November 25

The auguries are most auspicious for a lively, eventful and probably dramatic state of affairs, with much stirring in romantic, social, domestic and cultural circles There are also testimonies of sudden and disruptive situations that might prove disastrous, disintegrating and devastating. Under runaway impulses and emotions, it might be easy to fall into dangerous adventures either in business or pleasure. "Watch your step" is wise counsel in all contacts.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may feel the urge to put over important projects, with the drive to step out of the regulation and routine ways and means in putting over fresh projects. However, there are signs of sudden and devastating occurrences which may upset all plans and preparations. A predominant desire toward the pursuit of pleasure with festivities, romance and thrills as the high note, even these spell dangerous contacts, devastating experiences and disaster. A stern and calculated "putting on the brakes" is enjoined.

A child born on this day, while romantic and pleasure loving, may be subject to sudden crashes or devastations because of unbridled impulses or emotions.

B'Nai Brith Aids Queen's Students

WINDSOR, Nov. 24 — (CP)— The conference of the Eastern Canadian Council of the B'Nai Brith lodges and women's chapters which concluded this week attracted the largest number of delegates to any conference in the 25 years of the council's history.

Approximately 150 delegates from 27 communities in eastern Canada represented lodges with aggregate memberships exceeding 12,000.

The council accepted financial responsibility for the support of the Hillel Foundation at Queen's University in Kingston. Similar foundations which provide religious training and facilities for Jewish students and furnishes them with social and recreational program, have already been established in 187 universities of Canada and the United States.

WHEN CHILD GETS STOMACH-SICK

Bring Relief This Simple Way

Just try Children's Own Tablets — pleasant-tasting, easy to take. They quickly help sweeten sour, upset stomach and clear out offending wastes from the bowels without the weakening flushout of many old fashioned remedies. Fine, too, for relief of constipation and other minor ailments of youngsters from 3 to 15 years. Get Children's Own Tablets today from your druggist. 25¢.

Couple Honored

MOUNT PLEASANT, Nov. 24. —Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ballantyne, were honored following their recent marriage when more than 150 friends gathered in Mount Pleasant hall and presented a purse of money. Mr. Lloyd Hooton read an address and Mr. Bernard Butcher made the presentation. A pleasant evening was spent dancing with Mr. Lawrence McConnell as floor manager. After lunch Mr. Arthur Spree from Pincher Creek, Alberta, provided some entertainment. Friends were present from Lindsay, Janetville, Orange Corners, Manvers Station and Peterborough.

DOES INDIGESTION WALLOP YOU BELOW THE BELT?

Help Your Forgotten "28" For The Kind Of Relief That Helps Make You Rarin' To Go

More than half of your digestion is done below the belt—in your 28 feet of bowels. So when indigestion strikes, try something that helps digestion in the stomach AND below the belt.

What you may need is Carter's Little Liver Pills to give needed help to that "forgotten 28 feet" of bowels.

Take one Carter's Little Liver Pill before and one after meals. Take them according to directions. They help wake up a larger flow of the 3 main digestive juices in your stomach AND bowels—help you digest what you have eaten in Nature's own way.

Then most folks get the kind of relief that makes you feel better from your head to your toes. Just be sure you get the genuine Carter's Little Liver Pills from your druggist—35¢.

6—In Memoriams

BROOK—In loving memory of Jimmie Brook who died five years ago today, Nov. 24, 1943

"He was a flower too sweet for earth
Sent here but for a while
God marked him when He gave him birth
And took him with a smile."

—Sadly missed by Lillian and Walter, June and Phyllis

BROOK—In loving memory of Jimmy Brook, who died November 24, 1943.

Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear
Fond memories linger every day
Remembrance keeps him near.

—Ever remembered by Dad.

BROOK—In loving memory of my dear son Jimmy Brook who was killed five years ago, Nov. 24, 1943.

Sweet memory will linger forever
A silent thought, a secret tear
Keeps his memory dear
Time takes away the edge of grief
But memory turns back every leaf.

—Sadly missed, ever remembered by his Mother.

DWYER—In loving memory of our dear son, Roy David Dwyer.

No pen can write, no tongue can tell
Our sad and bitter loss,
But God alone has helped so well
To bear our heavy cross.

—Sadly missed by his mother, brother, sister and Mr. Ketchum.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the nurses of Civic Hospital, the attending doctors, the VON and the Silver Cross Auxiliary, the Vimy Ridge LOBA and the following societies of George St. Church: Mothers of the Baby Band, Co-workers Bible Class, No. 7 WMS Group and the WA. NOTICE AND SYNOPSIS OF A PROPOSED MONEY BY-LAW RE PETERBOROUGH CIVIC HOSPITAL, TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE VOTE OF THE RATEPAYERS AT THE ANNUAL CIVIC ELECTION, ON MONDAY, DECEMBER 6TH, 1948.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough proposes to pass a Money By-law, Number 4737, entitled, 'A By-law Authorizing the Borrowing of $1,300,000.00 Upon Debentures for the Peterborough Civic Hospital.'"

THE BY-LAW RECITES AS FOLLOWS

"WHEREAS the Council of the City of Peterborough did pass By-law Number 4403 to provide the sum of $600,000.00 for the purpose of Constructing the Peterborough Civic Hospital."

"AND WHEREAS the sum of $600,000.00 and other moneys granted by the County of Peterborough, the Peterborough Utilities Commission, and the Peterborough City Trust was insufficient for the said purpose and it is necessary to raise a further sum of $1,500,000.00 to complete the Erection, Establishment, and Equipment of the said Peterborough Civic Hospital."

"AND WHEREAS it is expedient to borrow for the Erection, Establishment and Equipment of the Peterborough Civic Hospital and Ancillary Buildings, a sum not exceeding $1,300,000.00 upon the credit of the Corporation, to issue Debentures therefor bearing interest at the rate of Three and One-quarter (3¼%) per centum per annum payable semi-annually and to provide for the discount and expenses incidental to negotiation and sale of such Debentures."

THEREFORE, THE PURPOSE OF THE BY-LAW is to authorize the issuing of Debentures to complete the Erection, Establishment and Equipment of the said Peterborough Civic Hospital.

THE DEBENTURES, it is provided, will be repayable on the instalment plan during the period of twenty years and bear interest at the rate of Three and One-quarter (3¼) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually.

THE AMOUNT TO BE RAISED annually for the payment of the instalments and interest during the term of twenty years will be approximately $103,099.50.

TAKE NOTICE that the foregoing is a Synopsis of the Proposed By-law of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough to be submitted to the Votes of Electors qualified to Vote thereon, such Votes to be taken at the time of the Municipal Elections, on MONDAY, THE SIXTH DAY OF DECEMBER 1948, and at the same Hours at which Voting will take place for the Candidates for Election to the Council of the City of Peterborough.

AND THAT ON THE 3RD DAY OF DECEMBER, 1948, at the Hour of Three o'clock in the Afternoon, the Head of the Council or some Member of the Council, appointed for that purpose by resolution, shall attend at the City in the said Municipality for the purpose of appointing, and, if requested so to do, shall appoint by writing signed by him, Two Persons to attend at the final summing up of the Votes by the Clerk, and One Person to attend at each Polling Place on behalf of the persons interested in and promoting the proposed By-law, and a like number on behalf of the persons interested in and opposing the proposed By-law.

ON THE 7TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1948 at the Hour of Eleven o'clock in the Forenoon, at the City Hall, in the said Municipality, the Clerk shall attend and sum up the Votes given for and against the proposed By-law

AND TAKE NOTICE FURTHER that a Corporation (Company) entitled to appoint a Nominee to Vote on its behalf shall not later than the 10th Day before the day appointed for taking the Vote file with the Clerk of the Municipality an appointment in writing of a person to Vote as its Nominee and on its behalf, as provided by Section 283, Sub-Section 4, of the Municipal Act.

AND TAKE NOTICE FURTHER that a Tenant who desires to Vote must deliver to the Clerk not later than the 10th Day before the day appointed for taking the Vote the Declaration provided for by Sub-Section 3 of Section 283 of the Municipal Act.

IF THE ASSENT of the Electors is obtained for the said By-law, this fact will be taken into consideration by the Municipal Council of the said Corporation at a Meeting thereof to be held at the expiration of Two Weeks after the result of the Voting has been declared.

I CERTIFY that this is a true Synopsis of the proposed By-law Number 4737.

DATED at Peterborough, this 10th Day of November, 1948.

E. A. OUTRAM,
City Clerk.

NOMINATIONS

A MEETING of the Electors of the Township of Otonabee, will be held at Keene Town Hall, on FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1948.

Nominations will be received for the offices of Reeve, Deputy-Reeve, Councillors, and for Members of the School Board of the School Area.

If an Election is necessary, the Polls will be Open at 10:00 A.M. and Close at 7:00 P.M. on MONDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1948.

THOMAS WEIR, Clerk,
Township of Otonabee.

Mayoralty Race Likely In London

By The Canadian Press

A mayoralty race is shaping up in London, Ont., between George A. Wenige, completing his eighth term, and Ray A. Dennis.

Deadline Tuesday for qualifications saw Dennis, making his second successive bid for the mayor's chair, officially in the running. But indications in London pointed to a quiet contest for other civic offices? Three of the four wards will have aldermanic contests.

With Guelph's Mayor Gordon Rife already returned by acclamation, qualifications left 14 persons in the race for 11 aldermanic seats and eight contesting the five Board of Education positions. The separate school board was elected by acclamation.

Elsewhere in Ontario, municipal election pots reached a simmer. Nominations in Aurora, near Toronto, gave acclamations re-electing Dr. Crawford Rose as mayor, A. A. Cooke as reeve and R. H. Corner as deputy-reeve. Preston prepared for nominations Friday night. Two St. Catharines aldermen, John Smith and Richard Robertson, announced that they would seek the mayor's chair from which W. J. Macdonald is resigning.

Judge J. Parker Dies Suddenly

TORONTO, Nov. 24 — (CP) — James Parker, 75, senior judge of York County, died late Tuesday. He would have been eligible for retirement next January.

Judge Parker's death shocked colleagues with whom he had worked until court closing Tuesday. Judge Frank Denton said: "He had lunch with me in my rooms in the city hall today and seemed in excellent health and spirits."

A native of Stirling and a graduate of Queen's University, Judge Parker was called to the Ontario Bar in 1911, was created a King's Counsel in 1929 and in May, 1931, was appointed a judge of the County of York.

From the beginning of 1918 until the First World War ended he served as solicitor for the old Canada Food Board.

Surviving is his widow, the former Lillian Greenwood of Toronto.

Intend To Make Jeweller Pay

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—(CP). — Tax department officials said Tuesday that George Simpson, Pembroke, jeweler, who is conducting a one-man war against the 25-per-cent. tax on his merchandise, will face prosecution if he refuses to pay the tax.

Simpson, who opened a new jewelry store Monday, offered tax-free jewelery for 10 days and said he would pay the tax himself if necessary to bring his grievances "before the prime minister and the cabinet."

Officials of the revenue department said Simpson's chances of getting to see the prime minister are just about nil. Such a thing would be unprecedented. They said the income tax branch would be willing to hear any complaint. Simpson might have, but that apparently the jeweler had decided to go over the heads of departmental tax officials.

If Simpson failed to collect the tax from his customers but paid it out of his own pocket, the department wouldn't be worried.

"As long as we get the tax, we are not going to be concerned," one official added.

Inquest Held

BANCROFT, Nov. 24—(BNS)—An inquest into the death of 23-year-old Robert Smith of Toronto, killed in a highway crash Monday afternoon, was held here Tuesday morning. Called by coroner Dr. O. W. Anderson, the inquest jury met and viewed the body and adjourned to Dec. 1. The body was removed to Belleville, where a postmortem was conducted by Dr. J. B. McKay, pathologist.

Members of the jury are: Foreman, C. E. Plumley; E. P. Ellerbeck, Walter Mullett, R. C. Marston and C. P. Fuller.

Youth Exonerated

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 24 (AP)—A 16-year-old boy who testified he threatened his father with a shotgun to protect his mother from a beating Tuesday was exonerated by a coroner's jury investigating the father's death. Charles Anthony Setlech told the jury: "My finger must have slipped."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

ESTABLISH IT EARLY

ESTABLISHING a low card or cards in a suit is sometimes possible if the work on it is begun at the earliest possible opportunity and impossible if it is postponed too long. A declarer, in a suit contract, should always consider any suit-setting-up play before drawing trumps, to see whether he may require one of the dummy's trumps as a reentry. Simply going after trumps as a matter of habit is likely to leave him without a chance to do the other job effectively.

	♠ J 10 9 8 ♥ K Q 2 ♦ 8 6 3 ♣ 10 8 3
♠ K 5 4 ♥ J 10 7 5 ♦ J 7 ♣ J 6 5 2	N W E S	♠ A Q 3 2 ♥ 8 ♦ A Q 10 4 2 ♣ K 9 7
	♠ 7 6 ♥ A 9 6 4 3 ♦ K 9 5 ♣ A Q 4

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	2 ♦
Pass	Pass	2 ♥	2 ♠
3 ♥	Dbl

That identical bidding came at three tables of a duplicate game. The strong reverse bidding by East, who showed his spades at two after having called diamonds on his first turn, put West in possession of enough knowledge to try a very thin business double on his hand. It paid out at two tables, where the contract was set two, but not at the other.

The entire difference depended on what South did immediately after the diamond J was led to the A and the Q came back to the K. Two of the declarers decided to draw trumps at once, raking in the K and Q before getting the bad news that East had a singleton and West four. Those Souths had no chance thereafter to keep from being set two tricks, though both tried hard by playing low on a club lead from East in the hope he held both missing honors.

One declarer limited his loss to one down, which earned top on the deal. His opponents scored only 100 against him, whereas most East-West pairs made three-odd in diamonds for 110. After winning the second diamond, he led to the spade J, the Q winning and the diamond 10 then being scored. When the club 7 came back, he won with the single finesse of the Q and led a second spade, which the A won. The next club was his with the A and he now led to the heart K so he could bring back a third spade and ruff it, eliminating the K. The heart A and Q now were scored and the fourth spade led for discard of the club 4. West ruffed this with his heart J, but South had the heart 9 for the finale.

Hospital Board Denies Race Prejudice

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont., Nov. 24 —(CP).—Statement by a Wiarton medical doctor that his Indian woman patient was refused admittance to Saugeen Hospital because of her race was called "misleading, unfounded and injurious" by the hospital board on Monday night.

One of two resolutions passed urged the Department of National Health and Welfare to pay prevailing hospital rates of $4.50 daily for Indians requiring hospitalization. At present $3 is the Departmental rate.

It was the Department's rate, the board ruled, that caused Mrs. Morgan Johnson, Cape Crocker Reserve, to be refused admittance. A hospital policy since it was founded rules that prevailing rates must be paid or the patient is not admitted.

Dr. F. M. Williamson had taken his patient to Owen Sound hospital for X-rays of a serious back injury. After X-rays were taken he learned the hospital was crowded, so he called Saugeen hospital to find out if it would accept Mrs. Johnson.

When his patient was refused admittance, Dr. Williamson made statements to the press that Mrs. Johnson was refused because of her race, the board claimed.

It was not explained by Dr. Williamson, the board stated, that his patient was an emergency case, therefore she was placed in a category coming under the regular hospital policy.

Raise Milverton Stern 12 Feet As Salvage

CORNWALL, Nov. 23 (CP)—The stern of the coal carrier Milverton, aground in the St. Lawrence River west of Morrisburg since Sept. 1947, was raised 12 feet Monday as salvage workers continued operations designed to refloat the vessel. The Milverton ran aground after colliding with the oil tanker Translake. Twelve of her crew perished in the accident.

Working in a driving rain, the salvage crew succeeded Monday in pumping out the ship's No. 2 hold. This raised the vessel's stern from the bottom. Officials said they hoped to free the vessel this afternoon after the engine room had been pumped out.

When the ship is refloated it is planned to tow her to the government dock at Iroquois for inspection. If the ship can be repaired it will be taken to Kingston. If not, she will be scrapped at Iroquois.

I WANT 2,000 PEOPLE TO TRY SYNTONA FOR ONLY 25 CENTS

SUFFERERS FROM STOMACH TROUBLE, WEAK KIDNEYS, LAZY LIVER, NERVOUSNESS AND GENERAL RUNDOWN CONDITION

EVERY PERSON who suffers can have a special introductory bottle of SYNTONA to try for ONLY 25 CENTS. Simply read the offer below. Do this in your own interest.

This new and scientific medicine, known as SYNTONA, has helped so many people whom the readers of this page know personally. Therefore, we offer the first trial bottle at 25 cents, because we believe the people who are benefited will keep on using it. The offer is good for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week only.

What It Is!

This is no salts or pill, nor is it a powder, capsule or tablet.

SYNTONA is an advanced medical compound of 12 of the finest medicinal herbs, and not one a habit-forming drug. It is taken before meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus throwing off poisons that foster stomach troubles. It acts within ten minutes to stop gas and pains, dourness, bloating and belching. At the same time SYNTONA drives poisons from the kidneys and relieves headaches, bladder irritation and weakness.

NOW, whether SYNTONA will help you as it has thousands of others—whether it will end your suffering in a day or a week—remains to be seen. But in the light of what it has done for others, it is surely a mistake not to try it for 25 cents, only a fraction of its worth. This offer is good for Thursday, Friday and Saturday ONLY, so read the rest of this advertisement and act at once. Do this in fairness to yourself and your family.

What It Will Do!

SYNTONA will cleanse your bowels (gradually—not drastic or severe), and tone them into daily action.

It will bring out awful gases and impurities (frequently from the first dose) which may have been inside you a long time, causing you many days of misery with headaches, dizzy spells, skin eruptions and lazy, drowsy, tired feeling.

SYNTONA will relieve acid conditions and make the digestive organs sweet and clean, and give grand relief from acid indigestion, bloating, sour stomach, shortness of breath and dyspepsia.

IT WILL improve your appetite and promote proper assimilation of food for ENERGY and RESISTANCE.

SYNTONA will act as a diuretic to sluggish kidneys and flush out quantities of impurities that may have become dammed up inside, causing BACKACHE, SHARP PAINS and RISING AT NIGHT.

Science brings us methods which enable us to bring this famous medicine within reach of all sufferers. Permits hundreds to get away from the habitual use of nerve-deadening pills and harsh drugs.

It will make your liver more active, thus relieving spells of biliousness and sick headache.

Relieves those with rheumatic and neuritic pains, by ridding the system of excess acidity and irritating waste matter.

IT WILL clean up skin eruptions caused by the impurities in the organs, will overcome the sallowness or "muddiness" that is due to sluggish liver.

SYNTONA will make your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels more active, build you up in general and make you FEEL like a DIFFERENT MAN or WOMAN, younger than you may have felt in YEARS.

Find Family Of Three Asphyxiated

Believe Gas Fumes Escaping Heater Killed Baby, Parents

WINDSOR, Nov. 25 — (CP). — Death from gas fumes, undiscovered 24 hours, wiped out three members of a Windsor family in a domestic setting that was as dramatic as it was tragic.

Philip Ouellette, 44-year-old Canadian Industries Limited worker, his wife Marie, 43, clasped in his arms, was found by police Wednesday night on a cellar stairway in their tiny frame dwelling on Windsor's Glendale Avenue. Their 18-months-old son, Gary, clad in a nightgown, was found dead in his crib, apparently asphyxiated during his sleep.

Everywhere was evidence of interrupted household routine. A washing machine was whirring in the basement. A bucket of whitewash was standing nearby. The water in the washer was at room temperature. The contents of the bucket was fast becoming solid.

Coroner Dr. James M. Young said the trio were dead at least 24 hours. He believes death was accidental but has ordered the bodies held for a full examination.

Mr. Ouellette, a veteran of five years' service overseas in World War II, has been back in the Dominion nearly two years.

Gas jets were found burning full blast by police who broke their way into the dwelling when notified by neighbors who became suspicious of lights burning throughout the day.

The flue of the gas water heater in the basement, burning so furiously that it produced a yellow flame, was found plugged and the water heater on the verge of exploding. A washing machine nearby was running. A gas heater in the living room was also burning.

Police found Mr. and Mrs. Ouellette half-way up the cellar stairs. Mrs. Ouellette was clasped in her husband's arms. Baby Gary, clad in a blue sleeper, was found in his crib.

Police said later they believed Mrs. Ouellette was doing her washing and her husband was whitewashing the cellar when gas fumes escaped from a jacket water heater.

Police believed Mr. Ouellette attempted to take his wife up to the upper floor and what when he reached the landing, he too was overcome.

Canada's Governor-General Performs Ceremony; Welcome Addresses Read

3,000 Citizens At Station To Welcome Vice-Regal Party To Peterborough; Whole Proceedings Are Most Informal

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough renewed its expression of loyalty and affection to His Majesty King George VI in a warm-hearted and splendid welcome to his deputy, the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, in his official visit to the city and county today. The greeting crowd of thousands at the CPR Station for the arrival of the vice-regal party by the regular train from Toronto, was repeated at the grounds of the Civic Hospital, where His Excellency formally laid the corner-stone this afternoon of the new institution dedicated to the well-being of the citizens of Peterborough and its surrounding area.

Hopes for favoring circumstances for this occasion were gratefully realized in sunshine that seemed borrowed from October. Viscount Alexander responded in appreciation of king's weather by leaving his top-coat in the special coach attached to the rear of the train. He wore only a navy blue suit and carried a fawn snap-brim hat.

The train pulled across George St. until the Governor-General's car stood at the east end of the station. He was the first to leave the train, which did not put back to its accustomed place until the Governor-General's party stepped down to the platform.

Viscount Alexander was attended by Captain J. D. Chichester-Clark, ADC, and the Viscountess by Miss Anstice Gibbs, Lady-in-Waiting.

Present Bouquets

Mayor W. G. Ovens entered the vice-regal coach for the introductory greeting to the Governor-General, and on the platform precedence was given to two small boys, Ian and Peter Falkner, 694 Sherbrooke St., who presented bouquets of roses to Lady Alexander and Miss Gibbs.

The members of the reception committee were then presented by His Worship to the Governor-General and Lady Alexander. They were: Mrs. Ovens, Senator Iva C. Fallis and Mr. Howard Fallis, Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Fraser, MP; the Hon. Harold R. Scott and Mrs. Scott; Mr. John R. Marshall, chairman of the board of governor of Civic Hospital, and Mrs. Marshall; Warden James Humphries, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Ray, Mr. W. Harold Yelland, president of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion, and Mrs. Yelland; Ald. Adam Sands, chairman of the reception committee of the City Council, and Mrs. Sands.

Mrs. Ray is president of the Peterborough Branch of the Red Cross Society.

Inspects Guard of Honor

The reception party moved to the north platform of the station while His Excellency inspected the guard of honor from Peterborough's 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment of 70 ranks drawn up on station plaza under the command of Captain L. D. Foster with Capt. H. R. Hammell, second-in-command. The Governor-General was previously introduced to Lieut.-Col. M. E. Clarke, ED, Commanding Officer of the Regiment. While the Peterborough Pipe Band played incidental selections, moved along the two long rows of men in the familiar khaki. Carrying the colors was Lieut. C. R. Payne, and the color guard Sergeants S. R. French and A. J. Hughes.

R.S.M. Hugh B. Davidson was senior warrant officer. Field Marshal Alexander chatted with some of the men as he proceeded with his inspection of the guard. He had a special word for Robert White of the postal service, whose African Star ribbon caught the Governor-General's attention. He had served with the Canadian Navy in North African waters.

In the meantime Lady Alexander remaining on the platform carried on an easy conversation with Senator Fallis and other members of the reception committee. In the front row beside them, the Viscountess noticed Mrs. Norman Carr, 175 Aylmer St., and her two-year old twin daughters, Marlene and Kathleen. Lady Alexander bent down to speak to the little girls, wearing identical pink clothing and pink bonnets, and also to their mother.

Previously Viscount Alexander, remembering the two boys who had presented the bouquets, spotted them nearby, shook hands and asked several questions. The entire proceedings were carried out in the same pleasantly informal atmosphere. The Governor-General bears all his honors and re-

Foil Ticket Counterfeiters

TORONTO, Nov. 25 — (CP).— Plans of counterfeiters to "clean up" on the scarcity of tickets for the East-West football final here Saturday are believed failed by the chance discovery of fake tickets passed on gatekeepers last week, police said to-day.

"It would have been a scalper's delight if there ever was one," said Sergeant of Detectives William Mace who is heading the investigation into the bogus tickets.

"We are convinced that the fake tickets sold for the Toronto University-Western game were just a try-out for the big deal that was planned for this weekend," he said.

Although only a few counterfeit tickets have been discovered, Sgt. Mace said, "No person is going to the trouble of setting up the equipment just to print one or two tickets. There could be thousands of them."

CHINESE DISAPPOINTED

NANKING, Nov. 25 (AP). — Chinese officials were disappointed to-day in State Secretary Marshall's brief Washington comment on the China situation. They had hoped he would disclose a new program of assistance to Chiang Kai-Shek's armies

McCullagh Buys Telegram

TORONTO, Nov. 25—(CP).—The Toronto Evening Telegram has been sold to George McCullagh, publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail, for $3,610,000, the Telegram trustees announced today. Four bids were received for the 72-year-old newspaper, sold under the terms of the will of its founder, John Ross Robertson. One of the four bids was not in proper order. Amounts of the other bids and the names of those bidding were not announced.

The trustees said Mr. McCullagh's offer was "well-over" the secret reserve price they had set.

Mr. McCullagh's bid was accompanied by a cheque for $361,000. The conditions of sale provide that he may take over the paper Dec. 1 and must complete his payments and take possession by next Jan. 20.

The sealed tenders for the papers were opened in the office of a Bay Street lawyer in the presence of bidders, trustees of the Robertson estate and the paper's solicitors.

The trustees advertised for bids last Oct. 29. The Telegram has been operated by trustees since the death of Mr. Robertson in 1918. His will directed that the paper be sold after the deaths of his two sons and widow. The last of these—Mrs. Irvin H. Cameron, his widow who re-married died in 1947.

HAVE 2-DAY CONFERENCE

TORONTO, Nov. 25—(CP)—A two-day conference on public health, child and family welfare and economics will begin here Friday.

U.S. Shipping Strike Ends

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(CP)—The Longshoremen's strike which has crippled shipping in United States east-coast ports, caused a diversion boom in Halifax and a passengers' strike aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth in Southampton, England, appeared settled early today.

Cyrus Ching, Canadian - born head of the United States mediation and conciliation service, announced an agreement which came on the 16th day of the strike.

The agreement, subject to approval by union members, gives some 65,000 striking dock workers a 13-cent hourly wage increase, retroactive to Aug. 21, when previous contracts expired.

Previously, the International Longshoremen's Association (A.F. L.) had demanded a 25-cent hourly boost in the straight, daytime pay rate of $1.75 hourly.

The employers' top offer, up to the time of the agreement today, was 10 cents an hour.

Ching said he was "hopeful" the union members will approve the agreement.

The agreement also was subject to approval by the individual employers.

Other Points

Besides the 13-cent hourly increase in regular day rate, the agreement calls for:

Mothers Given Wrong Babies

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 25—(CP) — A Melbourne Supreme Court Justice today ruled that two mothers were given the wrong baby daughters June 22, 1945.

The babies were born within a few minutes of each other at Kyneton District Hospital, Melbourne. About a year after the birth, one of the mothers, Mrs. William Henry Morrison, claimed the baby being brought up by the other mother, Mrs. Noel Henry Jenkins, bore greater resemblance to her than the child she herself was rearing.

When the babies were three years old, the Morrisons issued a writ of habeus corpus demanding that the Jenkins couple deliver to them the child known as Ntela Jenkins. Mrs. Jenkins bitterly contested the writ.

Justice Barry said in summing up the lengthy case that blood groupings established the fact that the child known as Joanne Lee Morrison could not be the Morrisons'. However, the child could be that of Mrs. Morrison and another male, but as the character of Mrs. Morrison was never challenged he ordered Mrs. Jenkins to surrender her child to the Morrisons.

Police Seize Truck Of Arms

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(AP)—A truckload of arms and ammunition was seized by police early today at an upper Manhattan garage.

Five men were arrested at the scene, and charged with violation of the Sullivan (Weapons) Law.

Police said the five denied knowing their crated cargo, which was covered over with old clothing, consisted of rifles, machine-guns, ammunition and other weapons.

Police said the 2½-ton truck contained 46 army rifles, 75 side-arms including automatics and revolvers, four machine-guns, one sub-machine gun, a box of hand-grenade parts, four boxes of rifle ammunition, two clips of tracer bullets and a belt of .'0 calibre machinegun cartridges.

GM Union Members Vote On Negotiations

OSHAWA, Nov. 25 — (CP). — Membership of General Motors Division Local 222 United Automobile Workers (CIO) will vote tomorrow and Saturday to express their views on negotiations carried on between the union's bargaining committee and the management of General Motors of Canada, Ltd., on three points in their working agreement.

Chief point of contention is the company's refusal to eliminate from the agreement the Rand formula penalties for illegal strikes.

The membership also objects to a clause requiring that any strike vote be held under jurisdiction of the Ontario Minister of Labor.

Southern Ontario To Get Increase In Power Quota

TORONTO, Nov. 25—(CP).—Southern Ontario municipalities have been granted an additional 2½ per cent. in the daily Hydro-Electric power quotas, Chairman Robert Saunders of the Ontario Hydro - Electric Power Commission announced today. The increase was made possible by heavy rainfalls at Northern Ontario and Quebec power sources, Hydro officials said. The increase is in addition to a 2½ per cent. boost made earlier this week.

Officials of the Toronto Hydro-Electric system announced at the same time that the city's one-hour morning cutoff will be eliminated. Toronto now has only one daily power interruption, between 4 p.m. and 5 p.m. A 45-minute evening cutoff was eliminated Wednesday when downtown cuts went into effect.

No Thanksgiving For Florida Boy

SEFFNER, Fla., Nov. 25 (AP) —Fourteen - year - old Donald Younglove won't have his Thanksgiving turkey today.

He won't have anything—not even a glass of water. He had his last drink of water one week ago today.

In another two weeks he will be dead, doctors say. And there is nothing they can do for him. Donald wishes he didn't have to wait two weeks.

Last June Donald's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Younglove, noticed he complained frequently about excessive tiredness.

Tonics and vitamins were prescribed. Donald, a husky 105-pound youngster, began to lose weight.

The father took him to a specialist in nearby Tampa.

The specialist said Donald had dermatomyesitis, a rare metabolic disease in which something goes wrong with the muscles and they waste away.

Today Donald weighs 35 pounds. His skin is leathery, sallow, dead.

A Narrow Escape

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25 (AP) —A Trans-world Airline Constellation plane caught fire shortly after it landed at Municipal Airport early to-day from Washington, DC, but all 16 passengers and five crew members aboard walked away from it safely. The plane was demolished.

Russia Demands UN Order Troops Out of Palestine

PARIS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Russia today called on the United Nations to order all foreign troops and military personnel out of Palestine.

The Soviet Union submitted a formal resolution to the 58-member political committee. It was aimed at withdrawal from the Holy Land of Arab armies now fighting there.

Some observers took the reference to mean the inclusion of U.N. truce observers who are members of the American, French and Belgian armed forces.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting U.N. Palestine mediator, said there are more than 500 foreign observers on U.N. truce teams in Palestine and surrounding Arab States.

Russia's S. K. Tsarapkin put forward the demand in a brief speech before the committee.

Asked directly whether the Russian proposal meant that United Nations truce observers should leave Palestine, Tsarapkin told a reporter:

"Our resolution is quite clear."

(Russian officers are not among the Truce observers. Russia abstained last Spring from voting on the question of sending observers to Palestine.)

Mahmoud Bey Fawzi of Egypt told the committee some proposals before it contain "illusions that there are going to be negotiations between Arabs and Zionists."

The Arabs may negotiate with the U.N. on peace in Palestine, but not directly with the Jews, he said.

Canada Reviews Relations With Eire

St. Laurent Anxious Dominion's Traditional Relations Maintained

OTTAWA, Nov. 25—(CP)—Under three main headings, Canada is studying the measures that may "be necessary and possible" to give effect to her desire to continue "close and friendly relations" with Eire, the government said today.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in a statement, said Canada hopes that the traditional relations can not only be maintained but strengthened after Eire repeals the External Act that binds her to the British Crown.

A government source, elaborating, said later Ottawa must consider the problem from three standpoints, citizenship, the 1932 trade agreement which extended Eire the privileges of the British preferential tariff, and whether Eire's tariff rights would entitle other nations to say they deserved the same.

In his statement, Mr. St. Laurent said:

"A meeting attended by the Canadian secretary of state for external affairs (L. B. Pearson) and representatives of the government of the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand, took place in Paris on Nov. 16, 1948, with representatives of the government of Ireland, to discuss matters arising out of the forthcoming repeal of that country's External Relations Act.

"Following these discussions, the government of Canada has been giving consideration to the position which will result when the new enactment comes into force."

It was possible, the source said, that if Canada decides that changes must be made in citizenship or tariff laws that parliamentary legislations will be necessary.

Havelock Girl, 16, Shoots 200-Lb. Buck

HAVELOCK, Nov. 25.—(ENS). —Miss Betty Post, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Post of Havelock, shot a buck weighing more than 200 pounds on Saturday morning in the vicinity of Oak like. The party comprised Mr. and Mrs. Post, Miss Dorothy Ann Holdcroft, Havelock, and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Dudman of Port Credit. Mr. Post had just set the dogs out and the two girls were on the runway together, when Miss Post sighted the buck coming from behind a large rock She took aim and fired, the first shot bringing it down. At is was floundering Miss Holdcroft took the rifle and fired a second shot.

Miss Post has done considerable target practice and is considered a good shot.

Canadians Refuse To Enter Armaments Race, War Industries Slowed

Plants Managed By Crown Company Idle For Three-Year Period; Ignore Foreign Blandishments To Speed Up

OTTAWA, Nov. 25—(CP). — The world may be engulfing itself in a vast armaments race but, so far at least, you can't prove it by Canada's Federal arms industry. Despite foreign blandishments, the $8,000,000-a-year agency the Government established in 1945 to supervise its seven surviving war plants and to act as a nucleus for emergency industrial expansion is about as quiet a place as you can find.

From the standpoint of production, the plants managed by the Crown company, Canadian Arsenals Limited—all in Ontario and Quebec — are virtually idle and have been for three years.

Meanwhile, the two fields in which there is activity now or coming—aircraft and ships—are outside the company's scope. The A. V. Roe Company of Canada is working on an interceptor fighter plane for the RCAF near Toronto and should produce the first complete one by spring. Civilian shipbuilders will build the navy's new sub-chaser and other craft.

Varied Products

The CAL plants can produce radar, guns, ammunition, converted snowmobiles, explosives and other military requirements. Now they are manned by skilled skeleton staffs who keep busy on maintenance, on occasional small orders, on repairs to guns and instruments for the forces, and in keeping abreast of technical developments in their fields. The staff runs to about 2,000.

A Quebec City plant is tooling up for a Chinese order for small arms ammunition under a mutual aid agreement signed in August, 1945. It will occupy only one section of the plant.

Other countries have been told by the External Affairs Department that arms are not available or that Canada is not in the business. Exceptions were made for China because of the agreement and once for The Netherlands because Canada has sold her war equipment.

The seven plants are at Quebec City, Longueuil, Que., Lindsay, Long Branch, St. Paul L'Emite, Que., Nitro, Que., and Leaside.

nown so lightly that he immediately put everybody around him at ease.

Following his inspection of the guard, His Excellency returned to the platform, and at a final present-arms by the guard while the pipe band played "Scotland the Brave", the station reception was concluded.

Waiting automobiles at the sidewalk presently whisked the Governor-General's party and Mayor and Mrs. Ovens up town on the way to the Canadian General Electric works for luncheon in the plant's cafeteria. Street decorations were dominated by the huge and bright hued Union Jack floating above the street in front of the J. J. Turner & Sons, plant. Their main windows bore greetings streamers: "A Wholehearted Welcome" and "Your Visit Is Our Pride". Many of the stores, banks and offices flew festive flags, mingling with the main scheme of decorations along the central streets.

The whole episode of reception at the C.P.R. station was a happy beginning of the Governor-General's long day in Peterborough. The crowd was estimated at close to the 3,000, enlarged by many of the early home-going factory employees at the noon hour.

Luncheon At CGE

CGE employees had transformed their Park St. gate into an entrance of greeting, framed by evergreens, and the word "welcome" in large golden colored letters. The simple cafeteria luncheon for the visitors was set at a table in the shop refectory, in the midst of 450 of the employees, most of them the regular diners who had in their midst Alexander of El Alamein and Anzio and Cassino.

For this occasion, the president of the company, Mr. R. H. Turner of Toronto, was present with Mrs. Turner, and the others with the Governor-General's party at a special table were Mr. Ian McRae, works manager, and Mrs. McRae, Mayor Ovens and Mrs. Ovens. The atmosphere of the luncheon was just as simple and pleasant as the reception at the station. Just as informally, His Excellency looked around in some of the departments of the big industry, and was probably informed of its place in Canada's wartime production.

Ceremony At Hospital

With undeviating adherence to the program of the afternoon, His Excellency arrived at Civic Hospital promptly at 2 p.m. for the laying of the corner-stone for which a niche had been kept in the front of main building. Introductions included the Hon. Russell T. Kelley, Ontario's Minister of Health, who conveyed to His Excellency and the governors of the hospital the felicitations of the Provincial Government; Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association, and Mrs. Morgan; the Most Rev. Gerald Berry, DD; Rabbi and Mrs. M. Mayer; His Honor Judge Sheldon L. Smoke and Mrs. Smoke; Mr. John Hornal, superintendent of the hospital, and Mrs. Hornal; Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Howson, Mr. James Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Williamson (Mrs. Williamson is head of the women's auxiliary of Civic Hospital), Miss Marion Deyell, Miss A. L. Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Marshall, and other members of the welcoming group of citizens who were previously introduced at the station.

Mr. Marshall was chairman of the proceedings following the playing of the National Anthem, "God Save the King," by the Peterborough Citizens' Band. The address of civic welcome was read by Mayor Oves.

Hon. Russell Kelley said he brought the best wishes of the provincial government to the Board of Governors and the citizens in their building of a splendid, modern hospital. He remarked that he did not bring in his pocket a cheque from the government, but a very substantial one would be forthcoming.

The Minister said he hoped the citizens would understand and appreciate the work of the council and Governors in planning out the erection of the hospital.

Hon Mr. Kelley expressed his tribute to the great work for humanity which the nurses of the province were performing in their daily duties. He stressed the great need of nurses for the hospitals that now exist and for the others that will have to be built.

The program of welcoming addresses included two choral numbers by the choir of the student nurses of Civic Hospital. They were sung with pleasing harmony and volume. One was "O Lord of Hosts, whose glory fills", and the other the invocative "Bless This House".

Bouquets were presented to Lady Alexander and her Lady-in-Waiting by Miss Jane and Miss Catherine Ovens.

Other greetings to the Governor-General and with references to the significance of the occasion were expressed by Rev. Mr. Morgan, Bishop Berry, Rabbi Mayer.

Following Mr. Marshall's presentation of a silver trowel to His Excellency, the Governor-General with smiling dignity went about his official contribution to the erection of the hospital with a little flourish of mortar work.

His Excellency Replies

"For the warm welcome you have extended to us on this our first visit to Peterborough," His Excellency said in replying to the previous address, "I should like to thank you most sincerely on behalf of my wife and myself. I should like to add how much I appreciate the generous words of your address and the fine tribute you have paid me".

"It is hardly necessary for me to say how happy we are to be here amongst you today. I recollect very well that you were so kind as to invite us as long ago as in 1946, the year we came to Canada—and I can assure you that it has been force of circumstances only which has postponed this happy occasion unto today. But like so many other good things, a little delay makes a happy occasion even more agreeable when one can enjoy it".

His Excellency spoke of the British origins of most of Peterborough's citizens from the days of its pioneers.

"On looking back over the past few years, I am proud to have been associated with your fighting men and I can say with deep and sincere feeling that of all the troops of many nationalities which I commanded in Italy and the Mediterranean, none played a more distinguished part in our victory than those boys and girls who came from Canada. It must therefore be a matter for pride and satisfaction that your own citizens from Peterborough were foremost amongst those who gave such magnificent service to the cause for which they fought."

"It is indeed significant and appropriate that I should be honored today by a splendid guard from the 50 Heavy AA Regiment whose ancestors have a long and distinguished record which is handed down to them from the Prince of Wales Rangers, who themselves were born of the old 57th Regiment—and those members have fought for the British Empire in all our great wars from the Crimea until the present day."

"This recent ceremony which I have just performed—the laying of a foundation stone for your new hospital—is indicative of the progress of a civic consciousness, whose aim is the care and welfare of the citizens of Peterborough and worthy of your city and its people. I wish your new hospital every success, confident that those who will be cared for within its hospitable walls will find relief from suffering and cure from sickness.

"And now Your Worship, let me conclude by thanking you for the honor you have done me today, and in return may I extend to you and the good people of Peterborough the affectionate good wishes of my wife and myself, together with the hope that you may enjoy good fortune and prosperity in the year which lie ahead."

Arrangements for the crowd of nearly 2,000 at the hospital were a feature of convenience. Portable stands owned by the city were erected and the temporary platform for the ceremony was laid under a canopy and amid a cluster of flags and bunting.

The morning's weather continued agreeable, and if the sun was eclipsed by the afternoon mists, the temperature was conducive for an outdoor event.

The laying of the corner stone by Viscount Alexander was in every respect a happy augury for the future of Peterborough's Civic Hospital.

After the band's playing of "O Canada", Their Excellencies left for Confederation Square where Veterans and school children were assembled to amplify Peterborough's welcome. The afternoon itinerary included a motor trip to the new Arena, a call at Western Clock plant, and to the Quaker Oats, if time permitted.

Cheese Making Hit By Labor Shortage

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 25—(CP) —R. S. Duncan, assistant deputy minister of agriculture for Ontario, Wednesday attributed Canada's inability to meet her United Kingdom cheese commitments to inadequate labor and farm machinery.

He spoke at the official opening of the annual Eastern Ontario export cheese show Mr. Duncan said that as the result of a decrease in cheese production caused by a lack of labor and machinery, "it will be a miracle if Canada can meet its 50,000,000 pounds overseas commitment."

So far this year, Canada has shipped a little better than half of the commitment. Federal officials have already stated they do not hope to be able to complete the overseas contract.

France Doesn't Want GermansRunningRuhr

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—(AP) —French authorities today renewed their objection to British and American plans for giving Germany a limited voice in control of key Rhur industries.

State Secretary Marshall Wednesday in effect rejected Paris protests against the move. H told a press conference th policy must b carried out in order to boost production for Western Germany and all Europe.

A French embassy official, however, said he feels the American stand leaves a "loophole" for the possible rebirth of a German war machine.

In an effort to allay French fears, Marshall invited France to take part in supervision of the Rhur coal and steel industries even though the French zone in Germany has not yet joined the British American zonal union.

Attendance Record Broken At Royal Winter Fair

TORONTO, Nov. 25—(CP).—It was back to the farm today for the thousands of farm animals that have held the spotlight through eight days of glamor, crowds and prize-giving at the 20th Royal Winter Fair which ended Wednesday night. For them it was a great show. Many of them carried away more than 10,000 ribbons won in competition which fair officials said matched any since the fair began in 1922.

It was a great show for the officials too. W. P. Watson, general manager, called it "a record year for overall attendance." Some 80,000 persons saw the fair's biggest attraction, the horse show.

Wednesday night's horse show ended on a high note for the four-man military jumping team of France when they won the international team challenge trophy for the first time since 1927.

France Scores

Undaunted by the record of the Mexican team—undefeated since the Fair began—Capt. Max Fresson and Lieut. Guy Lefront put their team ahead with faultless jumping over the 11 barriers of the course. Team captain Col. Pierre Cavaille clinched the victory atop his team's best mount, Marquis III. The horse, slightly lamed from previous jumping, carried his rider through with only one balk at a difficult jump.

For many Fair exhibitors, the closing doesn't mean the end of competition. A long line of cattle cars Wednesday night began taking on the prize-winning livestock that will be shipped to Chicago to seek prizes at the International Livestock Exposition which opens there on Saturday.

Canadian farmers kept all the world titles. Three of them went to Alberta farmers—to join Allsop of Red Deer for wheat, to John Boulton of Abee for oats and to R. Wennerstrom of Camrose for rye. Louis Robbins of Laura, Sask., is the world barley champion and Arthur Budarick of Palmer Rapids, Ont., won the world championship for potatoes.

Golds, Base Metals Edging Upward

TORONTO, Nov. 25 (CP) — The Thanksgiving Day holiday in the United States left the Toronto Stock Exchange to make its own way. Prices were irregularly firmer with golds and base metals edging upwards in moderately active trading. Industrials showed a slightly weaker tone with a comparatively small number of issues mixing gains and losses.

The industrial list moved quietly with a few issues touching new highs. Generally the list was down. Oil weakened and papers and foods were easier. Utilities showed a slightly stronger tone and Dominion Tar led a downward construction group. Liquors climbed strongly.

Base metals climbed slowly after a weak opening. Smelters added a fraction and Pend Oreille, New Calumet and Sherritt were also ahead. Noranda, Waite Amulet and Eureka dipped.

Nicholson was an active Junior Gold for a moderate advance. Teck-Hughes, Sheep Creek, Kerr Addison and Negus also strengthened.

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO, Nov. 25 — (CP)— Wholesale fruit and vegetable prices here today were unchanged.

Top Republican Expert Backs Atlantic Pact

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.— (AP).—The proposed North Atlantic military alliance drew strong support from a top Republican foreign policy adviser.

Chairman Charles H. Eaton (Rep. N.J.) of the House Foreign Affairs committee said the United States should stand ready to supply arms and technical advice to friendly Western European nations "if they need it and if we have it to spare."

"Either Western Europe is going to remain free from outside political control, or it is going to be dominated by Russia."

Of the second alternative he said: "I would consider that the last calamity of our age."

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Nov. 25 —(CP)—Settlement of the longshoremen's strike in the United States today ended the tension caused by Wednesday's order to passengers to get off the liner Queen Elizabeth by this morning

The Cunard White Star Line posted notices in the Queen Elizabeth announcing that the liner would sail for New York at 8 a.m. Sunday.

Wednesday the passengers were ordered to leave by this morning since at that time no settlement of the longshoremen's strike was in sight. Approximately 900 passengers refused to disembark and voted for a "sit-in" strike.

Planes Take Off At Dawn, Seek Freighter

HALIFAX, Nov. 25. —(CP).— RCAF search and rescue planes took off on the two search missions today—one for an overdue freighter and the other for a missing plane.

Two Lancasters left the RCAF base at Greenwood, N.S., to continue the search for the British freighter Hopestar, missing since Nov. 14 with 37 men aboard in the North Atlantic.

Another Lancaster headed for the seas off Cape Breton on a 'clean-up flight" in the search for a United States Mitchell bomber missing since Nov. 5 with six aboard.

The U.S. plane was en route from Washington to Stephenville, Nfld.

Search for the Hopestar started Wednesday with United States and Canadian planes taking part.

Search and rescue said here: "It is felt that (today's search) will be the last physical effort to find the Hopestar." They added, however, that listening watches on alerted shipping will be maintained for possibly two weeks.

R.C.A.F. said here that United States air force and Coast Guard planes would also take to the air again this morning. The hunt began Tuesday after the Hopestar reported "heavy weather damage" some 400 miles southeast of Halifax.

The vessel was en route from Newcastle to Philadelphia.

Some 25 hours were logged by the Lancaster aircraft, which carry lifeboats that they can drop to stranded seamen.

United States planes from the naval base at Argentia, on Newfoundland's south coast, returned to base Wednesday reporting negative results.

Venezuela Army Seizes Control

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 25 —(AP)—A military junta took over provisional rule of Venezuela today, a few hours after the army toppled the government of President Romulo Gallegos.

The announcement, issued just before midnight Wednesday, said Lt.-Col. Carlos Delgado Chalbaud has been named president of the Junta. Delgado was defence minister in Gallegos' cabinett.

The Junta will govern Venezuela until a new government is formed, the announcement said. It will rule under the 1936 constitution and parts of the 1947 constitution that are considered progressive.

The bloodless revolt occurred at noon Wednesday when troops took over all public buildings.

Gallegos, who took office last February as Venezuela's first president elected by direct vote, was at his home under army protection. The whereabouts of other political leaders was unknown.

Warden Stephen Gets Gold Watch From Colleagues

COBOURG, Nov. 25.—(ENS). Warden Alex Stephen was presented with the traditional gold watch at the annual warden's banquet of Northumberland and Durham counties council, held in the British hotel Wednesday night. Guest speaker was Hon. Major John Foote, V.C., member for Durham county. Formerly a counties councillor, the Hon. W. A. Goodfelow made the presentation of the gold watch to Warden Stephen.

Head table guests included: Reeve A. S. Baker of Bowmanville, who presided; Mr. Charlie Stephenson, M.P. for Durham riding; Mayor of Cobourg J. S. Smith; Warden Alec Stephen and Mrs. Stephen; Major John Foote and Mrs. Foote; W. A. Goodfellow; Counties Clerk Wm. Barr; Warden Humphries of Peterborough county; Mrs. A. S. Baker.

Drawing upon his experiences as a prisoner in Germany during the last war to provide a striking contrast to the differences in life enjoyed by Canadians and other peoples, Major Foote called for a full realization of the many blessings of life in Canada.

"We don't realize what a great country we have until we travel around," declared Major Foote, who told of talking to young Germans and of learning that their great struggle was to gain enough land on which to live.

"The most pleasant, kind and reasonable of all Germans were the Bavarian peasants living on and running their own farms, while the crowded portion of Germany's people looked with longing on a country like Canada," stated the speaker continuing. "It is something the same in England with its crowded population. Here in Canada we have unlimited opportunities. I believe there would be less trouble in the world to-day if the rest of the world was in as fortunate a position as we are in Canada," stated Rev. Foote.

"There are too many people these days who feel themselves aloof from public service, saying it to be a dirty business. My idea is that it is what you make it. Service is the one thing that matters above everything else," stated the speaker in paying warm tribute to the members of Counties Council for their part in the government of the country.

This United Counties Council has produced one of the best men in the Cabinet of the Ontario Government, concluded Major Foote, turning to Hon. W. A. (Bill) Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare for Ontario, and MPP for Northumberland riding.

Jury Exonerates Driver In Fatality

COBOURG, Nov. 25 (CP). — No blame was attached to anyone by the coroner's jury at the inquest Wednesday night into the death of Marion Findlay of Grafton who was killed in a highway accident a few miles east of here on the night of November 5. The jury found that she was thrown from a light truck driven by Beverly Harnden of Grafton.

When Harnden, in order to avoid striking a car ahead, skidded into the path of a truck driven by John Inglis of Toronto, and then into another truck driven by Leander King of Montreal. The Harnden truck upset, and the girl received a fractured skull.

Sees Son Crushed

HAWESBURY, Nov. 25.—(CP). —A shocked mother Wednesday saw her young son crushed to death as he ran behind a heavy grain truck to open a barn door. Remi Levac, 7, of nearby McAlpine, Ont., was killed when he went to help unload cattle feed being delivered to the Levac farm. Police said driver of the truck, Conrad Lalonde, also of McAlpine, failed to see the boy, who was crushed between the back of the truck and a barn wall.

"The Greatest Soldier Since Wellington"

Peterborough this day honours and welcomes on their first official visit Their Excellencies, Field Marshal the Viscount Alexander of Tunis and Errigal, K.G., Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief of the Dominion of Canada, and his gracious consort the Viscountess Alexander.

* * *

Since coming to Canada in the spring of 1946, Their Excellencies have travelled widely throughout the Dominion, familiarized themselves with many aspects of Canadian life, and won the warm respect of citizens of all degrees. Government House has had no First Lady more charming and friendly, Canada no Governor-General more eminent because of his own achievements. Peterborough is honoured by their visit, and its being originally an Irish community can but intensify the enthusiasm with which we receive the son of the 4th Earl of Caledon and the daughter of the 5th Earl of Lucan, who continue the Irish connexion in the second-name of the viscountsy.

* * *

Lord Alexander has a special place in the esteem and hearts of Peterborough men because so many of them served under him in the Mediterranean theatre of military operations during the recent war. They share with all other Canadians an immense pride that Canada has in its midst as the King's deputy the man whom Sir Osbert Sitwell has termed "the greatest soldier Britain has produced since Wellington".

The Budget Surplus

The Federal Treasury has accumulated a surplus of more than half a billion dollars in the seven months since the beginning of the fiscal year on April 1st. This has incited much illogical criticism and optimism. There are critics who say that the Department of National Revenue is fleecing the people to line its pockets. There are others who think a large surplus beyond budgeted expenses is wicked. There are others who dream that next year—which may be an election year—taxes will be cut so sharply that almost nobody will have to pay more than a farthing in income tax.

The Treasury is not a magician's hat, though it must be admitted that the surpluses of the last two years have appeared like magic, even if people have paid fat sums to see the miracles. The Treasury has to meet increasingly heavy expenses, among which are the vastly expanded social services, larger commitments for national defence, the financial settlements arising from Newfoundland joining the Dominion as a new province, and the increased cost of everything from federal wages to income tax forms. It has also the war bonds (both interest and principal) to pay off. Further, the Government has a public responsibility to use taxes not only to control the national debt but as a weapon against excessive inflation or deflation. It has to look to the financial welfare of the country not only next year but, as far as it can, five years hence.

The Government is accepting the responsibility. During this fiscal year no less than $200,000,000 has been paid off the national debt. This not only reduces that national debt but saves the taxpayers large sums of money in interest on it. The Ottawa Citizen, well satisfied that the national obligations are being whittled down, contrasts this pleasing situation with the 21 years between the two wars when not a single cent of the $2,000,000,000 1914-1918 war debt was retired.

The Government is paying off debts and is also following a policy of cyclical budgeting. By that is meant accumulating surpluses in good times when people can pay higher taxes, so as to provide funds for less opulent times, funds which will bolster the country against a depression. The Minister of Finance, Mr. Abbott, said the same thing in a homely way at the annual dinner of the Canadian Tax Foundation in Ottawa on Tuesday. "I may be old fashioned but I hold the view that it is just as important for the nation as for the individual to put something away for the rainy day".

There will undoubtedly be substantial tax reductions next year, partly because a Ministry of Finance in a democratic country is not beyond the range of the public voice. Mr. Abbott said in the same speech:

"Decisions must always be matters of judgement and must be related to prevailing public opinion. In budget matters it is particularly true that policies must be followed which carry the general support of the people as a whole. This, I think, is as it should be in a democracy".

However, the reductions cannot be, and should not be, extravagant.

A High Moral Tone

We who have to wrestle with our lowly clay are sometimes filled with awe by the high-mindedness of other papers. Such an awful moment came when we read an editorial in the Ottawa Journal which contrasted the procedure by which Mr. Drew, the Conservative candidate, and Mr. Forsey, the C.C.F. candidate, were nominated for the Carleton County by-election. We have understood that the by-election was made necessary by the resignation of the sitting Conservative member who thereby was providing room for Mr. Drew. After reading the Journal we begin to think that perhaps that was a mistaken, even politically immoral, assumption.

The Journal says that the C.C.F. candidate was picked not by a Carleton County C.C.F. group but by the party's "High Command". In contrast, Mr. Drew was nominated in a thoroughly democratic way,

"The Progressive Conservatives of Carleton called an open convention, which was held at Carp on Saturday, and there was a period of an hour at the opening of the meeting when any Conservative in the riding could have been nominated to contest the convention with Mr. George Drew. That was a thoroughly democratic process, and in keeping with our best political tradition".

Despite the Journal's logic and democratic protestations, we still wonder if there could not have been some slight connection between the Conservative convention several months ago, the Party's big-wigs, and the selection of Mr. Drew at Saturday's nomination meeting? With what awe we would have received the news that Mr. Drew had not been nominated, or that other names had been put forward in that hushed hour when "any Conservative in the riding could have been nominated",

Practical Show Of Good Will

Recently the English schools in Quebec celebrated a French Day, in which all lessons, conversation and play were carried on in French. This plan was undertaken to impress upon the children the bi-lingual nature of their province and their country, and we understand that it was a great success. As there are very few children in Quebec who do not speak at least a little French the plan was something more than a mere stunt.

And what did the French think of it? The intelligent ones accepted it as a true and practical show of goodwill; others were disgruntled about it. This quotation from Le Clairon, of St. Hyacinthe gives the first opinion and touches upon the other:

"Those damned English", as they are called in certain quarters have had a satanic idea. They decided to celebrate a French day in the English schools of the province, spreading more widely knowledge of the civilization and culture of their Canadian compatriots. This horrible bonne entente movement has roused the ire of many persons and organizations. It is true that certain of the latter survive only through continual attacks on these "damned English". How these "damned" can amuse themselves by cutting the ground from under the feet of their compatriots is what one wonders and one can see only one explanation: an inspiration of Satan. Unless there is another, that is: just purely and simply the desire for a good understanding. But that idea is far too pure and simple to enter into the bear-brains of some of our contemporaries.

NOTES AND COMMENT

For the "meanest thief" title we nominate one in Wisconsin who stole a bass viol. That's getting pretty low.

Some school-girl baby-sitters insist on the right to have their boy-friends visit them during their evenings on duty. Someone to hold the hand that rocks the cradle.

Eight elephants have gone fantee on a ship 1500 miles from land. We hope that somebody on board has the needed Noah-how.

The Peterborough Collegiate rugby football players have ended their season triumphantly. Both the Senior and the Junior teams won the Central Ontario championships in their respective classes in the secondary school leagues. A proud achievement for two good teams.

From The Critic's Notebook

THE MYTH OF THE MAGUS, by E. M. Butler (Cambridge). This is a very readable, scholarly, entertaining study of the processes by which certain men in the world's history have become endowed in the public estimation with magical qualities. Readers who are accustomed to such investigations will know at least some of the names which turn up in it: Zoroaster, Solomon, Pythagoras, Merlin, Faustus, Bacon and the latter-day Blavatsky and Rasputin are magi of whom we have all heard.. It may jolt a few readers to find the lives of Moses and Christ subjected to the same sort of scrutiny. But Miss Butler has no desire to shock; she is interested in myth-making, and mankind has established a particular type of character for its great mystical teachers and wonder-workers, and when the facts of a man's life do not fit the myth, it is the facts and not the myth which go by the board. In her study of the great magi of the ages Miss Butler compares whatever facts are available with the myth, which is common property.

The greatest wonder-workers among these men are those who are most distant from us in time. They lived in an age when the documentation of any man's life, however famous he was, tended to be scanty, and this gave the myth-makers a free hand. In comparatively modern times the creation of myths has been more difficult, but it has been surprisingly successful, nevertheless; the myth surrounding the Comte de St. Germain, who died in 1784 is a remarkable creation for a time which has been called the Age of Reason, and the history of Cagliostro, his contemporary, is scarcely less wonderful. Within living memory Madame Blavatsky commanded the belief and devotion of thousands. And who is to say that in a hundred years or so the myth of the magus will not have woven itself, in some degree, about the name of Gandhi?

For the magi are not all fakes, by any means. Some have been tricksters, but others have been men of the greatest enlightenment and lovingkindness. But all have promised, by one means or another, a command over the powers of life and death beyond anything which lies within the grasp of ordinary men and women. And even with the shoddiest of them the belief of their followers has far outstripped any claims which they have made for themselves. Man's will to believe in supernatural, has created the myth of the magus. Miss Butler's fine study helps us to a greater understanding of a very old and still powerful pattern of thought.

HARPER OF HEAVEN (McClelland and Stewart) is the sequel to "Ploughman of the Moon" and completes Robert Service's autobiography. The book holds surprises for readers who may have forgotten that "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" had an author. One surprise may be that the septuagenarian Robert Service, the Canadian ballad-maker who rose to fame and fortune for his Yukon verses, is alive. He achieved his twenty-five year obscurity by living quietly in France until the last war, and by writing no popular books of verse after "Rhymes of a Red Cross Man" in 1918.

This second volume of his unpretentious story has no connection with Dangerous Dan McGrew. It begins with Service in France at the end of the first war and ends with Service back in Nice at the end of the recent war. Between those two events he lived in Paris and sampled its milder allures; married; acquired two homes (one in Nice, the other in Britanny); clipped coupons; wrote some verse and a few novels not widely read; bought a thousand books; met a few minor celebrities on the French Riviera; travelled twice to Russia and once to the United States (to spend 1940-45 in California).

The story is lightly, modestly told. Two wonderments remain with this reviewer. One is that Robert Service could have lived as he has for the last thirty years and still preserve the ingenuous attitude to life and letters he had when he first struck pay gold (in verse). The other is that the wages from his writing have been so lucrative. The royalties from his first two or three ballad books seem to have kept him well-heeled for thirty years. The ingenuousness and the royalties are an achievement; so is "Dan McGrew". T.J.A.

ANYTHING BUT LOVE, by Elizabeth Hawes (Clarke, Irwin). This wittily-written, but essentially very serious book, is the work of a woman who has made a reputation as a designer of beautiful clothes. But although her customers are American women, Miss Hawes thinks that American women are in a sad condition of self-deception. They think that they are very wonderful, precious, superior creatures, the custodians of their nation's culture and possessed in addition of mystical qualities which are a part of their American womanhood. They are encouraged in this delusion by several hundred magazines which are published for women alone. From one of these, The Ladies' Home Journal, Miss Hawes quotes this pregnant aphorism: "Of all laboursaving devices ever invented for women, none has ever been so popular as a devoted male". Miss Hawes sets to work to debunk the American Woman, and she does it with spirit and conviction. Her principal charge is that women are not honest with themselves and are therefore unable to be honest with men. And this dishonesty, in her opinion, has a disheartening effect upon American civilization....If you want to annoy your female relatives, give them this book for Christmas. It is designed for the U.S.A. but it is not without application in Canada.

THE PORTABLE SWIFT, edited by Carl Van Doren (Macmillan). This is a useful little selection, neatly presented in the familiar 'Portable' style. Although many people know Swift vaguely as the writer of "Gulliver's Travels" (which they mistakenly believe to be a child's book) remarkably few are familiar with the writings of this extraordinary clergyman whose life was tortured by the "savage indigation" to which he refers in his epitaph. As a matter of interest you might ask the next university graduate you meet how much they have read of Swift. We need him now, as a corrective to sentimental and nonsensical thinking. His bitterness and despair were those of a great spirit, and his most savage writings make cleansing readin...

This dishonoured "Gulliver", unexpurgated as it is in this edition, is timely reading at this moment. We may wish that Mr. Van Doren could have found room for more of Swift's lively verse but otherwise it is hard to see how this little book, with its good introduction and notes, could have been improved.

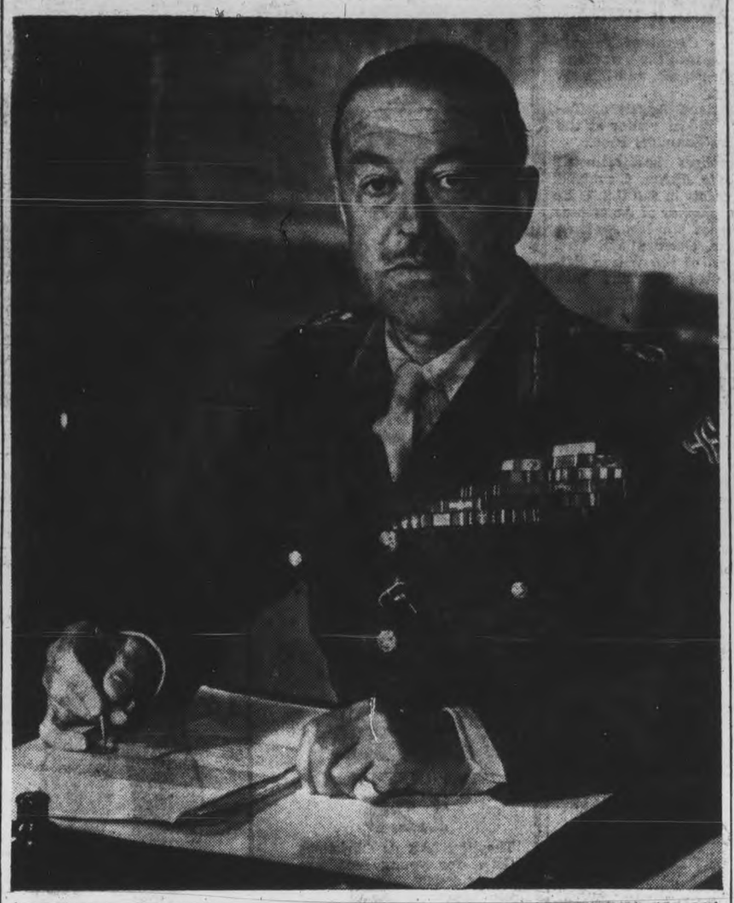
OUR ILLUSTRIOUS VISITOR



Civil Defence In Britain

(RT. HON. WILLIAM MABANE IN SUNDAY TIMES, LONDON)

A NEW Civil Defence organization has been devised, and a Bill to confer the necessary enabling powers will be introduced in this session of Parliament. That such things should be is a tragic commentary on events. Yet for the Government to do less would be criminal neglect.

Between 1939 and 1945 we learnt—slowly perhaps—that in war the armed forces and the civilian population must be integrated as one war-making machine. It is as important, therefore, that the civilian should be trained beforehand to play his part as it is for the sailor, the soldier, or the airman. It is equally important that a strategical and tactical plan of Civil Defence should be not merely prepared but, so far as necessary, given practical shape. The purposes of such training and such a plan should be clearly understood. They are to maintain morale, to save lives, and to maintain production and essential services.

At present, there is a tendency on the part of the public to regard Civil Defence as useless. The country must, therefore, be persuaded of three most important truths. The first is that defence against the atomic bomb is possible. The second is that even if atomic bombs explode their lethal effect can be vastly reduced by civil precautions and discipline. The third is that, in any future war, not all bombing from the air will be atomic. The same sense of futility was prevalent before 1939. "The bomber," it was said on the highest authority, "would always get through." It was seriously suggested that London would be laid waste and much of its population blasted or gassed out of existence in the first few days of war. Every estimate both of casualties and damage was falsified by the fact. This falsification did not surprise those who were most intimately concerned with Civil Defence preparations, nor did those who enrolled early in the organization share the general fear.

✧ ✧ ✧

A STEADY population, aware both of the extent and the limits of the risks it must run in modern war, provides an environment in which the regular and active Civil Defence Forces can best operate. For it is already abundantly clear that, in the event of war, a regular and full-time Civil Defence Force must be brought into being. Those who witnessed it will never cease to wonder at the brilliant improvisation carried out by Sir John Anderson between the end of 1938 and the outbreak of war, or to admire the consolidation and development of the early plans by Mr. Herbert Morrison from October, 1940, onwards. Today, experience is abundant. It has been studied expertly by the Committee under General Irwin which includes that indefatigable pioneer of Civil Defence, Sir John Hodsoll. The mistakes to be avoided are known. The plans now in preparation are likely to reveal that most of the lessons of 1939-45 have been well learnt....

New and horrible forms of attack have to be contemplated—blast, gamma-rays, flash burn from the atomic bomb, new gases, even bacteria—but against all, as the whole experience of war has shown, defence will catch up. The terror lessens the more it is understood. For that reason the basis of all action in the field of Civil Defence in these days of total war must be universal knowledge of the dangers to be faced and the action to be taken to diminish it.

Letter To The Editor

PROMISES HISTORY OF HYDRO SHORTAGE

Sir: Your editorial of Nov. 19th "When you Choose the New Councillors" is indeed interesting and I will give the Examiner credit for solving and often remedying different matters, but I think when an Industrial Development Commission is appointed they should be furnished with the knowledge as to why industries in the past have left Peterborough; why parts of others have left, why there is talk of still more leaving? These questions should be answered honestly and intelligently to any one enquiring as is sure to be the case, when our Commission approaches prospective industries, locating in Canada.

I am pleased that the Examiner believes that where a case of emergency arises that Ontario can cope with the situation. Is the power situation what some would have us believe? Will the emergency proposals now being worked out be the answer?

If and I say if, hoping it will not happen, that if a depression, we certainly do require more industries. We require men for different matters of business in our Council. Let us be prepared that the ones we choose for the Industrial Development Commission have all the assistance possible to give them.

Now Mr. Editor in order that more men of different thought and ability are on our Council, there comes up in my mind, the Ward system. Again who is to be the judge as to who the Commission is to be?

Any intelligent person will agree that it will require some intelligent choosing. The reason we have committees of our Council is a proof that oftentimes a member acting on one committee is changed to another—because he just don't fit in on the work of the particular committee he is working on.

Under our change of system of elections we will get many who would never be able to serve on our Council. By all means get more industries but be able to hold what we have. Let our city stand behind any good move brought forward to get more power for the industries, when we get them.

If the citizens wish to hear a genuine report I have regarding the Political History of the Power Shortage dating back to 1942 right down to the present, I will give it at the Nomination Meeting. I will give this without any favours shown or fear of contradiction. Do the citizens know that there is a lease to run 999 years given under the Ontario Conant government. There are other things that many have forgotten but are still recorded, on records.

In the Examiner of Nov. 20th, we read, "Support drive to get out vote". I am sure the citizens who are interested in using their franchise will be pleased if some way has been invented and considering how your publication has always worked so hard to accomplish this, that it will really be an innovation, if we increase the number voting.

More power to you Junior Chamber of Commerce, at last there will be real action, and let us hope for beneficial results.

MAURICE E. KETCHESON.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Oh let the wickedness of the wicked come to an end; but establish the just: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins. (Ps. 7: 9.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And unto the angel of the church in Thyatira write; These things saith the Son of God, who hath his eyes like unto a flame of fire, and his feet are like fine brass; I know thy works, and charity, and service, and faith, and thy patience, and thy works; and the last to be more than the first.

Notwithstanding I have a few things against thee, because thou sufferest that woman Jezebel, which calleth herself a prophetess, to teach and to seduce my servants to commit fornication, and to eat things sacrificed unto idols....But unto you I say, and unto the rest in Thyatira, as many as have not this doctrine, and which have not known the depths of Satan, as they speak; I will put upon you none other burden.

But that which ye have already hold fast till I come. And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations. (Rev. 2: 18-20. 24-26.)

Euchre, Dance Aid Arena Funds

MARMORA, Nov. 25—(ENS)—The Catholic Women's League met in Sacred Heart school on Tuesday evening. The president, Mrs. Charles Cook, was chairman.

The treasure's report was given by Mrs. Carl Heath. Mrs. C. Crawford and Mrs. K. Donaldson reported for social welfare. The president tendered a vote of thanks to Miss Mary Hughes and Mrs. B. McTaggart for their efforts on the guilt and bedspread in aid of the bazaar.

Mrs. J. Maloney reported visits made by herself and Mrs. J. Freeman to the sick and shut-ins. Mrs. K. McCoy and Miss Mary Brady volunteered for this duty for the coming month.

Mrs. William Shannon gave a paper on "Citizenship." Mrs. Cook thanked members for work sent in for the fancy work booth at the bazaar and for the sale of tickets.

A discussion was held regarding a dance to be held jointly with the Holy Name Society on Dec. 3 in aid of the Arena fund. It was decided to have euchre and dance and the members were requested to bring sandwiches.

Rev. Father Farrell addressed the meeting, thanking the ladies for their co-operation and assistance during the bazaar and voiced his appreciation of their work in connection with serving meals. He congratulated Mrs. W. Shannon on her excellent paper and spoke on the fundamentals of the Catholic Women's League.

40th Anniversary For Mr., Mrs. G. Ross

NORWOOD, Nov. 25—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. George Ross were pleasantly surprised at their home on the Dummer Road last week on their 40th wedding anniversary. A large number of relatives arrived with good wishes, gifts and a three-tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Golden Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Andrew's homestead, on the boundary, where Mr. and Mrs. Golden Andrews now reside. The Rev. E. W. Pickford officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Ross have farmed in the district until two years ago.

Those attending from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. M. B. McClelland and Mrs. Jennie Black of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Armande Webster and Bobbie of Lakefield; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Russell of Douro, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Watts of Warsaw.

To Hold "At Home"

HASTINGS, Nov. 25—(ENS)—The Hastings subdivision of the Catholic Women's League have decided to hold their annual "at home" in the town hall on Friday evening after the weekly show sponsored by the Home and School Association.

Mrs. J. Powers is to be convener for the special formal affair with a special committee being in charge of the refreshment booth.

PHILIP MURRAY, president of the CIO, is shown speaking to delegates at the labor organization's national convention in Portland, Ore. Murray, while taking no direct action to oust Communists from high positions in the CIO, instead asked them to quit when it is established that they are unable to lead their union organizations properly. He refused a demand that he arbitrarily revoke the charters of 13 leftist controlled CIO unions.

Persistent fatigue that finds you as weary in the morning as if you had had no sleep, that makes you too listless to eat, that stales your energy, is often caused by a lowering of the iron level in your blood. This condition may also have a further reaction on health, for without sufficient iron your body may not be able to get the full advantages of the vitamins and protective food elements in what you do eat.

Don't let this state of affairs go on and on until you are really sick. Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today from your druggist — see how good it feels when you pep up with more iron in your blood.

Most Popular Player

TORONTO, Nov. 25.—(CP). — Ted Toogood, 24-year-old 160-pound halfback, yesterday was voted the most popular player on the University of Toronto Blues, 1948 Intercollegiate football champions. Toogood won a student vote conducted by the University daily newspaper, the Varsity, and the trophy that goes with it. A graduate in physical education, he now attends Ontario College of Education and plans to teach school upon graduating next spring.

Spitfires Push To Front Drop Biltmores By 8-2

By The Canadian Press

When the smoke cleared Wednesday night, Windsor Spitfires were perched atop the Junior Ontario Hockey Association race, two points ahead of St. Catharines Teepees and three games in hand.

It is the first time this season Windsor has taken the lead and they did it by a decisive 8-2 count over the fifth-place Guelph Biltmores.

In another Junior game last night, Barrie Flyers downed the high-flying St. Catharines squad 4-2. In two senior tilts, Hamilton Tigers took over second spot by defeating Toronto Marlboros 4-2 and Owen Sound Mercurys dropped the league-leading Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen 5-2.

Windsor picked up their 11th win in 13 starts as they downed Guelph.

Bert Giesbrecht led Windsor marksmen with three goals, while Francis O'Grady, Doug McKay, Bruce Giesbrecht, Larry Wilson and Jim Maxwell each garnered singletons. Frank Bathgate and Don Bellringer scored one apiece for Guelph.

Biltmores swept into a 2-0 lead early in the first period on counters by Bathgate and Bellringer, but from then on Spitfires commanded play by a wide margin and goaler Dave O'Meara turned in shutout hockey.

Even Count

Windsor evened the count before the end of the period on goals by O'Grady and McKay. Two more followed in the middle chapter when the Giesbrecht brothers tallied.

McKay and Eddie Bolan featured a four-goal third period with a slugging duel. Both were handed major penalties, but Bolan received a minor as well.

Barrie grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first period, trailed 2-1 in the second and then forged back to cinch the game with three goals.

Ernie Keefe notched the first goal for Barrie when he took a pass from Real Chevreflis.

Marcel Clements counted early in the second on a pass from Buck Evans and soon after Fred Hildebrand put Teepees in the lead on a three-way play with Red Sullivan and Bud Evans.

Gord Pennell and Bobbie Hogg each scored unassisted goals early in the third frame to put Flyers back in front. Chevreflis counted on a pass from Paul Meger to get the clincher.

Tigers took a 1-0 margin in the first frame on a goal by Ernie Naylor. Tom Smelle counted for Hamilton seconds after Bob Robertson scored for Toronto.

Outscore Visitors

In the third period, Hamilton outscored the visitors 2-1 with Murray Comfort scoring one and setting up another for Ab Conick. The Toronto sniper was Jack Simpson who beat Childs on a screened shot from 15 feet out.

Mercurys battled through a scoreless first period, outscored Kitchener 2-1 in the second, and 3-1 in the final frame.

Sparky Weiler counted for Kitchener early in the second frame but Fred Smith and Jack Ingoldsby clicked for Mercurys to take the lead.

Pat McReavy, Doug Gillespie and Buck Forslund scored for the winners in the final frame while Harvey Jacklin counted for Kitchener.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Photo finishes mean just that. Not only in horse racing but in spirits by humans, the mechanical eye is being accepted more and more as the last word. In the December issue of World Sports—official publication of the British Olympic Committee—Harold Abraham deals at length with the subject. He won the 100 metre Olympic championship in Paris during the 1924 games in 10.6 seconds. And he predicts that at the next Games, at Helsinki in 1952, a Photo-Finish Camera, combined with the American Bulova Timer, will be used to judge and time races. To remove the element of error which will crop up at times among the best of judges.

* * * * * *

In his article, he quotes instances of judges announcing certain decisions in close finishes, and these judges were later proven to have erred by photographs. The same thing apparently occurred in the last World Series when an umpire called a Boston player safe at second despite protests from Feller and Boudreau of Cleveland. A photo appeared in the evening papers which convinced a great many who saw it that the ump was wrong as Boudreau had the runner tagged out. Of course, refs and umps are but human and can make the odd mistake, too. These mechanical devices are a big aid in some sports at least, and your camera will keep officials on their toes—and that's all to the good, too.

Some Basket Action

Howie Macdonald gives us the rest of the Girls' Basketball League schedule till after the Christmas holidays. Tomorrow eve at the YW, starting at 8.15, it's Neill's vs. Lock Co. (note the change) and CGE vs. Collis. On Dec. 3, Neill's play Normals as Nurses meet Lock Co. Dec. 10 sees Neill's facing Collis and Lock Co. against Normals. And on Dec. 17, Neill's tangle with CGE and Nurses with Collis. Two tilts in the YWCA gym tomorrow should be worth seeing and ought to draw a goodly gallery of cage fans. Men cagers play at the Collegiate on Saturday eve—don't know what time yet—when West End "Y" seniors of Toronto tackle our Marines' "A" bunch.

PCVS gridders are off to Toronto tomorrow morning for their 2.15 p.m. playoff with Upper Canada College on the latter's grounds. For interscholastic senior honors in ORFU competition. Bev Goulding's team will likely line up like this: Flying wing, Coon; halves, Graham, Thomson, Northcott; quarter, Green; snap, Killingbeck; insides, Buck, Hempstead; middles, Lowes, Beavis; outsides, Grainger, Swanston; alternates, English, Fitzpatrick, Hamblin, Lane, Payne, Robinson, Sargent, Stacey, Ward, Welsh, Woodcock and Wright. It being a school holiday, likely quite a few PCVS football followers will make the trip, too.

Petes Lining 'Em Up

And today we learn more of the Petes' puck lineup. It is strictly tentative yet, as the Quinte puckists may not be available and some of the veterans here may return. But in any case this is the squad which will take part Saturday p.m. at nine in an exhibition tilt with Lindsay Meteors on Scugog ice: Goal, Harding; defence, Horton and Jopling (glad to see you back, Drake); centre, Tompkins; wings, Gordon and Mortimer; alternates, McMaster, V. Goyer, T. Parsons, Garvey, Quigley, J. Creighton, L. Goyer, Williams, Day, McDonald, Reid and maybe a few others. The Goyers, Williams, Day and McDonald are Belleville puckists who want senior "B" action—and there's none there yet.

Girls' Softball League wound up its year with a dinner and dance at the Legion Hall. President Dot Miller was in the chair and a goodly turnout on hand. Joan Reynolds was presented with the most valuable players' trophy by Ian McRae, and the hustling young captain and catcher for Ashby's is an okay choice. Judges were Lionel Lipsett, Bill Bennett and L. Wilfong. Dr. R. A. Kelly spoke in interesting manner after the dinner. Woollens, who won the junior title the past season, received their cup from Harry Baptie; while the Westclox senior winners were presented with the trophy by John Cridland. No intermediate presentation as that series wasn't settled, Lindsay and Ashby's being in the finals but a drawn-out protest upsetting the applecart.

Grapplers Were Lively

Four hot mat bouts supplied another big Brock crowd with oodles of action last eve. Fred Atkins, well-built Australian grappler, got a popular win on the referee's disqualification of bearded Ben Morgan, a mere 322 pounds of rough stuff, in the main go. Ben was mad enough after to beat up the large crowd and he nearly had to, enroute to the dressing room. (Fans, don't fool around with those big guys when they're sweaty and mad, or some person is likely to get hurt.) Irish Dan O'Connor roughed Toronto's Pat Flanagan plenty in the semi-final but it was called a draw. Dan is a real son of Erin, being born there, though he makes Kansas City his home now. Wentworth beat Green in a prelim, and Peterborough's Nick Vichiarelli won the open from Nick Futa.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

The first all-day bonspiel, for this season, is set down for Saturday, Dec. 4. The rinks must be of schedule calibre.

Answering our question of last night: "Should a stone be broken, the largest fragment shall be counted for that end, the player is entitled to use another stone, or another pair, during the remainder of the match."

Each club is allowed two entries in both the Ontario Tankard and District Cup competitions. Who will be our representatives? We don't know. But those who would like to take on that responsibility are asked to make their entry by December 15. If there are more than two entries in either one or both competitions, there will be some sort of a series to declare the winners.

Fans Roaring At Grey Cup Ticket Sales

OTTAWA, Nov. 25 (CP) — The fires were still raging along Ottawa's football row today, all the way from a burning desire for more tickets to a heated protest against the use of a Calgary official in the important Grey Cup classic Saturday.

With only a matter of hours before the Ottawa Rough Riders leave the capital to embark on their most ambitious match of the season, club officials are placating hundreds of scorching gridiron fans with the hope that a few more tickets may be made available today.

The fans roared their anger Wednesday when they were told a scheduled general sale of tickets was cancelled due to the fact that all of the 4,000 tickets obtained for the Canadian Rugby Union had been sold beforehand.

With the fans' protests in his ears, Manager Jimmy McCaffrey was hot on the telephone wires Wednesday night, begging Percy Robinson, CRU secretary, to put in more chairs at Varsity Stadium and send the tickets to Ottawa.

He was also hot protesting the appointment of Les Ferguson of Calgary as "judge-of-play" in Saturday's fiery match between Western champion Calgary Stampeders and Eastern champion Rough Riders.

"With all due respect to Mr. Ferguson," Mr. McCaffrey told E. K. Phillips, president of the CRU now in Toronto, "It is unfair to have a Calgary official—and one who has travelled east with the Stampeders—as one of the officials in the Canadian final.

Atkins Gets Referee's Nod Over Morgan In Last Bout

Fred Atkins, 250-pound Australian heavy champ, won the main pro mat bout at the Brock Arena last night over 322-pound Ben Morgan on a disqualification. The fall came in nearly 11 minutes of the third round, and Referee Bert Maxwell halted it when Ben repeatedly used the ropes, despite warnings, for leverage on his "Boston Crab" hold. Fred had been going good until he missed with a flying scissors, and rough Morgan then started clipping him and applying the crab. They mixed a bit after the bell, too.

Morgan had taken the second fall in about nine minutes with his "mountain slide," a plain hefty flop on a fallen foe. He was big, powerful and rough, whereas the Aussie played it cleaner and used his well-built body to every advantage as he bored in. He could throw Ben better than Whip Watson did and he was popular, but he ran into trouble when the bearded one tied him in the ropes and used his weight and fists to advantage. Ben paid little attention to the rules and the referee had trouble prying him loose. There was plenty of noise all through from the big crowd and most were pulling for Atkins.

Special Hold

Fred took the opening fall in 23 minutes with his special hold, the "Kangaroo Klamp," a sort of figure four or stepover toehold with a "Boston crab." He played it straight and hard all the way, proving plenty rugged, but Ben got rough, and used illegal stuff to draw down boos and keep Maxwell busy. Fred said afterward that he preferred the mat method in Australia where they wrestled eight 10-minute rounds (with two minute rest in between rounds) to the three rounds in Canadian main bouts.

Dan O'Connor, 239-pound Irishman, and Toronto's 223-pound Pat Flanagan went to a 30-minute semi-final draw. They staged a redhot show and the fans were excited every minute. The Irisher was heavier and rougher—though Pat used feet and fists at times, too—and the bald-headed Toronto grappler proved more popular with the crowd. They were going at it hard all the way in and out of the ring, as a sweaty referee tried to keep up with it. O'Connor forced the pace most of the distance and looked like the winner, but his rough tactics had a lot of the fans against him and that might have decided the referee to call it a draw when neither was downed by the time the gong went.

A Lucky Grab

Jack Wentworth, weighing 215, beat Charlie Green, at 225, in 18 minutes when he used a standing back-breaker grip. He was lucky to grab the hold as he was taking a beating right up to then as Green played it dirty, using a choke hold among other illegal tactics. Wentworth held his own a while with some flying tackles to the fans' delight, but later Green used the ropes for leverage as the crowd roared plenty. It was a good go.

Nick Vicchiarelli of Peterborough, who scales 169 pounds, won from Nick Futa, 186-pound Detroiter, in 14 minutes when Referee Maxwell disqualified Futa for illegal work after a warning. The local grappler opened up fast but Futa came back strong with some really rough stuff, bashing his opponent's nose. Vicchiarelli was in trouble for awhile, then rallied to come back strongly to hold his own, but was being punished later again when the referee stepped in to disqualify his unruly opponent. Vicchiarelli was mad at the finish and jumped Futa after the bell to punish him plenty and draw a big round of applause from a partisan crowd, pleased at the hectic mat action in this scrap.

Bruins Take Over NHL Lead Trounce Red Wings 5-3

By The Canadian Press

Boston's bouncing Bruins kicked Detroit Red Wings from the National Hockey League leadership Wednesday night. They poured in three goals in seven minutes of the second period to beat Detroit 5-3 on Red Wings' home ice and go into a narrow two-point lead ahead of the Wings and Montreal Canadiens.

Canadiens edged into the second-place tie by drawing 3-3 with Toronto Maple Leaf — the third consecutive draw for the floundering Stanley Cup holders and their fifth in eight games.

But the Boston victory put centre Milt Schmidt on the casualty list. Trainer Win Green said Schmidt might have a broken rib when he bounced into the boards after being dumped by Red Wing Marty Pavelich in the first period.

Leafs and Canadiens go at it again in Montreal tonight when the New York Rangers visit Chicago Black Hawks.

In Fourth Place

The shuffle left Toronto in fourth place with 11 points, five behind the second place ties. New York and Chicago trail.

Grant Warwick of Boston kept ahead in the league's scoring race with a last period goal after Detroit fires two quick ones past Frank Brimsek in the first two minutes. He got an assist in the second period.

Ken Smith shoved Boston ahead on a screened shot while the Red Wings were a man short. Then Pete Babando, Ed Sandford and Fernie Flaman scored as the Bruins caught fire in the second period.

But Poile squeezed a Detroit goal into Bruins' second-period scoring rash with Pavelich and Bill Quackenbush scoring in the short-lived third-period rally.

Started Out Well

The Leafs started out looking like the team that won the Stanley Cup two years running. Big Harry Watson piled in two goals 36 seconds apart as Montreal's Eddie Dorohy sat out a penalty.

Less than two minutes later Wild Bill Ezinicki went into the box for elbowing and Billy Reay got one of the goals back. Elmer Lach got the other one back early in the next period.

Toronto went ahead again when Gus Mortson's shot from outside the blue line caromed off the boards past Bill Durnan when there wasn't a Leaf inside the blue line. Hal Laycoe got the tie by firing through a tangled mass of bodies and sticks from just inside the blue line. Turk Broda couldn't see the shot coming.

Lists Mistakes In Hollywood During Year

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 24 (AP). —This may be Thanksgiving in the United States, but it is just another day in a columnist's life here.

This is "turkey" day and we are going to celebrate it. In show biz terms, a "turkey" is an "egg," a "brody," a "flop." Hollywood has tasted its share of this fowl in 1948, and it is only right that proper honor should be paid.

Here then are the Hollywood "turkeys" of 1948:

"Winter Meeting," Bette Davis' talk Marathon.

Lana Turner's romance with Tyrone Power.

Miscasting of Jimmy Stewart as the sophisticated professor in "Rope."

The announcement by Vancouver's Yvonne Decarlo that she would like to portray the intensely dramatic "Medea."

'Arch of Triumph," which even Ingrid Bergman and Charles Boyer could not save.

The printed report that Jack Larue was sought to play opposite Ingrid Bergman in her British film.

Miscast Rooney

Miscasting of twice-married Mickey Rooney as an adolescent in "Summer Holiday."

A big studio's announcement of full production ahead, followed in a few weeks by a shutdown.

"If Winter Comes," a cliche-ridden view of life in Britain.

Rumors "The Robe" would finally be made.

George Raft claims he would retire.

The abortive revolt against the "new look."

My prediction that Gregory Peck and Rosalind Russell would win the Academy Awards for 1947.

Flyers, Reds Register Wins

By The Canadian Press

St. Louis Flyers and Providence Reds, respective leaders in the western and eastern divisions of the American Hockey League Wednesday night again racked up decisive victories.

The Flyers now hold a seven point advantage over the Buffalo Bisons and Pittsburgh Hornets who are tied for second-position honors. The Flyers shutout the Bisons 7-0 Wednesday night with Steve Black getting three goals and one assist.

Providence Reds overpowered Indianapolis Capitals, 7-1 to increase their lead to 10 points over the idle Hershey Bears.

Pittsburgh Hornets whipped Springfield Indians 5-2, while Cleveland Barons and Philadelphia Rockets played to a 1-1 tie.

Billy McComb, Lloyd Doran, Olson and Mariucci shared the Flyers' scoring with Black.

Jack McGill, veteran centre recently obtained from Buffalo, paced the strong Providence attack with a pair of markers and an assist.

The lone Indianapolis counter was scored by Fred Glover. Jackie Hamilton, Harvey Fraser, Ray LaPlante, Art Michaluk and Pete Kapusta also tallied for the victors.

Impressive Opening For 6-Day Bike Race

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. — (CP).—Envoys of Canada, France, Italy, Denmark, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands will participate in ceremonies opening an international six-day bicycle race here Sunday night.

The diplomats will start a crack field of 22 or more racers over a specially-constructed, eight-lap, wooden track at 9 p.m. EST The track is the largest cycle saucer ever ereted in the United States.

Canada's colors will be carried by the Montreal team of Robert Lacourse and Laurent Tessier.

AIR FLIGHT INCREASE

During the first six months of 1948 the British Overseas Airways Corporation carried 1,233 tons of freight.

Remember When . . .

Drastic changes were written into the code covering North America's oldest horse race—the King's plate—five years ago today. The classic became a true Canadian test when it was thrown open to any three-year-olds foaled in the Dominion instead of just Ontario-bred horses.

Montreal Tang About Rangers Team In Britain

By SHAUN McQUILLAN

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(CP). — There's a strong tang of Montreal talent about Earls Court Rangers, who have rejoined Britain's Hockey League after a lapse of 10 years.

When Kenny Campbell of Montreal, a centre with Shawinigan Falls last season, was appointed player-coach for Rangers this summer, he set about recruiting players with an eye on youth. For all except two it was the first Atlantic hockey hop for the Canucks, most of whom are around 20 years old. They're getting used to English fogs, but food is a sore point.

But there are compensations. Earls Court, like the other seven league teams, have swarms of ardent fans and matches are played to a capacity audience of 9,000 regularly.

Earls Court's "fan club" now numbers 3,000 and the expanding membership has been temporarily halted because fans are crowded out by other would-be spectators.

Rangers' Line-up

Here is Rangers" line-up:

Netminder is Johnny Bourada, Ottawa, spare goalie for Ottawa Senators last season and regular keeper for Montagnards juniors. One defence is Willie Mosdell, Montreal, a Northern Electric Commercial League player. He is a younger brother of Kenny Mosdell of Montreal Canadiens.

Also on defence are Harold Meyer and Joe Farley, both from Montreal. Meyer played for Victoriaville last season and Farley for Montreal Royals juniors.

Centreman Albert Hodkinson, Montreal, played for Sydney Millinaires in the Cape Breton League before coming to England and was second in the league's scoring table with 57 points. Another centre is Stanley Dequoy, Montreal, formerly with North Sydney Victorias, and centreman Ken Booth, Montreal, played for Montreal Royals juniors.

Right-wing berths are held by Montrealers — Byard Rothwell, Harold Young and Kenny Campbell. Rothwell played in England during the war while serving with the Canadian army and is recently from the McGill University team. Young played for Verdun.

ROLLS NEW RECORD

Miss Ollie Watson Wednesday claimed an unofficial world's five-pin bowling record when she rolled up a three-game score of 1,110, made up from games of 391, 324 and 395, at Trail, B.C.

She chalked up this mark during a practice session. The old record was 1,102 according to 1942 bowling records. The British Columbia mark was 1,076.

"MISS McGILL"—That's the name of this 1949 red and white swim suit, in honor of the Montreal university's current drive for $9,075,000. It's modelled by 19-year-old McGill co-ed Cynthia Plant, and was designed by Montrealer Beatrice Pines, who presented it at her fashion show recently. Miss Plant is turning over her model fees to the McGill Fund as part of the $25,000 contribution students hope to raise among their own ranks.

Agriculture Dept. Sees Big Boost In Race Betting

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—(CP). — Pari-mutuel machines clicked merrily this year as chalk and long-shot players jammed wickets to lay their money on the line.

The Agriculture Department reported today that bettors fed the machines $56,178,491 during 1948. This was approximately a 17-per-cent boost over 1947 when racing enthusiasts dug down for $48,519,909.

The 28 racing associations held 349 days' racing in 34 meetings. This compared with 329 days last year when 29 associations held 36 meetings.

Prize money totalled $2,755,000, compared with $2,323,675 in 1947, with Ontario paying the most in prizes at $1,544,300 against $1,231,900.

Ontario race-track customers, in fact, appeared to have a lot more money to wager. More than half the total bet was placed in Ontario, although the province held considerably less than half of the total racing days.

With 144 racing days, race-goers in Ontario wagered $37,368,215, compared with $29,034,232 during 126 racing days last year.

That was the year the Federal government moved out of the tax field as far as pari-mutuels were concerned, and the bettors paid varying provincial taxes—5½ per cent in Quebec, 10 in Ontario, five per cent in Alberta and Saskatchewan and nine in British Columbia.

Total purses increased in every province compared with last year, while amounts wagered increased in every province except British Columbia. There the total fel from $8,895,929 in 1947 to $7,213,900 this year.

Largest amount wagered was at the fall meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club held at Woodbine Park, Toronto, when $2,280,007 was collected at the Mutuel machines.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Billy Fox, light heavyweight boxer, Wednesday was discharged from hospital in Buffalo, N.Y., after x-rays showed he had not suffered a brain concussion in a slugging 10-round bout he dropped Tuesday night.

The 22-year-old boxer, who has knocked out 59 of his 64 ring opponents, collapsed after losing a split decision to heavyweight Ted Lowry of New Bedford, Mass.

Fox, whose knockout streak twice earned him title bouts with former light heavyweight champion Gus Lesnevich, took a lot of punishment from Lowry but at no time did he appear in serious trouble. Fox was not floored in the fight.

He slumped into a coma in his dressing room. He regained consciousness en route to the hospital.

Ben Chapman, who rose twice to fame in the big league, came back to the minors Wednesday—with a team of his own. Directors of the Class B Southeastern League awarded the ousted managed of Philadelphia Phillies the franchise for the Gadsden Club. Chapman said he will manage the team himself, taking an occasional turn to the mound.

Heavyweight Joe Louis, weighing a plump 223 pounds, waltzed through a four-round exhibition at Kansas City Wednesday night with Curt Kennedy, Wichita, Kas., light-heavyweight.

Kennedy, whose weight was announced as 181, looked more like an undersized middleweight as he flailed the air in fruitless efforts to land on the tall heavyweight king.

Louis, who didn't bother to sit down to rest between rounds, parted Kennedy's hair with a couple of right crosses in the third round to the delight of the crowd. Then he held his fire and allowed Kennedy to pummel his midsection with a flurry of harmless blows.

William C. Lias, president of the Wheeling, W. Va., Downs race track and night club owner, Wednesday was sentenced to five years in a federal penitentiary and fined $10,000 on an income tax evasion charge.

Lias had pleaded guilty to one count of an indictment charging that he evaded a federal income tax payment of $117,000. Four other counts were dismissed at the time. The five counts charged evasion of payments totalling $903,984.64 between 1942 and 1946

After completing his course, he fought his own case to a successful conclusion in federal courts. He is the first Alcatraz prisoner to win such a release.

Couple Reunited After 40 Years

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—(CP).—A 40-year-old romance blossomed forth here Wednesday night when George E. Slade, 66, a carpenter from Aylmer, met his 72-year-old bride-to-be, Mrs. Elizabeth Marlow of Ealing, England, whom he had not seen since he left Britain in 1908.

Mrs. Marlow arrived on the Empress of Canada and they were re-united in her cabin after half a lifetime.

Mrs. Marlow was in no mood for sentiment though. The first thing she said was: "George get those reporters out of here."

They got.

The elderly carpenter told reporters that they planned to be married at his sister's home in Leamington, Ont.

Before the ship arrived Mr. Slade explained to newspapermen that he had been engaged to Mrs. Marlow when he was 23.

"She turned me down and married a much older man," he said. "On top of that he had a large family.

Mr. Slade's wife died last June leaving him seven children, all married except one.

OSHAWA, Nov. 25 — (CP) — Nicholas Tenawski, 53, was killed today when a sewer excavation caved in. Tenawski was struck with a piece of clay and Macadam mixture weighing more than 100 pounds.

Car, Truck Collide At Roseneath School

ROSENEATH, Nov. 25—(ENS)—A coal truck driven by Earl Roberts of Roseneath and a car driven by Mrs. W. Chamberlain of Norwood were in collision on Wednesday afternoon about 3 o'clock.

The accident happened at Roseneath school corner about a mile north-east of Roseneath.

No one was injured but both vehicles were damaged. The left front fender of the car was almost ripped off, the left front axle broke and left front rim bent. The six-ton truck, loaded with about eight tons of coal, had a broken rear left spring.

Hilliard O'Connel, Roseneath, was the owner of the truck.

Provincial Constable Don Nichol of Cobourg investigated.

Ontario Power Outlook Said Brighter

TORONTO, Nov. 25 — (CP).— With the power outlook generally brighter in Ontario as a result of increased imports of electricity from Quebec, downtown Toronto buckled down to-day to the discomforts of power cutoffs which now extend to the heart of the city's business and commercial district.

Provincial Hydro Commission officials emphasized that power-saving still is as necessary as ever throughout the province. But muncipalities found that this week's 2½ per cent increase in power quotas made it easier than formerly to keep within their allotments.

Oil lamps and candles lighted downtown area, excused from earlier power breaks due to mechanical difficulties in providing for switch-pulling, underwent its first blackouts. One fire in an office building was blamed on an oil lamp and an old lamp flared up in Mayor Hiram E. McCallum's office, but caused little damage.

Many firms dismissed staffs for the day as time approached for the 4 p.m. power cut, the day's second hour-long break. Police reported the action extended the rush hour, jammed street cars and buses, and caused traffic tie-ups Traffic lights, tied in with regular lighting circuits, were blacked out during the cut-offs.

Power For Fires

Mayor McCallum announced that if fire broke out during a cutoff, power would be turned on immediately in the section affected.

Toronto's Gas Company could not use gaslight during power breaks as it had no gas mantles. However, a downtown restaurant imported some mantles from the United States and made old-time gas fixtures work.

As elsewhere, dealers in Toronto reported sales of electrical goods hard hit by the power shortage brought on by low water at generating plants. But several merchants said they were selling sufficient coal-oil lamps and candles to partly make up for the sales drop.

Stores in Preston voluntarily turned off all their lights and other electrical devices for 12 hours Wednesday to co-operate with the power-saving program of industries here. Wednesdays have been Preston's peak days for industrial use of power.

Waldemar village, 60 miles northwest of Toronto, reported that it was getting along fine without using any electricity at all. Power lines haven't reached there yet.

THIS IS THE BEAUTIFUL ILLUMINATED ADDRESS, read by Mayor William Ovens and presented to the Governor-General at the laying of the Civic Hospital corner-stone today. The art work and printing was done by Rev. Sister Dominica, of Mount St. Joseph.

MORE ABOUT—

Alexander

Welcomed By Mayor Ovens

Mayor Ovens addressed the welcome of the people of Peterborough to the Governor-General and Lady Alexander.

"It is a great honor for me as mayor, to convey to Your Excellencies the official welcome to our city," his worship said. "In expressing Peterborough's welcome I speak for the 35,000 residents of this city, and many other thousands of our district, who will fully share my pleasure in having Your Excellencies within the gates of this, one of the leading industrial cities in Canada, and the gateway to the Kawartha Lakes, an internationally famed summer playground.

"We, the citizens of Peterborough and residents of the surrounding rich agricultural area, welcome Your Excellency as the representative of His Most Gracious Majesty King George Sixth, whom we love, honor and respect, not only as our King, but also for all his own individual fine qualities.

"In like manner, sir, do we welcome and do honor to you, not alone because you are the Governor-General of Canada and representative of our King in this great Dominion, but also for your individual qualities. We recognize your great service to the British Commonwealth and to all free nations in the recent great conflict, as a commander of His Majesty's forces. Many of our own boys served under your command in the Mediterranean theatre, and they with us rejoiced on your appointment as Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada. The manner in which you gave your services and your leadership on the field of battle endeared you to your men and to the citizens of this great Commonwealth.

"We appreciate, sir, the fact that you now, as Governor-General, are giving to this great Dominion those qualities in leadership that you were so noted for in time of conflict.

"Therefore, sir, I say that it is with the utmost pleasure that we welcome you and you, Viscountess Alexander, to Peterborough. May you long be spared as a true representative of the King; may your sojourn in this Dominion be one of happiness, and may it point the way to better things for our people."

Rabbi Meyer's Address

"It is indeed a great privilege to be called upon to participate in this important celebration of the laying of the cornerstone for the new hospital. The presence of Their Excellencies, the Viscount and Lady Alexander of Tunis, at the ceremony bestows not only honor on our city, but makes the occasion an even more outstanding one. To see the spiritual heads of the three denominations together here this afternoon is extremely gratifying. What a blessing it would be if this fine example of interconfessional collaboration would be followed up everywhere, the difference between race, creed and color be forgotten, and the children of men realize that we have one Father, one God created us all. Allow me to bring you, in conclusion, the greetings and good wishes of my community, the local Jewish congregation, on the occasion of this admirable new venture of the local City Council."

Rev. Ivan C. Morgan

As president of the Ministerial Association, Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, minister of Murray St. Baptist Church, said:

"The city of Peterborough is greatly honored today to have as its guests those who represent His Majesty the King in our Dominion, and I esteem it a great privilege to have an opportunity to add to the welcome accorded to them by his worship the mayor, and by the chairman of the board of governors of Peterborough Civic Hospital, a specific word of greeting from the members of the Protestant churches of this community.

"The opportunity is also mine to express our gratitude to those who are bearing the responsibility for the building of this hospital.

"The need for adequate hospital facilities in our city has long being realized; and the abnormal growth of the community during and since the war has accentuated it. Our present hospitals have put forth every effort to meet what more than orice must have appeared to them to be a hopeless situation. The story is one of unavoidably overcrowded rooms, beds in hallways, and a terrible burden upon doctors and nurses and the administrative staffs. Today, however, marks an occasion when we may anticipate the solution to our problem—I emphasize it—"our problem" because both the problem and the solution belong to all of the people of our city. We stand here before the walls of what will be a great hospital—and, as we look at it, this corner stone, and all the rest, we do so with both pride and satisfaction.

"Mr. Chairman, on behalf of that section of the people of our community which I represent, may I express to you, and through you to your board of governors, to the City Council, and to all whose responsibility has reared these walls — architects, designers, contractors and workmen—our deep appreciation for what has been done; and assure you of our continued interest and support and co-operation in the days which lie ahead. We express the hope that the Great Physician may look with favor upon you, and upon this the work of your hands."

Bishop Gerald Berry

Speaking for the Catholic people of Peterborough, Bishop Gerald Berry said: "The citizens of this fair city are honored in having the corner stone of our new and Civic Hospital well and truly laid by the distinguished soldier who is now our Governor-General and the King's personal representative in Canada.

I take this opportunity of extending to His Majesty King George through the intermediary of his Viceroy the feelings of loyalty and devotion that animate the hearts of my fellow Catholics.

The dignity as a family man and a Christian Ruler that has characterised the reign of King George VI is such as to endear him to his subjects, and the recent happy birth of a son and heir to Princess Elizabeth ensuring as it does the line of succession for many years to come has aroused the affectionate interest of Canadians. We see in that regal line the bearers among us of the Lord Himself in civil matters and as the head of the State.

This magnificent edifice is to house a general hospital; it stands on a hill whence many of patients may look over the city and be in sight of their homes and families while they wrestle with the problem of illness and pain. Whether it be accepted in the Christian spirit as a part of the plan of Divine Providence or whether it is submitted to as a jab at the hands of some obscure agency called fate, pain is one of the hard realities of life. Here with all the advantages of a modern hospital and equipment, the medical profession will strive to help, heal and comfort our ailing men and women; here the nursing profession will second the efforts of the physicians and the surgeons, here too the hospital will train new nurses in the science and techniques but also in the art of the deft touch of the sensitive person at the patient's bedside.

One wish that springs to the mind in such an occasion would be that in addition to being all that a modern hospital can be scientifically and professionally, this hospital would carry on here the Christian tradition of holy charity to the sick. The spirit of that tradition is divine and if the name, charity has lost some of its savour in a secularist generation, here in this temple of healing lies the opportunity to rehabilitate it and give it its real meaning.

May that holy charity be infused into the heart of doctor, nurse and administrator to the glory of God and the everlasting credit of the citizens of Peterborough.

It is a happy coincidence that this day in the calendar of the church is dedicated to St. Catherine of Alexandria, the patroness of philosophers, a martyr who far from being converted by the pagan philosophers sent to overwhelm her, succeeded in making Christians of them. Her city of Alexandria was in the Egypt that our distinguished guest saved from the enemy in the recent war. May she look down here with pleasure and hope Christ be her Master will bless this event, this hospital and all of us."

Chairman's Address

Mr. John R. Marshall, chairman of the board of governors of the hospital, presided over the proceedings leading up to the laying of the corner-stone.

Addressing the Governor-General and Lady Alexander and the assembled citizens, Mr. Marshall said:

"Today brings us to another mile-stone in the history of our city. We see on this site the new Civic Hospital being constructed, owned, controlled and operated by you, the citizens of the city.

"This hospital will provide the best medical, surgical and nursing service we can obtain and will mark our city as one of the most progressive medical centres of our province. We are deeply grateful to Their Excellencies the Viscount and Viscountess Alexander for honoring us with their presence at this time and consenting to lay the corner-stone of our new hospital.

"Your Excellency, it is with much pleasure that I present to you this trowel, the implement of a craftsman, and ask you to lay the corner-stone of Peterborough Civic Hospital, knowing that it will be well and truly laid and for which we are deeply grateful."

Careless Driver Fined In Norwood Accident

Robert Hart of Norwood was fined $15 and $2.50 costs in police court today when he was found guilty on a charge of careless driving. The charge was laid following an accident on Oct. 30 in which Hart's car had crashed into the side of a store in Norwood, jarring goods off the shelves with the force of the impact.

Chief Constable William Parcels of Norwood said that he found two empty beer bottles in the accused's car and that, on testing the brakes, there had been "absolutely no brakes on the car."

Hart was found guilty on the first (careless driving) charge. A second charge, of driving with inadequate brakes, was dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, when it was said in evidence that the officer had not checked both foot and hand brake.

Has 94th Birthday

TORONTO, Nov 25—(CP)—Senator Sir Allen Aylesworth, eldest member of the Canadian Senate, will celebrate his 94th birthday here Saturday with a few old friends. The Senator enjoys good health, although he is deaf, his nurse said Wednesday He continues to attend sessions of the Senate, enjoys his meals and reads a good deal. He served as postmaster general and minister of labor in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's cabinet.

Crown Asks Dropping Of Selling Charge

Alvin Stoneburg, 486 Wellington St., was fined $200 and $2.50 costs or two months in jail when he pleaded guilty in court today to having liquor illegally as a second offender.

Crown Counsel V. J. McElderry, KC, asked that another charge of illegally selling liquor—be withdrawn. He asked the court for a "substantial fine" on the remaining count, pointing out that "other charges could have been laid."

Bar Soviet From Tour

OTTAWA, Nov. 25 — (CP) — Military installations in the Montreal area will be inspected by foreign military attaches—Russia excluded this week—the army announced Wednesday. The failure to include a Russian attache was in line with government policy, based on reprisals for the refusal to allow Canadian representatives in the Soviet to visit army bases.

Anna Jarvis Dead

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25 (AP) —Anna M. Jarvis, lonely spinster who founded Mother's Day and then fought vigorously but in vain against its commercialization, died Wednesday at 84—blind and penniless. Miss Jarvis had lived in a sanitorium since early 1944 when friends learning of her impoverishment collected funds and placed here there.

Charge Church Services Driven Off Air By Policies Of CBC

By William Wilson

OTTAWA, Nov. 25 — (CP)— The Canadian Council of Churches was scheduled to discuss today complaints of a Toronto clergyman that CBC policies have driven church services off the air and secularized Sunday even broadcasting.

The complaint has been pressed by Canon J. E. Ward of St. Stephen's Church in Toronto and is the subject of a report to the council. It was to have been discussed Wednesday but was not reached.

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, issued a formal statement Wednesday denying that the CBC had driven services off the air. His statement was issued when the council placed Canon Ward's complaint on its agenda.

Blames CBC

Canon Ward has charged that the CBC, by favoring revenue-producing network programs on Sunday evenings, has set an example which private stations have followed with the result that so far as radio is concerned "complete secularization of Sunday evening has been accomplished."

"The CBC is not driving any church service from the air," said Mr. Dunton. "The present discussion arises from cancellation of Canon Ward's Sunday evening service in Toronto which had been carried for many years by station CFRB.

"It was this station which dropped the service entirely of its own volition and the CBC had nothing to do with the cancellation.

A report drawn up for presentation to the council by Rev. W. J. Gallagher, general secretary, cited Canon Ward's complaints but noted, among other things, that private stations linked to the CBC were bound to carry its religious program Church of the Air.

Under No Obligation

They were under no obligation, however, to carry its national programs during Sunday evening church time. Mr. Gallagher described the CBC's religious programs as possessing "high merit."

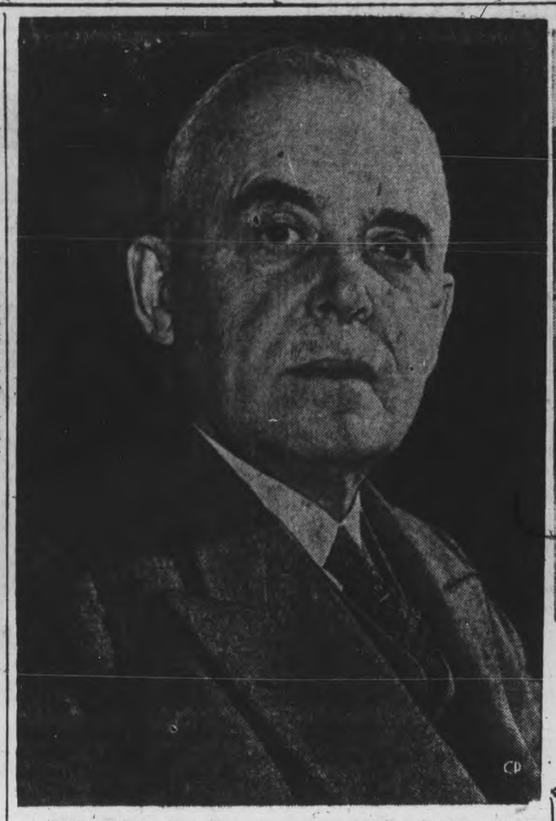
Mr. Gallagher said that if the CBC and private stations could be induced to agree to the prior claim of religious broadcasts on Sunday evenings, there were four possible courses which could be followed. They were to:

1, Reserve all of Sunday evenings for religious broadcasting on both the CBC networks and private stations.

2. Provide one or more network programs of a religious character on Sunday evening.

3. Provide a religious service at church time in each time zone, leaving the rest of the network to carry on as usual.

4. Require local stations to provide a religious service or program on Sunday evenings.



BUSY MAN—Canada's new prime minister, Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, took time out from a busy day to pose for this new camera portrait by the National Film Board. Sworn in to replace Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, he is now busy preparing for the next session of Parliament, expected to open in January.

FIRST LADY—Mrs. Louis St. Laurent, wife of Canada's new prime minister, smiles as she fingers a government telephone directory while waiting to call her husband. Mrs. St. Laurent is the first "first lady" since 1926 when Mrs. Arthur Meighan held that honor. Since that time the prime ministers of Canada, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett (later Viscount Bennett) and Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, were batchelors.

CHRISTMAS CHEER—Montreal longshoremen grin cheerfully as they unload a huge shipment of "Xmas Cheer" from the French freighter Saint Marcouf which docked in Montreal recently from Le Havre and Bordeaux.

Swing Bridge At Chemong Due Next August

A persistent rumor emanating from Bridgenorth Village indicates the swing bridge over the Chemong Causeway will not be erected until next August.

This bridge is the responsibility of the Department of Transport, and will be placed in the section of existing causeway at the Smith Township end of the bridge. Already an opening has been dredged and work of pouring the concrete piers started last week. There are two side piers and a centre pier on which the turntable will be located.

T. J. Ryan, superintendent of the Trent Canal, when queried on the rumor, said to-day: "I know the contract has not been let." When pressed for a date on which the bridge might be finished, he said: "We are hopeful the bridge will be finished early in the summer."

John Keen, county engineer, said the Thompson Construction Company have passed the centre of the lake with the rock fill and is making excellent progress. He had no information on when the swing span would be completed.

"That part of the bridge building is in the hands of the Department of Transport. We have nothing to do with it. I know the iron bridge is being brought to Chemong from the Welland Canel, and the Trent Canal construction crew is making good progress on the bridge piers," he said.

The job of building the rockfill causeway started in July, and the contractor expects to finish the job by March 1. However, on the basis of time already taken, and the fact that winter weather may slow the work, the causeway is not likely to be finished before the latter part of March.

A HAPPY CHOICE of Christmas toys is one that promises fun and educates children. Santa will never be popular if he gives toys only daddy can put together. If children have something definite on which to concentrate they can be amused for hours without damage to the furniture. A clay pipe, for example at left, will keep most children occupied. In a couple of weeks there'll be no more 'readin', writin', and 'rithmatic for thousands of Canadian youngsters. They'll be out for their Yuletide holidays—but there'll be long winter evenings when their minds and hands have to be kept busy. So let them cut out paper dolls and fashions, color them and paste them on cardboard. It's a game that fascinates most children and it keeps them out of mischief.

School Party Held In Apsley Hall

APSLEY, Nov. 25 (ENS)—The Hallowe'en party in the Legion pupils of Apsley school held a Hall last week. Owing to the illness of the teacher, Miss A. Chase, this had been postponed from Oct. 28. The pupils enjoyed playing games supervised by their teacher and Marie Tucker.

During the evening Murray Montgomery and Harry Ross Reynolds, two pre-school children, presented a gift each to Jimmy and Bobbie Monaghan, who with their mother are leaving here to live in Hamilton.

Lunch was served by Miss Chase, assisted by Joan Wagner, Evelyn Everett and Marie Tucker.

Bethany Citizens Honor Bride

BETHANY, Nov. 25—(ENS)—A large gathering of about one hundred friends assembled at the home of Mrs. F. Galloway on Monday to honor her daughter Mary, who on the following day became the bride of Mr. Sam Endicott, Lindsay.

The evening was spent in games and under the leadership of Mr. Allan Beer, an excellent program kept the audience in laughter. Mrs. Jennings and Mr. Mantle, violinists, Mrs. Monk and Miss Evelyn Mantle, pianists, supplied excellent music. Mr. A. Watson was called upon to make a few remarks. The groom to be, made a very humrous speech and Mr. Ralph Preston sang two songs. Miss Cora Bailey read a parody on 'The Night Before Christmas,' which was much enjoyed.

About midnight, Mary was presented with a purse of money, the presentation being made by Mrs. O. Thorndyke, while an address was read by Mrs. H. Laura Rowan. Mary, in a few words, expressed her thanks and appreciation.

Later a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Beer, Mrs. Page, Mrs. Mantle, Mrs. Palmer and others. Then an enjoyable time was spent in dancing, with music by Mr. A. B. Sissons, Mrs. C. Endicott, Miss Mantle and her father, Mr. P. Mantle.

Roxy Showing Real Test For Barbara Ann

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(CP)—Barbara Ann Scott's future may depend upon how well her professional debut here next month is received by the public.

Show business sources say that the pretty Canadian skater's career hinges on the public's reaction to the Christmas holiday show she is headlining at the Roxy theatre here, opening Dec. 22.

Commenting on a statement by officials of the Music Corporation of America, Barbara Ann's agents, that a theatre tour is being arranged in the United States following her debut, these sources said the chances of Miss Scott making motion pictures will depend upon her appeal to the public during her Roxy engagement and ensuing ones.

The sources said plans for Barbara Ann undoubtedly involve making a motion picture star of her. While personal-appearance tours are most successful for established film stars, audience reaction to the skater is being sought prior to sending her to Hollywood, they said.

Barbara Ann, billed as "the Princess of the Ice," is due in New York about Dec. 5 to start final rehearsals. The Canadian skater, at 20, holds the world and Olympic figure-skating titles.

An MCA spokesman said her act will be solely a skating one, with no speaking part contemplated. It will be performed before an elaborate set. Costumes and routines will be of her own choice.

While no salary has been announced, rumor has indicated she will get about $10,000 a week. A proportion of this will be given to the St. Lawrence Foundation, set up early this year to administer Miss Scott's contributions to the welfare of crippled and under-privileged children.

'Home-Makers Club' Formed In Warsaw

WARSAW, Nov. 25—(ENS)—Warsaw Women's Institute is sponsoring a Home Economic Class for the girls of the community, in the rooms every Saturday. Mrs. H. G. Digweed is the leader and Mrs. Mark Lonsberry assistant.

The girls organized on Saturday and decided to call their class Warsaw Home Maker's Club.

Zelda Bolton was elected President. Doris Clysdale is Secretary and Elenor Davis, Treasurer; Barbara Cuffe is press reporter. Marilne Darling is pianist.

Donna Payne and Marie Drain form the program committee.

The girls practised the use of measurements and studied Hospitality as a family pleasure and "The Home as a place to entertain."

CHINA'S GRAVE INTERNAL SITUATION is reflected in this mob scene in front of a Shanghai rice shop, where milling hundreds attempt to obtain supplies of precious food before invading Communist armies from the north sweep through the territory. The country's newly established gold currency is practically worthless and rice is not on public sale. Current prices are: Rice $3.00 per pound; sausage, $8.00 a pound; and coffee, $2.00 per cup. Throughout China, hungry mobs have wrecked empty rice shops and looted vegetable stands in widespread rioting.

Fall Sale And Tea Outstanding Success

MILLBROOK, Nov. 25—(ENS)—Large containers of red and gold 'mums added to the attractive interior of the waiting-room on Saturday when the annual Fall Sale and Tea, sponsored by the Woman's Association of St. Andrew's United Church, was held, netting $168.50 to the funds, the largest yet.

Welcoming the incoming guests was Mrs. A. R. Payne, president, and entertaining throughout the afternoon were Mrs. Gordon Baker, who sang, and Miss Augusta Clarry, who played a number of piona solos, and accompanied Mrs. Baker. Wares were completely sold out by the closing hour.

Salesladies at the fancy work table were Mrs. J. McKnight and Mrs. F. P. Stinson; for the home baking, Miss Josie Sutton, Mrs. P. I. Bentley, and Mrs. Arthur Fallis; at the country store, Mrs. J. Rowland, and Mrs. Fred Winslow. Mrs. M. W. Ball looked after the sale of homemade candy, taking in about $15 at this table, and the "touch and take" table was in charge of Mrs. F. J. Smith.

Mrs. H. D. Bigelow was tea convener, and the hostess table was in charge of Mrs. H. R. Edmunds, with Mrs. J Ridge assisting. Mrs. G. C. R. McQuade poured tea from a silver service, and the lovely gold and white damask cloth was a gift to his mother from Major William Ridge during his overseas' service in Italy. The table was centred with a crystal bowl of golden 'mums, flanked with tall gold candles burning in crystal holders.

Hostesses for the smaller tables, each with dainty cloth and centred with a bud vase of 'mums, were Mrs. Clarence Ball, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, and Mrs. George McKnight. Tea was made by Mrs. D. L. Lunn.

Principal And Wife Honored By Pupils

YOUNG'S POINT, Nov. 25 — (ENS)—The Young's Point school held a special meeting of the Junior Red Cross on Friday. Parents were invited. Special guest of the afternoon was Mrs. Walter Hinze, the bride of the principal of the school. An address was read to Mr. and Mrs. Hinze by Helen Dunford and a pair of beautiful crystal lamps presented by the pupils.

Songs, dances and plays were presented by the pupils. One play, written by Miss Spencer, was a discussion by six pupils on the value of going to school. The presentation came as a surprise to the recent bride and groom.

OF FRENCH ORIGIN

The term "jetty" is derived from the French word, "jete" and signifies something thrown out.

NZ Commissioner Leader In Precedence In London

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, Nov. 25 — (CP). — Former Constable W. J. Jordan—"Bill" to many of his New Zealand countrymen — has become the leader in precedence among the Dominion High Commissioners in London, taking the place of Norman Robertson, Canadian representative.

The Commonwealth Prime Ministers' meeting decided that in future precedence should be decided on the basis of seniority of appointment, and Jordan has been here since 1936. Previously Canada, as the senior Dominion, had been accorded precedence when High Commissioners were together.

Jack of All Trades

Jordan's an example of local boy made good when he participates in the notable occasions of London Town. He retains a trace of his Cockney accent, for although born at Ramsgate, Kent, his family moved to London's East-end when he was a boy and he was educated in a parish school.

His first job was sweeping a goldsmith's shop, taking particular care to see none of the valuable filings were thrown away. Then he was an apprentice coach builder, a post office worker, and finally a policeman in the Limehouse slum district where Prime Minister Attlee was a social worker.

He heard New Zealand had "no snakes or millionaires" and emigrated and proved himself as a logger, painter, paperhanger, and beekeeper.

Active Labor Member

He served as a sergeant in New Zealand forces in the First World War and suffered severe wounds. He was active in the Labor Party on his return to New Zealand, serving as member of Parliament for Manukau for 14 years until his appointment to London.

His skill in homely phrases has made him a popular speaker, and for a Dominions' representative, he has the extraordinary honor of the Presidency of the Guild of City Freemen which represents all the London City Guilds, ancient and tradition-bound organizations of citizens engaged in various trades.

Risque Novels Unpopular With Quebec Editors

By PIERRE DUBOIS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 25—(CP)—On Quebec's booming French publishing front a risque novel is given less chance of becoming a best seller than one from which the spice has been blue-pencilled.

"The (Roman Catholic) Church is still a string influence against any suggestion of immorality in books," says Robert Charbonneau publisher, critic, poet and novelist. Thus a book likely to incur a church ban is almost certain to wind up among the also-rans.

Nevertheless, competition today waxes hot among 20-odd publishers for all literature by home-brew talent.

Says the dapper Montreal publisher: "All this competition is a far cry from the days when a writer could not crash into print unless he had the means to have his work published. Oftentimes the mortgaging of his salary was part of an agreement reached with a publisher."

The preponderance of literature continues to be of a religious nature. But more and more novels, historical books and poetry are finding their way to the market from the pens of a promising lot of some 40 new writers. Montreal is the hub of French publishing activity in Canada.

Established Writers

Among established Canadian writers whose works remain much in demand, Charbonneau lists: Ringuet (Dr. Philippe Panneton), novelist; Leopold Desrosiers, historian and novelist; Chanoine Lionel Groulx, Jean Burchesi, Assistant Provincial Secretary, and Victor Barbeau, historical writers.

Charbonneau rates Jean Jules Richards as the most promising of new authors because of his "creative ability." A young veteran who campaigned throughout the war overseas, Richards' first novel, "Neuf Jours de Haines (Nine Days of Hate)" had a war theme and created a sensation.

Other talented young writers include Roger Lemelin whose first novel about Quebec City, "Au Pied De La Pente Douce," was translated into English under title of "The Town Below"; Alain Grandbois and Anne Hebert, poets; Germaine Guevremont, novelist; Robert Rumilly, provincial historical novelist; Abbe Felix Antoine, lyric novelist, and Roger Duhamel.

The perennial best-seller among French-language novels continues to be "Un Homme et Son Peche (A Man and His Sin)" the story of a miser by Claude Henri Gringon, Mayor of Ste. Adele, Que. The runner-up: Gabrielle Roy's "Bonheur D'Occasion," the English translation of which sold under title of "The Tin Flute."

Canadian MP's Divided On Changing Voting System

OTTAWA, Nov. 25 — (CP) — Should Canada change Federal voting system?

Members of Parliament are split, but among those answering a Canadian Press questionnaire the single transferable vote got a bare nod over the present method.

Aim of the single transferable vote is to prevent election of a candidate on a minority vote. The present system allows a candidate to be elected in, say, three-way fight with only 34 per cent of the total vote.

The single transferable vote figures to get around that situation this way:

In multiple contests, the elector marks first, second, third and fourth choices, to the number that there are candidates. If on the first count no one has an absolute majority, there is a second count. The tail-end candidate is dropped, and the other choices on his ballot are assigned among the survivors. This process goes on until one candidate comes up with a clear majority, or until the transfers have been exhausted.

A form of the single transferable vote has been used in Alberta provincial elections since 1926 and in Manitoba since 1927.

Defeats Purpose

But some authorities here say the Alberta-Manitoba system can —and often dies—defeat the purpose of the transferable vote.

In those provinces, the voters are not required to list preferences beyond the first. A valid ballot need only show a first choice; after that, the elector can indicate subsequent preferences for any, all or none of the other candidates.

This opens the way for "plumping" — voting only for a first choice.

And, say Federal authorities, plumping can bring about two results:

1—Election of minority candidates.

2—Election, as a rule, of the contestant in the lead on the first ballot.

Where these developments take place, they reduce the transferable system in effect to that of the orthodox one-vote-to-an-elector method.

More Rigid System

Australia has a more rigid single transferable vote system. There, electors must list choices for all candidates or the ballot is spoiled.

That, of course, eliminates the minority election. Also, records show that the candidate leading on first-choice votes is defeated more often on the subsequent counts.

Here is the breakdown of opinion by the 83 out of 245 members of Parliament who answered the Canadian Press questionnaire:

The present system for Dominion elections is favored by 36; single transferable vote, 37; proportional representation with all seats multiple-member, 2; a combination of the single transferable vote and proportional representation, 4; no opinion, 4.

The choice by parties:

Liberal (30)—Existing system, 18; transferable vote, 9; transferable-proportional combination, 1; no opinion, 2.

Progressive Conservative (34) — Existing system, 11; transferable vote, 22, no opinion, 1.

CCF (9)— Existing system, 6; proportional representation, 2; no opinion, 1.

Social Credit (6) — Existing system, 1; transferable vote, 2; transferable - proportional combination, 3.

Independent (4)—Transferable vote, 4.

Dancer Turns Down Film Fortune

By MICHAEL O'MARA.

LONDON, Nov. 25 — (CP).— A million-dollar pair of legs could have danced their way to a fortune—but their petite owner has turned it down.

She is red-headed Moira Shearer, Britain's biggest movie find of 1948.

Thousands here and in North America have seen her play the lead in the ballet film "The Red Shoes," and few needed much convincing that all the electric little creature needed was more camera experience to become one of the biggest stars in the trade.

But Moira does not want the glamor, the bg bank account, or the chrome-plated cars. She just wants to be a ballerina.

At 22, she says she has dedicated her life to ballet—a demanding existence with little or no time for romance and sometimes little worldly reward for hard effort.

The tiny danseuse had her spotlighted hour at the London premiere of "The Red Shoes" when she stood, slender and smiling, acknowledging cheer after cheer from across the footlights. But there is hardly any of that excitement for her now.

Dancing All Day

She has turned down every offer British movie moguls have made—for a job with Sadler's Wells Covent Garden Ballet which pays only a fraction of her potential income. And every minute of her day is taken up with dancing.

She is up every day at 7:30 a.m. and by 10 is hard at practice. Being a featured performer makes no difference. All the Sadler's Wells girls— beginners and stars — go back to school every day, usually morning and afternoon. Then there is the tough nightly performance.

Moira explains her philosophy this way:

"Thousands of people have at some time to choose whether they would prefer to earn a lot of money doing something they don't like or get less money for doing the one and only thing they have ever really wanted to do

"That is why I chose ballet."

TELEGRAM BUILDING—Located at Melinda and Bay streets, in the heart of Toronto's financial district, is the Toronto Telegram building. Far from a modern structure, it houses the various departments which daily turn out one of the largest newspapers in the country. Trustees of the estate of John Ross Robertson, founder, have called for tenders for purchase of the paper, valued at more than $2,500,000 by an Ontario court in 1944. Proceeds of the sale together with the rest of the estate will go for maintenance of the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. The sale of the paper ranks among the largest in Canadian newspaper history.

WILL BENEFIT—When John Ross Robertson, founder of the Toronto Telegram, died in 1918, he stipulated in his will that his estate should go to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, for maintenance of that institution. Terms of his will were such that the paper could not be offered for sale until the death of his widow. Now the trustees of the estate, who have been operating the paper, have asked for bids. Proceeds of the sale of the paper will be added to the estate and the entire amount will be turned over to the hospital. Under construction at present is the new 600-bed building to replace the present inadequate facilities. An architect's scale model of the new hospital, to cost an estimated $7,500,000, is shown here. Although the estate will not help to build this building, it will be used for its maintenance.

Pair Feted Before Moving To City

FAIRVIEW, Nov. 25—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Armstrong of Fairview community were pleasantly surprised when a large number of residents gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bell to honor them prior to their departure from the community to take up residence in Peterborough.

Wilbert Rosborough read an address and Wesley Bell and Ross Harrison presented a lovely living room table and mirror. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong expressed their appreciation.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong have resided on their farm on the fourth concession many years. Mr. Armstrong has been there since early childhood and Mrs. Armstrong came there as a bride 35 years ago. They have taken a keen interest in all church and community affairs. Mr. Armstrong has held the office of church treasurer for many years while Mrs. Armstrong has held various offices in the Women's Association, being president for some years.

Henry Sharpe has purchased the Armstrong farm.

The Peterborough Examiner

VOL. XCVII, No. 121 THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1948

Civic Office Nominations Friday Night

Municipal nominations Friday evening at the city hall from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock will be received for Mayor, one year; five aldermanic terms for two years; four trustees of the Board of Education for two years, and one Commissioner of public utilities for three years.

Nominations shall be in writing. The mover and seconder of each nomination must be electors.

If a nominated persons is not present, his nomination paper will not be valid unless there is attached to it evidence satisfactory to the returning officer that the nominee is willing to become a candidate.

Must Qualify

A candidate must file with the returning officer, City Clerk Outram, papers of qualification before 9 p.m. Saturday. They comprise a declaration of qualification, oath of allegiance and certificate from the tax collector that current taxes are paid on the property in which the nominee resides.

If a person is proposed for two offices, he must declare before 9 p.m. on the day of nomination the office for which he wishes to stand for election. This new amendment a year ago especially applies in rural nominations, although its effect is just as broad in the city.

One For Mayor

So far only Alderman Max Swanston has announced his intention of contesting the mayoralty. However it is expected that Mayor William Ovens, who has announced his retirement, will be given a courtesy nomination.

George A. Macdonald, retiring utilities commissioner, plans to seek a third term of three years and so far no other candidate has come forth.

In the aldermanic field Ald. H. Dodds and Dr. Herbert Young have intimated that they would seek re-election. Ald. Gordon Armstrong is retiring, Ald. Swanston is seeking to move up and Ald. Adam Sands, the fifth member of the council whose terms expire, has not stated his intention. Candidates who have declared their intention of contesting the aldermanic field are A. B. Burrows, Joseph Jebson, Percy Martyn, John Beggs, Harry Yudin, Alfred Barber and M. E. Ketcheson. Other possible candidates are Peter Mather and William Tinker.

Three of the four retiring members on the Board of Education will seek re-election, Frank H. Jobbitt, Dr R. C. Honey and Walter Bannon. W. B. Gordon, the fourth, is retiring. Dr. R. M. Matthews has announced his candidature while other nominees are likely to be Dr. R. Morgan and William Tinker.

Thousands Of Cottage Sites Available On Crown Land At Only 30 Cents A Foot

TORONTO, Nov. 25—People wanting summer cottages of their own need not go outside the province for there is an estimated 100 million acres of Crown land in Ontario available for this purpose, and at a cheap price.

Until a few years ago, land in certain parts of the province could only be obtained for cottage purposes on 21-year leases. Now it can be purchased outright, at 30 cents a foot frontage or $50 an acre, if certain conditions are complied with. The principal condition is that buildings valued at $500 or more must be erected on the land within 18 months after it is acquired. The purchaser must also pay a surveying fee which amounts to $80.

The lands division of Lands and Forests Department has handled more than 3,500 applications this year for cottage property. Of this number, 700 deals have been completed and the balance will be granted as soon as surveys are finished. This work has been held up by a shortage of skilled surveyors.

One source has estimated that more than 100,000 Americans have summer homes in the province, some of them costing up to $50,000, all on land that had little value except for recreation purposes.

D. Lloyd Bailed For Trial On Charges of Receiving

Donald T. Lloyd, 34, of Toronto, was bailed to trial at the coming General Sessions of the Peace on charges of receiving as stolen goods three outboard motors which are alleged to have been taken from boathouses in Lakefield. The preliminary hearing of the charges was held before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, on Wednesday afternoon.

Lloyd is charged with receiving one outboard belonging to Roland Kennedy and William Watson, one belonging to Eric Morin and one the property of John Mose. All the owners are of Lakefield. A charge of breaking and entering the boathouse of Eric Morin and committing theft there was withdrawn when the Crown offered no evidence.

In evidence Wednesday, Roland Kennedy and William Watson, part-owners of an outboard motor valued at $175, identified an exhibited motor as their property. It had been taken from the boathouse of Watson about the 24th of July, they said.

Frank Lee, a Toronto service station attendant, testified that the accused had come to the station where the witness works on the morning of the alleged thefts and sold him the exhibited motor for $100. About a week later, police had taken the motor from him, he said.

Lakefield Police Chief Garnet Samis, who investigated the cases, said that the lock on Watson's boathouse had been hammered off. He said that "on information received in the course of investigation," he had gone to Lee's home on August 7 with Provincial Cpl. Lloyd McClure, where the one motor had been recovered.

Eric Morin identified another exhibited as his property, worth $169.50. The lock on his boathouse had been broken about the same time in July and the motor taken, he said.

John Mose also identified a motor as his property. It was worth about $30, he said. Gerald Northey, Lakefield, said Mose's motor had been taken from his boathouse, where it had been stored. The lock had been broken, too.

Chester A. Crowe, 44, of Toronto, another Toronto service station attendant, said that Lloyd had left the two motors in the garage of his home for storage, quoting the accused as saying "because he lived in a room and didn't have the space for them." It had been at his home that police had recovered them, he said.

Bail for Lloyd was fixed at $1,500. He is represented by W. B. Gordon.

Crowe, the witness, is charged with receiving stolen goods—the three motors exhibited. Represented by W. J. Arthur Fair, he has elected summary trial and was remanded on bail until Jan. 5.

Car Hits Train Damage Is Light

Colliding with a slow-moving freight train at the Romaine St. and Monaghan Rd. crossing, a car received only slight damage and its driver was unhurt Wednesday evening. Mrs. Rita Meade, RR 7, Peterborough, was in the car going south on Monaghan Rd. She said she did not see the train until she was almost on the tracks.

Mrs. Meade swung to the right and travelled west along the tracks. A step on the train, which was backing up, caught the fender of the car and pushed it into the ditch.

Only damage to the car was a slight rip to the fender.

PC E. McDonald investigated.

City Police Busy On Traffic Duty

Two full shifts of the city police department are on duty today in connection with the vice-regal visit. Officers will be on point duty at all points of the tour. Early this morning, they were on the job, clearing the space of cars at the railway station where His Excellency will review the guard of honor.

Actual police escort is provided by the RCMP accompanying the vice-regal party. City detectives will travel not far behind the principals to aid their protection.

ROYAL BIRTH HOLIDAY

School children will continue their enjoyment of freedom from school which the vice-regal visit gave them this afternoon. Friday has been proclaimed a school holiday by Minister of Education Dana Porter. It is to honor the birth of the British prince to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Six Box Cars Loaded During Evening

After working like beavers for more than four hours on Wednesday night officials of the Peterborough Boy Scout Association were able to announce that they had collected approximately 80 tons of paper.

For the first time this year the weather was favorable to the Scouts and a group of about 200, including Scouts, Cubs and fathers of the boys covered the city in a house-to-house canvass for waste paper.

The night's work was organized as efficiently as a military operation. Groups of Cubs went ahead asking householders to contribute any old newspapers or magazines they could spare, and they helped to carry the salvage outside to where it could be picked up easily.

30 Trucks Used

Next the pick-up squad came down the street, about eight men and boys, to collect paper assigned to each truck. Altogether there were 30 trucks, all of which had been lent to the Association without charge by local firms.

The city was divided into six zones and each zone into from four to seven routes, depending upon the size of the area to be covered. Trucks and crews were allocated accordingly. Nine trucks were assigned to the downtown area, five to East City, five to the south end, four each to the north-west district and north George St. The remainder serviced the west end.

As soon as the trucks were filled they were driven to the CNR station where the paper was then loaded into box cars. Two of them were reported well filled and the others partly filled.

Scout officials were pleased with the co-operation they received from the public. Many of the householders had packages of magazines and newspapers neatly tied up and left on the verandah so they could be picked up with the minimum of inconvenience.

While pleased with the results the officials say that the drive was not as big as some previous ones that have been held. They received about the same tonnage last time but on other occasions they have had better results.

Edward McDonald was in charge of directing the trucks and Quirt McKinney was the member of the Association who arranged permission for their use.

Money obtained from sale of this paper will be split two ways. Fifty per cent of it will be divided among the various scouting groups of the city, and the other 50 per cent will be put into a sinking fund to finance the building of a permanent headquarters in the city.

St. John Ambulance Members On Duty

St. John Ambulance Corps showed splendid organization today with first aid men and women placed strategically to handle any emergency.

Patrick O'Toole, superintendent, said Wednesday this work had been assigned the brigade with the approval of the local branch of the Red Cross, and he added that Miss Florence Vickers, Reg. N., was in charge of the women.

Neatly-uniformed men and women were on duty at the Civic Hospital, Civic Arena, CGE, Armouries, Westclox, Quaker Oats and at various points along the route. There were seven car drivers assigned as chauffeurs by the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, and a panel truck was in use as an ambulance if needed.

SCOUT CUBS ASSISTED in Wednesday night's Boy Scout waste paper drive by alerting citizens ahead of the pick-up squads. Peter Falkner, Left, and his brother Ian are shown getting bundles of papers from Mrs. R. R. Ford, 421 Sheridan St.; they piled them on the sidewalk for the truck crews to gather. Both Cubs are members of St. John's Troop.

Nephews of Senator G. Cox Given Legacies Under Will

Legacies to nephews of Senator George A. Cox are provided in the will of his son, the late Herbert Coplin Cox, whose widow died at Oakville last week. Bequests of Mr. H. C. Cox included: $50,000 to his cousin, Alfred H. Cox; $25,000 to Wilfrid M. Cox; $10,000 to Frank W. Cox; $10,000 to Harold Cox; $10,000 to Ross Cox; $5,000 to Gordon Cox; $5,000 to Mrs. Harry (Lillian) Hall.

These cousins are children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Cox whose home occupied the block on which Trinity United Church was erected.

Mr. Cox also left $25,000 to his secretary, George F. Little; $10,000 to Samuel Garner, secretary; $2,000 to Miss Nina Emrick, accountant; $5,000 to Minnie Pierce Edwards, and $1,000 each to Cameron Edwards, Marion Edwards, Florence Edwards and Ellen Fleming, friends of Mrs. Cox.

Mrs. Cox was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bogart of Pen Yan, NY. She was married in July, 1895, the year after her husband had been taken into partnership with his father in the firm of George A. and H. C. Cox Company. In 1928 they moved to England where Mr. Cox assumed chairmanship of the British board of Canada Life Assurance Company. Their home was at Twatley, in Malmesbury, Eng. They returned in 1946 to Canada. Mr. Cox died at their home, "Ennisclare," Oakville, in Sept., 1947.

The terms of the will of Herbert C. Cox apportioned an estate of approximately $1,850.00. His widow was given a life interest in the estate, and on her death the residue after payment of bequests amounting to $170,000 is to be used in establishing a trust fund to be known as the "Cox Foundation." The income from it is to be used for charitable purposes only.

Duties $700,000

Succession duties payable to the Dominion and province totalled about $700,000 Mrs. Cox had been personally bequeathed $250,000 and $167,335 in life insurance.

These details of the will of his son are a brief and sketchy postscript to the success story of George A. Cox, whose financial career, begun in Peterborough in the latter part of the last century, carried him to wealth and prominence in Toronto. Associates and sharers in his abilities and his fortune were A. E. Ames, A. L. Davis, E. R. Wood and others including his son Herbert Cox.

Mr. Wood joined Mr. Cox in his early Peterborough enterprises.

George A. Cox accepted a Liberal nomination here in a general federal election and was defeated by James Stevenson.

Elders of the community used to recall that campaign as one of the most exciting election engagements in the political annals of West Peterborough It was a time of general personal acquaintance in the old town, when most people knew each other.

Some time after his defeat at the polls Mr. Cox moved to Toronto, and his interest in Peterborough gradually declined. His son, Herbert, may have returned to the place of his boyhood, but, if he did, his visits were rare occasions.

A Liberal government at Ottawa eventually honored George A. Cox by appointing him to the Senate of Canada. His home was virtually a west end park, set in ample acreage, between Weller St. and Homewood Avenue, extending from the end of Hunter St.

The generation of George A. Cox has passed on. He is remembered only by a few elders of today. His Weller St. property was finally divided into spacious building lots, and its old individuality has vanished into the later residential section of the west end.

ADDRESSED DOCTORS

Dr. Malcolm Brown, M.D., Ph.D., M.R.C.P., was guest speaker at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Peterborough County Medical Association Wednesday noon. He is Associate Professor of Medicine at Queen's University and spoke on the subject of Chronic Liver Diseases. Chairman of the meeting was Dr. C. M. Scott, president of the County Association.

Worst Deer Hunt In Years Veterans Report; Claim Wolves Are To Blame

Wolves are blamed chiefly for the small number of deer encountered by huntsmen during the recent deer hunting season. Most parties came home after getting the lowest bag in years. Members of the Peterborough Rod and Gun Club ranged farther afield and tried their skill in the Parry Sound district. They reported "the worst season ever," and the party of eight returned after shooting one deer only—a good-sized doe.

"Six of the 12 or 13 parties near there didn't get any deer," said James Geraghty, "and they are parties that usually get their count."

"We saw nearly as many wolves as deer," he said.

In the Rod and Gun Club group were Thomas Ashby, Joseph McGillen, E. Freeman, H. S. Elliott, James Geraghty, and three Rochester men—James Whitely, Fred Landers and James McElroy.

As an illustration of the poor luck in that region, Mr. Geraghty said that one experienced club of 10 hunters from Orillia broke camp after not getting a single deer. Some of the men had been coming to that region for 35 years and it was the worst hunt they could remember.

Poor Luck

The Ketchecum Hunt Club which combed the bush on the east shore of Ketchecum lake also reported that luck was poor. But there was no indication that wolves were directly responsible.

"There were quite a few deer in that territory," said Max Comstock, secretary of the club, but we weren't able to knock them down. We didn't see or hear any wolves, although other parties did."

Hunting with the Ketchecum Club were Dr. N. D. Buchanan, captain, Dr. S. Y. Walsh, Clare Sootheran, Stuart Flavelle, Lindsay, Hugh Waddell, Bert Cutmore and his son Robert, Tom Gentles, Chicago, Robert Abbott, James Turner, Dr. H. Lauber, Williamsburg, Vincent Eastwood, Jr., Clarence Simpson and Max Comstock.

The sole bag of the club was one 150-pound buck.

Two deer were shot by the Mountain Lake Hunt Club. Both of them fell to Roy Hutchinson on the first day—a doe and a fawn.

Charles Elliott rejected the theory that here were fewer deer this year. "There were lots of deer there, but we just didn't get them," he said.

"The dogs got runs every day but we just couldn't get in front of them," said Mr. Elliott. Included in the party were Walter Head, Reuben Wilson, Chris Hughes, Roy Hutchinson, Dr. R. Chenoweth, Dr. D. Aitken, Norman Elliott and Charles Elliott.

"Not too good," was the reply of Alex Elliott when asked how the Trout Lake Hunt and Fish Club made out. He too dismissed the cry of the pessimists that the game is getting scarcer.

"Deer were as plentiful as ever," he said, "but they weren't running in the runways.' He believed that the wolves had driven them to high land and said that when chased they "took to the water very easily and always came out as unexpected places.

Eight men were in the Trout lake party: Max Swanston, Dr. William Gordon, Dr. H. J. Long, Dr. R. C. Honey, Alex. Elliott, Ray Brown, Lakefield, Vernon Ferguson, and Wallace Shearer of Buckhorn. Chris Staples of Bolton, was cook.

Stanley Payne of the Western Clock Co., was with the party for two days of the week-long hunt.

In that time only one deer was shot, a 175-pound buck by Mr. Ferguson.

Later Mr. Shearer together with Willard Welbourne, went up to Gull lake at the tail-end of the season and returned with a 150-pound buck.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

EX-CHIEF RECOMMENDED

Application of George E. Purdy, former police chief at Port Hope, was one of eight recommended by Lindsay council Monday night to fill the vacancy for chief constable here. Tuesday night Purdy was arrested on a charge of theft.

MORE LICENSES ISSUED

To date there have been 15,600 drivers' licenses issued this year—10 per cent more than last year—according to James J. Dorris. Licenses for cars number 9,200; trucks 1,600 and trailers 950. Car markers for 1949 have already arrived at the Chamber of Commerce office but they will not go on sale until January.

CURLERS BOOST SALES

Some stores here report the usual seasonal increase in the sale of mackinaws and tams as the curlers start their earliest playing season on record. Indications are that this applies equally to heavier underwear, wool socks and brooms.

A SPECIAL FLAG

For the first time since 1937, the City of Peterborough will see flown in its streets the special flag of His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada. Approved by King George V in 1930, the flag is on a blue field and carries the Royal Crest. In it is the Imperial Crown, surmounted by a lion, standing in profile with its four feet on the ground, facing outward. It is in natural gold coloring. The word "Canada" is written in black on a yellow scroll.

FORMER CHIEF AND SERGEANT of the Port Hope Police Force, G. Ernest Purdy (Right) and Albert E. Warren (Left) now face charges of theft while they held those positions. The charges, laid by Chief Purdy's successor, C. W. Graham, following investigations carried on by Chief Graham and officers of the CIB of the Provincial Police from Toronto. They have been remanded to Nov. 29.

Rush Hours on London Buses Like Bargain Basement Rush

LONDON, Nov. 25 — (CP) — London is bursting at its transportation seams.

And Londoners, though still boasting theirs is the finest travel system in the world—233 miles of underground railway, 7,000 buses serving more than 150 routes—are feeling the strain.

Charing Cross and Piccadilly at the rush hours now are something akin to doll day in a Canadian bargain basement.

London, transport officials recently took a close look at their system, nationalized along with Britain's railways at the beginning of this year. Even they were amazed.

Up to September this year, London's travel stampede had reached a record peak of 12,400,000 passengers carried daily on buses and the underground. That didn't include the thousands of persons who commute morning and night on suburban electric and steam trains to points outside the London boroughs.

Unusual Peak

The city travel surge was up 1,000,000 passengers a day on the daily average carried in the peak months of 1947. And to do it London's buses and tube trains travelled the staggering combined total of 438,743,000 miles in the first eight months of this year, an increase of 25,612,000 miles over the whole of 1947 and 51,000,000 miles more than they travelled in 1938.

The travel headache is almost as bad for transport officials as for crush-wear ppassengers. New buses are delivered at the rate of 20 a week and immediately pushed into service But the rate of London replacement of the big two-deckers—26 passengers below, 30 on top—is restricted to 811 this year. Many more are manufactured, but with "export only" labels.

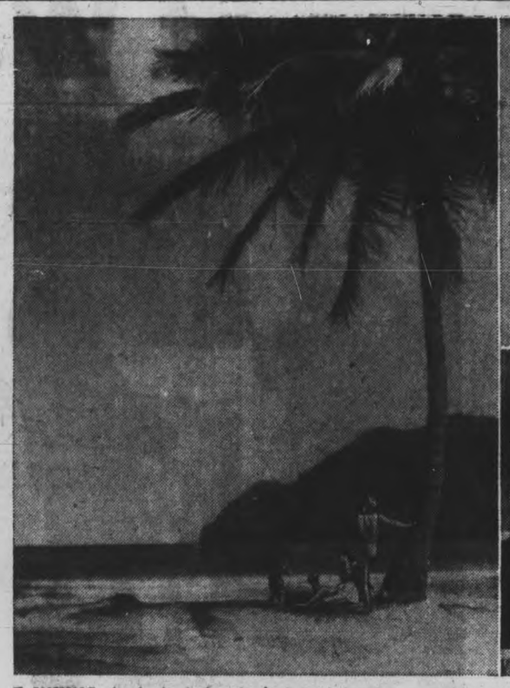
To meet the emergency 500 private coaches have been hired and put into service. At the main bus garage at Chiswick — "the biggest bus hospital in the world"—4,000 work to keep old buses going and rebuild others.

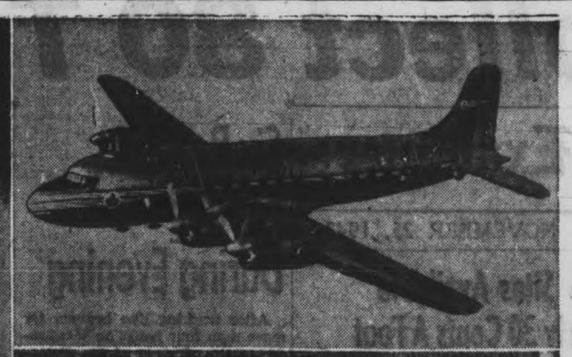
Honor 2 Couples

FAIRVIEW, Nov. 25—(ENS)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Patton was the scene of a pleasant gathering when their neighbors and friends of the community met to honor two recent brides and grooms, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wilson (nee Caroline Trotter) and Mr. and Mrs. Melville Woods (nee Naomi Trotter). The brides are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Trotter of this community. The young couples were escorted to seats of honor when Mr. Vernon Olver read an address and baskets laden with gifts were carried in by Sanford Trotter, Bob Olver, Barrie Wilson and Arnold Patton.

Both couples expressed sincere thanks.

Games of crokinole were enjoyed and community singing with Ken Patton at the piano. Lunch was served.





LINKING the land of the pine with the lands of the palm, this winter Trans-Canada Air Lines' North Star skyliners are flying between Montreal and Toronto and the romantic West Indies islands of the Bahamas, Jamaica and Trinidad. Planes leave Canada every Monday morning for Nassau and Kingston and every Thursday for Nassau, Kingston and Port-of-Spain. In a few hours, the rigors of winter are left behind and snow and ice give way to coral beaches basking in the warm sun.

The photographs above give a glimpse of the gaiety and enchantment of the isles of spice and of the four-engined forty-passenger plane which takes people to them. It is the same type of aircraft which flies across Canada and over the Atlantic to Great Britain, and which has brought Bermuda closer.

When T.C.A.'s new Caribbean service was announced, one West Indies representative who hailed it was E. Vernon Wharton, C.B.E., chairman of the Trinidad and Tobago Tourist Board, who said: "It brings our Canadian friends closer to us and affords us fresh proof of their enterprise and further evidence of their desire to improve the very good relations that exist between Canada and the West Indies."

He added: "I hope it will carry many Canadian visitors to our sunblessed lands to enjoy the beautiful tropical scene, to partake of our hospitality, to appreciate the advantages they have gained by bringing to their doorstep, so to speak, a region that offers a refreshing climatic contrast to their own sterner northern conditions".

Havelock WMS Meets

HAVELOCK, Nov. 25—(ENS)—Mrs. S. Barlow was hostess for the November meeting of the Women's Missionary Society.

The president, Mrs. L. Colquhoun, was chairman and gave the study on China assisted by Mrs. J. Hunter, Mrs. H. Kratz and Mrs. B. Dewey. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Barlow. December meeting will be in the Sunday school room of the church.

Gay Birthday Party

HASTINGS, Nov. 25—(ENS)—Joan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Quinlivan, Front St., entertained a few close friends and relatives on Friday with a dinner party in honor of her 12th birthday.

The highlight of the supper was the special birthday cake with 12 candles on it. Games were enjoyed and in the evening the children went to the town hall show.

Bill Of Rights For Children Proposed To UN

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA, Nov. 25 — (AP) — Adoption of a far-reaching world bill of rights for children has been proposed to the United Nations by the World Health Organization (WHO).

The draft bill is expected to come before the next general assembly of the United Nations. It declares it is "the duty of every nation" to meet the obligations detailed in the seven articles of the bill.

The WHO draft proposes:

1. "The child must be protected irrespective of considerations of race, nationality, religion, political belief, economic or social condition.

2. "The child must be given the means requisite for his normal physical, mental and social development, including the provision of adequate housing, nutrition and education. The child has a right to the best care of his health, which is a state of complete physical, mental and social well being, and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity.

3. "The child should live within a family in an atmosphere of love and security, which is incomparably the best environment for his development. If the child is deprived of a normal family life, the community must provide him with a home which produces as nearly as possible a healthy family environment.

Must Be Fed

4. "The child that is hungry must be fed. The child that is sick must be nursed. The child that is physically, mentally or socially handicapped must be helped. The maladjusted child must be re-educated. The orphan and the waif must be sheltered and succored. The child must be the first to receive relief in times of distress.

5. "The child must enjoy the full benefits provided by social welfare and social security schemes. The child must receive, through the discovery and development of his individual abilities, a training which will enable him, at the right time, to earn a livelihood and to conduct his life so as to become a responsible member of society.

6. "The child must be protected against every form of exploitation and must be provided with adequate recreation, leisure and rest.

7. "The child must be brought up in the consciousness that his maximum of achievement and satisfaction will be gained by the devotion of his energy and talents to the service of his fellowmen. The ability to live harmoniously in a changing total environment is essential to the health development of the child, and must be promoted. The child must be given opportunity and encouragement to assume social responsibilities at first in his family and later in the local, the state and the international community."

The draft, as drawn up by the WHO did not specify up to what age children should be regarded as entitled to the rights conveyed by the bill.

Report Incorrect

WINNIPEG, Nov. 25—(CP)—Premier Campbell said Wednesday it is incorrect that Dean J. G. W. MacEwan of the Faculty of Agriculture at University of Manitoba has accepted an offer to enter Manitoba's coalition government as minister of agriculture.

R. W. DIAMOND, vice-president and general manager of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Limited, Trail, BC, has been awarded the Julian C. Smith Medal of the Engineering Institute of Canada, it was announced recently. The medal is awarded for "achievement in the development of Canada." Born in Campbellford, Ont., Mr. Diamond is a graduate of the University of Toronto. Joining the staff of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company at Anaconda, Montana, he became one of the pioneers in the concentration of ores in the then new flotation process.

2 Pedestrians Killed By Taxi

RENFREW, Nov. 25 —(CP)— Two young pedestrians, a youth and girl, were killed Wednesday night when struck by a taxicab on their way home from church.

Dead are: Bernard Culhane, 20, of Ashdad, a small settlement near Renfrew, and Carmelita Mask, 19, of Thomsonville, a suburb of this eastern Ontario town.

Police are holding John Sheparski, 19, of New Glasgow, N.S., driver of the cab, pending a decision on the double fatality by Crown Attorney H. B. Johnson, Pembroke.

Police said the young couple had attended benediction and confession at St. Francis Xavier Church and were walking along Horton street south in Renfrew when they were struck from behind.

Sheparski told police he was in the process of dimming his lights against the bright lights of an approaching vehicle when the accident occurred.

"The next thing I knew, I struck something," he said.

He stopped his car and found the couple lying on the road.

Left For Dead Girl Still Lives

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP). — A pretty blonde who was given up as dead Tuesday was still alive to-day in a New York hospital, though her condition was critical.

She had a chance to live because a young policeman—sent to stand guard over her apparently dead body—saw a flicker of life.

The woman, Miss Mary Grey, 25, was pronounced apparently dead oy an ambulance attendant Tuesday in her hotel room. The police noticed an empty bottle of sleeping pills in a table drawer.

But the policeman, Richard Petrocine, sent there as a guard saw her stir slightly. He noticed tiny beads of perspiration on her forehead.

For half an hour he gave artificial respiration. Then he held a mirror to the woman's mouth—and found there was moisture on it.

FLUFFY CHIPITS CHOCOLATE CREAM PIE

1 pkg. Chipits
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons sugar
1 baked pastry shell

Combine Chipits and milk and place over hot water, stirring until chocolate is melted and mixture well blended. Stir in vanilla and salt. Add egg yolks one at a time, beating well after each addition. Remove from heat. Beat egg whites until stiff, gradually adding sugar. Fold half of beaten egg whites into chocolate mixture, blending well. Then fold in remaining whites. Pour into baked pastry shell and chill several hours or until firm. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Pupil Beats Visiting Speaker

STAFFORD, England, Nov. 25—(Reuters).—The president of the National Society for the Retention of Corporal Punishment in Schools, who manufactures canes, Wednesday night was beaten with one of his own canes by pupils of a school near here.

The president, Eric A. Wildman, was at the school, Horsley Hall, Eccleshall, at the headmaster's invitation to lecture on corporal punishment. The school is a co-educational boarding school where there is "free expression" — and no corporal punishment.

Wildman, who lives at Waltamstow, London, brought with him a bundle of 20 assorted canes, with which he illustrated his talk on the benefits of corporal punishment.

"The most reasonable punishment is six of the best," he said.

The next moment Wildman had been seized by the pupils and held on the floor while a boy gave him seven strokes with one of his own canes.

Wildman told reporters afterwards: "I am going straight back to London to see my lawyers."

At Stafford he made a complaint at the police station.

DIVERTED CARGOES—Two of the dozen of huge transports rushing U.S. merchandise to Montreal harbor for shipment overseas are shown here waiting to transfer their loads onto the freighter Shelbourne County. The goods have been diverted from strike-bound New York harbor and are destined for South Africa.

AMERICAN FREIGHT—Montreal customs officers R. Roach and M. Bonin are shown here examining the seal on a truckload of bonded U.S. package freight brought to Montreal harbor for shipment overseas to avoid the tie-up in U.S. ports. Hundreds of thousands of pounds of goods are being trucked from New York at a cost of about $1.85 per hundredweight.

William Bullied, 70, Honored In Toronto

HAVELOCK, Nov. 25 (ENS)—While Mr. and Mrs. William Bullied of town were guests of their eldest daughter, Mrs. Ernest Woolfrey, in Toronto recently, the latter entertained at a surprise party in honor of Mr. Bullied who marked his 70th birthday during his visit.

The guest of honor received many beautiful gifts and cards. An enjoyable evening was spent in music, community singing and playing cards. A large birthday cake centred the table decorated with seven candles which formed a circle around the figures 70.

Mr. Bullied was born in Pontypool, the son of the late Thomas and Annie Bullied. He came to Havelock in 1893 and in 1906 he married Cinderella McLachlan, daughter of the late John and Hannah McLachlan of Stirling.

Among the guests were: Mrs. A. Higley and daughter Mrs. K. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Woolfrey, Mrs. G. Brolley, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Pencock, all of Toronto.

By The SECRETARY

MARTINEZ, Calif. — Kenneth Long, 26-year-old air force sergeant whose "truth serum" statement was introduced at his trial, was acquitted of the murder of his 22-year-old wife, Barbara. A statement taken from Long when he was under the influence of the "truth serum" named another man as his wife's slayer.

ROME— Eleven persons were wounded and 120 arrested during several hours of fighting between police and peasants near Ferrara in Northern Italy. The trouble started, police said, when squatters moved in on several large estates and the owners asked that they be removed.

WASHINGTON — Two men were killed and four injured when a United States air force plane collided while landing with one parked on the nearby Andrews air force field.

VIENNA—A large crowd of Viennese prevented two Russian soldiers from arresting an Austrian, police said. The soldiers tried to force the Austrian into their jep but the crowd pulled him free, enabling him to escape into the international zone.

Recommend Subsidy

LONDON, Eng. — A governmental committee has recommended a government subsidy of £8,000 ($32,000) annually to marriage guidance organizations. It also proposed a training scheme for marriage counselors.

LONDON, Eng. — Reginald Wood, 20-year-old laborer said by a medical witness to have a mental age of about eight, went on trial for the murder of 15-year-old Doreen Lowther. The girl's naked body was found badly beaten in a passage in the London east-end dock area.

LONDON, Eng.— A baby can tell when parents are quarrelling and is upset by it, Dr. Doris Odlum, psychiatrist, told a nurses' conference here. "The mother and family must be a team," she said. 'If they have a row they must have it where the child cannot hear."

LONDON, Eng.—The colony of Gibraltar, at present administered by a governor and an executive council, will have a legislature as soon as the necessary constitutional instrument can be prepared.

LONDON, Eng.—Prime Minister Attlee's cabinet asked the House of Commons to extend the 12-month training period for military draftees to 18 months. The longer term is provided in a bill to amend the National Service Act. The bill also proposed to reduce the term of reserve service from six to four years.

TORONTO—Louis (Red) Beaver was sentenced to five years on a charge of having illegally $10,000 worth of drugs. Described as "the kingpin" of the illicit drug trade, 38-year-old Beaver was convicted Tuesday with Mary Petras, 22. She was sentenced today to two years and a fine of $300 or an additional three months. Beaver's sentence also carried a fine of $1,000 or an additional eight months.

VICTORIA — British Columbia schools will have courses in sex education beginning next September, Education Minister W. T. Straigh said. Present plans are to start teaching in grade seven of the elementary schools, with pictures of life, growth and reproduction of plants. High schools grades will see films "carefully worded according to the age of the children who are to see them," he said.

VANCOUVER — A passenger aboard the first train into Vancouver, which arrived in 1887, died. The woman, Mrs. Ann Miller, native of Collingwood, was 89.

CHICAGO — Television station will start a program presenting Associated Press news directly on the screen as it is received on a new type ticker printer. Sterling Quinlan, the station's promotion manager, said the printed tape will be drawn against the television screen unaccompanied by sound at first, and that later a system of bells to denote stories of varying importance will accompany the visual presentation of the news.

Dies From Injuries

LONDON—Roy Francis, 61, of Kirkton, injured in a truck-train crash a week ago, died in hospital. He had never regained consciousness following his admission to hospital with head injuries and shock Nov. 17.

SHAWVILLE, Que. — William George Cowan, 55, owner and editor of the Shawville Equity, died. A newspaper man all his life, Mr. Cowan became owner of the weekly 17 years ago following the death of his father, who founded it.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. — J. Gordon Rowe, 64, founder and president of the Rowe Paint & Varnish Co., Inc., died. Rowe was born in Toronto and set up there in 1906 the first dry color plant in Canada, the Imperial Varnish & Color Works.

After 12 Years Mayor Lewis Quits Politics

By GEORGE KITCHEN.

OTTAWA, Nov. 26 — (CP).— The placid era of Stan Lewis, this Capital's globe-trotting Mayor, is drawing to a close.

Come December 6, Ottawa voters will go to the polls and elect a new mayor. For the first time in a dozen years, Stan Lewis will not be a candidate for re-election. Stricken by a heart ailment last summer, he announced his withdrawal from politics.

Nominations close this Wednesday and three mayoralty candidates likely will place themselves before the electors.

All controllers in the civic government now are going out of office. They are: Grenville Goodwin 50, an uptown optometrist; Dr. G. M. Geldert 63, pphysician, partner in an Ottawa radio station and at present acting Mayor, and E. A. Bourque 59, coal, wood and ice dealer.

In addition to a new Mayor, the voters will give office to four controllers and 22 aldermen. Including officeholders up for re-election, the latest count shows eight possible candidates for the Board of Control and 61 who may make a bid for aldermanic seats. All, including the Mayor, are elected for two-year terms.

First Since 1936.

This will be the first time since 1936 that Stan Lewis' name has not been on the ballot paper.

In count of years, Lewis now is 60, but being a leap-year baby with a birthday once every four years, he likes to declare himself only 15 years of age. His birthdays every four years have been a big event in the Capital's civic life.

Lewis is known as the Mayor without a city hall. This centre of civic government in Ottawa burned down years ago and never has been rebuilt. The Mayor's favorite hangout has been a one-arm restaurant on uptown Sparks Street, where he presided over mid-morning coffee with a circle of newspaper and business men.

THE INTERNATIONAL SPOTLIGHT returns once more to China in that country's long struggle against Communist forces. Picture shows Chinese Nationalist soldiers relaxing in front of the Pukow railway station this week as the troops, en route to the Suchow battle area, were halted at Pukow while reports were being checked about the Communist forces having cut the tracks to the north on the Tientsin-Pukow line.

Millbrook News

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Might have moved to Peterborough to reside for the winter months.

Miss Lottie Vance of Toronto and Bancroft, was guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Campbell last week. Miss Vance was born and brought up at Millbrook, and many former friends enjoyed a visit with her when Mrs. Campbell entertained at afternoon tea during her stay in the village. Miss Vance will spend the winter in Toronto.

Representing the local branch of the Women's Institute, at the Central Area W.I. convention in Toronto last week were: Mrs. Henry Blakely, Mrs. Delbert Olan, Mrs. J. W. Hilton, Mrs. G. Freelove, and Mrs. D. L. Lunn.

Mrs. J. W. Hilton, leader, has organized the girls' home-making club for the current season, under the name of "The Tidy 'Teens," with the meetings at her home, and the project: 'Being well dressed and well groomed." The officers are: President, Elizabeth Olan; vice-president, Beverley Patton; secretary, Betty Fallis; treasurer, Mrs. Hilton. The girls have started work on their record books.

On Sunday morning, at Saint Thomas' Anglican church, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Winsow, of Peterborough, was baptized, Michael Allan, the rector, Rev. C. M. MacLean, conducting the captismal service. Godparents were Harry Grobb of Toronto, and Miss Emma Clementi, of Peterborugh. The late Venerable Archdeacon Allan, was the great-great grandfather of the baby, and his great grandfather, the late Rev. Canon William Allan, both incumbents of the parish of Cavan for many years.

Mrs. H. W. Gray is ill in St Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough. Mrs. Gray has been teaching since September at the school on Highway 28, near Donaldson's Corner, with no supply teacher available at present.

Miss May O'Brian left on Tuesday morning for Buffalo, after spending the past month at her home here. Miss O'Brian delayed her departure from last weekend owing to the illness of her brother, W. A. O'Brian. The latter is now making good progress toward recovery.

SPAWNS ONCE

Unlike the Atlantic salmon, the Pacific salmon spawns only once and death follows spawning.

VOTERS WILL GO to the polls in four constituencies on Dec. 13 and Dec. 20 and already much interest is being shown in the by-elections. Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew was nominated in Carleton where one of the CCF main hopes is Eugene Forsey (centre). The next month in Carleton will no doubt see both sides battling hard for an election victory. Meanwhile in Laval, two Mountains, Quebec, the Liberals are so far the only party to have a candidate in the field. Leopold Demers. Progressive Conservatives are still in search for a candidate in this riding vacated by the Independent, Ligouri Lacombe (left), while Hon. Stuart Garson (right), Minister of Justice, is contesting the federal riding of Marquette.

Dreft helps protect your family as no suds ever could before!

Public Health authorities say new way of dishwashing eliminates menace of Dishwater Film!

Perhaps you didn't know that danger lurks in your dishpan. But it's there! Glasses or dishes with a germ-filled dishwater film are a menace to the very ones you wish to protect.

This is a proved fact. For doctors have found that dishwater film often carries germs. Even dishes that you've scrubbed hard, and polished carefully . . . dishes that really look clean . . . often carry this germ-laden film.

Dreft Leaves No Germ-Laden Film

With this amazing dishwashing discovery—DREFT—the menace of film is gone. Dreft leaves no dishwater film. It actually helps protect your family.

And this new way of dishwashing, made practical by DREFT, not only helps you safeguard those you care for—it is actually an easier, quicker, happier way of doing dishes!

New, Quick, Dreft Way

Wash your dishes in Dreft's abundant, lasting suds. Give them a hot rinse (the hotter the better). Then let them drain dry. It's just as easy and quick as that!

Dreft suds leave dishes shining bright. . . . even without wiping. Healthfully clean. . . . film free—as no suds before Dreft ever got them!

Dreft makes more suds . . . kind-to-hands suds . . . than any product before in history . . . no matter how hard the water.

Heed the warning of Health authorities . . . help protect your family. Avoid germ-carrying dishwater film. Buy Dreft today.

THE ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: At last I have got down to writing to you, although I have been going to do it for over two years. First I would like to say that I never miss your column, in fact I have cut out so many of your recipes that I do not know what to do with them; when I am going to use one it takes a long time to find it, even though I have them in different envelopes; maybe some day someone will invent a box for recipes that you can put your finger on the recipe you want right off the bat.

GAY PRINT—Dutch boys and girls highlight this criss-cross print suit by Alfandri. Neckline folds around throat and ends in yoke effect and double peplum hugs hipline at either side.

Now to get down to business. Sometime ago, during the war you printed a recipe for an "Eggless Christmas Cake"; this was put in by a Mrs. D. E. Wilton and it is lovely; many of my friends use this recipe and we send it in our parcels for overseas. My sister in England even asked me for it, as I send her the fruit now. There is only one thing wrong. I think it calls for 8½ cups of flour, but others think it is only 3½ cups. I have been using my own judgment and the cake turns out alright, but for one thing instead of being able to cut nice slices it breaks up, even though I dip my knife in hot water. To let you know how nice the cake keeps, I have just sent a piece of last year's cake in one of this year's Christmas parcels, how's that? By the way did you ever find out what nectar was? I used grape juice instead of milk.

My second problem is, I want to try Dundee Fruit Cake that was in last night's paper, but never have luck with my fruit, as it always sinks to the bottom no matter what I do. I would be much obliged if you would give me some advice. I always wash my fruit and dry in warm oven before using and roll it in flour. Now I will close hoping I have not taken up too much of your time, and thanking you for the help you can give.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: My files were becoming so full of readers' letters that I had to devise a new system: when I print a readers' recipe I keep the newspaper that it is in, and discard the letter, because it takes less filing space his way and I have the entire file of newspaper tear sheets.

So if you would be so kind as to write to me again, and give me the recipe (just the ingredients—not the method) for Mrs. D. E. Wilton's Eggless Christmas Cake I will tell you the amount of flour to use.

Warm fruit heats and melts the sugar and shortening in the batter around it. Wash, dry, flour and chill your fruit and it will not sink in the Dundee Fruit Cake.

QUESTION: Would you print a recipe for old-fashioned spiced beef if you have it—telling me what kind of beef to buy? "Old Country".

ANSWER:

English Spiced Beef

Buy an 8-lb rump of beef. Rub together 1 teaspoon each mace, black pepper, 1 grated nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper, 7 ounces moist brown sugar, and rub these into the cut surfaces of the meat very thoroughly and allow the meat to lie in it for 2 days in cool lace. Then rub into it 1 cup salt, rubbing it in well. Let stand for 9 days in cold place, turning the meat over every day. Quickly mash meat but do not soak it. Place in large kettle, pour over 1½ pints beef broth procured from boiling a soup bone, bring to boiling point, remove scum, add 1 sliced onion, 2 teaspoons whole cloves, 4 small carrots, small bunch parsley, 1 bay leaf, 1 tablespoon thyme and simmer for 4 hours, covered. Allow to chill thoroughly in this liquor. When cold stick with whole cloves. If kept very cold this slices beautifully and keeps well. Delicious with horse-radish cream.

A SHORT AND PRETTY STORY—Ladies, prepare to shed them now . . . if you have long tresses . . . if you would like to have the prettiest of fashionable coiffures; if the fashion flatters you; if you can depend on the menfolk in your family not to go into a complete temper over the shearing. This time the cropped hairdo is making successful headlines; it is no sporadic attempt of the hairdressers, doomed to quick oblivion, a mere business promoter as some have said. To be sure, it brings back the coiffeur's art which has been sickening of home permanents and home lacquer jobs lately, but any woman in her right mind will confess that she looks prettier beneath a professional coiffure. Rose of France is the name for the short hair design, above, named after the rosettes of curls at either cheek, and which may be placed to flatter the face's contours.

Escarole Salad with French Dressing
Butterscotch Cream Pie (see note)
Coffee

One-Burner Dinner

Veal Stew with Tomato Dumplings
Tomato and Cabbage Slaw
Jellied Prunes with Orange Custard Sauce
Coffee

Directions:

To make the Butterscotch Pie first you have to have a baked pie shell. To make the filling combine 3 beaten egg yolks with 2 cups milk, then stir these into 1¼ cups dark brown sugar mixed with (in top of double boiler) ¼ teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons flour, and 4 tablespoons butter; stir until smooth and thick, then cover and cook 15 minutes longer, stirring often. Cool, add 1 teaspoon vanilla, and pour into baked pie shell. Top with meringue made by beating the three left-over egg whites until stiff and then add 5 to 6 tablespoon white sugar. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. for about 25 minutes to bake and brown meringue.

Two good variations for the above pie are to sprinkle top of filling before putting on meringue with chopped walnuts or pecans; or covering filling with layer of sliced bananas before spreading over meringue.

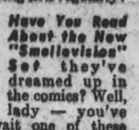
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Nov. 25th — An enthusiastic friend of mine has just made a happy housekeeping discovery. I gave her my tin of GILLETT'S DRAIN CLEANER to let her see for herself what magic it works with slow-running drains. She says it's her favourite time-saver . . . just two tablespoons a week of Gillett's Drain Cleaner in her drains keep them fast-running and sediment-free. Then basin and tub cleaning is so much easier — goes much faster, for there's no "after-wash film" when drains run freely. Yes, weekly use of Gillett's Drain Cleaner saves time, trouble and plumber's bills. It acts faster . . . costs less!

Here's the Perfect Answer to those "difficult" mealtimes when Junior refuses his food! No need to fuss, bother or bribe your baby — just give him a scrumptious bowlful of 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" — almost a meal in itself! And to make it "extra nice" add ½ cup of raisins, figs, dates, apricots or prunes to the "Cream of Wheat" while it's cooking. So very good . . . and so good for baby, too. You see, 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" contains blood-enriching Iron . . . and it provides extra Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. What's more — it cooks to "baby-ready" digestibility in just five minutes of boiling. That's why so many mothers put "Cream of Wheat" at the top of their shopping lists regularly!



Make This Christmas the Merriest Yet for your youngsters! Fill their stockings with Walt Disney Character Inflat-a-Toys of VINYLITE Plastic made by Haugh's! They're colour-fast and water-proof so the wide-eyed expression on Pluto's face stays as endearingly goofy as the day you bought him. Your youngsters will love these inflatable toys with the self-sealing valves that make them easy to blow up and keep that way. There's a Donald Duck, of course . . . and a ball with Donald and Pluto on it . . . there's a Santa Claus and there are place mats to help your little girl set a perfect table! Look for Walt Disney Educational Toys of Vinylite Plastic at better stores everywhere!

Have You Read About the New "Smellevision" Set they've dreamed up in the comics? Well, lady — you've no need to await one of these wonders, to bring a fresh, woodsy fragrance into your home! For you can get Vapair TODAY! This wonderful new room deodorant will make your home as fresh-smelling as the great outdoors — yes, and banish unwanted cooking odors and stale tobacco smoke, too! All you do is pull up the wick — and VAPAIR clears the air in a jiffy — and costs less than a cent a time to use! So take my tip and ask for the big value, ten-ounce bottle of Vapair — tomorrow — at your nearest drug or department store.

For Dessert Enjoyment . . . party time or any time . . . an ice cream sundae rates tops! Especially when the sauce, like this Fudge Sundae Sauce, has the superb extra rich, extra mellow chocolate flavour of that finest of cocoas — BAKER'S COCOA. Many years of cocoa-making experience stand behind the quality of this fine product . . . and make it the best for all cocoa purposes.

FUDGE SUNDAE SAUCE

½ cup Baker's Cocoa
1 cup sugar
Dash of salt
1 cup corn syrup
1 cup hot water
2 tablespoons butter

Mix together cocoa, sugar, salt. Add corn syrup and water gradually, stirring until smooth. Cook and stir over low heat until mixture boils. Continue boiling, without stirring, until mixture thickens and a small amount forms a jellied mass in cold water (220 deg. F.). Remove from heat. Add butter. Makes 1½ cups. This is a thick fudge sauce, excellent for ice cream.

Add the Spice of Variety to many a menu—this easy, easy way! Give favourite dishes flavour variety and a "party look" with SHIRRIFF'S FLAVOURING EXTRACTS AND FOOD COLOURS! Add a few drops of Shirriff's Fruit Flavourings for any fruit missing from a fruit cup — tinting juice with one of Shirriff's Food Colours. Sounds delightful, doesn't it? Just wait 'til you serve it to "Oh's" and "Ah's" of admiration! And once you've made a success with this simple but oh, so effective dish, you'll want to try more Shirriff's "magic". Add exciting flavour to your own, delicious, home-made ice cream like this:-to vanilla ice cream add Shirriff's True Vanilla — to caramel add Rum — to chocolate add Mint! Ask your grocer to-morrow for Shirriff's Flavourings and Food Colours!

If It's An "Off Day" For Baby . . . here's one of the easiest ways I know to put him in a happy mood again! Treat him to a mealtime bowlful of any one of the good Heinz Strained Baby Foods! There are 25 varieties and he'll love each and every one of them. They're cooked expertly and specially to his taste . . . and so easy for him to digest. After his first birthday, he'll like the delicious variety of Heinz Junior Foods at mealtime. The 16 varieties include meats — diced and chopped vegetables — desserts and a complete Vegetable Beef Dinner. Ask your grocer to-morrow for HEINZ BABY AND JUNIOR FOODS . . . in the convenient, 5 oz., vacuum-sealed tins!

Here's a Holidaytime Note to make to yourself. When you're housecleaning for Christmas, it's a good thing to know that curtains stay cleaner longer when they're starched with LINIT! It takes so little time to keep curtains fresh-looking the easy Linit way! You see, Linit is a fine, penetrating starch that makes ironing easier. And curtains, Linit-starched, will make such a cheerful difference in your home. Ask for Linit at your grocer's to-morrow . . . "be prepared" for the festive season!

POPULAR PERENNIAL—There's just something about a sailor. No sooner does one appear in a showroom or shop collection than it is sold. Like the beret, the sailor is a universally becoming type. Pretty Eleanor Parker of the movies likes this sailor and wears it frequently. It is of violet handkerchief felt. The crown is encircled with a sequin band, and trimmed with a feather pompom. The majority of sailors designed for spring are tall crowned, as is this one.

DOROTHY DIX

Dual In-law Problem Gets Two Daughters-in-law Down

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two daughters-in-law who would be happy except that we each have our mother-in-law living in our home and doing a good job of bossing the works. These two mothers-in-law happen to be sisters. They are financially independent, could have their own homes and live together if they wished to do so, but they refuse because they are not willing to give up their sons to their wives and children.

Dorothy Dix

Now we try to treat our mother-in-law with all due respect, but it is awfully hard to let another woman dominate your home and take all authority over your husband and children. I save almost hewed my tongue off keeping silent when Grandma says: "No, Johnny, you can't have the car tonight." "No, Sally, you are not going to have a new dress. You've got all the clothes you need." "Angelina, I don't approve of that strange boy you are going with. I don't even know his parents."

Our mother-in-law had their own homes; they reared their children the way they wanted to, and their husbands were their husbands instead of being just mothers' sons. Why can't we have the same privileges?

UNHAPPY DAUGHTERS-IN-LAW

ANSWER: I doubt very much if there is any one thing that has caused so many tears to be shed, or that has brought about so many heartaches and poisoned so many lives with bitterness as having to live with mother-in-law. Of course, their are exceptions to this sweeping statement, for there are good, kind, understanding women who know how to handle know-it-all brides and who live in reasonable peace with their sons' wives

Now every woman, from Mother Eve down to the youngest bride, having confronted the mother-in-law situation, it would seem that women might have found a way to deal with it. But they haven't probably because the remedy is so often unattainable. For the one and only sure cure for mother-in-law trouble is for it to be given the absent treatment. As long as mothers-in-law and daughters-in-law live together there is going to be trouble and weeping and gnashing of teeth, unless one of the women is a sacrifice to domestic peace.

And it isn't because either woman is a man, unprincipled virago. It is just because what every woman in the world wants is her own home that she can run as she pleases, her own cooking stove, her own taste in draperies, and a monopoly of her husband and children. And any other woman who interferes with these atavistic desire does so at her peril.

And the reason mothers-in-law are the home-wreckers of the world is not because they deliberately torture their daughters-in-law, but because they are determined to always be first with their sons and to boss their son's wives and children Hitler had nothing on Grandma as a tyrant.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: For two months I have dated a very nice young fellow. During this period he has never once tried to kiss me good night What do you think of a man like that? Will he make a good husband? Don't you think a girl should find out how she likes a man's kisses before she marries him? It is very important for me to know this.

VERY ANXIOUS

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The old proverb says that kissing goes by favor. Maybe your Boy Friend is not a kissing bug and doesn't enjoy kissing. Or it may be that he doesn't like the flavor of your lipstick. Or it may be that he doesn't know how you stand on the kissing proposition.

I should think that a non-kisser might make a good, but not exciting husband. But as a matter of fact, very few husbands seem to like to kiss, as is proven by the little peck they give a wife when they are leaving for their day's work and that is a likely to fall on the back of her head as her mouth.

You are certainly wise to sample the boy's kisses before you marry him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX Why do men think themselves superior to women? Are they really?

H. A. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Men are physically superior to women, taking them by and large, but mentally they are much of a muchness, with about an equal supply of brains. It pleases men to think that they are smarter than their wives, and wise wives encourage the delusion. It makes them so easy to handle.

PLASTIC SHOE COVERALLS—What will they think of next? one might say, looking at these waterproof cocoons of clear plastic which one can carry in their own flat envelope until needed...and then slip over shoes with any (or no) heels when torrents descend. The overshoes come in small, medium and large sizes for a pin money price, and have non-skid ribbing on the soles. Old hands at living in countries of tropical rains will appreciate these overshoes as much as those who combat snow and slush along with usual weather. A pair kept in the glove compartment of any car may save shoes, including dancing slippers, from premature collapse due to emergency foot baths.

Which Twin has the Toni?

(see answer below)

One Permanent Cost $15... the TONI only $2.50

It's thrilling to see how beautifully Toni waves your hair—leaves it so soft, so smooth, so natural-looking. But before trying Toni Home Permanent you will want to know—

Will Toni give me a loose or tight wave?

With Toni you can have just the amount of curl that suits you best—from a loose, natural-looking wave to a halo of tight ringlets. Just follow the simple directions for timing.

Is it easy to do?

It's no trick at all—easy as rolling your hair up on curlers. That's why Toni Home Permanent is so popular with the "teen-age and twenty" girls.

Will Toni wave all types of hair?

Any kind of hair that will take a permanent will take a Toni—even dyed, bleached or baby-fine hair.

How long will my Toni wave last?

It's guaranteed to last just as long as a $15 beauty shop permanent—or your money back.

Can I use Toni for my little girl's hair?

Yes—with complete confidence. Toni has been awarded the Parents' Magazine Tested and Commended Seal.

How much do I save with Toni?

The Toni Kit with re-usable plastic curlers costs only $2.50 . . . with handy fibre curlers only $1.50. The Toni Refill Kit complete except for curlers is $1.25.

Which twin has the Toni?

Lovely Alva Anderson, the twin at the right, has the Toni. And her sister Alice says, "When I saw how beautifully Alva's Toni wave turned out, I wished I were the Toni twin."

There is

NO FINER WAVE AT ANY PRICE!

Toni Kit with plastic curlers— $2.50

Refill Kit without curlers $1.25

By actual survey, 9 out of 10 Canadian women who have home permanents prefer Toni.

FINE FURS — There is a growing trend toward the fine fur wrap that can star at late afternoon festivities and be very much the great lady at an important evening function. It doesn't have to be a too-lavish gesture; a good quality of processed American lamb or Indian broadtail do well for such a wrap. Virginia Mayo chose this handsome cocktail coat of deep creamy broadtail with an edging of mink. It is a design which she can wear to late afternoon parties as well as to the theatre or to a dance.

5-Year-Old Wins Dressed Doll At St. Alban's

At. St. Alban's Anglican Mission house on corner of Monaghan Rd. and Cameron St. there was a very successful bazaar and tea on Wednesday afternoon. Proceeds totalling more than $85 will go into the treasury and be used to further the work of the Guild. Mrs. W. Heard, president, received the large crowd of guests and was assisted by Mrs. E. C. Moore.

A wide assortment of novelties, aprons and staples was offered at the bazaar table attended by Mrs. Ed. Simmons. Mrs. J. Heirons was selling small potted plants and bouquets of 'mums which decorated the rooms for the opening hour and were a gift from Mrs. Harrison.

Very bountiful was the supply of home cooking and candy and which was sold by Mrs. E. Miller and Mrs. W. Woods.

There was a draw on a pretty doll for which Mrs. M. Stone had provided a wardrobe and the winner was five-year-old Donna Pearson. Her ticket was drawn by Larry Woods. Another draw was made for a woollen blanket and the winner was Teddy Pilling. Mrs. J. Bell selected his ticket.

Dainty refreshments were served at small tables, each centred with a small plant. The tea hostesses were Mrs. C. Barnes, Mrs. M. Northey and Mrs. E. Druery, and Mrs. Godfrey Moore filled the tea cups.

Grenfell Mission Sale, Tea Most Successful Yet Held

A display of beautiful hand crocheted work was the feature of the Grenfell Mission sale and tea held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Morris, 483 Homewood Ave.

The work, in charge of Miss Linden Hall, included expertly worked pieces ranging from large rugs to picture sizes, exquisite handbags and change purses. The smaller pieces depicted typical Labrador scenes with flying gulls, and sail boats predominating. These were done in the varied shares of blue that are peculiar to that area. One oval mat was a particularly charming design with large yellow flowers worked into a light brown background. Other mats were mostly done in a tweed effect and were cut in squares of varying sizes.

As each article bore a label or stamp showing the work had been done by people of Sir Wilfred Grenfell's Labrador Mission, the handicraft will have added value for gifts, as will the attractive Christmas cards and Labrador scenes that are being sold by Mrs. J. G. Mills. Stationery in correspondence and full letter size was decorated with a sled and dog team symbol. Miss M. Ross was in charge of the sales, assisted by Miss Helen Hodgens.

Many mothers procured sturdy mittens and gloves for their families and some were buying two pair of each selection. Mrs. W. E. Dorrington was in charge of this tables.

Local members of the organization had donated home cooking and Mrs. C. E. Labranche and Miss A. Robinson were in charge. Miss Robinson was selling tickets on a box of home-made chocolates and the winner was Miss Phyllis Denne.

Most Successful

Mrs. F. M. Somerville, acting as treasurer, took in more than $86 door receipts and proclaims this the most successful tea they have ever held. She also sold tickets on a large round fruit cake and it was won with the first ticket sold, going to Mrs. George Baird, George St.

Miss Mary Medd was in charge of ticket sales on the rugs. Later, when Mrs. Morris made the draws, Mrs. F. Buckland became owner of the large rug and Mrs. G. R. Langley received the smaller one.

Beautiful Cloth

In the tea room, a charming arrangement was highlighted by the hostess' exquisite cloth. It was a plain length of white linen and the pattern was cut by the French nuns in a convent at New Orleans. They had finished the edges with fine buttonhole stitches with a light ecru linen thread and this slight coloring blended with the deeper shade of the walnut table top. The bouquet of 'mums in the centre was of selected colors ranging from deep bronze to yellow, and was in a painted china dish placed on a silver reflector.

Mrs. G. Reindhardt was tea room convener. Pourers were Mrs. G. R. Langley and Mrs. V. Auston, and hostesess were Miss M. Rush, Mrs. D. T. Diplock, Mrs. J. D. Collins, Mrs. E. H. Howson.

Mrs Gordon Rutherford, president of the Peterborough Branch of the Grenfell Labrador Mission, received at the door, and the hostess assisted

400 Attend Annual At Home Of City Masonic Lodges

The annual At Home of the three Peterborough Masonic Lodges held at Club Aragon Wednesday evening was a lovely event. Short addresses of welcome to more than 400 guests were made by Gordon Miller, representing Royal Arthur Lodge, Mr. Wilson Craw of Corinthian Lodge and Mr. Alex Anderson of Peterborough Lodge. The dancers enjoyed every minute of the evening with Jack Marshall as master of cetremonies keeping them on their toes in promenades and novelty dances, to the music by Bob Kinsman and his orchestra.

THE FORECAST for Spring is smartness, whatever the weather. And who wouldn't look trim wearing a coachman model like the one above? Gabardines took the spotligh tat a show in Montreal recently. Styles were chiefly fitted or semi-fitted with slimmer hiplines and accented back and cuff treatments.

Ex-Convict Weds Childhood Girl

CHICAGO, Nov. 25—(AP)—A 41-year-old ex-convict who spent almost 20 years in prison for stealing $2.43 worth of postage stamps married his childhood sweetheart Wednesday.

Cecil Wright, "the Great Brain of Alcatraz," and Beaulah Brimberry, 38, exchanged vows in a ceremony performed by Judge Carl Smith.

Wright acquired the nickname while serving time on "The Rock" in San Francisco harbor. He studied law in prison and the knowledge he acquired over the years finally won him his freedom.

Rich Fruit Cake Costly Affair to Make This Year

By MARY MOORE

A friend of ours who moved to Quebec nine years ago has moved back to town and a few days ago called me on the telephone to renew our acquaintance and to remind me of a rich fruit cake I described once in this column.

Now this is so fruity and rich it is more of a confection than a cake. I called it Emem's Dark Rich Fruit Cake. I think it is safe to print the recipe again, for all of the ingredients are available now. I must say that my eyebrows shot up over the one and one-half pounds of mixed candied cherries. It serve to remind us that we must not always have had this inflation — even though right now it seems everlasting.

Emem's Dark Rich Fruit Cake.

One pound fresh moist chopped or sliced citron peel, 1½ lbs. candied cherries (green and red), 1 can (20 oz.) crushed pineapple, 3 pounds seeded raisins, 1 lb. currants, ½ lb. each blanched almonds, sifted flour (nearly 3 cups), butter, brown sugar; 1 teaspoon EACH baking powder, cinnamon, salt, nutmeg; ½ teaspoon cloves, 6 eggs. Slice the cherries and citron very thinly. Wash the raisins and currants and dry them. Blanch and slice the almonds. Mix all of these prepared fruits and nuts together. Measure the flour after sifting once, then sift again with the baking powder, salt and all of the spices. Combine the fruit and flour mixture thoroughly. Cream the butter as light as possible, then add the sugar gradually while creaming. Add the beaten egg yolks, and well. Add the crushed pineapple alternately with the fruit and flour mixtures until everything is well mixed. Beat the egg whites until stiff and combine them with the batter. Line 4 bread pans — measuring about 4½ by 8½ inches — with unglazed paper. Butter the paper well and fill each pan about three-quarters full.

TO BAKE—Place the pans on the rack in the roaster and fill to depth of ¾ inch with boiling water. Cover and steam at 275 deg. Fahr. in oven for 2½ hours. Remove cover and lift cakes to shelf of oven and bake ½ hour longer at same temperature. This makes 10 lbs. rich dark fruit cake.

If your oven will not hold all of these cakes in roasting pan place shallow pan of water in bottom of oven to protect bottom of cakes, and bake them on the oven shelves at 275 deg. Fahr, throughout, shifting positions of cakes once or twice during baking period.

Genuine Almond Paste

One pound blanched almonds, 1 teaspoon orange flower water, 2 pounds icing sugar, 1 teaspoon almond essence. Put the blanched almonds through finest knife of food chopper. Mix sugar with the ground almonds. Add beaten eggs, orange flower water, and almond essence. Knead the mixture with the hands just as in making bread. Roll out to required size. Brush top of cake lightly with white of egg to make paste stick, and press almond paste firmly on top of cake. Allow to harden before putting on white icing.

NOTE.—When putting almonds through the grinder, use a few drops of rose or orange flower water to help cut the natural oil of the almonds and facilitate grinding.

White Icing to Spread Over Almond Paste

Place 2 unbeaten egg whites in bowl, beat in 1 cup icing sugar, add juice of half of a small lemon, then beat in sufficient icing sugar to making icing the consistency of heavy whipped cream. Beat until very light. Spread evenly over almond paste. This frosting never gets too hard to cut without crumbling, and when decorated with silver balls when first spread, is soft enough to let them sink in, and stay in place.

SPICE BROWN TOP COAT—Loose and casual, warm as a blanket, softly styled to cover one from chin to skirt edge, this spice brown woollen coat is an apt answer to costuming from now until April showers waft, and in mild or really cold winter weather. In the spectator sports feeling, the coat can be worn over everyday dresses, or on bitter days over wool suits, without dictating whether hat and shoes shall be extremely tailored or on the less stark side of fashion. The fullness is plenty, but not out of hand; the sleeves and pockets deeply flanged; the collar lies flat or may be fastened up to the cheeks.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, November 26

Although there is some promise of the intervention of friendly aid or interest in a critical situation or hazardous combination of circumstances, yet unless particular ingenuity, tact, diplomacy and discretion be exercised it may be difficult if not impossible to break up such disastrous impasse. Rash, tempestuous impulses and emotions may precipitate a crash, radical and regrettable. Possibly heeding intuitions or spiritual leads might assist.

For the Birthday
